Feeds and Feeding

Up-to-date Book for Stock Raisers

++++++++

A Handbook for the Student and Stockman

++++++++

By W. A. HENRY

Dean of the College of Agriculture, and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Wisconsin.

This large and handsome volume is an exhaustive compendium of useful knowledge, to date in the broad field covered by the title. In its preparation the extensive experiments conducted by investigators in the old world as well as the work of American Stations have all been carefully garnered, sifted, compared and arranged in the best form possible, care being taken to give the subject matter a practical, helpful bearing to the farmer and stockman. The numerous tables contained are well digested and arranged in form to convey quickly and accurately to the mind the data and summaries of results of feeding trials, analyses of feeding stuffs by the chemists, digestion work, etc., etc.

In this work the author has in mind the needs of the student in our Agricultural Colleges and the wants of the stockman who aims to get the highest results possible from the animals under his care. Attention is also given to the manurial value of feeding stuffs in order that the second value which such substances contain shall be wisely conserved to the farm. Few books ever published have received as high encomiums from those most competent to judge as has Prof. Henry's "Feeds and Feeding," as an example of which we quote from a letter from the Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture: "Singularly enough, up to this time we have had nothing along this line sufficiently comprehensive from both the scientific and the practical standpoints. We have had very able works from both, but Prof. Henry is the first to combine science with practice and give us a work that will be of value alike to the instructor in the Agricultural College, to the student who is seeking the principles underlying feeding, and to the practical farmer who feeds.

"This publication will take its place immediately in the college library, and ultimately in the private library of every farmer in the land."

ALWAYS PROGRESSIVE

To the Trade:

We take pleasure in presenting our 11th Annual Catalogue, and beg to announce that our publications never were in more satisfactory condition than at the present time.

Besides a number of Novelties for the Holiday season, we call special attention to our copyrighted cloth books, which include Thomes' Tales of Adventure, special cover design, with new half-tone frontispiece and text illustrations; Opie Read's Select Works; the Fleur-de-Lis, and Young America Series. They offer double advantages, for the reason that these volumes may be sold singly or in sets. It will be noticed, also, that we have quite a number of miscellaneous cloth-bound titles, foremost among them, Comte de Saint Germain's new work, "The Practice of Palmistry for Professional Purposes," two royal 8vo volumes.

Probably no line of works published in this country, or in the world, has attracted so much attention as our famous Reference Books, which we have endeavored to keep up to the highest standard. Among the most noteworthy additions are the "Salva-Webster Spanish-English and English-Spanish Dictionary," "Practical Spanish Instructor," and "The Machinists' and Engineers' Pocket Manual." For further descriptions and complete list, please examine this catalogue.

We ask as a special favor that dealers place their orders for the coming season as early as possible with their jobbers or news companies, or direct with us. The advantage of this will readily be seen, as it not only puts us in a position to serve the trade promptly, but allows plenty of time for the goods to reach destination before the holiday season begins.

Thanking you for past favors, and hoping to merit your future business, we remain

Yours very respectfully,

Wm. H. Lee, Proprietor. LAIRD & LEE.

REX WAYLAND'S FORTUNE

OR, THE SECRET OF THE THUNDERBIRD

By H. A. STANLEY

HEALTHFUL, ENTERTAINING AND INSTRUCTIVE

THRILLING, DRAMATIC AND PATHETIC

THE DISCOVERY OF THE TREASURE.
Dramatically told in Chapter XXXVII.

An exceptionally fine and wholesome story of life and adventures in forests and mountains. Highly valuable information about the former Indian Princes and Princesses of a most picturesque region is mixed with the thrilling career of an Eastern boy in quest of a hidden treasure. Not a word, or scene, or description that is not true to nature and facts. Never has fiction been more happily blended with stirring and realistic incidents in the hunting grounds, the lofty peaks and the strange recesses of the mysterious Olympics.

THIS IS A BOOK IN A THOUSAND, and it will carry by storm the ENTHUSIASTIC ENDORSEMENT OF YOUNG AND OLD.

Graphically and Profusely Illustrated with Half-Tones and Line Drawings by our own Artists.

Opie Read's Select Works

PURE AND DELIGHTFUL FICTION 6 SIX GENUINE AMERICAN CLASSICS

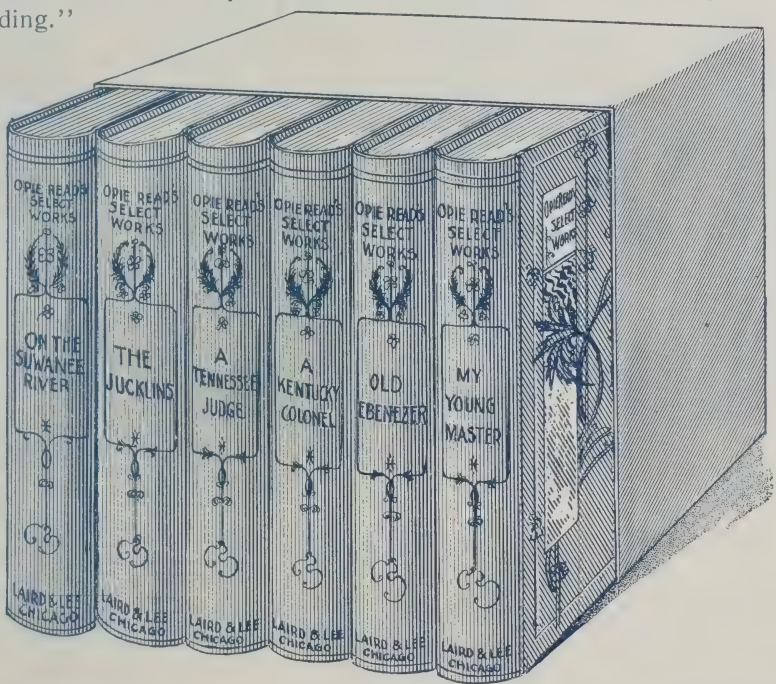
"His narratives read more like pages from real life than romance."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

MR. READ stands among the first of the American Novelists of to-day. His work is the soul of humor and of sentiment. His situations are dramatic and his character sketches positively unique. Since "THE JUCKLINS," Mr. Read has given the world "MY YOUNG MASTER," of which The Boston Budget says: "It has that hold upon the heart and mind that leaves one the better for his reading."



THE JUCKLINS AS A PLAY

"The Jucklins is a hit. Even at present (first time in Chicago) it is in many ways superior to 'Pudd'nhead Wilson,'" etc.—Chicago Tribune.

"The audience gave itself up to riotous laughter and tears."—Chicago Record.

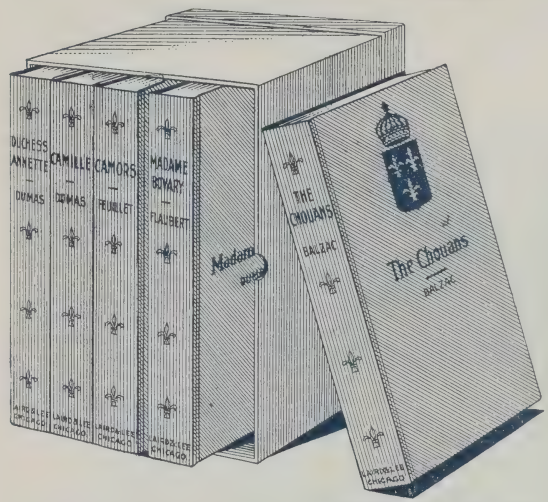
THE TRANSLATIONS BY ACCOMPLISHED WRITERS

THE ILLUSTRATIONS BY FAMOUS PARISIAN ARTISTS

FIVE OF THE GREATEST NOVELS EVER WRITTEN



Dark blue Silk Cloth, Side and Back Gold Stamped, with Gold Top and Flat Back. Makes a most artistic volume.

There are a certain number of Works of Fiction in every language, which are recognized as leaders in their class. No library, public or private, can afford to be without copies of these books, the reading of which is admitted to be part of a liberal education. Good, strong, stylish editions of such works are always in demand, as their worth is lasting, and they richly deserve an appropriate garb. We have, therefore, decided to add to our list of high-class bound books, sold in sets, or separately,

FIVE MASTERPIECES OF FOREIGN FICTION

presented in such dress as to be an honor for any book lover to possess. We have chosen the following world-celebrated titles:

Camille

By A. DUMAS FILS

As a play and a novel its success has been unrivalled.

Madame Bovary

By GUSTAVE FLAUBERT

The herald of a literary revolution.

Duchess Annette

By A. DUMAS FILS

The famous companion to "Camille."

Camors

By OCTAVE FEUILLET

A dazzling picture of Parisian high life.

The Chouans

By H. de BALZAC

An historical novel without a peer.

PRICES

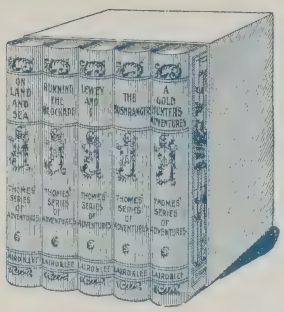
WM. H. THOMES'
Thrilling Tales of Adventure
On Sea and Land



To meet the steady demand for these popular stories, we have issued a handsome cloth edition, special design, with new half-tone frontispiece and text illustrations for each title, which will be put up in sets of five volumes each, designated as FIRST AND SECOND SERIES. Orders will be filled for single volumes, but we would advise dealers to order in sets, as many customers will buy a full set, when it is put before them, as readily as they would one volume. Besides, they are put up in a neat box, which will keep them new and clean for the holidays.

FIRST SERIES

A Gold Hunter's Adventures
Running the Blockade
On Land and Sea
The Bushrangers
Lewey and I

SECOND SERIES

The Belle of Australia
A Slaver's Adventures
A Romance of Manila
Or, Life in the East Indies
The Gold Hunters in Europe
A Whaleman's Adventures

Each Series, 5 Volumes in a box	$3.75
Sold separately, per volume	.75

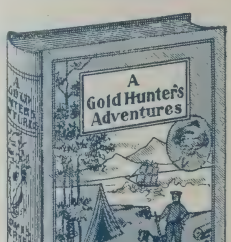
Mr. Thomes was an inveterate rover of the seas, and his stories are based on actual facts, and are absolutely teeming with humorous, thrilling and daring experiences. Never has literature of this character claimed a better equipped, a more enthusiastic and an equally popular exponent.

"The Romance of Manila; or, Life in the East Indies," will prove of especial interest at present, as depicting life in Manila, Philippine Islands, the scene of Admiral Dewey's triumph.



4,026 pages of Captivating Stories—an average of 403 pages to each book

Thirty Superb Text Etchings by Our Own Artist

By MARION MARTIN

LAST SEASON'S JUVENILE SUCCESS

This Year's Edition Improved with New Frontispiece in Colors

Of Madame Ronner's Cats

The Illustrated London News says: "The artists who have succeeded in rendering the cat may be counted on the fingers of one hand—the Japanese Hokusai, the Swiss Mind, the English Burbank, the French Lambert, and the Dutch Madame Ronner; and the greatest of these, the one who has succeeded absolutely and all around, is the last, the lady."

Jupiter Jingles;

Or, A Trip to Mystery-Land

By ANNETTA S. CRAFTS

A-pol-lo ruled the sun, they say
Di-a-na ruled the moon,
So she was Queen at night, you see,
And he was King at noon.

The Gods and Goddesses of Greece and Rome

were never pictured so amusingly as in these Merry Verses, made to be caught up by wide-awake little ears. Without a knowledge of Mythology much in Art and Literature remains a closed letter; and to teach it in play, at an age when memory is so quick, is to render an invaluable service to the men and women who are to grow out of the "tots" we love so dearly.

SPANISH FOR PRACTICAL USE

LAIRD & LEE'S VEST-POCKET

Practical Spanish Instructor

(ONE SOUND FOR EVERY LETTER)

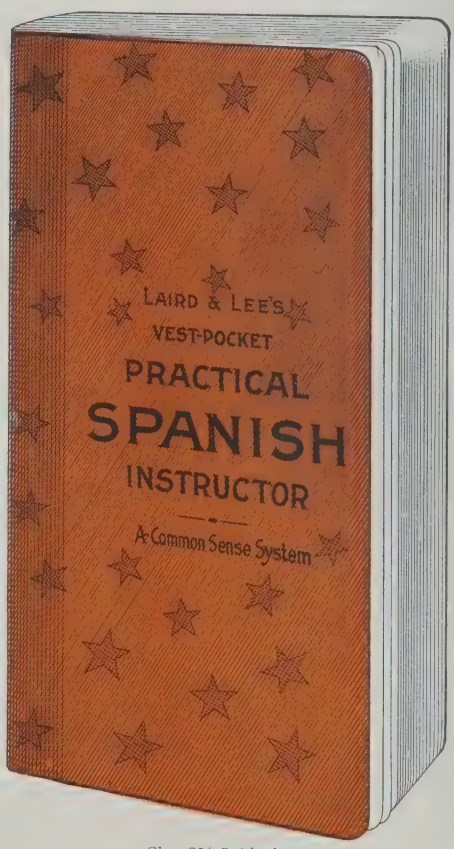
BY F. M. DE RIVAS

A GRADUATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF SEVILLA (SPAIN) AND ST. EDMUND'S COLLEGE, LONDON (ENGLAND).

A unique system by which, after learning the alphabet, the student can pronounce correctly every word in the Spanish language.

A book that positively teaches how to speak Spanish without the aid of a teacher.

It is not a Dictionary, but a common sense system of learning Spanish.



Size, 2⅝x5⅜ inches.

A necessity to everybody wishing to take advantage of the development of our modern history.

Invaluable to the business man, the tourist, salesman, merchant, sailor, soldier, and to all interested in the Spanish language

Not a Phrase-book nor a Manual that confuses instead of teaching

It contains about 200 pages of instruction in the practical pronunciation and use of the Spanish language, arranged systematically, compactly, and within the understanding of every person, without those irksome or confusing rules of grammar that make the study of any language tedious. Also over 5,000 different forms of phrases in common use in conversation, all being of a general character that can be answered by "YES" or "NO," and a list of over 2,000 names of Spanish officials, ships, cities, etc., made prominent by the Cuban war, with their correct pronunciations.

A Companion Book for the Salvá-Webster Spanish-English English-Spanish Dictionary.

Every dealer ought to send for a trial order of at least six or a dozen copies.

INTRODUCTION TO WISHMAKERS' TOWN.

See Young, William.

"The charm of it all is not easily to be defined. Perhaps if one could name it, the spell were broken. Above the changing rhythms hangs an atmosphere too subtle and elusive for measurement — an atmosphere that stipulates an imaginative mood on the part of the reader."— Extract from Introduction.

Allen, Charles Dexter.

EX LIBRIS: ESSAYS OF A COLLECTOR.

With twenty-one copper-plate prints direct from the coppers, on Japanese vellum. Printed on heavy deckle-edged paper, and bound in green and white cloth. Reading-matter, 157 pp. Ordinary edition, net, $3.00. Special edition, $15.00.

A new volume on the subject of book-plate collecting by the author of "American Book-Plates." It deals in a leisurely and delightful way with the interesting book-plates of all countries, and not being intended for a reference work is free from technicalities and those lists of plates and engravers which only the collector appreciates.

There are examples of the work of Thomas Bewick, Charles W. Sherborn, Edwin Davis French, W. F. Hopson, Edmund H. Garrett, Sidney L. Smith, J. Winfred Spenceley, J. Gill, and others. These are printed in the highest style of the art and in themselves make a noteworthy collection of book-plates.

It is issued in an ordinary edition of seven hundred and fifty numbered copies, and a special edition of but fifty copies signed and numbered by the author and publisher, containing three additional plates. This latter edition was sold before day of publication.

Bagby, Albert Morris.

MISS TRÄUMEREI. A WEIMAR IDYL.

Third edition. Cloth. pp. 292. With photogravure portrait of author. $1.50.

The scene of Mr. Bagby's story is Weimar. His heroine is an educated New York girl who goes to study music with Liszt, meeting with many admirers, and finding her best development in that famed circle The Lisztianer, which surrounded the great teacher. The love story is wholesome, and to the music student and the music lover there will be added interest in gaining pictures of Scharwenka, Friedheim, Rosenthal, Arma Senkra, Aus der Ohe, and the rest of the famous "inner circle." Those who read the notable Liszt articles by Mr. Bagby in the Century Magazine will particularly enjoy this Weimar idyl.

"Thoroughly interesting, and worthy of a place in literature." — N. Y. Mail and Express.

"What interests me most in the book is the sketches of the great musician, and the picture of the art life that surrounds him." — Jeanette E. Gilder.

"The tale of love is as fresh and fragrant as the roses of Weimar. The glimpses of Liszt will be of permanent value." —Washington Post.

"Mr. Bagby's literary concerto is infinitely charming in all its variations." — Boston Herald.

"It is so descriptive and the language is so refined and poetic, that it exercises a charm over one as though living in the dreamy, musical atmosphere of beautiful drowsy Weimar, which it so picturesquely describes. I cannot speak too highly of this beautifully written and romantic tale." —The Week, Toronto.

"The story itself is capital; well conceived and interesting. . . . It gives what is evidently a correct impression of a life that has forever vanished from the earth." — Nathan Haskell Dole, in The Boston Commonwealth.

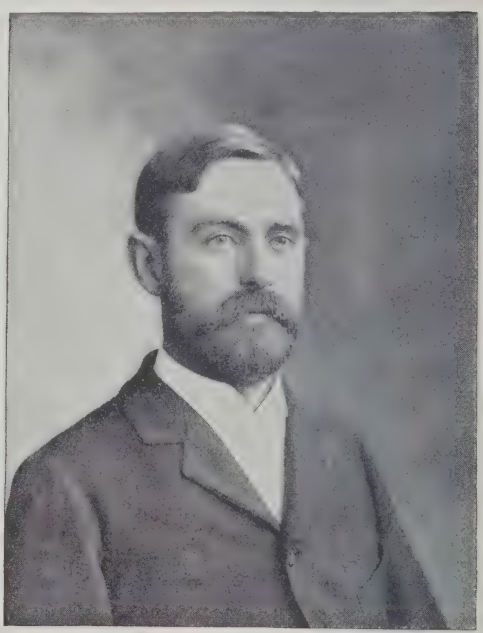
"'Miss Träumerei' is the musical novel of the year." — The Minstrel, London.

Barton, William E.

A HERO IN HOMESPUN: A TALE OF THE LOYAL SOUTH.

A historical novel, with ten full-page illustrations by Dan Beard, and map. Printed on deckle-edged paper with cut leaves, and bound in cloth. $1.50.

In this story is set forth for the first time the civil war as it affected the Union people of the South. The theme is unhackneyed, and of absorbing interest. The historical background is true to fact, and changes with the progress of events in the war. The characters are sturdy types of mountain manhood and womanhood. Many of the incidents are historical, original, and picturesque. There is constant human interest, with humor and pathos.



Several generals of the civil war, with Parson Brownlow and Andrew Johnson, are among the characters. The delineation of "the fighting parson" is particularly strong and lifelike. The story follows the order of events in the war as it touched Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Ohio, and the adjacent states, and has no little historic value. The scenes vary from those of the home to those of the battlefield. Wild Cat Mountain, Mill Spring, and other minor engagements of the early war are described with historic fidelity, and the great battles of Knoxville,

Nashville, Stone River, the fighting about Cumberland Gap, and other events in the experience of the Army of the Cumberland, are truthfully depicted, and belong to the life story of the characters.

The scouting, bushwhacking, guerilla warfare, strained social relations, political affiliations, religious experience, domestic life, and love-making of the time, are all touched upon. It is believed that so adequate a picture of the mountain region of the South at the time of the civil war has never before appeared in print.

The book breathes a strong spirit of loyalty to the Union, but is conceived in the kindliest sympathy for the different classes in the South, to whom the war involved such terrible choices and consequences, and especially for that large class, so little known, but so invaluable to the Union cause, — the loyal people of the Southern States. The devotion of these people to the Union, and the service which they rendered, form one of the most thrilling stories in the nation's history.

"The story is one of intense interest." — Boston Herald.

"It is vigorous, spirited, truthful, absorbing." — The Critic.

"An extremely well-written and deserving story." — Chap-Book.

"One of the best yet written with the Civil War as a background." — Beacon.

"The kind of story to reach the hearts of the people." — Illustrated American.

"A valuable addition to historic and romantic literature." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"We unhesitatingly pronounce it one of the books of the year." — Philadelphia Inquirer.

"A story that must have an honored place among the classics of the Civil War." — Boston Courier.

"I have read its every word, it is a fine war story; a vivid, life-like picture of those terrible heart-straining times. The 'Hero' is a hero, indeed, notwithstanding his homespun." — E. H. Goss (Author of "The Life of Paul Revere").

"An admirable book. It brought back to me the scenes of days when I commanded a lot of those mountain boys in '62 and '63, and later experiences when I was State Geologist of Kentucky, and spent almost fifteen months in the hills. The work is extraordinarily well done. I can commend it as an extremely good picture of a people very difficult to paint." — Prof. N. S. Shaler (Author of "History of Kentucky," etc.)

Blodgett, Mabel Fuller.

FAIRY TALES.

With a title-page, cover, and twelve illustrations designed by Ethel Reed. Printed on heavy, deckle-edge paper, and bound in cloth. $1.50.

Mrs. Blodgett, the author of "In Poppy Land," has here gathered twelve delightful stories for children, which narrate the experiences of many fascinating characters. Wands are wafted, people and things change, fairy godmothers appear, ogres are killed. All these happen in the traditional fairy-story way, but they are told of in such a thoroughly up-to-date style as to seem new. The imaginative illustrations by Miss Reed add greatly to the enjoyment of the text.

"It is a very pampered and pernickety young person that will not be delighted with the fairy tales of Mabel Fuller Blodgett. Time and space fail to unfold the delightful nonsensical wisdom of the leading actors in these tales, and one can only wish that all good children may sometime meet Prince Peppermint, his Queen Sarsaparilla, and all the witches and ogres that glide so gaily through this book." — The Critic.

"It is gratifying to find that fairy lore, so easy to overlay with heavy disquisition, is receiving sympathetic treatment from some American hands." — New York Tribune.

"These little stories of adventures with fairies, magicians, witches, and wicked usurpers of power are all charmingly told, with that picturesque quality which peculiarly appeals to the childish imagination highly in the ascendant." — Boston Herald.

"The volume is a work of art in every respect." — The New York Press.

From "Fairy Tales." Illustrations by Ethel Reed.

AT THE QUEEN'S MERCY: A TALE OF ADVENTURE.

With five full-page illustrations by Henry Sandham, R.C.A. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in cloth. pp. 261. $1.25.

The story is that of an Englishman and a Frenchman who, while travelling in Africa, make a curious discovery in a curious way, which leads to adventures of the most thrilling nature, including those of love and war, of searching for mighty treasure, and the mysteries of sorcery. The quaint, old-style diction adds a distinct charm to the narration of the stirring episodes. It is a marked departure from Mrs. Blodgett's previous work, and places her before the reading public in an entirely new rôle.

"Rider Haggard has not shown more skill in his imaginative and mysterious campaigns." — Boston Herald.

"Once commenced it must be finished." — The Pilot.

"A masterpiece in the art of imaginative story-telling."— Boston Courier.

Bolton, Charles Knowles.

THE LOVE STORY OF URSULA WOLCOTT.

A tale in verse of the time of the "Great Revival" in New England. Illustrated by Ethel Reed. pp. 31. $1.00.

A new volume of historical and narrative verse concerning the courtship of Ursula Wolcott, daughter of a governor, wife of a governor, mother of a governor, sister of a governor, and aunt of a governor, — all of Connecticut. Its author is Mr. Charles Knowles Bolton, librarian of the town of Brookline, Massachusetts. It is printed in a dark brown ink, in an old style antique type, on heavy, hand-made paper of natural tint, with deckled edges and uncut leaves. The book is appropriately illustrated by Miss Ethel Reed, who has drawn also the title-page and cover designs.

A special limited edition of fifty copies of this book on large, hand-made paper, with wide margins, deckled edges, and uncut leaves, will be issued shortly. Orders will be received at two dollars until one-half of the edition is exhausted, when the price will be advanced without further notice.

"Much of the attraction of Mr. Bolton's little volume lies in the admirable illustrations and letter-heads by Miss Ethel Reed. These designs are in the 'poster' style, and in their cleverly massed effects and bold outline have considerable charm and originality." — The Literary World.

"There is genuine poetry in Bolton's book, and he has made a lovely idyl out of historical incidents." — Hartford Courant.

"This quaint story, with the quiet atmosphere of earlier days, has a modern leap-year termination that will commend it to the new woman of 1896." — The Spirit of '76, New York.

"The poem is written in blank verse, and reveals a pleasant familiarity with New England rural life, as well as real power in portraying scenery in words, and it is simply and effectively expressed." — Congregationalist.

Bouton, John Bell.

UNCLE SAM'S CHURCH; HIS CREED, BIBLE, AND HYMN BOOK.

16mo. Cloth. In buff and blue, or in white and blue. pp. 75. $ .50.

This book presents patriotism as a religion, yet, as the Boston Transcript says, "It is not a religious book, as its name would seem to indicate, but an appeal to the patriotic feeling of the country." The author declares that a national cult must be made to take the place of an impossible state religion; that the whole American people need a new baptism of patriotism; and he shows in this little book how cheaply, easily, and quickly this can be done by methods hitherto untried. The idea is a sound one, and the book timely.

"I don't know when I have seen so much sense in so few pages."— Edward Everett Hale.

"For its beautiful, clear, and vivid style and lofty sentiments, it must win attention; its wise propositions should be put in execution." — Rev. S. F. Smith, D.D. (Author of "America").

"It is good all the way through; the suggestions are most wise and timely." — Rev. George Hodges, D.D. (Dean Episcopal Divinity School, Cambridge).

"Here are seventy-two pages packed with the best practical suggestions about the proper way of educating our people (especially our new and young ones) in genuine patriotism." —The Critic.

"A timely work that should be placed in the hands of every American citizen." — New Haven Journal.

"It is brimming with feasible plans for our country's betterment, . . . a book to be read, studied, and followed." —Chautauquan.

Carman, Bliss.

BALLADS OF LOST HAVEN: A BOOK OF THE SEA.

Including such famous poems as: "A Son of the Sea," "Legends of Lost Haven," "The Marring of Malyn," "The Yule Guest," and others. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in green cloth. pp. 117. Net, $1.00.

"By far the best book he has written. . . . He is a genuine poet." — The Critic.

"It is a hundred pages of salt sea, without a trace of Kipling, and yet having a sea-flavor as unmistakable as his, and with a finer touch — with less of repetition, less of mere technicality, and a more varied human interest." N. Y. Nation.

BEHIND THE ARRAS: A BOOK OF THE UNSEEN.

With designs by T. B. Meteyard. Printed on heavy antique paper, deckle-edged, and bound in light green boards, with a cover design in dark green. pp. 102. Net, $1.50.

This book, gathering a score of Mr. Carman's latest verses, makes a rich volume. The sub-title, "A Book of the Unseen," explains the subject of these poems, which, for the most part in a minor key, are full of thought, of suggestion, and of connection between soul and spirit. The sympathetic designs by Mr. Meteyard admirably catch the subtle suggestions of the text and add greatly to its expression.

"The collection is of exceptional merit, and besides its poetic quality has two excellent characteristics: it awakens interest and compels thought." — Halifax Herald.

BY THE AURELIAN WALL, AND OTHER ELEGIES.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in cloth, with cover design by G. H. Hallowell. pp. 132. Net, $1.00.

The most conspicuous and attractive characteristic of Bliss Carman's verse is his disregard of hackneyed conventionality, combined with vitality and ability to construct lines metrically flawless, thereby possessing the rare attribute of reaching the hearts of the most prosaic readers. Those who have read "Behind the Arras," "Low Tide on Grand Pré," and "Ballads of Lost Haven," will welcome the appearance of his latest volume of verse, whereby the names of such as Robert Louis Stevenson, Phillips Brooks, Henry George, and others equally distinguished throughout the world, will be perpetuated in elegies composed with all the virile charm and force which have been evident in the author's previous work.

"A new volume of poems by Mr. Bliss Carman is a literary event which appeals not only to the love of beauty, but to the love of novelty as well. Each of Mr. Carman's books has a note of its own." — The Bookman.

"If poetry is to be judged by quality, Mr. Carman is a singer of the rarest sort." — Hartford Courant.

"As a maker of ballads, imaginative and full of haunting memory, Mr. Carman is easily the master among his contemporaries." — The Critic.

"Mr. Carman is a poet in every fibre of his mortal frame, with a Keats-like sensitiveness to beauty." — Boston Transcript.

"Mr. Carman is a growing genius." — New York Independent.

LOW TIDE ON GRAND PRÉ.

A book of Lyrics. By Bliss Carman. With a title-page designed by Martin Mower. Deckle-edged, gilt top. Bound in cloth. pp. 132. Net, $1.00. Also fifty copies on old English hand-made paper, each copy signed by the author. Square 8vo. Net, $3.50.

A new edition of Mr. Carman's first published book of poetry, with three poems not contained in the first edition.

Clarke, Ednah Proctor.

AN OPAL AND OTHER VERSES.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top. pp. 89. Net, $1.00.

Including the following poems: "An Opal," "The Dancer," "Sunset on the Bras d'Or," "'Where the Bee Sucks,'" "A Good-bye," "The Humming-Bird," "Sappho," "Maid Marian's Song," "Noon," "Circe," "At the Breath of a Flower," "The Mocking-Bird."

Some of these virile lines have appeared in the Atlantic Monthly, The Century, and in Harper's Bazaar. The most of them, however, have never before appeared in print. They possess a distinctive charm which one finds only in verses written by those of more than ordinary talent. They are varied in theme and in treatment, and will be appreciated by all who enjoy spirited and refreshing sentiment.

"A girl Landor now, it is possible for her to be, in the infinite enlargement of the mind of the modern woman, the author of an Homeric twentieth-century epic. I defy the coldest critic to lay down 'An Opal' without an accelerated heart-beat and a thrilling brain." — Time and the Hour.

Each design mounted on heavy cardboard, title-page and cover designed by Walter Crane, the reproduction of these eight subjects limited to six hundred copies for sale in England, America, and elsewhere, each copy signed and numbered. Issued in connection with George Allen of London, England. Cloth. Net, $6.50.

These eight designs of Mr. Crane's illustrating the robust comedy of the Merry Wives have been reproduced by the new Dallastype process, which preserves in a particularly faithful manner the lines and shading of an original pen drawing. This edition is strictly limited, the plates having been destroyed after its printing.

Echegaray, José.

THE GREAT GALEOTO, and FOLLY OR SAINTLINESS.

Two plays done from the Spanish verse into English prose by Hannah Lynch. Brought out in connection with John Lane, of London. Heavy paper, uncut edges, bound in light pink buckram. pp. 196. Net, $1.50.

These two plays, a critical but appreciative introduction to which has been written by the translator, Miss Hannah Lynch, are selected from the work of José Echegaray, the Ibsen of Spain, a noted mathematician, an able statesman, and a playwright with a record of fifty plays conceived and given to the public after a time in life when most men begin to take matters easily.

"American readers are to be congratulated upon having his [Echegaray's] works translated."—Boston Journal.

"'There is a fine idea in 'The Great Galeoto' finely worked out. Has the quality of a really classic work — severe simplicity." — London Daily Chronicle.

"'The Great Galeoto' is a thoughtful and interesting play. The story is detailed with equal art and feeling. It is an intensely sad, but a noble and a moving piece of dramatic work." — St. James Gazette.

VEGETATION AND SCENERY IN THE METROPOLITAN RESERVATIONS OF BOSTON.

A Forestry Report written by Charles Eliot, and presented to the Metropolitan Park Commission, Feb. 15, 1897, by Olmsted, Olmsted and Eliot, Landscape Architects. Illustrated from photographs. Bound in cloth. Net, $1.00.

This paper on the Metropolitan Reservations was the last report written by Charles Eliot, and is published in book form with the approval of the Metropolitan Park Commission, and under the auspices of Messrs. F. L. and J. C. Olmsted. The object of issuing this study of the present conditions and the past history of the vegetation of the reservations is to show that the preservation, restoration, and enhancement of the beauty of vegetation and of scenery are only to be accomplished by the rightly directed labor of men.

Emerson, Ralph Waldo.

TWO UNPUBLISHED ESSAYS.

With an introduction by Edward Everett Hale. Title-page designed by Theodore B. Hapgood, Jr. pp. 81. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in cloth, gilt top. $1.00.

These two essays, hitherto unpublished, on the character of Socrates and the present (1821) state of ethical philosophy, were written by Emerson while a student at Harvard College, in the competition for the Bowdoin prizes. Dr. Hale in his introduction writes: "I cannot but think that, if we had not his name, if this manuscript had struggled through anonymously and were printed to-day, we should have sense enough, wit enough, and insight enough to recognize the author."

"Will prove particularly valuable to a student of Emerson's writings, because they throw a very distinct light upon the early stages of his intellectual development." — Boston Beacon.

"Emerson's reputation will not at all suffer by their comparison with his later work." — Boston Herald.

Flint, Grover.

MARCHING WITH GOMEZ.

A war-correspondent's field note-book, kept during four months with the Cuban Army. Illustrated by the author, from sketches made in the field. With an historical introduction by John Fiske, Litt.D., LL.D. Bound in cloth, gilt top. pp. 294. $1.50.

The book was written upon a basis of personal experience undergone by the author while serving in the capacity of war-correspondent in Cuba. Mr. Flint having passed the Spanish lines, joined the insurgents under General Lacret, with whom he marched for five weeks, eventually joining General Maximo Gomez, the commander-in-chief of the insurgent forces. The book is enlivened by over one hundred and twenty-five illustrations, including portraits of noted officers, diagrams of battles, scenes in camp and field, and sketches of incident and character.

An invaluable interest is added to the work by the historical introduction written by Prof. John Fiske, author of "Old Virginia and her Neighbors," "The American Revolution," etc., which gives a sketch of the general history of the island and an account of the events which led to the present war, together with a comparison of the English and Spanish method of colonization.

"He gives us not only the most novel and entertaining relation of the insurrection yet written, but, so far as it goes, the most authentic. Mr. Flint was peculiarly fitted for his task. He had lived for two years in Spain and spoke the language. He had served for two years more in the United States Cavalry, and as to matters of drill and discipline was a competent military critic. In addition, he writes with a naturalness and (though the story is in the first person) with an entire suppression of self. His numerous illustrations have a similar sincerity, that makes them much more interesting than the many vague "kodaks" that find their way from the field. The value of the book lies in the fact that the author understood what he saw, and does not profess to describe much else. He uses hearsay sparingly, giving the sources of his information and the grounds of his belief in its authenticity. . . . Mr. Flint was first with a small force under Andarje; then with Lacret, who made him a brevet major; and lastly with Gomez himself. Of the civil leaders he saw Cisneros, then President; Masó, his successor; Hernandez, and others. He followed Gomez into two small battles and was under fire at other times. . . .

"I will have the surgeon examine us and see which is the sicker man, you or I." (General Maximo Gomez, Commander-in-chief of the Cuban forces, in a characteristic attitude.)

From "Marching with Gomez."

"For the plan of campaign, Mr. Flint gives all the credit to Gomez, of whom he presents an attractive picture — a fearless, high-tempered old man, fierce of speech, a rigid disciplinarian, and a despiser of the pretentious, holding 'the old-fashioned theory of the moral responsibility of journalism,' and distrusting Americans, in the sincerity of whose sympathy he disbelieved." — The Nation, 3-31-'98.

"Obviously the work of a well-balanced observer, who has lived and travelled long enough in Cuba to see things without illusions."

"It is calmly written. It also helps to explain contradictory statements."

"He has the air of putting before you what he has seen and heard without seeking to alter it, to rant about it, to orate at the expense of the Spaniards, or to lend his account unwarranted strength."

"An instructive appendix deals with the effects from the Mauser bullet." — The Boston Herald, 3-12-'98.

"Dr. John Fiske, of Cambridge, America's foremost historian, has written an introduction." — The Boston Journal, 3-12-'98.

"Mr. Flint's book shows the determination of the Cubans, and the utter hopelessness of the Spanish cause in Cuba." — N. Y. Sun, 3-20-'98.

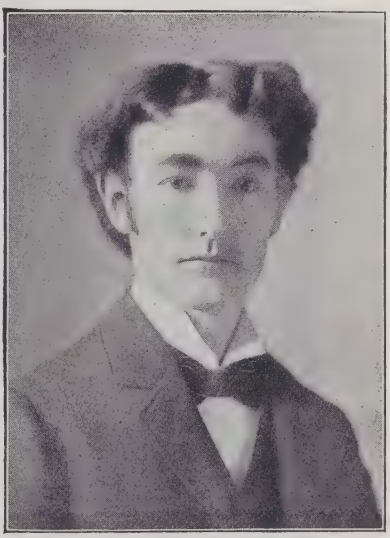
"Mr. Flint's direct, powerful narrative, wherever it is read, can have only the result of arousing a more intelligent and earnest sympathy with the Cuban cause among the American people." — Ed. Boston Journal, 3-17-'98.

"The stories about Gomez which Mr. Flint tells give one an excellent idea of the personality which guides the plans of the Insurgents." — Boston Journal, 3-19-'98.

Fuller, Hulbert.

VIVIAN OF VIRGINIA: Being the Memoirs of our First Rebellion, by John Vivian, Esq., of Middle Plantation, Virginia.

With ten full-page illustrations by Frank T. Merrill. Printed on deckle-edged paper with gilt top, and bound in cloth. pp. 377. $1.75.



The scene of the story is laid during the latter part of the seventeenth century, and follows the course of the rebellion in Virginia against the tyrannous rule of Governor William Berkeley, giving a faithful and highly interesting account of the event, interwoven with the adventures, both perilous and amusing, of the hero, Captain John Vivian. The thread of a delightful love-affair is united with the story, wherein Mistress Langdon, the charming niece of Governor Berkeley, is concerned. The quaintness of the old-time diction is preserved with rare skill, which adds of itself a distinct fascination to the tale, and the character-drawing is exceptionally fine, of which one of the best examples is Master Seager, the brave and fascinating, but double-faced villain, with whom our hero is constantly at odds. There is a touch of keen, dry humor throughout the whole tale, which, with the strong characterization and the intricacy of the plot, sustains the interest to the last word.

"A stirring and accurate account of the famous Bacon rebellion." — Los Angeles Sunday Times.

"We shall have to search far to find a better colonial story than this." — Denver Republican.

"A well-conceived, well-plotted romance, full of life and adventure." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"A story abounding in exciting incidents and well-told conversations." Boston Journal.

"Mr. Fuller will find a large circle of readers for his romance who will not be disappointed in their pleasant expectations." — Boston Transcript.

"Instead of using history as a background for the exploits of the hero, the author used the hero to bring out history, and the interesting events of those early days in Virginia. The author has preserved the language and customs of the times admirably." — Philadelphia Telegram.

'96 CHARADES.

In verse. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with a cover design by George H. Hallowell. $1.00.

As Mr. Gray says in his preface, "Charades are not for the moment to be read and cast aside, but furnish amusement for hours together around the open fire of winter or at the summer picnic."

"We commend Norman D. Gray's charades. They lack neither wit nor elegance, and they give pleasure to the reader." — The New York Sun.

"The charades are bright, varied, and original." — Boston Journal.

"The charades, besides being clever, have the merit of real verse." — New York Press.

"The reading of the riddles herein propounded in graceful verse will tax the utmost ingenuity of the reader, but their reading once attempted will not be given up until accomplished. . . . Some of the charades are veritable little lyrics. . . . The most general culture, the widest information is required by him who would solve all these charades." — Philadelphia Evening Telegram.

"The puzzles are very ingenious. . . . This volume is sure to be widely known." — Boston Globe.

"They are exceptionally clever in conception and felicitous in treatment." — Philadelphia Press.

"Really excellently puzzling. They are provocative of much perplexity, and may assist in the sharpening of more than one conventional wit." — Boston Budget.

"Mr. Gray seems to have hit a golden mean for a more than usually intelligent person, giving him opportunity for reasonable frequency of solution just short of despair. The rhymes are very pretty." — Time and the Hour, Boston.

"Well calculated to test the knowledge and ingenuity of its readers to the utmost." — The Outlook.

JAMES CLARENCE MANGAN.

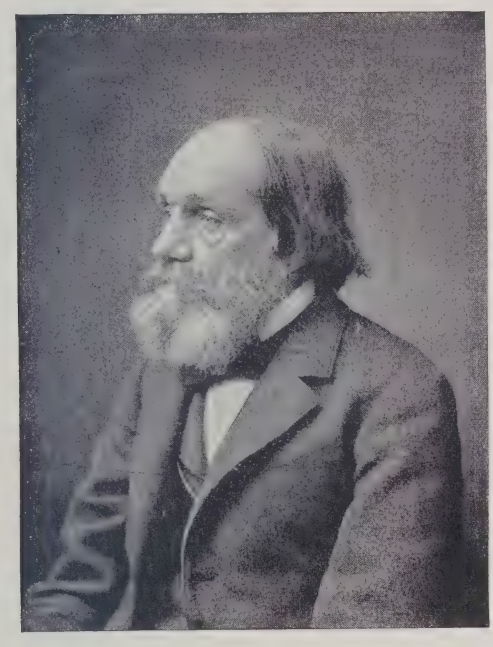
His selected poems, with a study by the editor. With a portrait of the poet, and a title-page designed by T. B. Hapgood, Jr. (John Lane, London.) Net, $1.50.

The following original poems are included: "Twenty Golden Years Ago," "The Time of the Barmecides," "The Howling Song of Al Mohara," "The Irish National Hymn," "A Vision of Connaught in the Thirteenth Century," "The Nameless One," "The Wail and Warning of the Three Khalendeers." And among the translations are: "Lament for the Princes of Tyrone and Tyrconnell," "The Fair Hills of Eire, O," "My Dark Rosaleen," "The Maid of Orleans," "The Erl-King's Daughter," "The Ride around the Parapet," "And then no More," and "A Lamentation for the Death of Sir Maurice Fitzgerald."

Hale, Edward Everett.

IF JESUS CAME TO BOSTON.

Printed on heavy paper, with wide margins, and bound in dark red cloth. Gilt top. pp. 45. $ .50.



This book is virtually a protest against the spirit of the book, "If Christ came to Chicago," written by Mr. W. T. Stead. It points out the good, not the bad, of city life; or, as one reader has expressed it, "it shows how much Christ there is in the every-day life of a great city." It is written in the charmingly simple English style of which Dr. Hale has been for so long a time a distinguished master.

"This is a good antidote for Mr. Stead's book." — Magazine of Poetry and Literary Review.

"One of Dr. Hale's vivid and realistic sketches that seem, as one reads, to be a narrative of genuine experiences." — New Haven Journal and Courier.

"The book sympathetically describes the beautiful symmetrical machinery for the relief of the friendless and needy, as well as some movements that may as yet be imperfect in certain details, but which, having the spirit of the Master to guide them, will eventually become worthy of Him." — The Delineator.

"A representation, in terse but telling form, of some of the good things which Christian people of various names are doing for their fellow-men in the name of the Master. Dr. Hale knows how to put the bright and promising features of the case effectively and encouragingly without overstating them in the least." — The Congregationalist.

MY DOUBLE, AND HOW HE UNDID ME.

Republished with a new preface and portrait of the author. Bound in gray paper boards with ribbed leather back. $.75.

This unique, entertaining, and well-known tale, which was originally published in the Atlantic Monthly thirty-four years ago, has become almost as well established among American short-story classics as "The Man without a Country" itself. To this is added a delightful preface in which Dr. Hale chats pleasantly of the changes in literary fashion which have taken place since 1862, when this story was first printed.

"Dr. E. E. Hale has written a great many good things, but in our opinion nothing better than the inimitable 'My Double, and How he undid me.'" — Boston Advertiser.

"It is thirty-four years since that delightful bit of pleasantry made its appearance, and it certainly has stood the test of time." — Chicago Post.

"Everybody who has reached years of discretion and who reads at all has probably read, at least once, Dr. Hale's story of 'My Double, and How he undid me'; but those who have read it even many times may be pardoned for repeating the experience, if he or she can get hold of a copy of the exquisite limited edition recently issued." — Boston Beacon.

"When this appeared in the Atlantic Monthly thirty years ago, it was one of the best stories. It is still." — Book News.

"Its popularity seems to have increased rather than diminished, as the years have rolled on." — Boston Gazette.

"One of the best things Dr. Hale ever did." — Hartford Courant.

"The genial humor of the narrative and the practical pith which it contains deserve being helped on to immortality." — The Congregationalist.

"It is not likely that Stevenson got the idea for his 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' from Dr. Hale's book, but the more startling plot of the Scotchman might easily have been deduced from this droll satire." — Chicago Tribune.

"The choicest bit of humor we have enjoyed for many a day." — Cleveland Medical Gazette.

SENECA'S MEDEA and THE DAUGHTERS OF TROY.

Translated under the supervision of, and with an introduction by, Prof. Albert S. Cook, of Yale University. Bound in cloth. pp. 96. $1.00.

Harrison, Mrs. Burton.

A SON OF THE OLD DOMINION.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in basket-cloth, three colors. With a cover design by T. B. Hapgood, Jr. pp. 355. $1.50.

A Colonial novel, dealing with the pre-Revolutionary period; describing dramatically the early border warfare between the Indians and settlers, and setting forth the events which led up to the revolution among the Virginian colonists. It describes most graphically famous scenes, incidents, localities, and historical characters associated with the early history of the war; and further interest is added to the story by the fact that Mrs. Harrison has been able to draw upon private documents in the possession of her family for information in regard to incidents in the life of General Washington, who figures as a prominent character in the book. Patrick Henry and many other noted persons connected with that stirring period of American history are referred to by name. A charming love story is woven in, and the delightful glimpse of the private life of Washington gives the book a peculiar interest at this time.

"Mrs. Harrison has inhaled the very spirit of Virginian life in ante-Revolution days, and not so much penned it as exhaled it upon the pages of this delightful book. . . . The author is at her best in picturing the chief women of this story. . . . Her Colonel Washington is strong, and simple, and stately, as we love to think of him. . . . The style of the book is quaint, without being affected, and its vocabulary, as well as its peculiarities of expression, is true to the time. It is, without question, Mrs. Harrison's best work, and, as a study in American historical literature, though of later date, deserves a place by the side of Mr. Stimson's 'King Noanett.'" — Boston Transcript.

"Mrs. Burton Harrison may certainly be styled the typical American woman novelist, so apt and true is her portrayal of the characteristics of the average American man or woman, and so thorough and familiar her knowledge of American history and social customs. She tells her stories, too, in a delightful way that makes their perusal charming to any reader. . . . This present work is her latest and best, it being, on many accounts, one of the finest American historical novels that has appeared in a decade." — Boston Courier.

"The chief value of 'A Son of the Old Dominion' lies in the fine historical atmosphere which certainly testifies to masterly artistic workmanship." — N. Y. Independent.

A VIRGINIA COUSIN, and BAR HARBOR TALES.

Printed on deckle-edged paper and bound in cloth. Gilt top. pp. 202. Title-page design by Theodore B. Hapgood, Jr. $1.25.

In "A Virginia Cousin," the author has combined some felicitously true pictures of New York society life with other and tenderer pictures of her native South in such a complete manner and yet so directly, that the book is distinctly captivating. In the other stories of this book the scene is changed to Bar Harbor, a subject which in itself is surrounded by an atmosphere of romance and pleasant memories. In these stories — "Out of Season" and "On Frenchman's Bay" — Mrs. Harrison has dealt with different kinds of characters from those in the opening story.

"Those who delight in Mrs. Burton Harrison's charming ease and felicity as a novelist will find her even more to their taste as a short story writer." — Boston Herald.

"Her stories have an air of authority which is always acceptable to lovers of realistic fiction." — New York Tribune.

"We urge the reader to take the pretty little volume in his or her own hand and personally enjoy the pleasure and even the delight of 'A Virginia Cousin,' rather than ask for a sketch of it in anatomical form. There is a constant point and glitter in her sentences which successfully rivals the spirited flow of her narrative and the animation of her conversations." — Boston Courier.

THE MERRY MAID OF ARCADY, HIS LORDSHIP, AND OTHER STORIES.

Printed on deckle-edged paper and bound in cloth. Gilt top. pp. 348. $1.25.

This is a companion volume to the book described above, and includes the following: "The Merry Maid of Arcady," "At a Winter House-party," "Leaves from the Diary of Ruth Marchmont, Spinster," "Worrosquoyacke," "Thirteen at Table," "The Secret of San Juan," "'The Stranger within thy Gate,'" "His Lordship," "A Masque at Henley," and "Miss Selina's Settlement."

"Mrs. Harrison depicts society with a sunny carelessness, perfectly well-bred, that is delicious in its suspicion of satire." — Boston Herald.

"The title-story of this little collection is an exquisite and pathetic bit of short-story making. In its humanity, sweetness, and real vitality, it is a model that one could wish more widely followed. . . . The book, as a whole, will edify people of all ages, but its union of worldliness and high-mindedness will make it especially satisfactory reading for young people." — The Critic.

"Mrs. Harrison is a gifted writer with a large following, and these short, interesting tales are in her best vein." — Hartford Post.

Howe, Mrs. Julia Ward.

IS POLITE SOCIETY POLITE? AND OTHER ESSAYS.

Printed on deckle-edged paper and bound in brown paper boards, old style, with back title label. With a new portrait of the author taken especially for this book. pp. 202. $1.50.

In this volume have been collected a number of lectures written for different organizations and delivered in many parts of the country by Mrs. Howe. These include the following: "Is Polite Society Polite?" written for the New England Woman's Club of Boston; "Paris;" "Greece Revisited," first read before the Town and Country Club,

Newport, R.I.; "Aristophanes" and "Dante and Beatrice," both written for the Summer School of Philosophy at Concord, Mass.; "The Halfness of Nature," first read before the Boston Radical Club; and "The Salon in America," written for the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia.

A peculiar interest is given these essays from the fact that they are the product of the ripest experience and thought of a woman who is one of the last of that great generation of New England authors who have made American literature.

"These essays are on a variety of subjects, chiefly literary and social, and they reveal the sincerity as well as the frankness of the author and illustrate the high quality of her literary culture." — The Congregationalist.

"The collection of essays will add to the general appreciation of one of the most genial and gracious women in America." — Philadelphia Ledger.

"It is superfluous to say that all the essays are distinguished by culture, grace, and spirituality." — The Book Buyer.

"All the grace, as well as the philosophy, which characterizes Mrs. Howe's lectures is in these eight essays." — Boston Transcript.

"There is hardly a chapter in it that does not show the woman's heart beating with warm, high resolve, presenting a nobler standard of conduct, exhorting to sincerity and depth of character." —Christian Register.

"A coruscation of bright and living thoughts, timely and sensible reflections, and admirably instructive criticism." — Boston Courier.

"To the task of imparting a cheerful and helpful philosophy to her hearers and readers she has brought a cultivated and keen intelligence, aided by a sanity of human insight that leads her into none of the troubled waters of latter-day discussions of arts or manners. . . . Mrs. Howe's philosophy is good, sound common sense, neither illuminating nor evocative of the dark problems of life, but a good philosophy for the average man and woman who live a refined and cultivated existence." — Footlights.

"The book is replete with wholesome common-sense ideas, and merits careful perusal." — San Francisco Call.

"The book will be gratefully welcomed by all of Mrs. Howe's admirers, and by all those who have ever enjoyed the privilege of hearing her read a single essay in this collection, insomuch as it gives a permanent life to this product of her ripest experience and thought — characteristic, sympathetic, and brilliant expressions from a woman who is one of the last of that great generation of New England authors who have made American literature." — Boston Budget.

"Her careful comparisons, upon which wide learning and deep experience are brought to bear, making them almost conclusive in their estimates, are such as no other American woman is qualified to make." — Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

Johnson, E. Pauline.

THE WHITE WAMPUM: A BOOK OF INDIAN VERSE.

Bound in copper-colored cloth, with a title-page and cover design by E. H. New. Published in connection with John Lane, of London. pp. 88. Net, $1.50.

Miss Johnson's chief subjects in this volume of poems are drawn from the Canadian Northwest, the scene of a new-born literature. They readily lend themselves to color and picturesque movement, which qualities are very agreeably found in the verse of Miss Johnson, or "Tekahionwake," as she is called in the Mohawk tongue. Miss Johnson is an Indian princess of one of the proudest of the old tribes, and, although she has had the advantages of Canadian culture, she has always retained her hold on the life of the forest. These poems present a series of pictures of the life of the first Americans, executed with remarkable sympathy and precision.

"Miss Johnson is a poet of unusual ability, and infuses all she writes with a wonderful charm and individuality to which none who reads this book of Indian verse can be insensible." — The Chautauquan.

"They display delicacy of sentiment and felicity of expression in a remarkable degree." — The Dial.

"Always interesting, breathing the true spirit of poetry. She does not depend upon some word trickery for commendation. It is very certain that she feels every line she has written, and that through her poetry she has voiced feelings long pent up, but which find eloquent expression in her verse." — Atlanta Constitution.

Kovalevsky, Sonya.

VERA VORONTZOFF.

Translated by the Baroness Anna von Rydingsvärd. Cover, title-page, and end pieces designed by the Baron von Rydingsvärd. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in cloth. Gilt top. pp. 197. Net, $1.25.

A novel by that eminently gifted woman, Sonya Kovalevsky, whose mathematical and scientific acquirements astonished the world, but whose life, as she confessed, had been a failure. This is a vividly Russian story, portraying life and love in that country of imprisonment and exile.

"Smoothly and romantically the story runs, covering the life and thoughts of Vera Vorontzoff as only one woman can analyze the inmost thoughts of another woman. There are gloomy pictures in the book, and shadows flit across the thread of the romantic tale and mingle with the brightness thereof. Not to read it is to miss much that is ennobling and much which illumines Russian life and Russian womanhood." — Boston Journal.

"The American edition is a very pretty piece of book-making." — The Nation.

"We may smile at the ill-balanced enthusiasm that impels the heroine of this tale to self-immolation in her chosen cause, but we cannot escape the impression that this is one of the most genuine books ever written, or refrain from paying tribute to the high qualities of mind and heart that it reveals." — The Dial.

"Such books as 'Vera Vorontzoff' treat of political crimes with sympathy for the criminals, but yet in a vastly different spirit from the false Russian romance of picturesque Nihilism which is so popular. There are true pictures of Russian daily life here, and in them lies the chief interest of the novel to Western readers."— New York Times.

"The admirable quality of the book-making cannot be too highly commended. There is something severely Russian and uncompromising in the red, blue, black, and silver of the cover. The design is of the hieroglyphic order that demands a key to fully appreciate." — Literary World.

sight it gives to an almost unknown bit of life and country. The illustrations, most of which are full-page, add greatly to its interpretation.

"The spirit throughout is alert and gay, and the sympathy with delicately strung natures charming; even the literal translation of a foreign idiom (a very dangerous experiment) adds to the grace and naturalness of Mr. Lummis's tale." — New York Evening Post.

DR. VERMONT'S FANTASY, AND OTHER STORIES.

Printed on English deckle-edged paper; bound in brown cloth, with gilt top. pp. 334. Issued in connection with J. M. Dent & Co., London. Net, $1.50.

"Miss Lynch has proved in previous work that she has at command the most precious of gifts, — the gift of charm. These stories are all, more or less, interpenetrated by it. We feel, rather than see, this impalpable yet possessing influence as something that is in the air, — the spiritual elements of Prospero's island." — Daily Chronicle, London.

"Such presentations of the sweet and simple side of French provincial life as this, from an English point of view, are only too rare. All the studies composing the volume are exquisitely tinted in local color, and drawn with real French surety and fineness ; for the author has evidently studied French literary models as well as French manners and types and customs." — The Bookman.

"Gracefully written, with stories, . . . which show a singularly sympathetic understanding of French character . . . they have a delicate distinction of style and a subtle charm of atmosphere that makes them very pleasant reading." — Pall Mall Gazette.

MADEMOISELLE DE BERNY: A STORY OF VALLEY FORGE.

With five full-page photogravures from drawings by Frank T. Merrill. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in cloth. pp. 272. $1.50.

The scene of this story is laid in 1778, during the occupation of Philadelphia by the British troops, and a strong picture is drawn of the luxurious and frivolous life led by His Majesty's officers among those who then represented the best class of Philadelphian residents, in contrast with the hardships and suffering endured at the time by the Colonial troops under General Washington at Valley Forge. The hero, Major Heywood of the American army, while in the guise of a spy, meets his lady-love, Mademoiselle de Berny, the ward of a British General, and a truer picture has never been drawn of the struggle between manly love and patriotic devotion to duty. A grand delineation of Washington's character is made, wherein the spirit of the conscientious soldier and the courtesy of the noble gentleman are finely set forth; the Marquis de Lafayette also appears as one of the characters, not only in his historical guise of a soldier fighting for principle, but also as a lively young Frenchman with an eye for beauty and a tongue for repartee. A distinctive charm is added to the book by the illustrations, drawn by Mr. Frank T. Merrill, and reproduced by the photogravure process.

"The charm of 'Mademoiselle de Berny' lies in its singular sweetness." — Boston Herald.

"Real romance . . . admirably written." — Washington Post.

"A stirring romance, full of life and action from start to finish.' — Toledo Daily Blade.

"Of the many romances in which Washington is made to figure, this is one of the most fascinating, one of the best." — Boston Courier.

YE LYTTLE SALEM MAIDE: A STORY OF WITCHCRAFT.

With four full-page photogravures from drawings by E. W. D. Hamilton. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in cloth. pp. 321. $1.50.

A tale of the worst days of the reign of superstition in New England, and of a brave "lyttle maide," of Salem Town, whose faith and hope and unyielding adherence to her word of honor form the basis of a most attractive story. Several historical characters are introduced, including the Rev. Cotton Mather and Governor and Lady Phipps, and a very convincing picture is drawn of Puritan life during the latter part of the 17th century. An especial interest is added to the book by the illustrations, reproduced by the photogravure process from originals by E. W. D. Hamilton.

THE TRUE MOTHER GOOSE: SONGS FOR THE NURSERY, OR MOTHER GOOSE'S MELODIES FOR CHILDREN.

The true text, without addition or abridgment. Illustrated and edited by Miss McManus. With 170 illustrations in black and white, and a historical preface describing the origin of these noted rhymes and the various editions of them. $2.00.

"We must not let this taking book pass out of notice without at least one more word of commendation for its lightness and openness and for the wondrous pictures which adorn its pages. That they are after their artist's own heart is perfectly clear; and there is not a trace of imitation of any other Mother Goose pictures we ever saw about them, and over them the childish eyes will bend with silent delight, and even the eyes of father and mother, to say nothing of grandfather and grandmother, brighten up with new pleasure as they revive the sensations of their own childhood and enter once more into the unspeakable joys of the age of five years." — Literary World.

"This handsome volume is, so far as the text goes, an exact reprint of a collection under the same title, published in Boston in 1824 by Munroe & Francis, but in type, illustration, and binding it is up to the end-of-the-century demand for artistic book-making. . . . The book is one which will be in strong demand." — Boston Transcript.

"Clever and amusing illustrations. . . . This is an excellent gift-book for children." — Boston Globe.

"We envy the happy youth of the day which is fed by such bright fancies." — Time and the Hour.

"The cultivated Boston child will rejoice in this definitive edition of the old nursery classic." — Boston Beacon.

"For the juvenile student and in fact for all lovers of fine effects in drawings and book decoration this volume is highly recommended." — Bookseller and Newsman.

"Whether America or England can verify a claim to Mother Goose, this new presentation of her works will continue her hold on the affections of the babies of this country." — School Journal.

"We can warmly recommend 'The Mother Goose' by Blanche McManus. . . . From cover to cover it is a charming book." — Great Round World.

Nodier, Charles.

TRILBY, THE FAIRY OF ARGYLE.

Translated from the French by Minna Caroline Smith. Bound in Scotch plaid boards. pp. 111. $ .50.

Trilby of Argyle was the original Trilby. The book was written in 1822, by Charles Nodier, whom Victor Hugo called his master, and it belongs to the school of pure romance of the first quarter of the century. This vivaciously imaginative Scottish tale was written just after its author's return from Scotland, while he was still under the spell of Scottish folk-lore and fantasy.

A few copies of the first edition, bound in the Dress Stuart plaid, remain. These will be sold at $1.00 each.

"It is as pathetic and romantic as ever was fairyland." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"This little volume in its plaid covers has achieved the distinction of being the most rapidly printed and lightning speeded book ever issued by the press." — Boston Herald.

"It is a fairy story and a love story, with all the charm of the true Scottish symbolism dressed with Parisian taste." — Boston Transcript.

"A tragic, exquisitely told tale." — New York Herald.

"The most beautiful little story in the world. It is as chaste as 'Paul and Virginia,' fantastic as 'Cinderella,' and sad as 'Petrarch and Laura.'" — Chicago News.

"Nodier's 'Trilby' has a charm as distinctive in its way as is the creation of Du Maurier; and both in its intrinsic interest and in its grace of style, it ought to have been considered a prize for the translator." — The Christian Register.

"'Trilby' is a delightful creation — a kind of faun, a kind of elf, a kind of god, a kind of man, with playfulness and passion commingled, a character full of symbolism, mysticism, and deep meaning." — Chicago Times Herald.

Norris, Mary Harriott.

THE GRAY HOUSE OF THE QUARRIES.

With a frontispiece etching by Edmund H. Garrett. Bound in gray cloth. pp. 500. $1.50.

Miss Norris's present work is the story of the life, from childhood to mature age, of a noble woman, reared among incongruous and uncongenial surroundings, who develops from her own strength of character and the association with aristocratic ancestors a breadth of mind and purpose and a force of will, the gradual advancement and the results of which are drawn by the author in a way to render the heroine one of the strongest feminine characters of fiction.

The reader is carried from an old homestead on the Hudson, surrounded by the great farms of the descendants of old Dutch settlers, whose morbid greed for land and narrowness of ideas are described by Miss Norris as they could be described only by one who had lived in that atmosphere, to a larger sphere of action in New York, wherein the social conditions existing to-day are set forth in a way to compel the interest of every reader.

"The peculiar genre for which, in a literary sense, all must acknowledge obligation to the author of a new type, is the Dutch-American species. The churchgoings, the courtings, the pleasures and sorrows of a primitive people, their lives and deaths, weddings, suicides, births, and burials are Rembrandt and Rubens pictures on a fresh canvas." — Boston Transcript.

"The fine ideal of womanhood in a person never once physically described will gratify the highest tone of the period, and is an ennobling conception." — Time and The Hour, Boston.

THE EARLY ART OF PRINTING.

Venice Series. Bound in paper, old-style boards. pp. 119. Net, $5.00. Soft vellum, old-style boards. Net, $5.50. Cloth, half vellum. Net, $7.00.

This volume on the early art of printing in Venice is the first of a series to include Rome, Milan, Bologna, Florence, Genoa, Turin, and other Italian cities. The work is largely illustrative, containing numberless reproductions of the finest title-pages, ornaments, wood-cuts, initials, water-marks, printer's ciphers, bindings, etc., of the early period of Venetian printing. The text of the volume consists of notes and introduction. The work possesses great interest, not only for libraries and museums, but for all craftsmen who love their art and for intelligent book-lovers.

"The price, for such a work, is moderate. The book is a credit to the typographical art, and it should be an inspiration to the members of the trade, as it is surely indispensable to the student." — Boston Journal.

Parker, Gilbert.

THE POMP OF THE LAVILETTES.

A story of stirring adventure and heroism, of love and war, during the troublesome days of old on the banks of the river St. Lawrence, by one already famous as a delineator of French Canadian life and character. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in crimson board cover. pp. 191. Net, $1.25.

"A tale of human interest, palpitating with emotion and throbbing with life." — Bookman.

"The story is a strenuous romance, full of action and passion, yet its characters are wonderfully true to life." — Chicago Tribune.

"The story is strong in movement from beginning to end, and is written with that earnestness and sincerity of purpose that constantly feed curiosity and keep the interest keen and eager to the last word." — Boston Herald.

"It is a stirring story, dramatic, picturesque, and, ending satisfactorily, it leaves the reader in excellent humor. . . . From beginning to end this is a most enjoyable story." — N. Y. Independent.

Pendleton, Louis.

CARITA: A CUBAN ROMANCE.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top. Bound in dark green cloth. pp. 247. $1.25.

The story of "Carita" is one which will appeal strongly to the reader at this day, portraying as it does the most agreeable side of Cuban social life during a period of comparative peace, several years after the uprising which ended in 1876, and before the present revolution; showing clearly, however, by what means the spark so nearly subdued was kept alive, to burst into flame nearly twenty years later. A love story of rare charm forms the basis of the book, and the drawing of the heroine's noble self-denial, under circumstances so terrible that the explanation comes as a great surprise to the reader, is done with admirable skill.

"Its highest value consists in its strong, genuine local color." — Boston Transcript.

"Most entertaining reading. . . . We commend it as a wholesome book." — Boston Journal.

"Timely reading. . . . The description of primitive plowing, of churchgoing, of the cockfighting padre, hurrying from service to the cockpit, with his game chicken under his arm, the scenery, daily life, smoking of the women — all these are spirited and very vivid." — Chicago-Times Herald.

"A pretty story, and will be especially acceptable now." — Pittsburgh Times.

"A beautiful and exciting romance, full of adventure and surprises." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Since Cuba first began to interest Americans there have been few romances written by any pen that in either plot, personnel, or scenic description, have so faithfully accorded with those of the Cuba of to-day." — Boston Courier.

EARTH'S ENIGMAS.

A Volume of Short Stories. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in buff buckram, with a title-page designed by Bertram G. Goodhue. Gilt top. pp. 291. $1.25.

"The author is familiar with every aspect of out-door life, and he seems to have studied carefully the habits and customs of the humble people he portrays, especially those connected with the lumber camp." — Saturday Review.

"In the present volume of short stories . . . the author discloses an especially interesting phase of his art, one, moreover, wherein he has acquired great mastery." — Academy, London, England.

"There is a power and originality about the book which is felt from the first, while the variety of style displayed in the stories is surprising." — Congregationalist.

"There is in Mr. Roberts's stories of life in the Canadian logging-camp a wonderful freshness of atmosphere: one seems to hear the rush of the flooding water; to see the dazzle of the blue, wind-swept, sun-thrilled sky; to smell the pungent pleasantness of fresh-sawn pine. . . . The book is among the worthiest collection of tales, alike from the standpoint of ethics and of literature, that has been given to the public in many a literary day." — Boston Transcript.

"The chief interest and charm of the stories lies not in the human element of the drama so much as in the parabolic or imaginative treatment of nature and her children." — The Independent.

"Each story is a picture in itself, a picture that we are not privileged to look upon every day." — Boston Courier.

"It is the work of one who is master of his craft. This is apparent throughout, — in imaginative power and in style." — Halifax Herald.

"The stories show great imaginative penetration, fine descriptive power, and seriousness, — three things that are needful for abiding work." — Toronto Week.

THE BOOK OF THE NATIVE.

Poems, lyrics, and ballads, representative of the Canadian poet. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in green cloth. pp. 156. $1.00. Canada: The Copp, Clark Company, Limited, Toronto.

The lyrics and ballads included in this volume are selected from Mr. Roberts's poetic output of the past three years. They represent his strongest and most individual work. The division giving its title to the book contains the most concrete expressions yet found for the impassioned nature-worship which characterizes the best work of the Canadian group of poets. The other divisions of the book deal chiefly with human emotions and human action.

"A collection of songs like these by Mr. Roberts comes with something of the sweetness and refreshing quality of an oasis in the desert. . . . His measures are invariably well-turned, proclaiming the poet who is also a writer. But it is obvious that he is not thinking solely of his 'art,' that he is really giving himself up to the enchantment of his theme and letting it tell itself spontaneously through his lips. He goes back to 'the companionship of earth,' and the fruits of his intimacy with the source of all floral loveliness are none the less poetic because they have the very murmur and color of the actual earth in them." — New York Tribune.

"Charles G. D. Roberts has well earned the right to be called the Poet Laureate of Canada." — Independent.

"A book that the lover of genuine poetry may well delight in. . . . No contemporary poet has manifested a more felicitous use of the imagery of nature than has Mr. Roberts. Such poems as 'When the Cattle Come to Drink,' 'The Little Field of Peace,' 'July,' and 'An August Wood Road,' have the breath of out-doors in them, and are as enjoyable as fresh air and sunshine and flowers." — Boston Beacon.

A HISTORY OF CANADA.

A complete history, with chronological chart, and map of the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland; containing nearly 500 pages, including appendix giving the British North America and Imperial Acts in full. Bound in cloth. $2.00.

"It is not often that a history gets itself written by a man who combines all the rectitude necessary for the work with the imagination of a poet. . . . It is therefore highly interesting to learn that Mr. Charles G. D. Roberts is bringing out a history of Canada. . . . His work is likely to possess just that unusual quality to which we have referred. It will be conscientious, and it will be written out of a sensitive poetic temperament." — New York Tribune.

THE FORGE IN THE FOREST: Being the Narrative of the Acadian Ranger, Jean de Mer, Seigneur de Briart; and how he crossed the Black Abbé; and of his Adventures in a Strange Fellowship.

With seven full-page illustrations by Henry Sandham, R.C.A. Printed on deckle-edged paper, and bound in green cloth. pp. 311. $1.50. Canada: William Briggs, Toronto.

"It is a story to shake the torpor from the brain and to keep the soul alive. It is charged with romance and works like wine. Professor Roberts . . . has written a story that will repeat itself in our dreams for many a long day. . . . 'The Forge in the Forest' is destined to an enviable popularity." — James MacArthur in The Bookman.

NEW YORK NOCTURNES, AND OTHER POEMS.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top. Bound in cloth, with cover design by G. H. Hallowell. pp. 84. Net, $1.00.

In Mr. Roberts's latest work in verse, certain romantic and picturesque aspects of a great city are treated in that spirit of imaginative interpretation which is usually reserved for external nature and the less complex phenomena of life. Here the wonder of the city is approached in the mood with which one approaches the wonder of the sea or of the hills. The note of passionate but spiritualized emotion, a note not hitherto conspicuous in Mr. Roberts's verse, is sounded in these songs of the city night.

A SISTER TO EVANGELINE: Being the Story of Yvonne de Lamourie, and how she went into Exile with the Villagers of Grand Pré.

THE VIOL OF LOVE.

Printed on Japanese vellum with uncut leaves, and beautifully bound in cloth, with ornamental cover, title-page, and other designs by Laurence Housman. Published in connection with John Lane of London. pp. 56. Net, $1.50.

Mr. Newton-Robinson, the youngest of the trio — including Francis Thompson, John Davidson, and himself — who within the last three years have come to be regarded as the leaders of a new school of poetry, has issued this new work, "The Viol of Love," which takes its name from the singularly charming first poem of the volume. This book includes a few of the author's poems which have been published separately from time to time, several exotic French poems, and a number of translations from Horace and other classic poets.

THREADS OF LIFE.

Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in purple cloth. pp. 204. $1.00. (In Press.)

"Threads of Life" is a vivid human sketch, upon a background of philosophy and sociological thought. It is of a higher order than the usual novel, but at the same time possesses all the interest of a lively work of fiction.

"There is not a dull or tedious paragraph within its covers. . . . It would be hard to imagine sweeter women than Mrs. Farnham and Miriam Sard. . . . The work is full of clever touches." — Denver News.

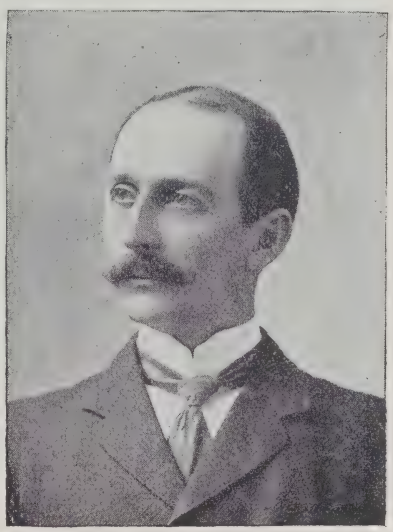
With author's notes. $1.00. (In Press.)



"In 'Skenandoa' Mr. Clinton Scollard has found a worthy subject, and one to which the simple lyrical measures that he has chosen are especially suitable." — Critic.

"'Skenandoa' is poetic in every line. The majestic Oneida chief is adorned, idealized, ennobled by Scollard's musical lines. The story will live long on library shelves and in the minds it informs and charms." —Utica Observer.

"Mr. Scollard has carried the epic and the lyric hand in hand, and at every turn and phase of the successive idylls there are dainty touches of natural description which will sustain his fame as a master in word-painting. . . . Mr. Scollard never forgets, even in the stormiest bloody-angles of his epic, the sadly-sweet face of nature looking on in mute reproach at the carnival of human passion. . . . 'Skenandoa' is 'Hiawatha's' poetic half-brother or cousin-german. . . . A rich and finished literary product." — New York Home Journal.

A MAN-AT-ARMS: A Romance of the Days of Gian Galeazzo Visconti, the Great Viper.

With six full-page illustrations and title-page by E. W. D. Hamilton. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in light green cloth. pp. 362. $1.50.

The scene of the story is laid in Italy, in the latter part of the fourteenth century. The hero, Luigi della Verria, unable to bear the restrictions of home or to reconcile himself to the profession of law, as desired by his father, leaves his family and, as the result of chance, becomes a man-at-arms in the service of Gian Galeazzo Visconti, the cunning and unscrupulous Lord of Pavia, known as the Great Viper. Thence forward the vicissitudes and adventures, both in love and war, of Della Verria, are told in a way to incite the interest to the highest point; and a strong picture is drawn of Italian life at this period, with its petty vendettas, family broils, and the unprincipled methods employed by the heads of noble families to gain their personal ends.

WIVES IN EXILE: A COMEDY IN ROMANCE.

Printed on deckle-edged paper. pp. 329. Net, $1.25.

"Upon an inconceivable basis a quantity of very genuine dialogue, incident, and description is wrought with a sensuous touch which is delicately alluring." — Time and the Hour.

"This is a delicious bit of nonsensical comedy with situations ludicrous enough to bring smiles to the face of the Sphinx. It is so absolutely absurd that it entertains those who are weary of realistic tales. . . . The book ought to prove a panacea for the blues." — Boston Journal.

"This is one of the most delightful comedies in romance of the season. . . . One is drawn into the fascination of the book with its very first chapter, and he enters as vigorously as the characters themselves into the spirit of daring, adventure, and fun, whose results make the two little women of the story real heroines, after all. The conception of 'Wives in Exile' is one that cannot fail to win an immediate and a staying interest." — Boston Courier.

THE HISTORY OF THE LOWELL INSTITUTE.

Illustrated. Printed on deckle-edged paper, with gilt top, and bound in dark blue cloth. pp. 125. $1.00.

The history of this, one of the most famous of American educational institutions, has never before been issued in book form, and the author has devoted several years to the collection of material and the verification of facts connected with it. The volume contains not only a history of the Institute, beginning with the causes which led to its founding by John Lowell, Jr., and a complete list of the lecturers and the subjects upon which they have lectured, but also a list of the books which have been published as a result of the lectures, so far as they could be obtained. Among the illustrations are included portraits of John Lowell, Jr., Dr. Benjamin E. Cotting (Curator of the Institute for fifty-five years), Josiah Parsons Cooke, LL.D., Prof. Louis Agassiz, Prof. Jeffries Wyman, M.D., and John Amory Lowell, Esq.

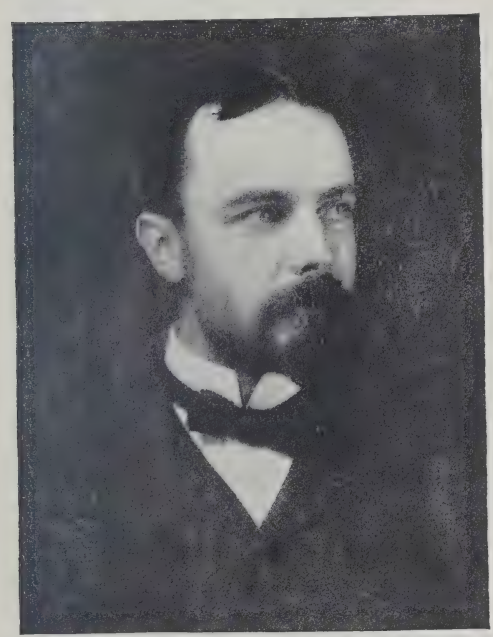
KING NOANETT: A STORY OF OLD VIRGINIA AND THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY.

An historical novel, with twelve full-page illustrations by Henry Sandham, R.C.A. Second edition, with map of the campaign against Pomham and King Noanett. Printed on laid paper, with cut leaves, and bound in dark red basket cloth, with cover design of coat-of-arms of the heroine. pp. 327. Bound in cloth, $2.00; bound in vellum, $10.00.



"It is American in its subject, it is by an American, and it presses very close to the place reserved in the mind of the American public for 'the great American novel,' if, indeed, it does not actually fill it. Both author and publisher are to be congratulated upon this important contribution to contemporary fiction." — Hartford Post.

"The past week brought one of the best books of weeks, even of months. It is a book which will grow into favor, and cumulative with the admiration of each successive reader will become one of the stories best liked of many, most fondly turned to when others pall." — Washington Times.

"We are not afraid to predict that 'King Noanett' will take its place in the hearts of the people with such books as 'Lorna Doone' and 'The Little Minister,' — a most noble book." — The Bookman.

"It is marked in conception and execution alike by a trait which, without reserve, we may name beauty. The quality of charm which pervades the romantic tales of the Old World is just what distinguishes 'King Noanett.' The real spirit of the book, the temper which gives it inevitable romantic charm, comes from no documents at all, but straight from nature. The beauty of this book in its conception is like the beauty of our woods and our thing of beauty." — Prof. Barrett Wendell, of Harvard University, in The Boston Transcript.

"So far as American fiction is concerned, 'King Noanett' is far and away the book of the year. Certainly nothing fresher or more original has found its way into our literature for many a year. The volume possesses a distinct historical value." — The Boston Transcript.

"A book which it is hard to put down until the end is reached. The climax is a triumph of clever manipulation. It is a credit to American letters to have produced such a book." — N. Y. Examiner.

"And who but an Irishman could have said: 'Heigho! 'Tis the women who make the trouble of this life — and life worth the trouble.' Mr. Stimson has done his best work in 'King Noanett,' and in Miles Courtenay he has added an immortal figure to the characters of fiction." — James Jeffrey Roche, in The Pilot.

"Mr. Stimson writes as good a story as Du Maurier." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"'King Noanett' opens a wide field to the American novelist. Miles Courtenay is a character that will live in fiction, and the book must eventually become an American classic." — The Post-Express, Rochester, N.Y.

"Mr. Stimson's work is, in many ways, one of the best of its kind that has appeared since the publication of 'Lorna Doone' itself, almost thirty years ago. Miles Courtenay and Jennifer are admirably drawn, and the secret of the identity of the titular character, well kept until the very close of the tale, is one of the genuine surprises of fiction. King Noanett will live, as he deserves to live, long after many of his contemporary heroes of early adventure in this country are altogether forgotten. And his creator knows how to tell a story." — Laurence Hutton, in Harper's Magazine of June, 1897.

I. IN FRIENDSHIP'S NAME.
II. WHAT MAKES A FRIEND.

Printed on deckle-edged Holland paper, with uncut leaves. Bound in Imperial vellum. Enclosed separately in pasteboard boxes, and sold singly or in sets. Each, $1.25.

Love lexicons and hand-books of endearing quotations are common and often tiresome. It is particularly interesting, therefore, to pick up such a novel book as either of these, which gives the opinions of the world's best writers on the subject of friendship, — a word which has been so haggled over and abused, so exaggerated in meaning and so undervalued, that one sometimes questions what friendship really is. These books in the dainty form in which they are issued make them particularly charming gift books.

MAGDA (HEIMATH).

Translated by Charles-Edward Amory Winslow. Printed on deckle-edged paper. Bound in crimson cloth, with title-page and cover design by Louis J. Rhead. The only English translation authorized by Herr Sudermann. pp. 161. $1.00.

This play, one of the masterpieces of late German literature, is the first number in the Sock and Buskin Library. "Magda" came into particular notice during the theatrical season of 1895–6 owing to the fact that three of the world's leading actresses, Bernhardt, Dusé, and Modjeska, included it in their repertoires.

"A play which has had the rare distinction of being represented in this city within a few months in four languages, and by those of the most eminent living actresses. Sudermann's 'Heimath' has just been admirably translated." — N. Y. Post.

"Mr. Winslow's translation is refined and appreciative, an excellent preliminary to the Italian performance. Mme. Modjeska would do well to replace the wretched translation she used by this one as more scholarly and elegant." — Philadelphia Ledger.

"The English text is free from all hint of the German idiom and reads with surprisingly good literary finish. It is one of the few modern plays that is well suited for acting and also most interesting to read." — Life.

"The anomalous situation forces the dramatic explosion. A thoroughly spirited piece of stage work is seldom so effectively read in a book as is this brilliantly translated little play." — Book Buyer.

THE HOUSE OF THE TREES, AND OTHER POEMS.

Decorative cone design title-page by Ethel Reed and Bruce Rogers. Printed on deckle-edged paper and bound in cloth. Gilt top. pp. 94. Net, $1.00.

Those who love the scenes and sounds of nature, and enjoy the sweet thoughts she bestows upon her sincere admirers, will take great pleasure in this volume of exquisite poems from the pen of Miss Wetherald, who is one of the leading writers of verse in Canada. Miss Wetherald is thoroughly in touch with nature, and from this feeling of nature-kinship writes musical rhymes that sing themselves into the mind of the reader. The book, with its delicate light green cover, light green title-page, and light green titles, expresses admirably the out-of-door breeziness of the poems.

"The inspiration and life of this breezy collection of short poems . . . might appropriately be traced to reading Thoreau's 'Walking,' or George MacDonald's 'Phantasies.' Yet neither poet nor poetess could conceive and bear from their sources such healthy progeny as these poems without an absorbing armor with nature's own self." — Philadelphia Press.

"There is so much sweetness in these short pieces, so much clear and beautiful expression, that they will win their way to a choice place in the minds and hearts of those who read them. Nearly every poem has something which detains the reader. The author has caught the spirit of the outer world and has tried to make it the record of her own thoughts and feelings." — Boston Herald.

A BAD PENNY.

With ten full-page illustrations by F. G. Atwood and a cover design by E. B. Bird. Bound in cloth. pp. 162. $1.25.

A dashing story of the New England of 1812 by the author of "A Child of the Century." Starting in a Massachusetts town, which can be easily recognized by any one familiar with eastern Massachusetts, the story winds about until Cambridge and Boston are reached. In the climax of the story the scene is laid during the well-known sea-fight between the Chesapeake and Shannon, and

DIOMED: THE LIFE, TRAVELS, AND OBSERVATIONS OF A DOG.

With 100 illustrations by J. Linton Chapman. $2.00.

The book purports to relate the life, observations, and travels of an English setter dog, written by himself, and embraces his whole career from birth to death, covering a period of twelve years.

The scenes depicted embrace puppyhood, education, rabbit hunting, quail, grouse, snipe, woodcock, prairie-chicken, and turkey shooting, with many other varieties of sport. The dog ranges the whole American continent, tells of the local peculiarities of people and climate, as well as game, in Virginia, Minnesota, North Carolina, Florida, Texas, and elsewhere, and describes the men, beasts, and things which made up his life-story in a manner which is absolutely original. He often rises above the mere narrative of sport, and sometimes dwells for a long time in the field of philosophical reflection.

The book embraces eighteen chapters, and is profusely and beautifully illustrated with original works by J. Linton Chapman, whose illustrations were made under the author's direction.

One chapter is devoted to describing how Tracy, the famous painter of field sports, went about painting his now celebrated picture of "November on the James," and it is illustrated by the original preliminary sketches for the background and foreground, and culminates with the perfected painting. Another chapter describes life upon the private hunting car of a millionaire sportsman. Another takes the reader far away upon the western frontier. Another to the Mexican border. Another to Florida, and yet others to old Virginia; describing the old places and old people of that land of which the public never grows weary of hearing. The ending is at historic Jamestown and Williamsburg, where everything else in America began.

Many of those who have read the manuscript of this book have likened it to "Black Beauty." In some respects the criticism is correct, for the author shows the intimate knowledge of dogs which was displayed concerning horses by the author of "Black Beauty." But this book brings in a much larger number of people and deals with the human race much more freely than "Black Beauty."

LOWELL LECTURES: PICTURES OF RUSSIAN HISTORY AND RUSSIAN LITERATURE.

$2.00.

A series of eight lectures delivered in 1896 at the Lowell Institute, Boston; Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.; Columbia University, New York; Washington Club, Washington, D.C.; University of Chicago; Steinway Hall, Chicago; Twentieth Century Club, Chicago; All Souls' Church, Chicago; Art Museum, St. Louis, Mo.; Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.; and Carnegie Hall, New York.

Aside from its highly instructive value in delineating the rise and growth of Russian literature and its influence upon the history of that country, the book is written in a way which renders it most delightful reading.

Including chronological index, genealogical table, and index of names. pp. 276.

A separate list of the Vale books (printed in the Vale type) will be sent upon application.

THE INTERNATIONAL STUDIO.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF FINE AND APPLIED ARTS. The "International Studio" is identical with "The Studio," of London, except that a supplement is added, devoted exclusively to American Art. Single copies, 35 cents. Yearly subscription, $3.50, postpaid.

The August issue is the eighteenth number. Subscriptions can commence with the first or any number.

The Critic says: "We think that we do not exaggerate when we say that this is the handsomest and most satisfactory art magazine published in the English language; and if it keeps up its present standard, it is bound to be as great a success in this country as it is in England. For the benefit of its American readers, an American supplement is added, illustrated by the work of American artists."

A sample copy will be sent upon receipt of 15 cents.

THE MEDICAL NEWS.

A National Weekly Medical Periodical containing 32 Quarto Pages of Reading Matter in each Number. Published every Saturday.

THE MEDICAL NEWS bears to THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES the relation of a newspaper to a magazine, and occupies equally a leading position in the esteem of the profession. Recognized throughout the country as the best weekly exponent of medical intelligence, THE NEWS finds its readers and contributors in every State in the Union. THE NEWS maintains a corps of regular correspondents in all medical centres and is in early possession of all information of interest. Subdivided into the departments of Original Articles and Lectures, Hospital Notes, Progress, Clinical Memoranda and Therapeutical Notes, Editorials, Society Proceedings, Correspondence, Reviews and News Items, THE MEDICAL NEWS is well equipped for furnishing its readers with a complete account of the medical life and progress of the times.

The fact that it answers the needs of physicians in active practice is shown by an increase in its subscription list which has justified a reduction in price to Four Dollars per annum. It is now the cheapest as well as the best large weekly medical magazine. No means of gaining information is overlooked, and everything is presented in such manner as to convey intelligence in the most attractive and useful form.

The American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

A Monthly, containing in each issue 112-128 large Octavo Pages, Fully Illustrated.

With the first issue for 1898, THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES entered upon its seventy-ninth year, still the leader of American medical periodicals. In its long career it has developed to perfection the features of usefulness in its department of literature, and presents them in unrivalled attractiveness. It is the medium chosen by the leading minds of the profession on both sides of the Atlantic for the presentation of elaborate Original Articles; its Reviews are noted for discernment and absolute candor, and its Classified Summaries of Progress present, each month, an epitome of medical advances gleaned by specialists in the various departments. According to unquestionable authority, "It contains many original papers of the highest value; nearly all the real criticisms and reviews which we possess; and such carefully prepared summaries of the progress of medical science and notices of foreign works, that from this file alone, were all other publications of the press for the last fifty years destroyed, it would be possible to reproduce the great majority of the real contributions of the world to medical science during that period."

SUBSCRIPTION RATE REDUCED TO $4.00 PER ANNUM.

It is safe to say that in no other publication of its kind can an investment be made with the certainty of so rich a return. When it is taken in connection with the weekly MEDICAL NEWS, the reader can rest assured that nothing of importance in the life of the great medical world will escape his attention. To lead every subscriber to prove this fact for himself, the Commutation rate has been greatly reduced, being fixed at the exceedingly low figure of Seven Dollars and Fifty Cents per Annum, in Advance.

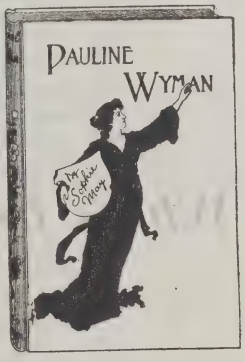
LEE AND SHEPARD'S FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS

A NEW STORY FOR GIRLS

Pauline Wyman

By SOPHIE MAY Author of "The Doctor's Daughter" "The Asbury Twins" "Quinnebasset Girls" "Our Helen" etc Cloth Illustrated $1.25



"SOPHIE MAY" writes with a remarkable insight into the thought and life of girls, and shows an unaffected sympathy in the perplexities, aspirations, and disappointments of their experience. All of her characters are naturally drawn and skilfully placed in scenes that are described as only such an author can whose study of girlhood has been thorough and exhaustive. In "Pauline Wyman" the author has drawn a typical New England girl whose strong and beautiful character is developed by her environment. How she overcomes unfavorable surroundings, her experience in teaching school, the interesting circumstances in a young girl's life are all told with the same originality and freshness which have drawn a multitude of young people to the author's previous work in the "Quinnebasset Series," and will be followed by the reader with unflagging interest.

Songs of War and Peace

By SAM WALTER FOSS Cloth Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

"THERE is an inspiration breathing through the lines of Mr. Foss' verse that appeals to all, and in his latest volume are included thoughts, comments, and satires on modern topics that are either strikingly humorous or strikingly pathetic — either way most impressive, and permeated with novelty of idea that often tickles the fancy immeasurably. Mr. Foss keeps abreast the times, several of the poems being on war subjects. His verse has always beauty and grace, even when humorously characterized; and beneath the humor often a touch of the keenest human reproach and sadness. He probes more than ordinary depths and draws up more than most people catch even a glimpse of. In every outward sense the work will appeal to those who love beauty in the clothing of books, for its cover is a specially dainty piece of artistic skill."

Dreams in Homespun

221 pages Cloth Artistic cover design Gilt Top Boxed Price $1.50

"THE same characteristics that distinguished his previous volumes are generally observable throughout this one. The author's talent consists largely in treating common every-day themes poetically. He invests with a halo of homespun beauty the scenes and incidents in the lives of average men. The humorous element is seldom long lacking from Mr. Foss' verse, and there is usually a trace of philosophic suggestiveness behind the humor."

Whiffs from Wild Meadows

This book comprises 272 pages, is beautifully bound, with an elegantly designed cover, and artistically illustrated Cloth Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

MR. FOSS' work is marked by every-day common-sense, good-natured satire, genuine humor, a keen appreciation of the petty foibles and weaknesses of mankind, and, above all, genuine human sympathy. The three or four "occasional" poems at the close of the volume in their unconventional swing and happy rhyming remind one irresistibly of Holmes, and there are lines that even Holmes would have been glad to own. — Boston Transcript.

Back Country Poems

This book contains 258 pages, has 12 full-page and many other illustrations, and many of the author's best-known poems Cloth $1.50

OF all the poems published for a long time none deserve warmer praise and more careful reading than the delightful songs that make up this quaint and natural book. Now sad, now gay, everywhere pleasing, the verses charm and cause us to wish that the 258th page did not bring the end. — Public Opinion.

John Hancock, His Book

By ABRAM ENGLISH BROWN Author of "Beneath Old Rooftrees" "Beside Old Hearthstones" "Glimpses of Old New England Life" etc. etc. Cloth Gilt Top $2.00

IT is a singular fact that up to the present time no adequate story of the life of John Hancock has been written. Whatever the reasons for this neglect, all students of the history of our country will welcome this view of the mercantile, social, and political life of the patriot presented by Mr. Brown from the letter book of John Hancock. These letters show his unremitting toil and sacrifice for the public good during a period of our history which Rufus Choate said was the most significant but the most neglected decade, that covering the period of the revenue acts to the beginning of hostilities, as well as his devotion to the fair Dorothy Q., who became his bride while he was fulfilling his duty as president of the Continental Congress. The letters answer conclusively many of the aspersions cast on the motives which governed John Hancock in his adherence to the cause of the colonies. The strong letter in which he records his position on the stamp act is of intense interest, it being placed in his "letter book as a standing monument to posterity" of his opposition to the act. His opinions upon public matters and his connections with the various questions of the day are given by him, and much interesting and explanatory matter has been added by the editor.

FOOTPRINTS OF THE PATRIOTS

Beneath Old Rooftrees

By ABRAM ENGLISH BROWN Author of "History of Bedford" etc. Cloth Fully illustrated $1.50

FROM the homes of the men who faced the royal troops at Concord and Lexington, from the lips of the children and grandchildren, themselves grown gray, of those men of heroic stamp, the author has gathered many quaint memories which make a volume of rich and exceeding interest. Original sources furnish the large part of the information here given, making a contribution most valuable indeed to the body of Revolutionary story. — Christian Advocate, Pittsburg.

Beside Old Hearthstones

By ABRAM ENGLISH BROWN Author of "Beneath Old Rooftrees" etc. Illustrated $1.50

IT is no wonder that the descendants of the old heroes are proud of their origin and hold these traditions and mementoes of a truly heroic age as priceless. It has been the aim of the author to seek out these descendants, and to gather many narratives which have not been incorporated in any history, and which would otherwise be lost.

THE POPULAR SERIES OF

The Douglas Novels

By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS Cloth New uniform binding Per volume $1.00

THERE has been a demand for a cheaper edition of Miss Douglas' popular stories and in response to that demand the publishers offer the fifteen selected titles given below, in a new and uniform style of binding, at a reduced price. Miss Douglas has been so long established in the favor of the reading public that no encomium is needed here. The publishers feel that the announcement given will meet with a favorable reception and result in largely increasing the numbers of Miss Douglas' readers among the lovers of pure romantic fiction.

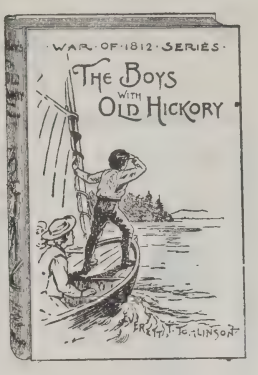
FEW stories have met with a more cordial reception than that accorded to the Kathie Stories and this edition in its new dress cannot fail to hold and increase the interest of Miss Douglas' young readers. They are among the brightest stories written for young people, full of good lessons and bright example, without being prosy. The subjects of the different books cover a wide range, the same characters running through several volumes, although each story is complete in itself. The books are interesting to boys as well as girls and should be in all the libraries for young folks.

A New Volume in

THE WAR OF 1812 SERIES

The Boys with Old Hickory



By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON Illustrated $1.50

THIS volume concludes the War of 1812 Series, and covers the closing campaign of that struggle. The book is one of the best that the author has put forth, and one that those who have followed the fortunes of Andrew and David Field, the Spicer boys, and "Tecumseh's Young Braves," will receive with pleasure. In it the boys have their first experience on the ocean, having taken passage on a privateer for the Gulf. After many adventures they are present at the Battle of New Orleans, of which a vivid description is given. While the author has freely taken a story-teller's license, he gives a correct view of the stirring scenes described and a just estimate of the men who were in the midst of them. Dr. Tomlinson has the faculty of weaving historical events into stories in a manner that is intensely interesting to young people.

Stories of the American Revolution

Second Series

By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON Illustrated Boards 30 cents net Cloth $1.00

"AS in the volume of stories which preceded this present collection, the basis of each is true historically, it being the aim of the author to inculcate a spirit of patriotism among his readers. In his preface he says no country needs a strong patriotic feeling among its people so much as does a republic. But patriotism, to be valuable, must be intelligent; and there can be no intelligence without knowledge. Inspiration to be patriotic can best be incited by learning of and from those who were themselves patriots.

"So, a knowledge of our own history, an appreciation of the efforts of our ancestors, a familiarity with their lives of privation and heroic struggle for what they believed to be right, are all as necessary for good citizenship to-day as a foundation is needful for a house."

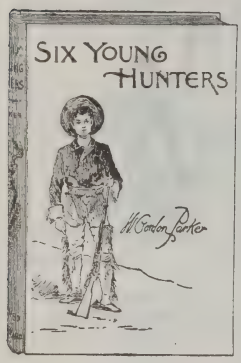
Six Young Hunters

or The Adventures of the Greyhound Club



By W. GORDON PARKER Author of "Grant Burton" etc With Illustrations by the Author Cloth $1.25

THE scene of the story is laid in Indian Territory, where a party of boys from the East are spending the summer vacation at a lodge owned by the uncle of one of them. Here the boys engage in various sports: hunting, fishing, and coursing with hounds; but their most thrilling adventures come from the proximity of a body of outlaws who were in hiding near the lodge. What the adventures were we leave to the readers to find out, but can assure them that the book abounds in lively descriptions of their fortunes and misfortunes which will intensely interest any live boy. The book is healthy in tone; the boys are manly, honest, and of good principles; and the scene is laid in a comparatively new and interesting country.

Henry in the War

A Sequel to Donald's School Days

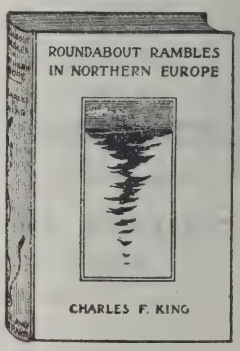
By GENERAL O. O. HOWARD Author of "Nez Perce Joseph" "Donald's School Days" etc Cloth Illustrated $1.00

IN his preface to "Donald's School Days," published some years since, General Howard promised to write another book carrying Henry Woodward into the Civil War and giving a recital of actual campaigns and battles. This promise is amply fulfilled in the present volume. The long and distinguished career in the army, with its many exciting scenes and incidents, and the success of his previous volume for young people, eminently qualify the author to write an intensely interesting book on his chosen subject. As might be expected, the book is full of action and adventure and will prove a welcome addition to any young person's library.

Roundabout Rambles in Northern Europe

By CHARLES F. KING Author of "The Land We Live In" "This Continent of Ours" etc Cloth 238 Engravings $1.25

IN this beautifully illustrated volume the author gives an account of the travels of the Cartmell family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Cartmell, their four children, and governess, through Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Russia. Great Britain, being so closely connected with our country by language, history, and ancestry, possessed unusual attractions for them, and they spent nearly a year in visiting that country. They are natural travellers in search of the beautiful, the interesting, and the wonderful; their great object in journeying being pleasure and education. The work is written in the narrative form and no effort has been spared to have the information given correct and up to date, so that the book may be a safe guide to travellers. A list of the best books to be consulted, as well as a list of poems connected with the places described, is given at the close of the volume.



OLD GLORY SERIES

Under Dewey at Manila

Or the War Fortunes of a Castaway

By EDWARD STRATEMEYER Cloth Illustrated $1.25

NOTHING approaching in martial interest the story of Larry Russell and his fortunes, resulting in heroic service on the "Olympia," has appeared since the famous Army and Navy Series by Oliver Optic. Furthermore, it is the only popular book ever written that presents life in the modern navy. The sea stories that have so charmed young and old are obsolete, and Mr. Stratemeyer is the first to show what a boy would find on a battle-ship of to-day. This combined with a vivid and accurate description of the memorable contest at Cavite, and the rich store of historical and geographical information skilfully presented marks the book as one of the greatest successes of the year. The hero, while full of a life and vigor that render him abundantly able to take care of himself in his perilous adventures, is manly, true, and clean throughout, rendering the book wholesome as well as thrilling. The succeeding numbers will fully sustain the interest.

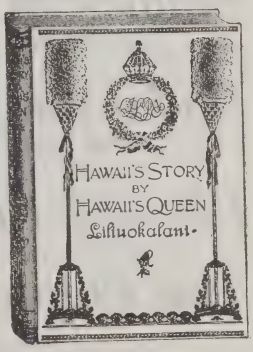
Hawaii's Story

By HAWAII'S QUEEN, LILIUOKALANI Cloth Full gilt and gilt top 21 illustrations $2.00

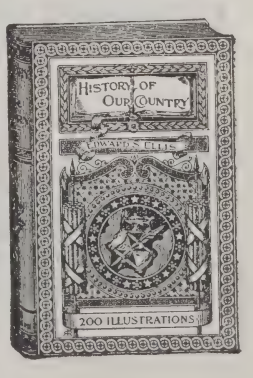


"HAWAII'S Story by Hawaii's Queen" is the title of the autobiography just issued in Boston, in which former Queen Liliuokalani details the events of her life, protests against the revolution which deprived her of her throne, and answers the slurs of her adversaries. She throws a new light upon the manners and customs of a strange people, and declares that her subjects are still loyal to her.

It is evident that her former Majesty of Hawaii has a mastery over what is familiarly known as the "Queen's English." In short, she is the mistress of a clear, vivid, and forcible style. She tells the story of her life and of the events associated with it in a simple and unaffected manner. She is always dignified, even when speaking of her wrongs, and she is occasionally eloquent. — New York Herald.

Young Peoples' History of Our Country

By EDWARD S. ELLIS, A.M. 12mo Cloth 200 illustrations Net $1.00



THERE can scarcely be too many histories of the United States, if they are all written as clearly, as accurately, and with so thorough a patriotic spirit as the "History of Our Country," by Edward S. Ellis, A.M. It is a graphic and complete record of every event of note, from the earliest visits of the Norsemen to the present time. The youth of America can hardly be impressed too strongly with the fact that their country is the home of the loftiest civilization, and of the highest development of art, literature, science, invention, education, and true progress, and offers unlimited possibilities that are unknown elsewhere. These lessons are conveyed, in a pleasant manner, to the mind of the reader, and whether as a book of instruction for the pupil or private reading at home will prove of value to all. Mr. Ellis not only relates the events, but emphasizes their causes and significance. A feature worthy of note consists of biographical notes at the ends of the chapters relating to prominent people. The illustrations include portraits of nearly all the men who have been prominent in our history, besides pictures of battles, buildings, etc.; these fine half-tones, together with the excellent type and binding, make this one of the handsomest of recent histories. — N. Y. School Journal.

HENRY WOOD'S NEW BOOK

Victor Serenus

A story of the Pauline Era By HENRY WOOD
12mo Cloth 510 pp. $1.50

A MOST interesting piece of fiction of which the scene is located in that very dramatic period of the world's history, the Pauline era, and through graphic character delineation deals with the thought, customs, and religious systems of that time. Its aim is to draw a true and well-proportioned picture of the actual conditions.

With unimportant exceptions, Paul is the only historic character. Victor Serenus, and the other leading personalities that are employed, are representative creations.

While the historic framework is carefully preserved, there is a wide range of the fancy and imagination in the movement, and a wealth of mystical, psychical, and weird phenomena deftly woven into the fabric of the story, in which the graces of the imagination stand out with great power in plot, action, style, and purpose.

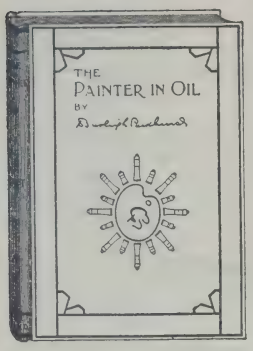
The Painter in Oil



A complete treatise on the principles and technique necessary to the painting of pictures in oil colors. By DANIEL BURLEIGH PARKHURST Fully illustrated and containing colored plates showing specimens of oil colors 12mo Cloth $1.25.

A BOOK which, though primarily intended to be of practical use to the amateur painter, will be found to be also of value and interest to the student of pictures. The painter will find it a guide to the principles and processes of the craft of painting, written by one who has practised them; and in the spirit of a teacher, without being abstruse, it will give the reasons for things as well as the things themselves.

He who would paint a picture and he who would judge of one must know the same things, — the one practically and the other theoretically, — and both will find what they need in this book, clearly, thoroughly, and practically set forth.

Water-Color Painting

A book of elementary instruction for beginners and amateurs By GRACE BARTON ALLEN With illustrations and cover design by the Author Also containing colored plates showing washes of modern water colors Cloth $1.25

THIS volume, which is a practical text-book on the art of painting in water colors, is intended for the use of amateurs, and of those water-color teachers who are not yet sufficiently accustomed as instructors to realize how much the average pupil does not know. It explains, as far as may be done in print, the technicalities of this branch of art in simple and intelligible language, treating of colors and materials, as well as of flower, landscape, and figure painting in polychrome and monochrome. The washes of color given in the volume will prove to be of great value to the amateur as well as to the artist.

A Manual for China Painters

Being a Practical and Comprehensive Treatise on the Art of Painting China and Glass with Mineral Colors By Mrs. N. DI R. MONACHESI With colored plates showing 138 mineral colors Cloth $1.25

ONLY words of the highest praise can be given this latest book on china painting for its honesty, directness, simplicity, and arrangement. From the very beginning the author calls for honesty and sincerity, strips the mask of secrecy from pretenders who claim deep mysteries for their art, and lays the whole process before the novice. All that can be told is given to the worker in its pages; what remains depends upon the taste, diligence, and experience of the amateur. The arrangement of the matter is admirable in its simplicity, the two main divisions being devoted to Materials and Instruction. In each division every topic that is likely to come up in the practice of mineral painting is touched upon, and its difficulties explained. It will be accepted as an authority and its qualities win for its author a wide audience. Altogether the book is very attractive, and for the future will be the china painter's vade mecum. — Art Interchange.

Baby's Kingdom

Wherein may be chronicled as Memories for Grown-up Days the Mother's Story of the Progress of the Baby

Designed and illustrated by ANNIE F. COX A new and elegant edition Oblong quarto Blue and white, or gold cloth Gilt edges $3.00 Turkey morocco $9.00

THERE may be given the little stranger's date of birth, and with it the figures of its weight. Day by day the loving mother can place on its pages the various stages of baby's growth — the weight from time to time, the first step, the first tooth, its gifts, its first attempts at speech, its first words, and all those wonderful events of baby life which shall serve as an accurate record of the facts for her own gratification and for the future benefit of him or her the memory of whose beautiful days is thus treasured up. The designs are of the highest artistic skill, and the sentiments expressed on its pages are at once novel and pleasing and add greatly to the interest of the illustrations. The conception and execution of this work reflect the highest credit on the author, and in the future it will possess a peculiar value to him or her whose baby biography was here recorded by a tender, loving mother's hand. — Boston Home Journal.

"FOR SWEETHEART OR FRIEND"

Because I Love You

A CHOICE COLLECTION OF LOVE POEMS Edited by ANNA E. MACK New Edition Cloth White and Gold Boxed Price $1.50

WHAT lover is there that will not welcome the beautiful little white and gold volume of love verses, edited by Anna E. Mack, under the satisfying title, "Because I love you"? Love is ever an excuse for right or wrong doing, but in this case the result is so beautiful that no excuse is needed. Miss Mack has selected with discriminating taste some of the sweetest, tenderest lines in our literature, all dealing with the one imperishable subject. The authors from whose works these selections are culled include all the best-known writers, and, in addition to the old familiar names, a number of new ones make this book fresher than most anthologies. — Cincinnati Tribune.

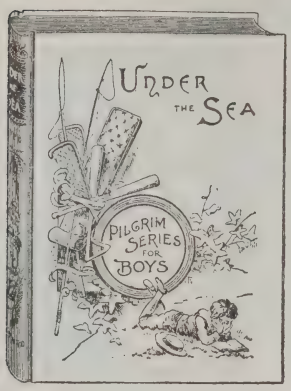
BEST HUNDRED BOOKS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS



These are genuinely good stories written by authors of established reputation, who appreciate the wants and tastes of young people, and selected for this purpose with great care. In all the books of these series the spirit is manly, sincere, and moral. There is enough of incident and adventure to make them lively and interesting, while the principles of truthfulness, integrity, and self-reliance are quietly inculcated. In a word, they are such books as parents would wish their children to read.

NEW STYLES AND NEW DIES

GENIUS comes in with "Little Prudy." Compared with her, all other book-children are cold creations of literature; she alone is the real thing. All the quaintness of childhood, its originality, its tenderness, and its teasing, its infinite uncommon drollery, the serious earnestness of its fun, the fun of its seriousness, the naturalness of its plays, and the delicious oddity of its progress, — all these united for dear little Prudy to embody them. — Col. T. W. Higginson, in North American Review.

FINE ILLUSTRATED BOOKS

I HAVE CALLED YOU FRIENDS

By Irene E. Jerome. Chastely illuminated in missal style. Exact fac-similes of the author's original designs in color and gold. Printed in best style on fine paper. Beautiful cover design by author. Size 7 x 10 inches. Boxed. $2.00.

The text is clearly engraved in Old English, and each page is, as it were, framed in an artistic design, in which the graces of form, with lines or disks of chaste gilding, and flowers in lovely colors, make a picture of glowing harmony, like the frontispiece of an illuminated missal.

SUN-PRINTS IN SKY TINTS

By Irene E. Jerome. Over thirty illustrations engraved on wood, accompanied by appropriate selections in poetry and prose. Elegant cover design. Size, 7⅛ x 11¼ inches. Price, $3.00.

In this new volume, "Sun-Prints in Sky Tints," the harmony between the sentiment of the selections and that of the illustrations is remarkable, evincing not only artistic power and refined taste, but a rare poetical understanding. — Boston Transcript.

OUR COLONIAL HOMES

By Samuel Adams Drake, author of "Nooks and Corners of the New England Coast," "Decisive Events in American History," etc. Twenty large half-tone engravings. Cloth. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Size, 7¼ x 11¼ inches. Boxed. Price, $2.50. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $4.50.

Among the personages brought into view are Governor Cradock, Edward Everett, the Olivers Minots, Quincys, Adamses, James Otis, Sir William Pepperell, John Howard Payne, and others.

Among the houses described are the ancient church in Hingham, Mass., the Witch House in Salem, the Wayside Inn in Sudbury, the Old Indian House at Deerfield, and the Old Stone House at Guilford, Conn.

FROM SUNRISE TO SUNSET

By Curtis Guild. An elegant volume of original verse, with more than 40 illustrations by Copeland, and others. Small quarto. Size, 7½ x 10 inches. Cloth. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Boxed. Price, $3.50. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $6.00.

In the present volume we have a series of pleasant and vivid pen pictures in poetry, good, readable, interesting verse, that will be sure to find a warm welcome in the home circle. The collection is finely illustrated by more than forty wood-cuts and half-tones from the pencil of Charles Copeland.

MY LITTLE FRIENDS

Portraits of children, with appropriate verse Half-tone reproductions from life. Collected by E. Heinrichs. White leatherette. Gold title. Size, 8 x 10 inches. Boxed. $2.00.

Edition de Luxe. A large paper edition, limited to 200 copies, of above book, on very heavy, fine cut paper. $5.00.

A holiday volume, which needs only to be seen to captivate any one who is at all fond of children, is this collection of children's portraits, reproduced in half-tone and accompanied by appropriate poems. — Literary World.

PERIWINKLE

By Julia C. R. Dorr. Illustrated from drawings in charcoal by Zulma DeLacy Steele. Containing 36 drawings, printed on fine cut paper. Size, 8½ x 11 inches. Oblong quarto. Cloth, with handsome cover. $2. 00.

The drawings are free and bold, giving the effect of a skilful artist's original sketches; while, at the same time, the half-tone process lends a silvery softness to the work.

THE FALLOW FIELD

Poem by Julia C. R. Dorr. Illustrated with reproductions of charcoal sketches by Zulma DeLacy Steele. Containing 25 drawings, printed on fine cut paper. Size, 8½ x 11 inches. Oblong quarto. Price, $2.00.

The artist is in full sympathy with the poet, and charmingly phases the real in nature with the ideal of the poet. The lover of artistic work will find new beauties to admire whenever a page is turned in the beautiful book. — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT MARINER

By Samuel Taylor Coleridge. Illustrated in outline by J. Noel Paton, R. S. A., with an introductory note by Francis H. Underwood, LL. D. Twenty full page drawings accompanied by the text from entirely new plates. Size, 7¼ x 11 inches. Cloth. Price, $2.00.

The illustrations by Sir Noel Paton will be a pleasure as well as a help to the reader. They are drawn with a free hand, and are full of spirit and character. The help they give is in making for the student a visible image or tableau of the several scenes; and some degree of imagination is needed to comprehend and realize these mental pictures.

THE NEW ENGLAND COUNTRY

Text and illustrations by Clifton Johnson. Containing over one hundred views of New England scenery and life. Size, 7¼ x 11¼ inches. Cloth. Gilt. Boxed. Price, $2.00.

Taking Mr. Johnson's text and pictures together, we incline to think that there is scarcely a volume of prose to which we should send a person with more confidence that he would get a thoroughly trustworthy impression of New England country life, past and present, than this tasteful compilation. — Boston Literary World.

ORCHIDS: THE ROYAL FAMILY OF PLANTS

THE JEROME BANNERS

Joy Banner Rest Banner
Every-Day Banner
What will the Violets Be

Designed and Edited by IRENE E. JEROME Price, 50 cents each banner. The four banners in neat case, $2.00.

Each of the four banners consists of four panels or cards, size of each card 5x7½ inches, beautifully decorated in colors and gold, attached by interlaced ribbons. These cards contain appropriate selections from celebrated authors in fancy lettering, and each banner is enclosed in its own envelope, decorated in colors and gold to match the contents.

IN A FAIR COUNTRY

With 55 full-page Illustrations by IRENE E. JEROME. Engraved on wood, and printed under the direction of Mr. Andrew, with nearly one hundred pages of text by Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Cloth, $4.00.

Over the clear-cut thoughts of a modern master of classic essay, one of the foremost of American artists draws the magic pencil which has achieved so many triumphs, and starts into life the rural beauties of "Outdoor Papers."

NATURE'S HALLELUJAH

By IRENE E. JEROME. Presented in a series of nearly fifty full-page illustrations (9½ x 14 inches), engraved on wood by George T. Andrew. Cloth, $4.00.

"The book is a work of art set in gold. There are nearly a hundred large full-page sketches of birds and flowers, children and landscapes, — all beautiful, some quaint, with here and there a delicate bit of humor thrown in, and quaint conceits and dainty bits of pretty suggestiveness sparkling all the way through. — The Living Church.

FROM AN OLD LOVE LETTER

Designed and illuminated by IRENE E. JEROME. Antique Covers tied with silk. Boxed, $1.00.

A delicately illuminated book after the style of the old illuminated missals. The book consists of a series of quotations from the New Testament on the subject of love. The cover is printed on rich antique paper and is tied with silk floss, secured to the cover by a seal. Altogether it is a gem of art and will be highly appreciated as a holiday gift for both young and old. — Decorator and Furnisher.

ONE YEAR'S SKETCH BOOK

By IRENE E. JEROME. An Original Series of Illustrations from Nature, comprising forty-six full-page Pictures (9½ x 14 inches) of great power and beauty, engraved on wood by Geo. T. Andrew, in the best manner. Cloth, $4.00.

The conception of such a book could only have originated in the mind of an artist, and a master-hand could only have carried it out. The publishers have used their utmost skill in producing this volume, making it an elegant gift." — Christian Observer.

"THE MESSAGE OF THE BLUEBIRD Told to Me to Tell to Others"

An Illustrated Souvenir. By IRENE E. JEROME. Engraved on Wood, under the direction of George T. Andrew.

Eight full-page illustrations, wood-cuts, printed on plated paper, are enclosed in covers of Palatine Board, Gold Title, and tied with ribbon, neatly packed in an attractive box. $1.00. Cloth, Blue and White, $2.00.

A BUNCH OF VIOLETS

By IRENE E. JEROME. Original Illustrations engraved on wood and printed under the direction of George T. Andrew. Quarto. Elegantly bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edged, $2.50.

In this volume Miss Jerome has collected poetry relating to the exquisite little flower so dear to the lover of country scenes. — Commercial Gazette.

BABY'S KINGDOM

Wherein may be chronicled as memories for grown-up days, the Mother's Story of the Progress of the Baby. Designed and illustrated by ANNIE F. COX, a new and elegant edition. Oblong Quarto. Blue and white cloth, full gold cloth, $3.00; Turkey morocco, $9.00.

Daintily engraved poems and pictures are scattered along the sumptuous pages, and there are blanks for record of baby's birth, weight, gifts, christening, picture, first tooth, first step, first word, first birthday, and all other first things that fond mothers and all mankind delight to remember. It is a book that babies would cry for if they only knew how their mothers would like to have it.

SUMMERLAND

By MARGARET MACDONALD PULLMAN. With 63 original illustrations engraved and printed under the direction of George T. Andrew. Size 4½ x 12½ inches. Oblong quarto. Beautifully ornamented, $2.50.

PLASTIC SKETCHES. By J. G. and J. F. Low, the famous tile artists, being a series of designs, making forty-seven original photogravures, 10 x 12 inches, in satin portfolio. Price $10.00.

"This house has recently issued an Art Work, which is unique in the field of art literature, and is one of the handsomest, most tasteful, and most liberal publications of the season. We refer to 'Plastic Sketches,' a veritable portfolio, consisting of a series of Albertype pictures reproduced from the famous Chelsea tile-pictures first given to the world about six years ago by Messrs. J. G. and J. F. Low, of Chelsea, Mass. By aid of the camera, wonderful copies of these tiles have been made so natural in appearance that he who delightedly turns the pages of this magnificent work cannot easily dispossess himself of the fancy that they stand from the paper in actual relief. This work is destined to become famous everywhere, and among all people, art students, designers, and lovers of the beautiful of all classes."—Philadelphia Item.

ELIJAH KELLOGG.

"Mr. Kellogg never wrote a dull story. His tales are adorned with noble thoughts and sublime teachings, that, while the story secures the attention and fully entertains the reader, excite the boy, all unconsciously, to strive to be a good man. We recommend his works, above all others, to parents who are purchasing reading for their boys."— Nashua Telegraph.

"There is a manliness of tone in Elijah Kellogg's books for boys that we like very much. His heroes are not those whom the death of some rich and distant relative, or a sudden turn of fortune's wheel, makes rich and influential. They hew out their own fortune, struggling honestly with difficulties, and rising by means of them to a higher manhood."— Chicago Standard.

HANDBOOK OF BLUNDERS

Designed to prevent 1,000 common Blunders in writing and speaking By HARLAN H. BALLARD, A. M., Principal of Lenox Academy, Lenox, Mass. 50 cents.

"If he who corrects one blunder in the use of the English language deserves well, how much does he deserve who corrects a thousand?"—Book Notes.

"The habit of accurate and grammatical speech is one that deserves to be a good deal more assiduously cultivated than it is. So easy is it to fall into colloquialisms, and current inaccuracies, that few, we fancy, will turn over the pages of this little handbook without finding some weakness of their own in the use of English exposed. The volume will be worth its slight cost several times over to any one who will study and heed its suggestions."—Boston Journal.

UNIVERSAL PHONOGRAPHY

Or, Short-hand by the "Allen Method." A self instructor, whereby more speed than long hand writing is gained at the first lesson, and additional speed at each subsequent lesson By G. G. ALLEN, Principal of the Allen Stenographic Institute, Boston. 50 cents.

☞ There is scarcely any requirement so helpful to the student, scholar, scientist, or professional man, as short-hand writing. Heretofore, all methods have required so long a time before one could become so proficient as to make it of any advantage, that men in middle life, or busy men, have not been able to give the time to learn it; but, by the "Allen Method," one can almost in "the idle moments of a busy life," certainly in an hour a day for two or three months, become so expert as to report a lecture verbatim.

HANDBOOK OF LIGHT GYMNASTICS

By LUCY B. HUNT, Instructor in Gymnastics at Smith (Female) College, Northampton, Mass. 50 cents.

"This manual is admirably adapted for the use of teachers and pupils in public and private schools, and in seminaries and colleges, as well as a guide to health-giving exercises in the homes, especially for girls. Well-arranged series of exercises are given in free gymnastics, wand exercises, ring exercises, dumb-bells, procession, mutual-help exercises, bean-bags, marching, and a practical chapter on dress suitable for gymnastic exercises to be taken in. All these exercises have been carefully selected and thoroughly tested, and can be safely practised by any person in ordinary health."—Journal of Education.

THE HUNTER'S HANDBOOK

Containing lists of provisions and camp paraphernalia, and hints on the fire, cooking utensils, etc.; with approved receipts for camp cookery. By "AN OLD HUNTER." 50 cents.

If you are going into camp during the summer or fall, this little work will give you many hints for comfort and convenience not to be found elsewhere.

PRACTICAL BOAT-SAILING

By DOUGLAS FRAZAR. $1.00. With numerous Diagrams and Illustrations.

"Its directions are so plain, that, with the aid of the accompanying pictorial illustrations and diagrams given in the book, it does seem as if 'anybody' after reading it could safely handle a sailboat in a squall."—Times, Hartford.

HANDBOOK OF WOOD ENGRAVING

With practical instructions in the art for persons wishing to learn without an instructor. Containing a description of tools and apparatus used, and explaining the manner of engraving the various classes of work; also, a history of the art from its origin to the present time. By WILLIAM A. EMERSON, Wood Engraver. New edition. Illustrated. $1.00.

HANDBOOK OF PUNCTUATION

And other Typographical Matters For the Use of Printers, Authors, Teachers, and Scholars By MARSHALL T. BIGELOW, Corrector at the University Press, Cambridge, Mass. 50 cents.

"There is no work that requires more careful training, or a greater number of rare qualifications, than proof-reading.

"Mr. Bigelow's book is a practical treatment of the subject, and enlarges the reading-public's obligations to him."—Atlantic Monthly.

NATURAL HISTORY PLAYS

Dialogues and Recitations for School Exhibitions By LOUISA P. HOPKINS, author of "Handbook of the Earth," etc. Boards, 30 cents net.

The contents of this book comprise dialogues and movement-plays among the bears, the beavers, the squirrels, and many other animals, which have been successfully used by pupils from seven to twelve years of age.

They are designed for concerts or part-recitation and reading, and many of them involve action. The movement-plays are to be carried out by characteristic motions accompanying the text, as may be indicated by the teacher, or suggested by the spontaneous action of the pupils, in imitation of the natural movements of the animals represented, and after the manner of the Kindergarten plays, as prescribed by Froebel.

THE STARS AND THE EARTH

Or, Thoughts upon Space, Time, and Eternity. With an Introduction by THOMAS HILL, D. D., LL. D., late President of Harvard University. 50 cents.

"It is poetic in its suggestions, and leaves the impression that nature gives the cue to things hidden and mysterious. There is no dogmatic conclusion, and yet the dogmas of omnipresence and omniscience are elucidated by it. In less than one hundred pages is much and deep philosophy."—Boston Commonwealth.

HANDBOOK OF CONVERSATION

Its Faults and its Graces Compiled by ANDREW P. PEABODY, D. D., LL. D. Comprising: (1) Dr. PEABODY'S Address, (2) Mr. TRENCH'S Lecture, (3) Mr. PARRY GWYNNE'S "A Word to the Wise; or, Hints on the Current Improprieties of Expression in Reading and Writing," (4) Mistakes and Improprieties in Reading and Writing Corrected. 50 cents.

"A book which will be of incalculable value to the young man or woman who will carefully note and follow out its numerous and valuable suggestions. It is worth owning, and ought to be studied by many who heedlessly misuse their mother tongue." — Boston Beacon.

HANDBOOK OF THE EARTH

Natural Methods in Geography By LOUISA PARSONS HOPKINS, Teacher of Normal Methods in the Swain Free School, New Bedford. 50 cents.

An inductive treatise in geography, which is offered to the general student as an original and philosophical presentation of the subject; also designed for the use of teachers and normal-school classes, as a review and generalization of geographical facts, a guide to right methods of study, and an application of the principles of psychology to the art of teaching, which shall educate, as well as improve, the pupil.

HANDBOOK OF ELOCUTION SIMPLIFIED

By WALTER K. FOBES, with an Introduction by GEORGE M. BAKER. 50 cents.

"This valuable little book occupies a place heretofore left vacant, as a digest of elocution that is both practical and methodical, and low in price." — N. Y. Tribune.

HANDBOOK OF ENGLISH SYNONYMS

With an Appendix showing the Correct Use of Prepositions, also a Collection of Foreign Phrases By L. J. CAMPBELL. 50 cents.

This compact little volume contains about 40,000 synonymous words, printed in clear, distinct type.

"Clearly printed and well arranged, it is adapted to help any one who writes much, to enrich his vocabulary, vary his expressions, and secure accuracy in conveying his thought." — Boston Journal.

PRONOUNCING HANDBOOK

Of 3,000 Words often Mispronounced, and of Words as to which a Choice of Pronunciation is allowed By RICHARD SOULE and LOOMIS J. CAMPBELL. 50 cents.

"This book can be carried in a gentleman's vest pocket or tucked into a lady's belt, and we wish several hundred thousand copies might thus be disposed of with a view to daily consultation." — Congregationalist.

THE TELEPHONE

An Account of the Phenonena of Electricity, Magnetism, and Sound, as involved in its Action; with Directions for making a Speaking Telephone By Prof. A. E. DOLBEAR, of Tufts College. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"An interesting little book upon this most fascinating subject, which is treated in a very clear and methodical way. First we have a thorough review of the discoveries in electricity, then of magnetism, then of those in the study of sound, — pitch, velocity, timbre, tone, resonance, sympathetic vibrations, etc. From these the telephone is reached and by them in a measure explained." — Hartford Courant.

FORGOTTEN MEANINGS

Or, An Hour with a Dictionary By ALFRED WAITES, author of "The Historical Student's Manual." 50 cents.

"A valuable little book, embracing a collection of words whose etymology, when rightly understood, is full of instruction. The origin of words is an interesting study, and to those of an analytic turn of mind this little volume will prove a perfect treasure-house, and increase their interest in the subject." — Christian at Work.

WATER ANALYSIS

A Handbook for Water Drinkers By G. L. AUSTIN, M. D. 50 cents.

"The tests are for the most part simple, and are described in language devoid of technicalities. The work will be of service to all who wish to know what they are drinking." — Medical Bulletin, Philadelphia.

LESSONS ON MANNERS

By EDITH E. WIGGIN. 50 cents.

"A neat little manual, written on a very much neglected subject. It systemizes as well as simplifies the subject, and will prove suggestive to both parents and teachers, while its lessons will commend themselves to the learner. Nor is the book any the worse for its wholesome moral trend." — Herald and Presbyter.

BROKEN ENGLISH

A Frenchman's Struggle with the English Language. Interesting as a narrative, instructive as a handbook of French conversation By Professor E. C. DUBOIS. 50 cents.

"A decidedly amusing as well as instructive narrative, showing the trials and vexations a foreigner must endure in learning our language. The idea of the author in thus presenting the two languages in dialogue form was a happy one, and will be as good a study for the Yankee as the Frenchman. The two languages are presented on alternate pages line for line, and create equal interest." — San Jose Mercury.

TAXIDERMY WITHOUT A TEACHER

Comprising a Complete Manual of Instruction for Preparing and Preserving Birds, Animals, and Fishes, with a Chapter on Hunting and Hygiene; together with Instructions for Preserving Eggs and Making Skeletons, and a number of Valuable Recipes By WALTER P. MANTON, author of "Field Botany" and "Insects; How to Catch and How to Prepare them for the Cabinet." Illustrated. 50 cents.

"We would be glad if all teachers would take this little book, study it faithfully, become interested themselves and interest their pupils in this wonderful art." — Practical Teacher.

INSECTS

How to Catch and How to Prepare Them for the Cabinet Comprising a Manual of Instruction for the Field-Naturalist By WALTER P. MANTON. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"An invaluable little manual for an active lad, or indeed for anybody with limber joints and a taste for out-of-door amusements is Manton's 'Insects.' It tells what outfit the amateur bug-hunter should supply himself with, how he should treat his specimens when he captures them, and what he must do with them when he gets them home in order to preserve them in his cabinet. It is so beautifully written and illustrated that it makes the reviewer crave to lay hands on a net once more and sally forth into the fields." — Syracuse Herald.

FIELD BOTANY

A Handbook for the Collector Containing Instructions for Gathering and Preserving Plants, and the Formation of a Herbarium. Also, complete instructions in Leaf Photography, Plant Printing and the Skeletonizing of Leaves By WALTER P. MANTON. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"It is entirely practical, and gives the collector just the knowledge required to render his work permanent and satisfactory. Its smallness fits it to be carried in the pocket, which is a consideration." — National Baptist, New York.

"Of inestimable value to young botanists." — Rural New Yorker.

BEGINNINGS WITH THE MICROSCOPE

A Working Handbook containing Simple Instructions in the Art and Method of Using the Microscope, and Preparing Articles for Examination By WALTER P. MANTON, M. D., author of "Taxidermy Without a Teacher," "Insects," and "Field Botany." Illustrated. 50 cents.

"This is a handy little volume for those who are starting on the examination of the wonderful life the microscope reveals. It instructs in the art of using the instrument, and shows how objects can be prepared for examination. Its simplicity is very valuable, and the young student will receive hints which will lead the way to the use of larger treatises. We commend it heartily to those who are beginning to study closely God's works in the world of nature." — Christian Intelligencer.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE

A Handbook for the Nursery, with Useful Hints for Children and Adults By ROBERT B. DIXON, M. D., Surgeon of the Fifth Massachusetts Infantry; Physician to the Boston Dispensary. 50 cents.

"Dr. Dixon, in this little 'Emergency Handbook,' gives simple directions what to do in a number of the most common cases that arise, either in home treatment of slight accidents or indispositions, or in the case of patients in more serious cases, until the arrival of the physician. The book is worth its weight in gold, and ought to have a place in every family library." — Providence Press.

NUMBER WORK FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

Being a Series of Exercises exemplifying the Manner in which Arithmetic should be taught to young Children By HORACE GRANT American Edition Edited by Willard Small. 50 cents.

"This is a nice little book for the little ones, and is as simple as it is comprehensive. The purpose of the book is to exemplify how arithmetic should be taught young children. It is a very practical subject, and every parent ought to be interested in it." — Boston Journal of Commerce.

TRAINING OF THE SENSES OF YOUNG CHILDREN

For Young Children By HORACE GRANT Edited by Willard Small. 50 cents.

"These exercises were prepared for the purpose of providing instruction and amusement for children who are too young to learn to read and write. Their special object is to excite little children to examine surrounding objects correctly, so that valuable knowledge may be acquired, while the attention, memory, judgment, and invention are duly exercised. They consist of questions on familiar objects, concerning the senses and the body. There is a list of games given for young people." — Literary News.

THE PARLOR GARDENER

A Treatise on the House Culture of Ornamental Plants Translated from the French, and adapted to American Use, by CORNELIA J. RANDOLPH With Eleven Illustrative Cuts. 50 cents.

"It explains the methods of conducting a garden in an apartment and in a window, of making a portable green-house, of propagating from slips, of managing an aquarium, of gardening upon balconies and raising fruits upon the terrace." — Cincinnati Gazette.

HINTS ON LANGUAGE

In connection with Sight Reading and Writing in Primary and Intermediate Schools By S. ARTHUR BENT, A. M., Superintendent of the Public Schools of Clinton, Mass. 50 cts.

"The book, like all other published works of Mr. Bent, shows preparatory thought on the subject treated, and care in every line of the composition. He takes up 'sight reading and writing in connection with primary and intermediate schools,' and discusses every feature of the subject in such a plain and forcible way, giving more than a thousand valuable hints, that the work is not only attractive to the general reader, but of incalculable value to the professional educator." — Nashua Telegraph.

FIVE-MINUTE DECLAMATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Teacher of Elocution and Public Reader, author of "Elocution Simplified," etc. 50 cents.

"Each comprises one hundred selections, not one of which requires over five minutes in declaiming. The selections are made from orations, speeches, and sermons with fine judgment, and with an eye to bringing out feeling, passion, fire, etc. Each selection has been subjected to the test of reading aloud, and is a declamation in the proper sense of the term." — Home Journal.

FIVE-MINUTE DECLAMATIONS

Second Part. For School and College. By WALTER K. FOBES, author of "Five-Minute Recitations," "Five-Minute Readings," "Elocution Simplified," etc. Cloth, 50 cents.

"This is a little book gotten up for use in schools and colleges. Any of the selections can be recited in five minutes, and in this respect the book is unique. The compiler is one whose long experience in teaching has caused him to know what are best liked by students, and what will cause them to put forth their best efforts." — Toledo Blade.

FIVE-MINUTE RECITATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Elocutionist and Public Reader. 50 cents.

"The title of this book explains itself. Any selection in it can be recited in five minutes, and in this respect it is unique. Mr. Fobes's experience has enabled him to make the book a valuable collection of prose and poetry, which every schoolboy would do well to purchase. It must meet with hearty public approval." — New Bedford Standard.

FIVE-MINUTE READINGS

For Young Ladies Edited by WALTER K. FOBES. Uniform with "Five-Minute Declamations" and "Five-Minute Recitations." 50 cents.

"This volume evinces general reading and good taste in the author. It differs from some of its class in that many of the selections are from modern authors. We do not see why readings that are suitable for girls should not, generally, be adapted to boys also. Yet the title is a good 'catch.' The selections are among the most chaste and elegant in the language." — Journal and Messenger.

EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY

A Treatise for Parents and Educators By LOUISA PARSONS HOPKINS, author of "Handbook of the Earth," "Natural History Plays," etc. 50 cents.

"'Educational Psychology,' by Mrs. Louisa Parsons Hopkins, is the digest of a course of lectures given to the normal class of the Swain Free School in New Bedford, and is the result of long and attentive observation of mental phenomena and development, careful reading, and original thought. It is a compact volume, giving in condensed form a great amount of valuable matter. There is increasing call for works of this kind; and one so sound, clear, and complete as 'Educational Psychology' will be cordially welcomed by parents and teachers." — Cambridge Tribune.

THE NATION IN A NUTSHELL

A Rapid Outline of American History. By GEORGE MAKEPEACE TOWLE, author of "Young People's History of England," "Young People's History of Ireland," etc. 50 cents.

"It begins with an account of the earliest known or supposed inhabitants of our continent; treats briefly but clearly of the eras of colonization and colonial growth; describes the causes and rise of the Revolution, the formation of the Constitution and government, the Presidents, the wars of 1812 and Mexico, and the Civil War; and brings the record of events down to the present day. It has also chapters on our growth in literature, the arts and sciences, material interests and inventions, and on the political changes which have taken place in recent years. It is intended for such readers as desire, by a rapid glance, to survey the main features and landmarks of American history, and who have not the time to peruse the more comprehensible histories." — New Bedford Mercury.

MISTAKES IN WRITING ENGLISH AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

For the Use of all who teach, write, or speak the Language By MARSHALL T. BIGELOW, Author of "Punctuation and other Typographical Matters." 50 cents.

"This is one of the most practical and systematic books in its kind that has as yet appeared. It is particularly commendable in avoiding the chance arrangement of matter which has so confusingly characterized other guides devoted to the same subject. Here everything is set forth in proper order, and reference is aided by the admirable grouping of the various sources of error under appropriate headings. This little volume will be found a serviceable friend on the library able of every writer." — Sat. Evening Gazette.

WARRINGTON'S MANUAL

Handbook of Legislative Practice for the Guidance of Public Meetings By WM. S. ROBINSON ("Warrington"). 50 cents.

Mr. Robinson was for a long series of years the Clerk of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and was an authority on parliamentary law and tactics during that time. This manual will be found of inestimable value to all presiding officers, either of the ward and town meeting or the legislative assembly.

WHIRLWINDS, CYCLONES, AND TORNADOES

By WILLIAM MORRIS DAVIS, Instructor in Harvard College. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"The best general view of the science in the English language." — Nation.

"The substance of this treatise formed the basis of a course of lectures at Lowell Institute last year. Cuts, diagrams, and charts illustrate the text; and the whole subject, which recent calamities have made so intensely interesting to us of the United States, is treated very lucidly on the basis of facts, and of the best and latest scientific speculation." — Buffalo Express.

BRIDGE DISASTERS IN AMERICA

The Cause and the Remedy By Prof. George L. Vose. Author of "Manual for Railroad Engineers and Engineering Students," etc., etc. 50 cents.

"How to ensure the safety of bridges and to prevent loss of life by those who pass over them, surely ought to be a question of most vital interest, and Prof. Vose's thorough knowledge of the subject enables him to give a practical solution of the problem. It is a book that should be carefully read by all and especially by those who are in any way responsible for the maintenance or construction of bridges. He demonstrates that bridges can be constructed in such manner as to prevent the disasters which are repeatedly occurring, and that ignorance, shortsightedness and criminal negligence are alone responsible for the large loss of life in recent years on account of faultily constructed bridges."—Springfield Union.

A FEW THOUGHTS FOR A YOUNG MAN

By Horace Mann. A new edition. 25 cents.

"This volume is full of the wisest counsel, given in very attractive and winning language, which is embellished with sparkling wit and interesting anecdote. It is a rare little book, by an eminent author, and is worthy of a place in every household. The treatise has been so often sought after by the general public, that it is again republished in its original form. The late Mrs. Mann, who wrote the preface to her husband's book, says, 'Nothing the author ever wrote has been so universally popular.'"

HANDBOOK OF DEBATE

Including a debate upon the Character of Julius Caesar. Adapted from J. Sheridan Knowles. Arranged for practice in Speaking, for Debating Clubs, and Classes in Public and Private Schools. With Notes for the Forming and Guidance of Debating Societies, and a list of subjects for debate. 50 cents.

"This work may be considered a model worthy to be adopted for use in societies and clubs organized to cultivate powers of elocution and oratory, and to teach the art of skilful debate, the knowledge of which enables the possessor to wield great influence in public and deliberative assemblies. As a ready handbook for debating societies' use it is unequalled."

ENGLISH SYNONYMS DISCRIMINATED

By Richard Whately, D. D., Archbishop of Dublin. A new edition. 50 cents.

While especially adapted to the use of writers and those who desire to express themselves in exact and discriminating terms, this book will be of interest to every one who may wish to gain more precision in the use of our language. In compiling this valuable work, the accomplished author has departed from the customary methods, and has not contented himself with giving merely the apparent synonyms in the language, but elaborates on the nice distinction in the meaning of common words, usually considered synonymous terms. In this feature consists the especial importance of Dr. Whately's volume.

PRIMARY LESSONS IN ZOÖLOGY TEACHING

For Teachers in Common Schools. By Walter P. Manton, M. D., F. R. M. S., F. Z. S. Author of "Field Botany," "Insects," "Taxidermy." Beginnings with the Microscope. 50 cents.

This work is full of suggestions to teachers as to topics and methods in presenting this subject to beginners. It contains nine essays, full of valuable practical ideas for teachers. The subjects treated are: equipment; general characteristics of an animal; the bones; the muscles; the blood; respiration digestion; the brain and nerves. The author has wisely disregarded the exact order of the scientist, realizing that he has to interest beginners and teach them to observe. His directions are clear and simple, and in the hands of a good teacher the plan he outlines would be eminently inspiring.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The True Benjamin Franklin.

(Uniform with "The True George Washington.") By SYDNEY GEORGE FISHER, author of "Men, Women, and Manners in Colonial Times," "The Making of Pennsylvania," etc. With numerous illustrations, portraits, and fac-similes. Crown octavo. Cloth, $2.00.

The author has been able, by dint of long and patient labor, to make what is certainly one of the most complete, authoritative, and entertaining personal histories in existence. There is no character of the Revolutionary period, excepting only Washington himself, better worth studying than the Boston printer boy who lived to sign the Declaration of Independence, to make the treaty of peace with Great Britain, to aid in framing the Constitution under which we now live, and to bequeath to his countrymen a legacy of ripe philosophy which penetrated physical as well as moral and political science.

The Nation's Navy.

OUR SHIPS AND THEIR ACHIEVEMENTS. By CHARLES MORRIS. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

Our ships of war are the one subject about which the people of this country are coming to speak and think by day and dream by night; in which they are the most deeply interested, and of which they are growing to be the most proud. Ten years ago we bowed our heads in shame when our navy was spoken of. To-day we have, for its size, perhaps the finest navy in the world. Ten years from to-day we shall likely have one of the largest, and be able to victoriously contest the sea with far mightier nations than Spain. In this volume is given an admirable presentation of the American navy, including its history, from the first shot of the Revolution to the sinking of the Maine; a lucid description of the development of the modern types of war vessels, and a detailed account of all the ships that make up the navy of the United States. To those who wish to know of what a modern navy consists, what is meant by conning-tower, turret, barbette, rapid-fire guns, torpedoes, mines, the resistance of armor and the penetration of projectiles, and all the multitudinous matters which have to do with modern naval science and engineering, this book may be heartily commended. In short, it is a museum of all that concerns the American navy, alike in its history, its ships, and its development.

Myths and Legends beyond Our Borders.

(Uniform with "Myths and Legends of Our Own Land.") By CHARLES M. SKINNER. Four photogravure illustrations. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, $3.00.

This fascinating volume completes the legends of North America by adding to those of the United States (contained in the previous books of this series) this collection of the myths and legends of Canada and Mexico. These lands of the cold and the sun have long been noted for their romance and interest, and these quaint and exciting stories therefore gain much by the strong contrast of the characteristics of the two peoples who inhabit them. The work exhibits the results of a tireless endeavor and methodical research in its preparation, as well as a familiarity with localities that makes the legends particularly attractive.

Literary Haunts, and Homes of American Authors.

(Uniform with "Literary Shrines" and "A Literary Pilgrimage.") By THEODORE F. WOLFE, M.D., PH.D. Illustrated with four photogravures. 12mo. Crushed Buckram, gilt top, deckle edges, $1.25; half calf or half morocco, $3.00.

The sale of Dr. Wolfe's previous books in this series has now reached the tenth edition. In this new volume will be found mention of scores of our writers, including such late men as Rudyard Kipling, Mark Twain, Cable, Bellamy, and many others, as well as our earlier classics, such as Edgar Allan Poe, Bryant, Cooper, Irving, etc. The photogravure illustrations are of the homes of Kipling, Poe, Bryant, and the birthplace of Whitman.

Do-Nothing Days. With Feet to the Earth.

By CHARLES M. SKINNER. Illustrated by photogravures from drawings by VIOLET OAKLEY and E. S. HOLLOWAY. Two volumes in a box. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, deckle edges, $3.00; half calf, $6.00. Also sold separately.

The human interest, which is so inevitable in Mr. Skinner's books, is added to that love which we all feel for trees and birds and flowers. The author realizes that the world was made for man (and he would probably add, as Mr. Kipling says, for the "missus and the kid"), and he therefore writes of those things in nature which are most entertaining to us. In "With Feet to the Earth" he moreover gives many practical hints for camping and tramping, and the fun we can thereby have, while in "Do-Nothing Days" he tells of some of them spent abroad, as well as through widely scattered parts of our own country.

A Manual of Coaching.

By FAIRMAN ROGERS. Octavo. 500 pages. Profusely illustrated. Cloth, gilt top, uncut edges; three-quarters levant; full pig-skin.

The author has for many years been known as the highest authority upon coaching and everything appertaining to the subject. The book is a complete manual upon the subject: history, coach-building, driving, horses, etc., etc.

Historical Tales. Vols. VII. and VIII.

Vol. VII.—Russia. Vol. VIII.—Japan and China.

By CHARLES MORRIS, author of "Our Nation's Navy," "Half-Hour Series," etc. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1.25 per volume.

Each volume contains from twenty-five to thirty stories concerning well authenticated incidents, passages of history, or personal adventure in the different countries named. The stories are told in excellent style, the truth of history is carefully preserved, and each volume is admirably illustrated.

Previously issued in this series: Vol. I.—AMERICA. Vol. II.—ENGLAND. Vol. III.—FRANCE. Vol. IV.—GERMANY. Vol. V.—GREECE. Vol. VI.—ROME.

The Heptameron of Margaret, Queen of Navarre.

Four volumes. Cloth, $4.00; half morocco, $10.00.

Confessions of a Justified Sinner.

By JAMES HOGG. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $1.00.

Isabella; or, The Pot of Basil.

By JOHN KEATS. Illustrated and decorated by W. B. MACDOUGALL. Quarto. Cloth. gilt top, hand-made paper, deckle edges, $4.00, net.

All lovers of Keats will be delighted to see this most exquisite of his poems so suitably dressed by so sympathetic a hand as Mr. MacDougall has displayed in his illustrations and border devices.

With Peary Near the Pole.

By EIVIND ASTRUP. With illustrations from photographs and sketches by the author. Translated from the Norwegian by H. J. BULL. Crown octavo. Cloth.

A thrilling story by Peary's only companion upon his trip to the northernmost point of Greenland.

Evelina.

By FRANCES BURNEY (MADAME D'ARBLAY). 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $1.25; limp morocco, $2.50.

"Miss Burney did for the English novel what Jeremy Collier did for the English drama. She took away the reproach which lay on a most useful and delightful species of composition. She vindicated the right of her sex to an equal share in a fair and noble promise of letters."—T. B. MACAULAY.

Through Persia on a Side Saddle.

By ELLA C. SYKES. With thirty-two full-page plates and maps. Large octavo. Cloth, $4.50.

While the book has no pretensions to be either historical, scientific, or political, being merely the record of the first white woman who has visited Kerman and Persian Baluchistan; nevertheless the information conveyed therein is correct as far as it goes, Captain Sykes, who has travelled for years in Persia on government service, having revised the manuscript.

A Tour Through the Famine Districts of India.

By F. H. S. MEREWETHER. With thirty-two full-page plates. Octavo. Cloth, gilt top, $4.50.

The volume is the journalistic record of the author when travelling through the famine districts as the special representative of Reuter's news agency.

Abbott's Nature Library.

Clear Skies and Cloudy. Recent Rambles.

By CHARLES CONRAD ABBOTT. Two volumes in a box. Six illustrations in each volume. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, deckle edges. Cloth, $3.00; half calf, $6.00. Also sold separately.

Through Unknown Tibet.

By CAPTAIN M. S. WELLBY. With sixty illustrations and photogravure frontispiece. With maps. $6 00.

The author determined to traverse the northern portions of Tibet from west to east, to discover and locate the source of the Chu Ma River, and finally to cross the Tsaidan and end his wanderings in Pekin.

The Reign of Terror.

A Collection of Authentic Narratives of the Horrors committed by the Revolutionary Government of France under Marat and Robespierre, written by Eye-Witnesses of the Scenes. Translated from the French, interspersed with biographical notices of prominent characters and curious anecdotes illustrative of a period without its parallel in history. Two volumes. With two frontispieces, being photogravure portraits of the Princesse de Lamballe and M. de Beaumarchais. Octavo. Cloth, gilt top, $6.00.

Poe's "Tales."

Illustrated with twelve photogravures. Four volumes. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $4.00; half calf or half morocco, $10.00.

"Owing to its make-up and appearance, this is the most desirable of the cheaper editions of Poe. It is strongly bound in neat gray cloth, ornamented in purple and gold, is excellently well printed from new and handsome types on white paper of good substance and quality, and is adorned with an etched or photogravure frontispiece and other plates in each volume."—The Critic.

Revised Fourth Edition.

The Life of Benjamin Franklin.

Written by Himself. Now first edited from Original Manuscripts and from his Printed Correspondence and other Writings. By HON. JOHN BIGELOW. Fourth Edition, revised and corrected, with additional notes. Three volumes. Crown octavo. Cloth, $4.50; half calf, $9.00; three-quarters calf, gilt top, uncut edges, $9.75.

"It need scarcely be said that Mr. Bigelow has done his editorial work with admirable care and taste. Full notes illustrate the great philosopher's pregnant text; and where selections from a mass of matter have become necessary, the editor has made them with all the skill of one sensitive by experience to the wants of the reading public."—Boston Post.

The Marie Corelli Birthday Book.

Compiled by M. W. DAVIES, with original drawings depicting Marie Corelli's heroines by ERNEST PRATER and G. H. EDWARDS. 12mo. Cloth, full gilt, $1.25.

The enormous demand for the novels of Marie Corelli denotes an excellence which lends itself to the literary gleaner. Following upon last season's successful compilation of "The Beauties of Marie Corelli" comes a "Birthday Book," each day in the year having an appropriate quotation.

Hints on the Legal Duties of Shipmasters.

By BENEDICT W. GINSBURG, M.A., LL.D. 12mo. Cloth, $1.75. Volume VIII. in "Griffin's Nautical Series."

"These volumes, for the use of students in naval architecture, officers on board ship, and all others interested in marine affairs, are written in a simple yet thorough manner by persons well qualified to present the clearest and least technical terms, the essential facts concerning the subjects in question."—New York Seaboard.

12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

This is the author's first long novel.

The Boat-Steerer, and Other Stories.

12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $1.50.

"The author is himself mentally steeped in the softened colorings of the life he so deliciously depicts. It is like finding a coveted rest to yield the forces of the imagination to the rhythmical flow of his skilfully arranged narratives."—Boston Courier.

Poor Max.

By Iota, author of "A Yellow Aster." In Lippincott's Series of Select Novels. Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

The author of "A Yellow Aster" already has a wide public among readers of fiction on both sides of the sea. Hence this second book from the same pen will be read with the double interest of contrast with the earlier success and of curiosity concerning its own plot and characters. These both sustain the reputation already acquired by Iota, and it will be surprising if many readers do not give the palm to "Poor Max." With all the cleverness of its predecessor, it has a substantial quality of its own.

The Boy Mineral Collectors.

By Jay G. Kelley, M.E. With a colored frontispiece. Crown octavo.

In most interesting story form is here to be found just the information that boys (and their fathers as well) wish to know regarding those fascinating subjects, the precious stones and the valuable and curious minerals. Written by one of our ablest mining engineers and experts, the volume tells in an attractive way about (among hundreds of other things) all the famous diamonds; gold and silver in their various forms, and how they are mined, assayed, and refined; the metals more valuable than gold; the beautifully colored and quaintly formed stones and minerals so often collected, and how to distinguish them; tests for metals; legends and superstitions connected with gems; the famous crowns of the world, etc., etc.

From School to Battle-Field.

(Uniform with "Trooper Ross.") By CAPTAIN CHARLES KING. Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50.

The list of Captain King's books for boys is in itself calculated to excite youthful imaginations and hold their attention unrelaxed to the close. This last story contains all the striking features of its predecessors,—the excitement, the fire, the geniality, the rapidity, that have long delighted his large community of boy readers.

O'er Tartar Deserts.

By DAVID KER, author of "Swept Out to Sea," "The Wizard King," etc., etc. 12mo. Cloth, $1.25.

David Ker is one of the most successful among modern writers for the older children. His new book is full of incident and adventure, and also abounds in stimulus towards all that is manly and good. It is a story which the boys will read with exceptional eagerness.

An Antarctic Mystery.

By JULES VERNE. 16 illustrations. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

"An Antarctic Mystery" is one of those narratives for young people that, while it is completely vigorous and thrilling in tone, will go far towards evoking a general call for more of its like. There are hair-breadth escapes and startling adventure enough to suit anybody, but they are of a nature that will not do the least harm in the reading.

The Adventure Library.

Buccaneers of America, etc.

Eight volumes. 12mo. Cloth, each, $1.25.

A reprint of a valuable set of books at half the former price.

By Amy E. Blanchard.

An Independent Daughter.

Illustrated by ALICE BARBER STEPHENS. $1.25.

Amy E. Blanchard, the author of "Two Girls" and "Girls Together," knows and has deeply studied the manners of young people in their teens. She enters with a peculiar zest into the spirit of girlhood, and purity of tone and reality of impression are the leading traits of her books for girls.

Four Hundred Animal Stories.

Selected and edited by ROBERT COCHRANE, author of "Romance of Industry and Invention," etc., etc. With over fifty illustrations. 12mo. Cloth, $1.00.

An intensely interesting book about animals for the young folks, with stories short enough to be interesting in every line. The author has wisely selected his tales and included all sorts of domestic and wild animals.

Ouida's Stories for Children.

New Edition in five volumes. Square 12mo. 60 cents per volume. Sold separately.

Moufflou, and other Stories. The Little Earl. The Nürenberg Stove. Dog of Flanders. In the Apple Country, and Findelkind.

SCIENTIFIC AND MEDICAL.

Technical Mycology:

THE UTILIZATION OF MICRO-ORGANISMS IN THE ARTS AND MANUFACTURES. A Practical Hand-Book on Fermentation and Fermentative Processes for the Use of Brewers and Distillers, Analysts, Technical and Agricultural Chemists, Pharmacists, and all interested in the Industries dependent on Fermentation. By DR. FRANZ LAFAR, Professor of Fermentation-Physiology and Bacteriology in the Imperial Technical High School, Vienna. With an Introduction by DR. EMIL CHR. HANSEN, Principal of the Carlsberg Laboratory, Copenhagen. Translated by CHARLES T. C. SALTER. In two volumes. Vol. I.—SCHIZOMYCETIC FERMENTATION. With plate and ninety figures in the text. Octavo. Cloth, $4.50, net.

In the last few years, certainly, we have had various text-books and manuals giving a summary of larger or smaller sections of technical microbiology; none of them, however, has treated the whole of this extensive field from so comprehensive a point of view. To prepare a work like the present requires not only many-sided discernment, but also enthusiasm for the task, combined with courage and endurance—properties with which the book shows the author to be endowed. The work will be welcomed, not only by those for whom it is primarily intended, viz., technical chemists, chemists dealing with food-stuffs, fermentation, and agriculture, pharmacists, and agriculturalists, but many a professor also will derive benefit from its pages for his lectures and researches. In this respect the copious bibliographical references will also be of good service. In the present volume we have, unfortunately, only the numbers of the references, it being intended that the bibliography shall be published as an appendix to the second volume. This increases the desirability of the early appearance of the latter.

Atlas of Urinary Sediments.

With Special Reference to their Clinical Significance. By Dr. Hermann Rieder, of the University of Munich. Translated by Frederick Craven Moore, M.Sc.M.B. (Vict.). Edited and annotated by Sheridan Delépine, M.B., C.M. (Edin.), Professor of Pathology in Owen's College and Victoria University. With thirty-six plates, comprising one hundred and sixty-seven figures, many in colors. Large octavo. Cloth.

New Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged.

A Text-Book of Chemistry.

By Samuel P. Sadtler, Ph.D., F.C.S., and Henry Trimble, Ph.M. Revised and Enlarged Edition in two volumes. Illustrated. Octavo. Volume I.—850 pages. Cloth, $3.50, net; sheep, $4.00, net. Volume II.—200 pages. Cloth, $2.00, net; sheep, $2.50, net.

The firm hold taken by Sadtler and Trimble's "Pharmaceutical and Medical Chemistry" as a text-book in both pharmaceutical and medical schools, and the success it has had with the general public, has shown that there was place for just such a work and that it has measurably filled this place. During the three years which have elapsed since its appearance there has been, however, notable development in several of the branches of chemistry which it covers, and a careful revision of the whole book has therefore been made and much new matter incorporated. As the book in its original form had nine hundred and fifty large octavo pages, it has been determined to issue the new edition in two volumes. Of these, the first will contain the Chemical Physics, Chemistry of the non-Metals, Chemistry of the Metals, and Organic Chemistry, or the portions covered in the course of lecture-room instruction, and will make about eight hundred pages. Volume II. will contain Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis, Pharmaceutical Analysis, and Urinary Analysis, or the several branches which are covered in the course of laboratory instruction. It will make a book of about two hundred pages. By this division of the subject-matter, it has been found possible not only to introduce new and valuable matter throughout the body of the work, but more especially to develop the important section on pharmaceutical assaying and to introduce for the first time in this work the subject of Urinary Analysis.

The Metallurgy of Gold.

By T. Kirke Rose, D.Sc., Lond., Assoc.R.S.M., Assistant Assayer of the Royal Mint. Revised and partly re-written. Including the most recent Improvements in the Cyanide Process. With frontispiece and numerous Illustrations. Third Edition. Revised and Enlarged. Handsome Cloth. 8vo. $6.50. General Contents: The Properties of Gold and its Alloys.—Chemistry of the Compounds of Gold.—Mode of Occurrence and Distribution of Gold.—Placer Mining.—Shallow Deposits.—Deep Placer Mining.—Quartz Crushing in the Stamp Battery.—Amalgamation in the Stamp Battery.—Other Forms of Crushing and Amalgamating Machinery.—Concentration in Stamp Mills.—Stamp Battery Practice in Particular Localities.—Chlorination: The Preparation of Ore for Treatment.—Chlorination: The Vat Process.—Chlorination: The Barrel Process.—Chlorination: Practice in Particular Mills.—The Cyanide Process.—Chemistry of the Cyanide Process.—Pyritic Smelting.—The Refining and Parting of Gold Bullion.—The Assay of Gold Ores.—The Assay of Gold Bullion.—Economic Considerations.—Bibliography.

The Heat Efficiency of Steam Boilers.

With many Tests and Experiments on Different Types of Boilers, Land and Marine; Heating Value of Fuels, Analyses of Gases, Evaporation, and Suggestions for Testing Boilers. By Bryan Donkin, M.Inst.C.E. Illustrated. Square 8vo. Cloth, $8.00. General Contents: Classification of Different Types of Boilers.—Four Hundred and Twenty-five Experiments on English and Foreign Boilers with their Heat Efficiencies.—Fire Grates of Various Types.—Mechanical Stokers.—Combustion of Fuel in Boilers.—Transmission of Heat Through Boiler Plates, and their Temperature.—Feed-Water Heaters, Superheaters, and Feed Pumps.—Smoke and its Prevention.—Instruments for Testing Boilers.—Marine and Locomotive Boilers.—Fuel Testing Stations.—Instructions for Boiler Experiments, Etc.—Bibliography.—Appendices.—Index.

The "New Land" Series of Practical Hand-Books.

For the use of Prospectors, Explorers, Settlers, Colonists, and all Interested in the Opening Up and Development of New Lands. Edited by Grenville A. J. Cole, M.R.I.A., F.G.S., Professor of Geology in the Royal College of Science for Ireland. In large crown 8vo, with Illustrations.

Now Ready—Vol. I.—Prospecting for Minerals. By S. Herbert Cox, Assoc. R.S.M., M.Inst.M.M., F.G.S. Crown 8vo. Cloth, $2.00. Vol. II.—Food Supply. By Robert Bruce, Agricultural Superintendent to the Royal Dublin Society. Crown 8vo. Cloth, $1.75.

Shortly will be issued—Vol. III.—Building Construction in Wood, Stone, and Concrete. By Jas. Lyon, M.A., Professor of Engineering in the Royal College of Science for Ireland; sometime Superintendent of the Engineering Department in the University of Cambridge; and J. Taylor, A.R.C.S.I.

Other volumes will follow, dealing with subjects of primary importance in the examination and utilization of lands which have not as yet been fully developed.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers,

. . . . 715 AND 717 MARKET STREET, PHILADELPHIA . . . .

THE LOTOS LIBRARY.

Issued at Intervals.

Illustrated. 16mo. Buckram, 75 cents.

"The Lotos Library is becoming almost a guarantee of excellence, so well chosen are the tales which compose it."—Detroit Free Press.

"The stories in this entertaining series are always carefully selected, and the books are 'just the thing' to be tucked into a travelling bag, or for that matter a pocket."—Buffalo Commercial.

By MRS. ALEXANDER.

Mrs. Crichton's Creditor.

"Mrs. Alexander's novels are decidedly of the higher order. They reflect the lives and sayings of wholesome people, carry a healthy moral, and convey valuable lessons to enlightened readers."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

By LOUIS BECKE.

His Native Wife.

"'His Native Wife' is a masterly sketch; in which a native woman gains her revenge upon a white woman for attempting to steal away the love of her English husband."—Boston Courier.

By Reef and Palm.

"The stories are brief, pointed, passionate, beautiful, and, while unconnected in character and place, still combine in an atmosphere of tropical glow which fuses all together."—Chicago Times.

"In its way the book is remarkable."—Congregationalist.

By ELIZABETH PHIPPS TRAIN.

A Marital Liability.

"From outset to finish, the story is a thoroughly dramatic one, and the portrayal of the vindication and reward of the long-suffering is highly gratifying."—Boston Courier.

A Social Highwayman.

SEVENTH EDITION.

"It is certainly a delightful creation, full of genuine life and stirring situations, and withal is well written."—Chicago Journal.

The Autobiography of a Professional Beauty.

THIRD EDITION.

"The story is very bright from start to finish, and gives some lively pictures of London society life."—Boston Home Journal.

By HARRIET RIDDLE DAVIS.

In Sight of the Goddess.

A Tale of Washington Life.

"One of the brightest little stories which has been published this season."—Hartford Post.

"It is a very charming love story, the scene of which is laid in Washington, and it is replete with brilliant pictures of social and official life in our national capital."—Boston Home Journal.

By ROBERT BUCHANAN.

A Marriage by Capture.

A Romance of To-Day.

"The characters are clear, bold, and strongly drawn, and the story dramatic from beginning to end."—Cleveland World.

"The dialogue is bright, the plot is finely developed, and there are no dull pages in the story."—Boston Advertiser.

By JULIAN HAWTHORNE.

The Golden Fleece.

"'The Golden Fleece' is a very entertaining story in the Lotos Library. The scene is in southern California, a quarter of a century ago, and modern civilization and that of the ancient Aztecs are mingled in a mystic way. There is plenty of incident and clever character-drawing; the story is bright and pleasing."—Boston Times.

By MARIE CORELLI.

Jane.

"The author draws an admirable sketch of a demure spinster who fell heir to a fortune and was dragged by 'a ubiquitous licker of royal boots' from her peaceful home in the dell to the mad vortex of London social life. But Jane discovers the lack of harmony between her sincerity and the artificiality of social heights, and, dismissing her new surroundings, returns to the dell a wiser woman. It is a sympathetic tale, full of admirable contrast between the old-fashioned and the new."—Washington Times.

By CAPTAIN CHARLES KING, U.S.A.

A Tame Surrender.

"The ever charming Lotos Library from the Lippincott Company, issues as the latest attraction Captain Charles King's 'A Tame Surrender.' It is a story full of nerve and exciting situations, and characterized by all of the cleverness with which the talented author infuses his work."—Buffalo Commercial.

By T. JENKINS HAINS.

Captain Gore's Courtship.

"Here is a thrilling sea story in handy form. It is a narrative of travel, adventure, and love."—Richmond Dispatch.

"As the title implies, it is a love tale, but it is one out of the common, for the courtship takes place on board a sailing vessel, and the hero of the affair is only a second mate of the crew."—Boston Times.

Other volumes will be published from time to time.

Publishers. J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Philadelphia.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Messrs. Little, Brown, & Company

Having purchased the entire publishing business of

THE publishers have received many inquiries from the trade for a new, choicely printed Parkman, and believe that the present edition will satisfy the most exacting taste. With the view of giving the set a large circulation the moderate and popular price of two dollars per volume has been determined upon.

It is hardly necessary to quote here from the innumerable tributes to so famous an American author as Francis Parkman. Among writers who have bestowed the highest praise upon his writings are such names as James Russell Lowell, Dr. John Fiske, President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, George William Curtis, Edward Eggleston, W. D. Howells, James Schouler, and Dr. Conan Doyle, as well as many prominent critics in the United States, in Canada, and in England.

In two respects Francis Parkman was exceptionally fortunate. He chose a theme of the closest interest to his countrymen, — the colonization of the American Continent and the wars for its possession, — and he lived through fifty years of toil to complete the great historical series which he designed when but a youth at college.

Francis Parkman's Works (CONTINUED)

The text of the New Library Edition is that of the latest issue of each work prepared for the press by the distinguished author. He carefully revised and added to several of his works, not through change of views, but in the light of new documentary evidence which his patient research and untiring zeal extracted from the hidden archives of the past. Thus he rewrote and enlarged "The Conspiracy of Pontiac;" the new edition of "La Salle and the Discovery of the Great West" (1878), and the 1885 edition of "Pioneers of France" included very important additions; and a short time before his death he added to "The Old Régime" fifty pages, under the title of "The Feudal Chiefs of Acadia." The New Library Edition will therefore include each work in its final state as perfected by the historian. The indexes have been entirely remade.

The Authorized Life of Alphonse Daudet, by his Son

Alphonse Daudet

By LÉON DAUDET. Translated by Charles de Kay. With a fine photogravure portrait executed by Goupil & Co. 12mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.50.

THIS new life of Alphonse Daudet, the greatest French writer of recent times, is published and copyrighted in America and England by a special arrangement with the Daudet family. The author's close relationship and constant companionship with the great novelist has given him the power to write a book which deals with Daudet's home life as well as with his works. The Alphonse Daudet whom his son tells about is the Alphonse Daudet of daily life. Its contents are as follows: I. Introduction. II. Last Moments. III. Life and Literature. IV. Father and Husband: The Dealer in Happiness. V. North and South. VI. The Familiar Example. Appendix: Imagination, Dialogue between my Father and Myself.

Of the brilliant group of men who have made contemporaneous French literature, of that coterie toward which the eyes of all the reading world have been turned with admiration and interest during the last half a century, Daudet was the greatest. He was the most universal, the most original, the most human." — From an Article in the Book Buyer, by L. Van Vorst.

Fromont and Risler "Fromont Jeune et Risler Aîné"

By ALPHONSE DAUDET. Translated by George Burnham Ives. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top. $1.50.

FROMONT AND RISLER, and the Life of Daudet by his son, Léon Daudet, form the first issues in a new, uniform edition of the Works of Alphonse Daudet. Translated into English without abridgment, and printed in large, clear type, with frontispieces.

A sombre drama, a study of mœurs Parisiens, powerful and realistic. —The Book Buyer.

Has, perhaps, transferred bodily into his writings more actual events, related in the newspapers, in the court-house, or in society, than any other writer of the present age. Of some of his novels one hardly dare say that they are works of fiction; their characters are men and women of our time; they do in the book almost exactly what they had done in real life. — Prof. Adolph Cohn, in The Bookman.

The Flowers of St. Francis

The Little Flowers of Saint Francis of Assisi. "In the Name of our LORD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, who was Crucified, and of His Mother the VIRGIN MARY. In this Book are contained certain Little Flowers, Miracles, and devout examples of that glorious poor Follower of Christ, Saint Francis, and of certain of his holy Companions. Told to the Praise of Jesus Christ. Amen." Translated from the Italian, with a Brief Account of the Life of Saint Francis, by Abby Langdon Alger. New edition. With engravings from the painting of Saint Francis by Morello in the Gallery of Milan, and Saint Francis preaching to the Birds from the painting by Giotto. 16mo. Cloth, gilt top. 50 cents.

'Twixt You and Me A Story for Girls

By GRACE LE BARON, author of "Little Miss Faith," "Little Daughter," "The Rosebud Club," and "Queer Janet." With pictures by Ellen Bernard Thompson, and floral decorations by Katharine Pyle. 12mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.50.

THIS new book by an author whose other stories have been written for younger children, will win a warm place in the hearts of girl readers, and its two principal characters, Rosamond and Daisy, are likely to be very popular. The events of the story occur in two summers at the seashore and in two terms at the "Misses Bagley's Fashionable Boarding-School." The author has interwoven with the story a very charming garland of poems of flowers.

A New Book by the Author of "Miss Toosey's Mission"

Belle

By the author of "Miss Toosey's Mission," "Tip Cat," "Our Little Ann," etc. With four illustrations. 16mo. Cloth. $1.00.

By the Same Author, in Uniform Binding.

Miss Toosey's Mission and Laddie			50 cents
Tip Cat	$1.00	Our Little Ann	$1.00
Pen	$1.00	Lil	$1.00
Zoe	60 cents	Pris	50 cents
Rose and Lavender	$1.00	Dear	$1.00
Baby John	50 cents	Pomona	$1.00
Don	$1.00	My Honey	$1.00
For the Fourth Time of Asking			50 cents
15 volumes in box			$12.60

We wish to condense into as few words as possible unqualified admiration for two charming little stories, as wholesome and as delightful as anything of the kind which in a twelvemonth it can possibly fall to our lot to criticise. — The Churchman (notice of "Miss Toosey's Mission" and "Laddie").

Jane Austen's Novels New Edition

With a series of charming frontispiece pictures by Edmund H. Garrett. Printed in beautiful clear type on laid paper, with deckel edge. 12 vols. 16mo. Cloth, extra, gilt top. 75 cents per volume. Also in half crushed morocco, gilt top, $2.25 per volume; half crushed morocco, extra, gilt top, $2.50 per volume.

AN ideal set of the writings of this favorite English novelist, moderate in price, easy to hold in the hand, and satisfying to the eye. It includes a Memoir, Jane Austen's Letters, and several stories which are not contained in other editions, and is the only complete set in the market. The arrangement of the volumes is as follows: —

Sense and Sensibility	2 vols.
Pride and Prejudice	2 vols.
Mansfield Park	2 vols.
Emma	2 vols.
Northanger Abbey	1 vol.
Persuasion	1 vol.
Lady Susan, The Watsons, and Memoir	1 vol.
Letters	1 vol.

I have now read again all Miss Austen's novels; charming they are. There are in the world no compositions which approach nearer to perfection. — Lord Macaulay.

Miss Austen had a talent for describing the involvements and feelings and characters of ordinary life which is to me the most wonderful I ever met with. — Sir Walter Scott.

The many statesmen and thinkers, and the many humorous women who love Miss Austen's books, love them because they find in them a social world like enough to the real world to be for the time eagerly lived in. This is the true charm of Miss Austen. The London Spectator.

Autobiography and Correspondence of Mrs. Delaney New Edition

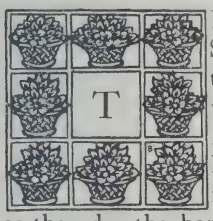
Revised from LADY LLANOVER'S edition, and edited by Sarah Chauncey

A New Volume in "The Young Puritans Series"

The Young Puritans in King Philip's War

A Sequel to "The Young Puritans of Old Hadley"

By MARY P. WELLS SMITH, author of "The Jolly Good Times Series," etc. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. 16mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.25.



THIS is the second volume in "The Young Puritans Series." The author has made a very careful study of the Colonial life and history of the time. Like the first volume of the series, her attempt to depict the life of Puritan children for young people is closely based on historical facts. These volumes should be read carefully and studied by the children of to-day, recounting as they do, the hardships endured by their forefathers and foremothers in the settlement of this country, as well as their devotion, high aims, and religious zeal. The third volume of the series will be devoted to "The Young Puritans in Captivity."

"This story," says the author, "continues the adventures of 'The Young Puritans of Old Hadley,' its object being to make real to young readers the incidents connected with King Philip's War in the Connecticut Valley. It is impossible to study the history of this period without strong impressions of its romance and picturesqueness.

"In these days of war it may be of interest to see how war was conducted by our forefathers, in times when not only were there no railroads, no telegraphs, no rifles, but also no bridges, no roads, save Indian footpaths through the all-surrounding wilderness; in fact, all of what are regarded essentials in modern warfare were lacking. But then, as now, hearts beat high with heroism, and brave youths were prompt to do, to dare, to die — if need be — for home and country."

The Young Puritans of Old Hadley

By MARY P. WELLS SMITH, author of "Jolly Good Times," etc. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. 16mo. Cloth. $1.25.

THIS is the initial volume in "The Young Puritans Series," and shows careful study of the local customs and manners.

It gives a very true and valuable insight into Puritan life, into the life of the adults as well as the children. — Indianapolis Sentinel.

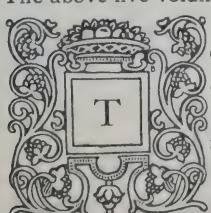
The Young Puritans in King Philip's War. The Young Puritans of Old Hadley. The two volumes, in a box, $2.50.

The Historical Romances of Henryk Sienkiewicz

Author of "Quo Vadis." Authorized Unabridged Translations from the Polish by Jeremiah Curtin. Popular edition. Uniformly bound and issued at a moderate price. Any story sold separately. The set comprises the following: —

"Quo Vadis." With Illustrations. 1 vol.	75 cents.
With Fire and Sword. Illustrated. 1 vol.	$1.00.
The Deluge. 2 vols.	$1.50.
Pan Michael. 1 vol.	75 cents.

The above five volumes, 12mo, cloth, extra, in box, $4.00.



THIS issue of these remarkable works by the author of "Quo Vadis," of which alone more than 600,000 copies have been sold, puts this great series at a price which will undoubtedly insure it the widest popularity and a remarkable sale. Only the historical romances are issued in the Popular Edition, the author's complete writings being obtainable only in the Library Edi-

The Major Tactics of Chess

By FRANKLIN K. YOUNG, author of "Grand Tactics of Chess," "The Minor Tactics of Chess," etc. 8vo. Cloth, gilt. $2.50.

NO one who enjoys chess can afford to be without this book. To those who study the science and to those who merely play the game, it is of equal interest and utility, and for that reason alone it seems likely to become the most popular of Mr. Young's writings.

Literally, this volume is the "Book of Chess-Tricks." Its value to the chess-player will be seen at a glance, when it is stated that nearly three hundred pages are devoted to the simple and concise elucidation of all the known forms of chess stratagems; whereby kindred pawns are queened, hostile pieces won, and the adverse king checkmated.

Like its predecessors by the same author, the text of "Major Tactics" is splendidly and profusely illustrated by diagrams.

By the Same Author

The Grand Tactics of Chess

An Exposition of the Laws and Principles of Chess Strategetics—the Practical Application of these Laws and Principles to the Movement of Forces, Mobilization, Development, Manœuvre, and Operation. By FRANKLIN K. YOUNG. Illustrated with nearly 300 diagrams. 8vo. 478 pages. Cloth, gilt. $3.50.

THIS book inaugurates a new epoch in chess literature; it is the culmination of that theory of chess play of which "The Minor Tactics of Chess" was the rudimentary treatise. The many students of the latter will not only be delighted, but astonished, at the clear, concise, and complete manner in which the theory is carried to its final demonstration.

It presents a complete system of chess play, and the processes by which the greater masters gained their renown are formulated and put into language for the first time. The principles which govern these processes are simply and clearly stated. They comprehend every situation possible on the chess-board, and, given the points occupied by the opposing kings, the proper positions for the remaining pieces are readily detected by the student who has mastered this theory.

The Minor Tactics of Chess

A Treatise on the Deployment of the Forces in Obedience to Strategic Principles. By FRANKLIN K. YOUNG and EDWIN C. HOWELL. 16mo. Cloth, $2.00.

The Story of Gösta Berling

Translated from the Swedish of Selma Lagerlöf, by Pauline Bancroft Flach. 12mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.75.

THE STORY OF GÖSTA BERLING, published in Sweden a few years ago, immediately brought its author into prominence. Its chapters are founded on actual occurrences, and depict life in the province of Värmland at the beginning of the present century. Värmland is a lovely tract in the southern part of Sweden, consisting of great stretches of forest, sloping down to long narrow lakes, connected by rivers. Miss Lagerlöf has grown up in the midst of the wild legends of her country, and, deeply imbued with their spirit, interprets them with a living force all her own. Her efforts have been materially encouraged by the Crown Prince of Sweden, and there is every reason to expect that her genius has not reached its fullest development.

Teddy, Her Book A Story of Sweet Sixteen

By ANNA CHAPIN RAY. Illustrated by Vesper L. George. 12mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.50.

A VERY bright and spirited book for girls and boys. Its scenes are laid chiefly in a New England town and at Smith College. It is believed that "Teddy" (Theodora) and her brothers and sisters and boy friends will be favorites.

Among the Lindens

By EVELYN RAYMOND, author of "The Little Lady of theHorse," "A Cape May Diamond," etc. Illustrated by Victor A. Searles. 12mo. Cloth, gilt. $1.50.

THE scene of Evelyn Raymond's new story is partly in New York and partly in the country "among the lindens." A poor family is assisted by a wealthy friend in the best possible way, — he helps them to help themselves. The youngest boy is the life of the story, something of an amusing and exceedingly lively nature happening to him every day of his life. The children of the story have faults, but strive to correct them, and have healthy and noble ideals of life and character. There is an exceptionally pleasant, homelike atmosphere about the book.

Uniform with the above, each $1.50.

The Count's Snuff-Box A Romance of the War of 1812

By GEORGE R. R. RIVERS, Author of "The Governor's Garden," "Captain Shays, a Populist of 1786," etc. Illustrated by Clyde O. DeLand. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top. $1.50.

THE story of "The Count's Snuff-Box" is founded on an incident of the War of 1812. In January of that year an adventurer, calling himself Count de Crillon, appeared in Washington, and for some weeks was the central social attraction of the capital. He bore letters from prominent members of Napoleon's government to M. Serurier, then Minister from France. His motive was ostensibly to help France, and injure Great Britain and the Federalists, but his real object was to secure money for John Henry's letters. In this he finally succeeded, the United States government purchasing them for fifty thousand dollars. The scenes of the story are

Indian Folk Lore Stories. By Jeremiah Curtin

Creation Myths of Primitive America

in relation to the Religious History and Mental Development of Mankind

By JEREMIAH CURTIN, author of "Myths and Folk Lore of Ireland," etc. Translator of "Quo Vadis" and the works of Henryk Sienkiewicz. Crown 8vo. Cloth. $2.50.

THIS latest book from Jeremiah Curtin is his first on the unwritten mental productions of primitive America. It contains twenty long myths taken down word for word by him from Indians who knew no religion nor language save their own, and the chief of whom had not seen a white man until years of maturity. These myths are all of remarkable beauty and exceptional value; among the more noteworthy is "Olelbis," containing an account of the creation of the heavenly house in the Central Blue, the highest point in the sky above us. In this myth is described also the great World Fire which was extinguished by a flood; and next a reconstruction of the face of the earth, which gave the form existing at present; second, the great tale of Norwan, which, with an incomparably greater wealth of incident, resembles the Helen of Troy story. This tale gives the origin of the first war in the world, not among men, however, but among gods. A woman is the cause, as in Homer's Epic, but this woman, Norwan, is light.

The struggle between the Sun and the Lightning Hero; the stealing of the three Swan Maidens from their father, Wipajusi, by Hakakaina of the North; the great musical contest of the gods at the mansion of Waidadikit; the marvellous wanderings of Nórwanchákus and Kériha; the ascent to the sky of little Lasaswa and his conversation with the sun; the road to immortality, begun by the Hus brothers and interrupted by Sedit, will not soon be forgotten by any reader.

In addition to their intrinsic beauty, these masterpieces of the primitive human mind in America antedate by many ages the earliest forms of thought represented to us in the records of Egypt and Assyria, hence their value may be easily inferred; they explain to us things which were unintelligible to the priests of Egypt and Assyria in the religious systems which they themselves taught and studied.

The volume contains an elaborate introduction and all necessary notes.

I am the King

Being the Account of some Happenings in the Life of Godfrey de Berrac, Crusader Knight. By SHEPPARD STEVENS. 16mo. Cloth, extra. $1.25.

THIS is a romantic story of the days of Saladin and Richard Cœur de Leon. Its author has wrought into it much of the color of the home life of the period and many of the quaint superstitions and folk lore. The scene of the story is in part laid in England and in part in the Holy Land.

Grosvenor's Constantinople. Popular Edition

Constantinople

By EDWIN A. GROSVENOR, Professor of European History at Amherst College, formerly Professor of History at Robert College, Constantinople, Member of the Hellenic Society of Constantinople, of the Society of Mediæval Researches, Constantinople, of the Syllogos Parnassos of Athens, Greece. With an Introduction by General Lew Wallace. Illustrated with nearly 250 full-page plates and pictures in the text of the important places, rulers, and noted people. 2 vols. Royal 8vo. Cloth. $6.00. Half Levant morocco, gilt top. $12.00.

GEN. LEW WALLACE in his Introduction to this work justly terms it "a History of Constantinople which will not merely serve every want of the tourist, student, and general reader, but be indispensable to every library for referential purposes." It has been highly praised by scholars and critics in America and in England, and has had a large sale. Its issue at a very moderate price, taking into account the labor and scholarship bestowed in its preparation and the wealth and beauty of its illustrations, should insure it a wide popularity.

These two sumptuous volumes, with their admirable illustrations of almost everything worth studying in Greek or Turkish antiquities and art, and all the most beautiful views about Stamboul and the Bosphorus, give far the best existing account of their enchanting subject. — Saturday Review.

This work is by far the most satisfactory of Constantinople that has yet appeared in English. — The Nation.

The chief point in such a book is its accuracy, and here the reader may rest assured that he can trust to his guide implicitly. . . . All is greatly helped by the illustrations, which it is impossible to praise too highly, and the general execution of the printing and binding. The illustrations, mostly from photographs, are excellently well chosen. They number two hundred and thirty, and not only present the city very clearly, as it is to-day, but furnish an excellent commentary on the text, such as is not always the case when they are so numerous. No one who carefully goes through the two volumes will fail to join in Gen. Lew Wallace's cordial words in his introduction: "The reader, whether student or traveller, will thank Professor Grosvenor for his book." — New York Times.

Ironclads in Action. Popular Edition in one volume

Ironclads in Action

A Sketch of Naval Warfare, 1855 to 1898. With Some Account of the Development of the Battleship in England. By H. W. WILSON. With Introduction by Capt. A. T. Mahan. Illustrated with 30 maps and plans, and 46 full-page plates. Uniform with Captain Mahan's Works on Sea Power and Life of Nelson. New edition, in one volume. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $4.00.

A NEW edition of this very important work upon battle-ships of the time and their development in the last half-century. It contains substantially all the information in the more expensive two-volume edition, and includes additional chapters giving accounts of the recent victories of the American Navy over that of Spain.

New volumes in the Badminton Library of Sports and Pastimes

Rowing Athletics Football

Crown 8vo. Cloth. $3.50 per volume.
Half blue Morocco, gilt top. $5.00 per volume.

THESE three books, which will be published during the autumn of 1898, will take the place of the two volumes heretofore issued in the Badminton Library under the titles of "Boating," and "Athletics and Football." The first named has been entirely rewritten by such experts as R. P. P. Rowe, C. M. Pitman, C. P. Serocold, etc., while the others are not only expanded from the single volume which undertook to cover two important branches of sport, but are likewise entirely rewritten. They are issued, in common with the entire Series, under the general direction of the Duke of Beaufort, and are profusely illustrated.

INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY

By SIDNEY and BEATRICE WEBB

With 2 Diagrams, 2 vols., 8vo, 958 pages, $8.00

"For wealth of material and clearness of presentation there are few works on sociology to be compared with these volumes."—OUTLOOK, N. Y.

"Careful analysis of facts, broad generalizations, subtle reasoning, and genuine insight into the spirit and machinery of democratic institutions are to be found in these two volumes. They are likely to form one of the most important text-books for the publicist for many a long year to come."—LEEDS MERCURY.

"Such an inside view of the aims and methods of modern Trade Unionism has never before been furnished to the public . . . indispensable to the legislator, the journalist, and the social student. . . . The tone and temper of the book is excellent . . . there is no endeavor to suppress inconvenient facts. . . . The authors have provided such an ample array of facts, so carefully collated and arranged, that even the general reader can find interest in a subject which has hitherto been attractive in inverse proportion to its importance."—ACADEMY, 22d January, 1898.

"There is no question as to the excellence of the new work. . . . 'Industrial Democracy' and 'The History of Trade Unionism' are examples of an order of literature in which sociology is poor; facts collected with as much care as a naturalist would show in exploring the flora and fauna of a new region; statements of importance made at first hand; chapter and verse as a rule given for the authors' assertions; and from time to time admissions making against their conclusions."—LITERATURE, 8th January, 1898.

"It contains all the facts in reference to Trade Unionism which are needed by the politician, the journalist, and the employer. . . . The well-thought-out doctrine of this book will exercise a marked influence for some years upon the industrial democracy of which it treats. . . . We must conclude as we began, by recommending to the legislator, the economist, the employer, and the workman a book . . . eminently calculated to make men think."—ATHENÆUM, 8th January, 1898.

"Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webb are entitled to the gratitude of all political economists and practical politicians, as well as of all citizens who are directly or even indirectly concerned in the great question of the government of trade organizations. Here is a body of evidence and of analytical argument upon the structure, the functions, and the theory of trade unions, which is at once scientific in its critical treatment of the subject, comprehensive in its investigations, lucid in its statements, and satisfactory in its conclusions."
—DAILY MAIL.

"It is not too much to say that these two volumes, the sequel and complement to the 'History of Trade Unionism,' published by the same authors in 1894, contain amongst other things by far the most complete and authoritative exposition that has been collected yet of the facts which go to make the histories of trade unions. . . . No single book of which we are aware is calculated to afford nearly so much aid as these volumes will give to the thoughtful student of one of the most vital questions with which our generation must grapple. In a word, the book is invaluable, if it be used rightly. . . . We commend to the public a book which is a monument of research and full of candor, which is indispensable to every publicist and politician, a book which, when it is studied in a watchful spirit, is of great value."—TIMES.

"The work now published is truly to be called a masterpiece for its laborious collection of fact, its patient and lucid narration, and its acute and suggestive reasoning."
—DUNDEE ADVERTISER.

"To do justice to it is impossible without a lengthy account of the mass of facts on which it is based. But we may hope that its originality and profound practical significance may have been made in some small degree apparent."—MANCHESTER GUARDIAN.

"This is the most complete account of trade unions and trade unionism that has ever been given to the world. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webb have made the subject their own. . . . It is an attempt—and, we think, a very successful attempt to deal with a great social phenomenon in a scientific spirit. It is, therefore, not history, but analysis; not current literature, but a lasting contribution to sociology, or the science of society."
—DAILY NEWS.

BY THE SAME AUTHORS.

THE HISTORY OF TRADE UNIONISM. With Map and full Bibliography of the Subject.

8vo, 574 pages, $5.00.

"A book of first-class importance. The authors are admirably qualified for their task, and their book will become a classic in the library of labor."—REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED BY NAMES OF AUTHORS.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN VAUGHAN, LL.D.

The Travelling Law School. 12mo, $1.00.

The author employs the method of a journey from Boston to New York, Philadelphia, and Washington for giving rudimentary lessons in government and law. The book also contains "Famous Trials," twelve short and simple narratives.

"Is intended chiefly for the use of young readers, but there is much in it which may be profitably read by almost anybody outside of the legal profession." — Chicago Times.

ADAMS, EMILY.

Six Months at Mrs. Prior's. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

"A widow with scanty means makes a home happy for a group of children. The influence of the Christian household is widely felt, and the quiet transforming leaven works in many homes." — The United Presbyterian.

ADAMS, OSCAR FAY.

Dear Old Story-Tellers. 12mo, $1.00.

Fascinating biographies of twelve popular children's authors.

Poets' Year (The). Edited. Oblong quarto, gold cloth, $6.00; full morocco, $10.00.

A sumptuous presentation of some of the best and choicest poems, descriptive of Nature in her varying moods.

Post-Laureate Idyls. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00.

Through the Year with the Poets. Edited. 16mo, finely illustrated, each half-vegetable parchment, $1.00; cloth, $.75; half morocco, $1.50; half calf, $1.75.

JANUARY.	MAY.	SEPTEMBER.
FEBRUARY.	JUNE.	OCTOBER.
MARCH.	JULY.	NOVEMBER.
APRIL.	AUGUST.	DECEMBER.

"Its editor has not attempted a compilation of month-poetry solely. The field he has sought to occupy is a wider one, and includes the verse expressing the relation of the mind of man to the varying seasons, and representing the aspects of nature from month to month." — Preface.

"Mr. Adams has been far from confining himself to a ransacking of anthologies. He has evidently made a close and thorough study and search through contemporary and especially periodical literature, and it is due the editor to recognize that the originality of the idea has been equalled by the skill of its execution." — Christian Union.

ADAMS, ROBERT C.

History of England in Rhyme. 16mo, $.50.

History of the United States in Rhyme. 16mo, $.50.

On Board the Rocket. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A series of blue-water yarns, spun by an old sailor, who makes as effective use of the pen as the mate of a Liverpool liner — in the days when sails ruled — did of the belaying pin.

AIDS TO ENDEAVOR. 12mo, $.75; gilt edges, $1.00. Introduction by Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D.

A handbook for the use of members of the Y. P. S. C. E., and a splendid volume for the home table.

ALDEN, MRS. G. R. (PANSY).

"I understand, I think, the reasons for the perennial popularity of the 'Pansy books.' They waken the music of the noble chords of the soul. In their influence, as compared with that of the usual Sunday-school book or work of light fiction, lies the difference that exists between waltz and oratorio." — S. K. BOLTON.

Bernie's White Chicken. 16mo, illustrated, $.60.

Browning Boys (The). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

The story of two poor boys who desire to do something to help keep the family together. What they achieve, both through their own earnest efforts, and through the trust they learn to place in a higher power, is well told. Each chapter aims to illustrate a Bible text.

Chautauqua Girls at Home (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"These young ladies in their developing lives represent four classes of Christians. Social amusements for Christians, the Sunday-school — in short, the whole case of spiritually dead churches is diagnosticated, and the reviving remedies prescribed." — Christian Advocate, N.Y.

Chrissy's Endeavor. 12mo, $1.50.

The experience of a bright society girl who joins the Christian Endeavor Society.

Christie's Christmas. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"Christie's parents, by dint of much careful planning, are able to send her for her Christmas to Uncle Daniel's. The precious hours are spent in the weather-bound train; yet they are well improved, and the happy results of that day's usefulness fill this book." — Watchman.

Cunning Workmen. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Docia's Journal. 16mo, illustrated, $.60.

Dozen of Them (A). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

"A Sunday-school story, written in Pansy's best vein, and having for its hero a twelve-year-old boy who has been thrown upon the world by the death of his parents. An excellent book for the Sunday-school." — Christian Standard, Cincinnati.

Eighty-Seven. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It was written especially for the members of the Chautauqua class of '87. It is a bright, healthful, encouraging story, practical and impressive, and it deserves, and will secure, a wide popularity." — Congregationalist.

Endless Chain (An). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It gives us a picture of a model Sunday-school superintendent, who combined tenderness and patience with firmness, who watched for souls as one who must give account, and was rewarded by bringing many to the Saviour whom he so earnestly loved." — Religious Herald, Richmond.

Ester Ried. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"'Ester Ried' is a pure, beautiful story of a religious tone. The volume makes one happy, perhaps because of its fidelity to the every-day life of the average man and woman; perhaps one feels the sweet spirit that emanates from its pages. It is a good book. Goodness always wins." — San José Mercury.

Ester Ried Yet Speaking. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A story of missionary labors among the very poorest and most degraded. The moral of the book is that the influence of a fine character does not end with death." — Literary News.

Exact Truth (The). 12mo, $.50.

Girls of thirteen and upwards will thoroughly enjoy this bright girls' book, in which the heroine tells her story by means of an entertaining diary.

Five Friends. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Four Girls at Chautauqua. 12mo, illustrated. $1.50.

Four girls, full of fun, but each with peculiar depths of character, encounter life's most profound experiences and changes during their fortnight at a beautiful summer resort.

"Its appearance created a genuine sensation. The originality and freshness which characterized it, attracted scores of readers where the author had had but one before, and a demand for the book arose all over the country. The religious newspapers accorded it an enthusiastic welcome, and the secular press was warm in its praise." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Gertrude's Diary. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Getting Ahead. 12mo, illustrated, $.60.

Glimpses of Girlhood. 12mo, $.50.

Grandpa's Darlings. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Hall in The Grove. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It shows what joining the Chautauqua 'Circles' did for a group of miscellaneous people living in the same town. The story is cheerful, energetic, and enthusiastic." — Woman's Journal.

Hedge Fence (A). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

"The story of the haps and mishaps of the typical boy whose purposes are good, but whose impetuosity plunges him into all kinds of mischief, as the boy himself expresses it, 'before he knows it.' Pansy tells us how the hero of her story found a hedge which stood between him and mischief. The book will benefit and please every boy who reads it, or to whom it is read." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Helen Lester; to which is added NANNIE'S EXPERIMENT. 16mo, illustrated, $.60.

Helen the Historian. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

In the story of "Helen the Historian," the heroine is a little sick child, incurably ill in a city hospital, and her greatest delight is to gather around her couch every Sunday morning the less favored children of the hospital, and to tell them, in her own simple, childish way, the story of the Sunday-school lesson.

Her Associate Members. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The seed sown in Chrissy Hollister's heart by the Christian Endeavor Society of the little town where she was visiting, takes deeper root and spreads and blossoms over the community where her early married life is passed. The story is told with all the vividness and life-like interest with which Pansy invests even the commonplace aspects of human nature.

Her Mother's Bible. 12mo, $.50.

A Bible that contains what every other Bible does and a money legacy beside.

Household Puzzles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Interrupted. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The story has for its central character Claire Benedict, a young woman of good heart and noble aims, whose plans and prospects for the future are suddenly interrupted by adverse fortune. She adapts herself to circumstances however, and shows that she can still be active in good works though in a more circumscribed way." — Central Christian Advocate.

In The Woods and Out. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A score or more of Pansy's best stories make up this little book.

Jessie Wells; or, HOW TO SAVE THE LOST. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

A story of the struggles of a Christian girl in attaining a complete renunciation.

Judge Burnham's Daughters. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

In the "Judge's Daughters" we renew the acquaintance of Ruth Erskine, one of the Chautauqua girls, and are given bright glimpses of Marion, now a pastor's wife. It gives a faithful picture of the emptiness of home life where father and mother are not in religious sympathy. As an analysis of a Christian mother's motives and feelings it is especially fine.

Julia Ried. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The story of a young girl, who, at the age of sixteen, went out into the world to earn an honest living, and to fight the battles of life. She kept the books of a box factory, and by a strange chance boarded with an aristocratic family. The result was many a conflict between duty and pleasure." — The Baptist.

King's Daughter (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Links in Rebecca's Life. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The Golden Texts of the International Lessons for the year become each in turn a link in the chain of the heroine's religious life; drawing her closer to the Saviour, and becoming incorporated into her inmost experience and growth. It will be an example and inspiration to young girls." — The Advance, Chicago.

Little Card (The). 12mo, $.50.

One of the most irresistible stories by which Mrs. Alden enforces the truth and power of the Golden Texts in her own peculiarly magnetic way.

Little Fishers and Their Nets. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A home degraded by intemperance. Two faithful little "fishers," Nan and Jerry, bring to that home even more than its former happiness.

"The characterization of the story is vivid, impressive, and always well sustained, while the moral lessons are remarkably forcible." — Chicago Interior.

Man of The House (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The Man of the House" is a boy of ten, who after his father's death cares for his mother and sister.

Mary Burton Abroad. 12mo, illustrated. $.60.

Miss Dee Dunmore Bryant. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Miss Priscilla Hunter and My Daughter Susan. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Miss Priscilla Hunter was a young person who took upon herself the task of raising money to pay off the church debt, and the author describes in a charming manner her struggles and final success." — The Pilot, Boston.

Monteagle. 16mo, illustrated, $.60.

A pale, hollow-eyed little girl, emaciated by fever, in scorching July weather among the crowded tenements of of a Southern city is, thanks to a lady's kindness, given a chance to know Monteagle, with its pure, bracing mountain air, and the good she did was greater perhaps than the good she got.

Mrs. Harry Harper's Awakening. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Mrs. Solomon Smith Looking On. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Mrs. Solomon Smith is an old lady from the country who visits the city, attends a Sunday-school convention, and goes the rounds among her relatives, "looking on" to see what is being done in the great outside world to which she is unaccustomed.

New Graft on The Family Tree (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"Let not older ones suppose this book designed for children only; for they may be instructed quite as much as the young. The circumstances and the achievements of this story are not overdrawn; its characters are often met with in real life, and the scene may lie more or less in every family." — The Independent, New York.

New Year's Tangles. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Next Things. 12mo, fully illustrated, $.75.

A story for little folks.

One Commonplace Day. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"For a novel avowedly written with a purpose in view, 'One Commonplace Day' must be pronounced a success." — Public Opinion, London.

Only Ten Cents. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

This is one of "Pansy's" stories that has that peculiar touch which is both fascinating and stimulating to the old as well as the young. It shows how great good a little thing may do.

Pansies. 12mo, illustrated, $.60.

Pansy (The). Bound Volumes. Boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75. Edited by Mrs. G. R. Alden.

The Pansy is an illustrated monthly containing from thirty-five to forty pages of reading matter. It is devoted to young folks from eight to fifteen years, and its contributors are among the best writers for the young. It is as fragrant and bright-eyed as its namesake-flower. The same enduring daintiness and cheery quality belong to both book and blossom. Many story volumes are gathered between its handsome covers.

Prince of Peace (The): A Life of Christ. By Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy). With more than 200 illustrations. 4to, cloth, $3.50; gilt edges, $4.00; leather, gilt edges, $5.00.

This book is the result of a life-study of the character and teachings of Jesus by one who by her stories has been eminently successful in leading young people to seek and follow the path that leads to the Saviour.

Pansy's Scrap Book. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Pansy's Stories of American History. Edited. 4to, boards, with tinted frontispiece, $1.00.

Pansy's Story Book. 4to, illustrated, boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75.

Pocket Measure (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The duty of giving according to one's means to church and charity, and of consistent Christian daily living, is the theme of the book. . . . Church missions and church debts figure prominently, and several sharp thrusts are dealt at modern methods of conducting the former and paying the latter." — Chicago Interior.

Randolphs (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A continuation of "Wise and Otherwise."

"It is written in that style which has given the author a well-deserved reputation as a writer, and is full of bright and sparkling thoughts." — Dayton Life Boat.

Ruth Erskine's Crosses. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"This is the continuance of the 'Chautauqua Girls,' and breathes the same aroma of beauty of thought and subtle charm as the author's previous stories." — Pittsburg Telegraph.

Side by Side. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Sidney Martin's Christmas. 12mo, illustrated. $1.25.

"A splendidly illustrated volume of six hundred pages. It consists of a series of stories written with a special adaptation to the Christmas season, and all of them are specially suited to cosey fireside reading." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Six Little Girls. 12mo, illustrated. $.60.

They were really a miniature Society of Christian Endeavor with both active and associate members, but did not bear the name, for it had not then been invented. Pansy here evinces a fine appreciation of some of the phases of child-religion.

Six O'Clock in The Evening. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Not six o'clock every evening, but every Saturday evening. This was grandma's hour with the children, and nothing was allowed to interfere with it. She always told them a story about some verse in the Bible. Here are a part of them in print. They are the next best thing to a real grandma for little folks who have none of their own.

Some Young Heroines. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Spun From Fact. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A young girl, Jeannie Bartlett, through a long and painful illness became, as was supposed, crippled for life. A time is set for a season of united prayer in the sick room. One eager, heartfelt prayer follows another; and at the close the invalid, full of faith, and endowed with a new and wonderful strength, rises to her feet and walks with a firm step across the floor.

"In the minor details of this book, I have had of necessity to draw somewhat on my imagination; but every item of importance, every reference to prayer as a constant factor in this life, every account of answer to prayer, however improbable in its sound, is strict truth." — PANSY.

Stephen Mitchell's Journey. 12mo, $1.50.

"Pansy's earnestness and fervor are magnetic; and readers of all religious sects, and of no creed, are charmed by her strong, helpful stories." — Home Journal, Boston.

Stories and Pictures From The Life of Jesus. 12mo, 24 full-page illustrations, by Bida, $.50.

The birth, life, teachings, death, and resurrection of Christ as recorded in the four Gospels, simplified and unified for children.

Stories Told for a Purpose. 12mo, $.60.

A collection of Pansy's short stories, and very delightful they are. Pansy can put a volume of wisdom into a short story, and make it so bright and magnetic that the children will all wish it was longer.

Three People. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A temperance story of great power and interest. The book details the experience of three boys born under vastly different circumstances. As they grow to manhood they are sorely tempted and sometimes yield; but when they learn to lean not on themselves, but on God, they gain a lasting victory. The story is especially valuable in that it describes the different forms which the drink temptation may assume.

Tip Lewis and His Lamp. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

This capital story was one of the first from Pansy's prolific pen; and so bright was it, so pure and so healthy in tone, that it sprang at once into popularity. The story is deeply interesting, the style is fascinating, and the lesson it teaches is skilfully mingled with the incident.

Twenty Minutes Late. 12mo, $1.50.

The title only indicates the accidental cause out of which came potent results for good, the young heroine rising superior to circumstances, and unconsciously making a great change in the lives of others.

Two Boys. Choice stories in large print, with numerons full-page pictures. 12mo, $.60.

"Wanted." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The moral of this story is two-fold: an exposure of the horrid effect of the opium habit, and a plea for stepmothers. The plot is well-developed, the characters are well-drawn, and the interest keenly sustained until the end.

We Twelve Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

What She Said and What She Meant, and People Who Haven't Time and Can't Afford It. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"It shows under the form of a story what serious consequences may result from lightly considered words, and how the habit of enlarging and commenting upon careless or thoughtless expressions may endanger friendships, create strife, and turn good feeling into bitterness." — Boston Book Bulletin.

What They Couldn't. A home story. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

A characteristic and natural story of the ups and downs, the awakenings and re-awakenings, of an average family amid average surroundings, with their emancipation from the selfish and thoughtless views of duty into the higher and nobler appreciation of life and its obligations. A book that will do good; a book to be read; a book that will be read.

Wise and Otherwise. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A continuation of the lives of the characters in "Ester Ried" and "Julia Ried."

For Mrs. Alden's latest works (since 1895), see List of New Books, pages 54-58.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY), and FAYE HUNTINGTON.

Dr. Deane's Way, and Other Stories. 12mo, $1.00.

From Different Standpoints. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Modern Prophets. Interesting and effective Temperance stories for the times. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

That Boy Bob. 12mo, $.60.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY) and Mrs. LIVINGSTON.

Aunt Hannah, and Martha, and John. 12mo, $1.50.

The story has to do with the trials, joys, and perplexities of a minister's life, and is decidedly pointed, graphic, and full of interest. Both pastor and people will find valuable suggestions and food for thought.

Divers Women. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

John Remington, Martyr. 12mo, $1.50.

The hero of this stirring story is a brave, earnest, conscientious minister who has "the courage of his convictions," and in spite of opposition, is not afraid to speak his mind on intemperance and kindred evils.

Profiles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

A collection of stories for boys and girls of about twelve or fourteen. Six are from Mrs. Alden's pen, seven from Mrs. Livingston's.

"Each story is bright and attractive, and each will be pronounced the best ever told by its popular writer until the next one is finished. We would give the work additional praise if we knew how." — Chicago Interior.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY) and Others.

At Home and Abroad. 12mo, $.75.

Short stories of life in this and other countries. Just the book for spare minutes when there is not time for a long story. The dainty cover, with its purple pansies and golden ferns, is a delight in itself.

Bobby's Wolf and Other Stories. Fully illustrated, 12mo, $.75.

Here is a collection of bright stories such as boys and girls enjoy; stories culled with loving judgment from the pages of that model magazine for young folks, The Pansy, which will prove a mine of enjoyment to the boy or girl into whose hands they may fall. They are not one whit less entertaining from the earnest thought that runs through them all.

Sevenfold Trouble (A). 12mo, $1.50.

Worth Having. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Strong, terse, bright, and helpful. Just such stories as help boys and girls to be true men and women.

Young Folks Worth Knowing. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

ALDEN, G. R. (A. C. ROSSENBERG).

Glimpses of Boyhood. 12mo, $.50.

ALDEN, RAYMOND M.

A World of Little People. illustrated, 12mo, $.50.

In this little volume the author gives an exhaustive description of ant-life, making the ants themselves the characters of the story, and the ant-hills of the various tribes the scenes of the incidents described. Incidentally there is a good deal of interesting information given about other insects and their curious habits.

ALDEN, W. L.

Loss of the Swansea. 12mo, $1.00.

The story of two plucky boys' adventure amid shipwreck, pirates, and Indians. Told by the author of the famous "Adventures of Jimmy Brown."

ALLEN, FRED. H.

Columbus; or, THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Cortes; or, THE DISCOVERY AND CONQUEST OF MEXICO. Edited. With a brief sketch of the more recent history of the country. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Pizarro; or, THE CONQUEST OF PERU. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

ALLEN, GRANT.

Common-Sense Science. 12mo, $1.25.

"It will do equally for the professional naturalist, the reader who seeks a pleasant entertainment, and the happy young men and women who want an introduction to the study of nature. Mr. Allen is fully abreast of natural history — not a slight achievement — and he is one of the most delightful essayists of our time, combining German scholarship with British sense and French grace." — Boston Beacon.

"No more thought-compelling book can be placed in the hands of an intelligent, ambitious young man or woman than this." — Chicago Tribun

Wednesday the Tenth. A tale of the South Pacific. 12mo, $.75.

A thrilling boy's story of hardship and adventure and fortunate deliverance among the islands of the Southern Pacific Ocean.

ALLEN, STANTON P.

Down in Dixie. Illustrated by H. G. Laskey. Cloth, $1.50.

One of the brightest, most direct, realistic, stirring, and entertaining accounts of the daily life of the soldier boys of '61 that has yet been written. It gives the details of life in a cavalry regiment from Bull Run to Appomattox, and is bubbling over with fun, while at the same time the pathos and patriotism of the old war days find practical expression. The notes of the bugle, the tramp of war horses, the rush of the battle-field, and the stir of the camp live in all its pages.

ALLEN, WILLIS BOYD.

"Mr. Willis Boyd Allen is one of our finest writers of juvenile fiction. There is an open frankness in Mr. Allen's characters which render them quite as novel as they are interesting, and his simplicity of style makes the whole story as fresh and breezy as the pine woods themselves." — Boston Herald.

Camp and Tramp Series. Including LOST IN UMBAGOG, THE MAMMOTH HUNTERS.

Cloud and Cliff. 12mo, $1.00.

Summer days at the White Mountains; plenty of incident, fun, and romance.

Gulf and Glacier. The Percivals in Alaska. 12mo, $1.00.

The jolly party of young people who have camped out in the woods of Maine, and along the seashore at the Isles of Shoals, or among the mountains of New Hampshire, now extend their excursion to Alaska, where they see even more novel sights, and undertake more perilous trips.

John Brownlow's Folks. 12mo, $1.00.

John Brownlow's Folks are a simple-hearted country family who have moved up to the city (Boston), but retain many characteristics of rural life.

Kelp. A story of the Isles of Shoals. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

This is another in the Pine Cone Series, and introduces the same characters. Their adventures are now on a lonely little island, one of the Shoals, where they camp out and have a glorious time, not unmarked by certain perilous episodes which heighten the interest of the story. It is really the best of a series of which all are delightful reading for young people.

"It is a healthful, clean, bright book, which will make the blood course healthfully through the veins of young readers." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Lion City of Africa (The). Cloth, $1.50.

A tale of adventure in Central Africa, full of interesting description and exciting narrative. A story of savages, dwarfs, exploration, and discovery.

Lost on Umbagog. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $.75.

A story of how four boys, who camped out during their mid-winter vacation, got snowed in, and the adventures they had with bears and outlaws. Intensely interesting.

Mammoth Hunters (The). An Alaskan story. Illustrated by Hatfield. 12mo, $.75.

This is the second volume in the delightful "Camp and Tramp Series." Three boys go to Alaska to search for prehistoric ivory, and there discover an enormous mammoth of the antediluvian days. The story of their adventures is stirring from the start, and is sure to attract and enlighten all lovers of stories of incident, accident, and successful effort.

Northern Cross (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"'The Northern Cross,' a story of the Boston Latin School, by Willis Boyd Allen, is a capital book for boys. Beginning with a drill upon Boston Common, the book continues with many incidents of school life. There are recitations, with their successes and failures, drills, and exhibitions. Over all is Dr. Francis Gardner, the stern, eccentric, warm-hearted head master, whom once to meet was to remember forever! The idea of the Northern Cross for young crusaders gives an imaginary tinge to the healthy realism." — Boston Journal.

Pine Cone Series. Including PINE CONES, SILVER RAGS, NORTHERN CROSS, CLOUD AND CLIFF, KELP, GULF AND GLACIER.

Pine Cones. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"'Pine Cones' sketches the adventures of a dozen wide-awake boys and girls in the woods, along the streams, and over the mountains. It is good, wholesome reading that will make boys nobler and girls gentler. It is a breezy, joyous, entertaining book, and we commend it to our young readers." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Silver Rags. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

'Silver Rags' is a continuation of 'Pine Cones,' and is quite as delightful reading as its predecessor.

For Mr. Allen's latest works (since 1895), see List of New Books, pages 54-58.

AMBROSI, MARIETTA.

Italian Child-Life. 12mo, $.75.

Marietta was a real Italian child, whose parents lived for a time in America, but afterwards returned to Italy. Her naïve descriptions of home life, the curious incidents which have such a delicious foreign flavor, the games, the fêtes, the friends she associated with, are all true to the life.

ANDERSEN, HANS CHRISTIAN.

Fairy Tales. 12mo, $.75.

ATHLETICS (THE BOOK OF). A practical book of directions for lovers of amateur out-of-door athletics, prepared by well-known amateurs and college team-captains. 8vo, fully illustrated, $1.50. Edited by Norman W. Bingham, Jr., manager of the Mott Haven Team, 1895.

A book that every one who loves sport will wish to have. It covers points and directions by experts and famous amateurs on the leading athletic sports, — football, base-ball, tennis, golf, sprinting, and track athleties, cricket, croquet, bicycling, yachting, etc. No other book occupies precisely the field that this fills.

ATKINSON, MARY E.

Hester's Happy Summer. One of the $500 Prize Stories. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Rose and Millie. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A pretty picture of domestic life, the two heroines forming a contrast throughout which carries with it lessons in thoughtfulness, delicacy, and consideration for others. Such books do much to disarm selfishness, and bring into every-day use the sweetness and grace that are in every child's nature.

ARNOLD, EDWIN.

Birthday Book. Edited by the poet's daughters. 24mo, gilt edges, $1.25; morocco, $2.50;

It contains an autograph introductory poem by Edwin Arnold, and choice quotations from his poems for every day. The many admirers of the "Light of Asia" will gladly welcome this graceful souvenir of the author, which is handsomely illustrated and daintily finished. Mr. Arnold contributes an original poem for each month.

BAILY, Rev. THOMAS L.

Only Me. 12mo, $1.00.

"A half-starved, half-frozen boy is taken home by a watchman, and the story follows him through early years and through his experience as bound boy on a farm, and his subsequent starting in life in a store in the city where he rises to be confidential clerk, and at last partner in the firm." — National Baptist, Phila.

Possibilities. 12mo, $.75.

A new teacher, with a mind and method of her own, is engaged for a term for a country school; and she sets at work with a determination to revolutionize the existing condition of things. It requires a good deal of tact and management to enlist parents and pupils in her plans; but she does it by quiet persistence, and the end of the term sees not only a remarkable change in the school, but in the village itself.

BAINBRIDGE, ELIZABETH G.

Schoolroom Games and Exercises. Compiled and written. 135 pages, cloth, $1.00.

It contains a large number of devices for awakening interest in geography and history, spelling, and composition, arithmetic, special hours and days, calisthenics, and twenty-nine puzzles and problems with key. Useful and entertaining, not only for the school, but for the home and social circle.

BAKER, ELLA M.

Rite Hollis. A delightful holiday book. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

Seven Easter Lilies. 12mo, $1.25.

A story for girls, pure, sweet, and full of encouragement. The story tells what became of seven Easter lilies which were tended by as many different hands in different homes, and how they affected those homes by the silent lessons they taught.

Soldier and Servant. 12mo, $1.25.

"A pretty and helpful story of girl life. Six or seven girls band themselves together to cultivate their talents in the best possible manner, and to let their light shine whenever and wherever they can. The girls vary greatly, but each one is determined to do her best with the material that the Lord has given her. Their several successes and failures are told, and many lessons are drawn from their work." — Golden Rule, Boston.

BAMFORD, MARY E.

Look-About Club. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

"The Look-About Club is a party of children who know very little about natural history. They form a little natural history club with the aim of finding out new facts about animals, insects, and other living creatures, and their father presides over their investigations, rendering occasional advice and instruction. The book is very bright and readable, and crammed with curious facts illustrative of the intelligence of the lower orders of animal life." — Boston Times.

"It is pleasantly written, and is among the best of the books we have seen which are intended to interest small children in natural history." — The Nation, New York.

My Land and Water Friends. 4to, cloth, $1.25. Nearly two hundred original drawings by L. J. Bridgman.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

An out-door book giving delicious little accounts of strange and familiar creatures.

"She has not only imparted a vast deal of intensely interesting information about the common insects and animals which we meet with every day, but by making them tell their own story she has invested them with a personality which will make children more humane in their treatment of them." — Boston Transcript.

Second Year of The Look-About Club (The). 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

The Look-About Club, grown wiser and more observing by the first year's experience in the study of natural history, take up the work of the second year with a zest that brings them a large measure of success.

BELL, Mrs. LUCIA CHASE.

True Blue. 12mo, 10 illustrations by Merrill. $1.25.

The scene is laid in the far West, and the incidents are such as could only occur in a newly developed country, where even children are taught to depend upon themselves.

"Doe, the warm-hearted impulsive heroine of the story, is an original character, and one whose ways are well worth copying by those who read her adventures and experiences." — Detroit Post.

BENEDICT, ANNE K.

My Wonder Story. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

"If a child happens to ask a question about his own bones, or about muscles and nerves, etc., the father and mother are wise indeed if they are able to give him exact information. But this book will do it, and that, too, without the use of many technical or scientific terms. It is a simple, plain recital of how an imaginary mother explained to her Jack and Florence all they cared or needed to know concerning the structure of the human frame." — Chicago Interior.

BAXTER, Rev. RICHARD.

Saints' Rest. 16mo, $1.00.

A popular edition of one of the religious classics.

BENJAMIN, S. G. W.

Our American Artists. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

An enticing volume of sprightly biographic sketches of a dozen of our rising and risen painters. These are illustrated with portraits and with fine engravings of the painters' studios, and specimens of their work, the pictures being made especially for the series, and many of them from designs by the artists whom the articles represent. These are William H. Beard, Albert F. Bellows, Robert Swain Gifford, William M. Chase, the late Sanford R. Gifford, Walter Shirlaw, John J. Enneking, Thomas W. Wood, Samuel Coleman, Wordsworth Thompson, George L. Brown, and David Neal.

BENNETT, SARAH E.

Living Leaves. Arranged. 24mo, cloth, $.50.

BENTON, MRS. J. R.

How to Cook Well. 12mo, $1.25.

This thoroughly practical cook-book will be warmly welcomed by all housekeepers, who will find it a valuable aid and guide in the kitchen. The writer has aimed not only to give a large collection of valuable receipts, but also to teach cooking, and likewise, by arranging departments for Breakfast, Luncheon, Dinner, and Tea, to present suggestions to those housekeepers who find themselves taxed to make variety in the different meals. The style of cooking is for the most part adapted to people of moderate means, and especial attention has been paid to showing how to use remnants from a former meal in a tempting manner. Full index.

BERRY, ABEL B.

Last Penacook (The). A Tale of Provincial Times. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

It takes the reader back to the period just before the Revolutionary war. A member of the once powerful Indian tribe of the Penacooks plays a prominent part in the story. The main interest hinges on the stealing of a child, the heir to a large property, and her discovery years afterward on one of the small islands in Lake Winnepesaukee. A number of historical characters are introduced, the principal being Governor John Wentworth, the younger, of Portsmouth, N. H.

"The single Indian whose fidelity it records is a character that deserves to rank with Cooper's 'Uncas, the Last of the Mohicans.'" — Boston Budget.

BINGHAM, NORMAN W., Editor.

See ATHLETICS (The Book of).

BISBEE, MARIANA M.

Tent V. Chautauqua. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Mollie, Marjorie, and Frank Van Amringes take a great fancy to spending a summer at Chautauqua, through reading Pansy's "Hall in the Grove." Their mother is finally infected with their enthusiasm, and it is decided the family shall summer there in place of Saratoga or Newport. The father's illness at the last moment prevents the mother going, and the children are permitted to travel to Chautauqua alone, in charge of Mollie, the eldest.

BISBEE, MRS. SUSIE A.

Ben Gilbert's Victory. 12mo, $.50.

"Ben is an orphan, whose home, after his twelfth year, is with an uncle and aunt. His victory is gained by overcoming the aunt's established prejudice against boys, whom she considers in the light of irresponsible mischief-makers." — Sunday-School Times, Phila.

Daisy Green Stories (The). 12mo, $.50.

A mother's account of her own Daisy's goings on. The author confesses as much.

"Many mothers will smile in turning over its pages to find things which they might have written out of their experiences and memories, so much are children alike." — San José Times.

Milly's Little Wanderer. 12mo, $1.25.

A sweet story, sweetly told, of how a loving and lovable little girl welcomed a less fortunate one to her heart and house, thus bringing a blessing upon herself and her parents." — School Journal, New York.

BISCOE, ELLEN L.

Glimpses Through. ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Katherine's Experience. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The story of a conflict between human love and love for God. It was a hard battle for a young soul to fight, but strength was given from above and right came off victor. The result was that human and divine love came at length into harmony. Katty was repaid sevenfold for her past grief.

BLACK, ALEXANDER.

Ohio, Story of. 8vo, $1.50; half-leather. Illustrated by Bridgman. $2.00.

Rich in poetic gems and exquisite illustrations of scenes from Wordsworth.

Superior to Circumstances. 12mo, $1.25.

An orphan girl loses her inheritance through the fault of a drug-besotted uncle. Breadwinning becomes a necessity. The issue is squarely met, and success follows.

BLAKE, MARY.

Helps for Home-Makers; or, Twenty-Six Hours a Day. 12mo, $.75

Some of the chapters of this volume attracted much attention in Scribner's Magazine. At the request of heads of households and those interested in home matters, they are now first published in book form with new matter.

BLAKE, E. VINTON.

Dalzells of Daisydown (The). 12mo, $1.50.

A fascinating recital of the glorious larks of the school life, vacation life, and home life of a girl and three jolly genuine boys. One of the brightest, breeziest, and best of all the books for young people.

BOLTON, SARAH K.

How Success is Won. 12mo, $1.00.

A fine portrait accompanies each biography.

"Short sketches of the lives of Peter Cooper, Johns Hopkins, the poet Whittier, William Hunt, Thomas Edison, Gough, John Wanamaker, and a few others. No better book could be put into the hands of young people." — Boston Traveller.

Social Studies in England. 12mo, illustrated. $1.00.

"'Social Studies in England' is packed with interesting matter concerning the efforts in progress in that country for the education of women and the dispensation of charity. Mrs. Bolton spent two years in England investigating the subjects of which she treats, and had access to all sources of information relating to them." — Chicago Dial.

Some Successful Women. Illustrated with portraits. 12mo, $1.00.

It consists of twelve brief biographies of American women who have in various walks and professions earned success so marked as to make their names familiar to every household in the country, and who have done much to inspire others of their sex to follow in their footsteps. Among them are Marion Harland (Mrs. Terhune); Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy); Clara Barton, the philanthropist; Alice Freeman, ex-president of Wellesley College; Rachel Bodley, dean of the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia; Frances E. Willard, the temperance reformer; Mrs. Candace Wheeler and her daughter Dora, leaders in decorative art; with others who have gained equally distinguished places in other departments of art, literature, and industry." — Boston Transcript.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

BOURNE, BENJAMIN.

Captive in Patagonia (The); or, Life among the Giants. A Personal Narrative. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

BOYD, PLINY STEELE.

Up and Down the Merrimac. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

BOYDEN, ANNA L.

War Reminiscences. A record of Mrs. Rebecca R. Pomroy's experience in war-times. 12mo, $.75.

BOYESEN, HJALMAR HJORTH,

Vagabond Tales. Square 12mo, $1.25.

A collection of characteristic novelettes by one of the most entertaining and most popular of modern story-tellers. No writer living — scarcely excepting even the great Bjornson — so thoroughly understands the Norse character, and when into this is infused the American element, the success of Prof. Boyesen's tales is easily understood. There is a breeziness, a vigor, and a manliness about his characters that captivate the reader at once, and combine dramatic force with literary skill. The stories included in this volume are: Crooked John; A Child of the Age; Monk Tellenbach's Exile; A Disastrous Partnership; Liberty's Victim; A Perilous Incognito; Charity.

BOYNTON, HENRY.

World's Greatest Conflict (The). 12mo, $1.25.

BOY'S WORKSHOP (A). By a boy and his friends. With an introduction by Henry Randall Waite. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

"Written by 'a boy and his friends,' it takes you right into A Boy's Workshop; tells you how to make and to use a saw-horse and a work-bench; how to use tools and to care for them; lets you into the secret of book-rests, foot-rests, tables, cabinets, catch-alls, etc.; shows you how to build wooden tents, make a fernery, construct a railway and train, bind magazines, take photographs, tie knots, and do a great many other things. It is a book that every boy would like to have, and that he ought to have." — Advance, Chicago.

BRADLEY, MRS. M. E.

Grace's Visit; or, The Wrong Way to cure a Fault. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

Brave Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Young people will not be disappointed when they open this book and read about Glen Hastings, Kate Oxford, Sharly Raymond, and Bessy May — brave girls every one, but in divers ways.

BRIDGMAN, L. J.

Odd Business. Quarto, cloth, $1.25.

Mr. Bridgman's skill in combining the most amusing conceit with bright little touches of wisdom is almost unrivalled. His pictures are never pointless, and they are wonderfully attractive in their versatile drollery.

BRISTOL, MRS. MARY C.

Alice Sutherland. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE S.

"Mr. Brooks has the rare faculty of combining history and fiction so that each shall happily play into the hands of the other. The story makes the history interesting. Mr. Brooks does this deliberately, because it is his aim to do this very thing; and we know of no writer of stories for young people (or for old people either, for that matter) who understands better how to mix these two elements so that they shall not seek to instruct too much or to entertain too little." — Brooklyn Times.

Columbus, Christopher (The True Story of), called the Admiral. Told for youngest readers. 4to, decorated cover, cloth, fully illustrated, $1.50.

A simple, most attractive, and highly entertaining sketch of the life and labors of the discoverer of America.

Great Cities of the World. Edited. Large quarto, cloth, full gilt, $1.50.

A practical, descriptive, and picturesque panorama of the world's larger cities, full of valuable information, and compiled with care and ability. Profusely illustrated.

Indian (The Story of the American). 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $2.00. In neat library binding at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Indian is included in the work.

"The volume does not belong to the familiar type of boys' books of adventure among the Redskins, but is a thorough compendium of archæology, history, present standing and outlook of our nation's wards. It is clearly and concisely written, and embodies a vast deal of pertinent information." — Literary World, Boston.

In Leisler's Time. 12mo, illustrated by W. T. Smedley, $1.50.

"The story is one of Knickerbocker New York, two hundred years ago, and is designed to do justice to the memory of the attainted and ill-fated Governor Leisler. It is a good boys' book; manly, patriotic, and readable." — Independent, New York.

In No-Man's Land. With seventy-two pen-and-ink character drawings by Hassam. 12mo, $1.00.

Ruthie, the little heroine, is a similar creation to little Alice, the heroine of "Alice in Wonderland." Ruthie begins her journey in a horse-car, apparently falls asleep, and then her adventures begin. A squirrel and a billy-goat accompany her with many jests and puns to the jumping-off place, a little leap from which brings her into "No-Man's Land," where all the games live. The incidents and characters here are all on the marvellous, and related with a keen sense of fun.

"Mr. E. S. Brooks's 'In No-Man's Land' sparkles all over with glee. The pages bristle with jests and quips and puns. There is not a dull line in the book. The author has not labored over his conceits; they were spontaneous, and therefore natural and buoyant and fresh." — The Dial, Chicago.

Longfellow Remembrance Book. Edited. Illustrated. Square 12mo, gilt, in box, $1.00.

A book of biography and reminiscence compiled from various sources. An attractive reminder of the favorite American poet.

New York (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated by Bridgman. $1.50.

(Vol. I. of "The Story of the States" Series.)

"A story of the beginnings and of the marvelous development of what has come to be the Empire State of America. The dull matters Mr. Brooks leaves for the antiquarian to dwell upon in detail, while he devotes more attention to the romantic, the heroic, with which the history of every State in the American Union abounds." — Boston Traveller.

"The narrative is more like a charming fireside legend told by a grandfather to eager children, than the dry and pompous chronicles commonly labelled 'history.' Having already digested the writings of the experts — historians, novelists, and philosophers — who have studied and written upon New Netherlands and Colonial, Revolutionary, and modern New York, Mr. Brooks proceeds to tell a good story." — Critic, New York.

Recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States for their public school libraries.

Out-of-doors with Tennyson. Edited. Large quarto, cloth, $1.50.

A profusely illustrated volume, comprising selections from the poems of Lord Tennyson, descriptive of pastoral scenes, with an introduction devoted to the earlier homes and haunts of England's laureate. Illustrated with views of the rural places made famous by Tennyson's verse, and with many appropriate and characteristic pictures.

Sailor (The Story of the American). Uniform with the "Story of the American Indian." Illustrated. 8vo, $2.00. In neat library edition at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Sailor is included in the work.

The complete story of Jack's daring endeavor and achievement from prehistoric times to the days of the "Brave Old Salt" and the yacht Volunteer. The result of much study and careful research, it is nevertheless as dashing, as brilliant, as picturesque as Jack himself, when Jack is at his best. As the first consecutive account ever attempted, it will appeal to all lovers of blue water and to all admirers of the exploits of American seamen.

Soldier (The Story of the American). Uniform with "The Story of the American Sailor." 8vo, illustrated, $2.00. In neat library binding at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Soldier is included in the work.

Like "The Story of the American Sailor," this book seeks to weld into a consecutive narrative the deeds and progress of the fighting men of America from the earliest days to the present time. Mound-builders and Indians, Spanish conquistadores and colonial volunteers, minute-men and Continentals, the defenders of 1812, the men of the Mexican War and the "Boys of '61" find their appropriate place. The result is an entertaining and connected narrative, spiced with anecdote, lighted up with deeds of heroism, and so mixing statistic with story, and description with detail, as to give a picturesque but practical record of the doings of the American soldier, both in war and peace.

Storied Holidays. Illustrated by Howard Pyle. 12mo, $1.50.

"It was a happy thought to take the holidays of the year, from Christmas to Thanksgiving, connect each with some picturesque event in history, and then tell the story in terse and forcible English. The result is a contribution to the literature of Romance — a book for buying and keeping, that the children, as they grow up, and the parents, too, may dip into and read." — Sunday-school Times, Phila.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

Tennyson Remembrance Book. Compiled. Illustrated with portraits and other cuts. Square 12mo, gilt, in box, $1.00.

A charming memorial of the poet, giving interesting glimpses of his home life, with tributes from English and American authors.

United States of America (Story of the). Told for young people. Revised edition. 4to, cloth, profusely illustrated, $1.50.

A clear, concise, and comprehensive account of the development and growth of the Great American Republic. The story of the people rather than of wars and individuals.

Adopted for supplementary reading in schools, and accepted as the most popular "story" of the United States.

Washington, George (The True Story of), called the Father of His Country. Told for youngest readers. Fully illustrated, 4to, cloth, $1.50.

This is the second and latest volume in the "Children's Lives of Great Men." It tells the story of Washington in direct, simple, practical, patriotic, and truthful style, and should easily become the standard "Children's Life" of the greatest and purest of Americans.

For Mr. Brooks's latest works (since 1895), see List of New Books, pages 54-58.

BROWN, E. E.

Cheerful Words. From the writings of George MacDonald. Edited. With a biographical introduction by James T. Fields. 12mo, $.75.

"As a novelist, an essayist, a poet, and preacher he stands always in broad sunlight, and no dark shadow ever rests upon the dial of his pure and healthy inspiration.

From Night to Light. Illustrated, 12mo, $.75.

A thrilling story of Israelitish Bible times.

Garfield, James A. (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Next to Abraham Lincoln, Garfield is the most loved of any man who has served the country. Others have been more admired for brilliancy of intellectual powers, but these two men have kindled the adoration of the peoples' hearts, because they were close to the people.

Grant, General U. S. (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A biography of Grant, which is a plain and clearly told consecutive narrative, circumstantial, but not too much elaborated in detail." — N. O. Times Democrat.

Holmes, Oliver Wendell (Life of). Illustrated, 12mo, $1.25.

The author had the sanction of Dr. Holmes, and received direct from him fresh and authentic data. After his death the volume was revised and enlarged.

"One of those gossipy biographical works which give to the general reader a far more clearly defined notion of its subject than a much more labored and critical work would. It simply presents to the reader the personality of its subject, takes the public into his house, tells a multitude of anecdotes about himself and his books, and makes liberal quotations from his writings wherever, in the opinion of the author, these illustrate his life, his character, or the aims and ends of his thought." — Chicago Times.

Living Truths. From the writings of Charles Kingsley. Edited. With an introduction by W. D. Howells. 12mo, $.75.

Lowell, James Russell (Life of). 12mo, $1.00.

After an account of Mr. Lowell's ancestry, the author goes on to his boyhood and student life, touches lightly the short if unproductive period when he was finding his vocation, and skims along his earlier work till the hero appears with the "Biglow Papers." From this time on the story is told chiefly by Lowell and his friends. By the first, through his letters and books; by the latter, through many interesting interviews. Rich in anecdotes and new details of Lowell's public and private life.

Might of Right (The). Selections from W. E. Gladstone. Introduction by Ex-Governor Long of Massachusetts. 12mo, $.75.

"The Christian Union has made no secret of its admiration for the genius, intellectual and moral, of Mr. Gladstone, and we are glad to see some of his thoughts put in this form for readers who might not be attracted to his longer writings. The selections have been made with discretion, and are inspiring for the spare minutes for which they are avowedly made." — Christian Union, New York.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for all the school libraries.

Thoughts That Breathe. Selected from the writings of Dean Stanley. With an introduction by Phillips Brooks. 12mo, $.75.

"The character of those writings of the Dean of Westminster which are best known among us, makes them perhaps especially suitable for the purposes of this volume. They are historical. They are full of the vivid interest which belongs to the most sacred or the most romantic scenes in the history of our race. At the same time, no books are richer in the assertion and illustration of those principles of thought and action which are universal and eternal. To those who know the writings of Dean Stanley, it need not be said how largely his character pervades them, and the power which his character involves will be felt in these extracts, even separated, as they are, from the historical events by which they were suggested." — Rev. Phillips Brooks.

True Manliness. From the writings of Thomas Hughes. Edited. Introduction by James Russell Lowell. 12mo, $.75.

"Many of Miss Brown's selections are from the 'Tom Brown' books; and what hearty, honest reading they are! That, in fact, seems to be the tone of all Mr. Hughes has ever written. Profoundly religious in the best sense; sincere and truthful; without pretence of any sort or cant of any kind; healthy, happy, and whole-souled, he is, on the whole, one of the best lay preachers who use the English tongue; a specimen man, whom we wish we might see multiplied by the thousand." — Literary World, Boston.

Washington (Life of). 12mo, 75 illustrations, $1.00.

In this life the reader finds just what interests him in Washington as boy and man, surveyor, soldier, and statesman. Its value as a history is enhanced by incidents and anecdotes, associating the facts and events with delicate touches of personal story.

BROWN, Dr. JOHN.

Rab and His Friends. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. 4to, in box, $1.00.

A popular edition of a delightful classic.

BROWN, KATE L.

Interstate Second Reader. 198 pages, cloth, illustrated, $.60.

Just what the teachers have been looking for. Stories of child-life and nature, carefully graded.

BROWN, Rev. THERON.

The Blount Family; or, A Widow's Toil, Trust, and Triumph. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Walter Neil's Example. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

The interest of the story is only equalled by the impressiveness of the example.

BROWNE, THEO. STEPHENSON.

In The Riding School. (Chats with Esmeraldo). 12mo, $1.00.

A series of practical, pungent, and minute papers on horseback riding for ladies, by one who thoroughly knows a horse and the correct method of horseback riding. The horsewoman's vade mecum.

BROWNING, ELIZABETH BARRETT.

Sonnets From The Portuguese. Edited with notes by W. J. Rolfe. Square 8vo, cloth, $1.50; half vegetable parchment, $2.00.

The venerable Dr. Peabody, writing of "Sonnets from the Portuguese," edited by W. J. Rolfe, says, "The volume — beautiful in its mechanical execution, and doing ample credit to the taste and enterprise of the publishers — shows the work of accomplished scholarship, superior critical discernment, and profound poetical feeling. I know no better editor than Mr. Rolfe for such poems as need an interpreter."

BROWNING, ROBERT.

Christmas Eve and Easter Day and Other Poems. Edited with notes and introduction by Heloise E. Hersey. Preface by W. J. Rolfe. 16mo, cloth, $.75; vegetable parchment, $1.00.

The poems are printed from the most recent text, and each has a brief introduction and explanatory notes. These are in the most direct and simple style. They aim only to explain difficult allusions and constructions.

George MacDonald says of Christmas Eve: "The poem is full of pathos and humor, full of beauty and grandeur, earnestness and truth."

"Christmas Eve, Easter Day, Saul, and the strange experience of Karshish, are widely dissimilar in their structure, but they form part of a constituent whole in the illustration of Browning's idea of immortality. As a comment upon these poems, Miss Hersey contributes an exceedingly clear and valuable introductory essay upon Browning's theory of personal immortality, in which she suggests the poet's use of scientific truth, and the insight with which he has given that truth a spiritual interpretation. Miss Hersey makes very clear, not only the poet's idea of personal immortality, but his idea of life under its present conditions as determining the direction and quality of personality. The essay is one which no lover of Browning will care to leave unread." — Christian Union.

BUCKLEY, J. M., D.D.

The Midnight Sun, The Land of The Tsar and The Nihilist. New and enlarged edition. 8vo, illustrated, $2.25.

"The journeyings cover nearly ten thousand miles in Norway, Sweden, and Russia, to the northernmost bounds of the continent, and include visits to the Loffoden Islands, Lapland, and all the principal cities of the great north country. Moscow, St. Petersburg, Poland, each has one or more chapters; customs, manners, religions, superstitions, social and political conditions, all come in for a share of attention. The study of Nihilism is made a specialty, and the four chapters devoted to this subject form the most valuable part of the work. Never before, we believe, have the causes, character, methods, and objects of this great conspiracy been set forth so clearly and fully before American readers." — New York Observer.

BULLARD, Rev. ASA, D.D.

Fifty Years with The Sabbath School. 12mo, $1.25.

BUNGENER, L. L. F.

Historical Series. From the French. These works are of thrilling interest, illustrating the religious struggles, heroism, and social life of the times of Louis XIV. and Louis XV. 4 vols., 12mo, illustrated, $.75 each.

BOURDALOUE AND LOUIS XIV.
LOUIS XV. AND HIS TIMES.
RABAUT AND BRIDAINE, or the Court of Louis XV.
THE TOWER OF CONSTANCY.

BUNYAN, JOHN.

The Pilgrim's Progress, from this World to That which is to come. New edition with portrait. 12mo, large type, fully illustrated, cloth, Gothic cover, plain, $1.00; 16mo, Cambridge edition, gilt top, $1.00; 8vo, with Red Line, $2.50.

Contains an illustrated memoir of John Bunyan by Archdeacon Allen, and Macaulay's essay on the Pilgrim's Progress.

"This wonderful book is one of the few books which may be read repeatedly, at different times, and each time with a new and a different pleasure. I read it once as a theologian, and once with devotional feelings, and once as a poet." — SAMUEL TAYLOR COLERIDGE.

BURKE, S. J.

For Mack's Sake. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"It describes the life of a devoted sister who made every effort to enable her brother to become a true, noble man in the world. Her personal wishes were continually laid aside, and many a sacrifice was quietly accepted for 'Mack's sake.' Mack realized her hopes for him, and she was happy in his success." — Morning Star.

BURTON, MRS. B. F.

Year in The Country (A); or, Keilei's Missionary Work. 12mo, $1.00.

BUTCHER, S. H., M.A., Fellow and Prælector of University College, Oxford, and A. M. LANG, M.A., late Fellow of Merton College, Oxford.

Odyssey of Homer (The). Done into English prose. 12mo, $1.50.

"It is first of all a work of accurate scholarship, which aims at satisfying the literary sense; it is, besides, a work of art, in that it uses an older English style — what may roughly be called the English of the Bible — with the conscious aim of producing a certain effect." — London Athenæum.

"A translation which it would be hard to match for fidelity, vigor, and purity of style. — Chicago Tribune.

BUTTERWORTH, HEZEKIAH.

Christmas Book (The). 8vo, cloth, exquisitely illustrated, $2.00.

Great Composers. New edition, enlarged. Fully illustrated. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

This book contains short sketches or pen portraits of the different musical composers, written in Mr. Butterworth's fascinating style, and of interest to every one.

Notable Prayers of Christian History. 16mo, vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

"In this unique volume Mr. Butterworth has brought together a large amount of information, never before presented between the covers of a single book. Beginning with the prayer of Hezekiah, made in the temple at Jerusalem three thousand years ago, the compiler gives, in chronological order, prayers offered by famous men on notable occasions in times of famine, battle, and sore distress, together with the incidents attendant upon them. It will be welcomed everywhere by pastors and Sunday-school workers alike." — Boston Book Bulletin.

CAMPBELL, HELEN.

Anne Bradstreet (Her Life and Times). 12mo, $1.25.

The remarkable story of one of America's earliest women, told by one of the foremost of America's women-workers. Anne Bradstreet's influence on America's literature and life is but little known or appreciated, and Mrs. Campbell's volume is a valuable contribution to American biography.

CAPRON, MARY J.

Gold and Gilt. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Maybee's Stepping-Stones. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Mrs. Thorne's Guests. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Plus and Minus. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CATHERWOOD, MARY HARTWELL.

The Dogberry Bunch. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A very merry story of seven plucky children who would hang together. They live in an Illinois village, and their mother and father are dead. They form an unique association to save money and keep themselves from being separated. But they do get separated, and the story goes on with all kinds of adventures by the dispersed Dogberry children. Their hearts, however, are united by love, and before we get through they are all together again in one closely connected bunch. There are thirty illustrations, and the book is a prize for any child." — Boston Journal of Commerce.

Old Caravan Days. 12mo, $1.25.

Rocky Fork. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The story of a few summer days in a little neighborhood of farmhouses of Central Ohio, long ago. . . . Mrs. Catherwood's people are all graciously attractive. The children must be known in their own woods and meadows. Theirs was a blessed world of happy 'make-believes,' when simple pleasures yet had charms." — Nation, New York.

Secrets at Roseladies. 12mo, $1.00.

Boyish visions of a dazzling crown of gold and a sealed jar brimful of yellow money materialize into a lot of dirty Indian bones and a kettle full of arrow heads. The scene of the digging is a Shawnee burying mound on the banks of the Lower Wabash.

"From first to last the story is so entirely American, so full of life and movement, and so dainty in diction, that we doubt if anything better in juvenile literature has been offered to the public for some time." — St. Louis Republic.

CHAMPNEY, LIZZIE W.

The Bubbling Teapot. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Flossy Tangleskein was an imaginative little girl who was so discontented with her "hum-drum-bread-and-butter-spelling-book, American child-life, that she even said to herself she would gladly change to a little Zulu savage, or an almond-eyed Oriental." One day she fell asleep in the studio of an artist friend, to whom she was posing for a picture of a Breton peasant child. In her dreams she had many adventures, and underwent many transformations, becoming in turn a child of almost every nation on the globe. She had thus a chance to test her wish, but returned to reality quite satisfied that to be a little American girl was about the best of all.

Entertainments. For concerts, exhibitions, parlor gatherings, church festivals. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Howling Wolf and His Trick-Pony. Illustrated by F. T. Merrill. 12mo, $1.25.

"It places before the young reader Indian manners and Indian character just as they are. It gratifies his craving for out-door freedom and out-door growth with just the scenes and actions to stimulate his nature. It sympathizes with his love of the horse, with one of the noblest type of the few that American fiction can show, and it places the Indian question in a manner to impress the old as well as the young with the duty of protection of the Indians. It is just the book for parents to remember and select." — Boston Globe.

In The Sky Garden. Illustrations by "Champ." Printed in colors. 12mo, $1.25.

A little book of fables of astronomy, written in the hope of interesting the small people and leading them to a study of its more fascinating truths. Tales of the zodiac, eclipses, training the pole-star, the tale of a comet, etc.

CHAPLIN, J. and J. D.

Sumner, Charles (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Charley Hope's Testament. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

CHELLIS, MARY DWINELL.

Good Work. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A deformed girl of beautiful face is left alone. At first in despair, then roused to a new purpose, she learns to support herself, and goes into a large tenement-house to live so as to help the people there. The purpose, spirit, and teaching are good" — Pilgrim Teacher.

Mystery of The Lodge. 12mo, $1.00.

A mystery, well-kept through almost four hundred pages of joys and sorrows and ups and downs of half a neighborhood, is solved at last, and there is freer breathing all round. The book is marked by its common-sense views of religion.

CHILDREN'S NONSENSE BOOK (THE). Tales and rhymes of fun, nonsense, and absurdity, by favorite fun-makers. 4to, illustrated, fancy covers, $1.25.

"Lear's Nonsense Book" has been read and re-read to tatters by countless children. This new Nonsense Book is in the same line of healthful absurdities in verse and story, and is sure to be welcomed and read by every fun-loving boy and girl. It is the work of the best-known writers of fun for children.

CHILDREN'S WONDER BOOK (THE). Tales of marvel, mystery, and merriment, by popular story-tellers. Illustrated, 4to, fancy cover, $1.25.

A collection of delightful stories of the "Alice in Wonderland" order, full of fun and fancy, surprises and sentiment, told in the most delicious way by some of the best and most famous writers of children's stories. A novel and attractive volume in the most popular department of story-telling.

CHOATE, LOWELL.

Romance of A Letter (The). 12mo, $1.00.

CHRISTMAS SNOWFLAKES. 4to, boards, $1.50.

A volume of young folks' poems selected from the writings of many American authors.

CHURCHILL, LIDA A.

My Girls. 12mo, paper, $.50; cloth, $1.00.

CLARK, KATE UPSON.

That Mary Ann. The story of a country summer. Illustrated by Maria L. Kirk. 12mo, $1.00.

A bright, original, entertaining home story for boys and girls. The girl-cousin and the four boys are capitally drawn, and the story has an abundance of incident and merry country life.

CLEMENT, CLARA ERSKINE.

The History of Egypt. 12mo, 100 illustrations, $1.50.

"Beginning with the earliest times, the Memphian period, 3000 or 4000 B.C., the author gives a clear account of the condition of Egypt and the character of its inhabitants. She describes the every-day life of the people, their habits and customs, their social and political institutions, the peculiarity of their religion, and traces the development and changes of the people and dynasties down to the year 1879." — Syracuse Journal.

CLUM, FRANKLIN D., M.D.

Health. 12mo, $.75.

CLARK, REV. F. E., President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Danger Signals. 12mo, $.75.

"The addresses which compose the volume, on some of the sins most likely to affect the young in large cities, were delivered to large audiences of young people. The several topics treated are King Alcohol; Dirt in Ink; Trash in Ink; The Low Theatre; The Gambling Den; The Leper of Impurity; Sappers and Miners of Character; Frivolity, Selfishness, Dishonesty." — The Advance.

"There is enough to save a generation of young men if they would give heed thereto. Put this book in the trunk of the young man when he leaves home for business life, or college, or even for a summer vacation." — Christian Union.

Looking Out on Life. A book for girls. 12mo, $.75.

Equal in interest, value, suggestion, and common-sense, to the author's book for boys, "Danger Signals."

Mossback Correspondence. 12mo, $1.00.

A series of practical letters upon religious themes.

Our Business Boys. 16mo, $.60.

"Here is a little book literally worth its weight in gold, and one which ought to be thoroughly read by every boy who contemplates a business career. The author, seeing how many boys are entering stores and counting-rooms instead of learning trades or remaining on farms, took the pains to write to nearly a hundred business men of this city for the purpose of ascertaining their respective opinions touching the qualifications necessary in a young man to command success." — Portland Argus.

Ways and Means. 12mo, $1.25.

A history of the Christian Endeavor movement from its beginning to the present time. The book also contains valuable suggestions as to forming new societies, and the successful management of the same. A book that should be in the hands of every member of the Y. P. S. C. E.

CLARK, H. H., U.S.N.

Boy Life in the United States Navy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

One of the most popular sea stories ever written.

"While telling his story of Joe Bently's adventures, the author gives a detailed account of the entire naval system from the boy's first entrance. The book is both interesting and instructive; it is a true picture of a healthy, attractive life that is little known to the general public, and full enough of adventures to please all boy readers." — Literary News, New York.

Joe Bently; Naval Cadet. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

This may be considered a sequel to "Boy Life in the U. S. Navy." As Joe Bently advances in his chosen profession, he meets with many new and intensely interesting adventures, while the clear explanation of the little understood details of naval life, which made the first book so instructive, are continued in this with marked success.

CLARK, MRS. S. R. GRAHAM.

Achor. 12mo, $1.50.

A sequel to the "Triple E." It has the same characters and solves the mystery which there enveloped the heroine's life, who, now grown to womanhood, devotes herself to the reclamation of a depraved father.

Go's Goings. 12mo, $1.50.

There were five "go's," and each one of them was a power in many lives. What they were the book will tell you.

Herbert Gardenell's Children. 12mo, $1.50.

"Herbert Gardenell is a clergyman with five children, and their characters and home life, with its vicissitudes of light and shadow, are the subject of the story, which is well told and conveys impressive lessons." —Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

Herbert Gardenell, Jr. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A new book by one of the most popular writers of Sunday-school books. It follows as a sequel her earlier and excellent story, "Herbert Gardenell's Children."

Our Street. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A very powerful plea for temperance. It is just such a story as makes a lasting impression upon the minds of young readers." —Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

Tom's Street. 12mo, $1.50.

A brightly suggestive story; it shows the good that may be done in a neighborhood through the efforts of one strong, earnest, willing worker. Tom Young, the hero, is just such a manly, enthusiastic young fellow as people like to read about; the other occupants of the street where he lives and labors are drawn with much skill.

"Triple E" (The). 12mo, $1.50.

"'The Triple E' is the name playfully given by her friends to a girl of eighteen, whose three names begin with that letter, and who is left with a younger sister to make her way in the world after the death of her parents. She has promised her mother on her deathbed to not only care for her sister, but also for an insane uncle, and a little girl waif who came into their family in the most mysterious manner. The two sisters are compelled to enter a large manufactory in order to gain a subsistence and earn means for supporting their charges. The record of their experiences in this new life, their trials, and the victory over adversity they finally achieved, is told in a manner which commands attention from first to last." —Burlington Hawkeye.

Yensie Walton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It is about an orphan girl who finds a home with an uncle, and is made a drudge by her aunt, who is a coarse, vulgar woman. At first she is passionate and disobedient. But a Christian teacher develops a new life in her, and she becomes a sunbeam in the house, even softening the heart of her aunt. —Portland Transcript.

Yensie Walton's Womanhood. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A sequel to "Yensie Walton."

"Yensie has arrived at the dignity of an instructor, and her experience will greatly interest those who have to do with the moral and mental training of children. She is met at last by 'woman's destiny,' and we leave her in her own wedded home, a wife and mother to serve as a model." —The Watchman, Boston.

COLTER, MRS. J. J.

Gentle Benefactress (A). Author of "One Quiet Life," etc. 12mo, $1.00.

A young girl with ample means, but without near family ties, determines to share her good fortune with those who are brothers and sisters in a larger sense. She helps the poor and needy, rescues the outcast, encourages the gifted, struggling, and ambitious, and so not only enriches their lives, but makes her own rounded and complete.

One Quiet Life. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Robbie Meredith. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

CONKLIN, JENNIE, M.D.

Keenie's To-morrow. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A helpful book for girls, dealing with the common duties and experiences of life, and showing that an average home furnishes abundant opportunities for being a heroine, and for the development of the highest type of character. —Congregationalist, Boston.

CONNELLY, EMMA M.

Kentucky (The Story of). 8vo, $1.50; half-leather, $2.00.

This charming and dramatic story of the rise, development, and progress of one of the most picturesque of all the States of the American Union is told in story form, and reads like a romance.

Tilting at Windmills. A Story of the Blue-Grass Country. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A charming idyl of the Blue-Grass country. It tells of a Puritan's effort to improve the manners and customs of Kentucky society. Miss Connelly's work is not to be stamped as 'a novel with a purpose,' or an historical novel, and so robbed of its popularity; but it is a delicate and powerful delineation of a social life as charming as it is strange to Northern readers." —American Bookseller, N.Y.

CONVERSE, FRANK H.

The Adventures of Tad. 12mo, $1.25.

Tad is an orphan boy whose honesty brings him into a series of interesting adventures, beginning in Philadelphia, leading him thence to Boston, and finally landing him in Maine, where he has some exciting experiences in a country village. Tad is a self-reliant little fellow, who, by his persistency of purpose, goes safely through the many dangers with which he is beset.

CONWELL, COL. RUSSELL H.

Bayard Taylor: His Life, Travels, and Literary Career. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Bayard Taylor is conspicuous among the many in our country who have risen from humble conditions by personal honorable effort to high places. He was a lover of humanity and of truth. Col. Conwell has told the story of his life, his struggles, and his final success with loving care, and has supplemented it with an account of his death and the wide-spread sorrow it occasioned. It is a profitable and stimulating book for boys and young men.

COOKE, CARRIE A.

Art of Living. Selected from the writings of Samuel Smiles. With an introduction by Rev. A. P. Peabody. 12mo, $1.00; holiday, gilt top, $1.25.

Here and Beyond; or, Beautiful Words of Life. Selected; with an introduction by Geo. D. Spaulding, D.D. 4to, cloth, gilt edges, $2.75.

Words of helping and hoping, drawn from the greatest writers, and designed to shed light on life's pathway and the certainty of peace in the life beyond the veil.

From June to June. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"It is the record of a year of life of a very human girl, sweetly and naturally told. Self-surrender and a cry for help in the face of a great temptation bring Him who is able to save to the uttermost; and out of this, and the struggles and temptations besetting her in the ordinary duties of school and home life, the little heroine rises to new character in Jesus Christ. It is not a 'goodish' book, but it is a good book, and well calculated to impress saving truths upon girls verging into womanhood." — Christian Advocate, New York.

Many Colored Threads. Selections from the writings of Goethe. Edited. Introduction by Rev. Alex. McKenzie, D.D. 16mo, $.75.

"We doubt if there is another author, always excepting Shakespeare, from whose books so many noble and complete thoughts can be extracted. In the two hundred and fifty pages of this volume are more than a thousand gems, each worthy of its setting." — Boston Transcript.

To-days and Yesterdays. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A pleasant, wholesome sketch of girl life and character in which we are shown the beginnings and progress of womanly effort to be useful, and to build upon the foundation of educational training just completed." — Baptist Weekly; N. Y.

Young Folks' Speaker. A collection of Prose and Poetry for Declamations, Recitations, and Elocutionary Exercises. Selected and arranged. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CORNELL, Wm M., LL.D.

Horace Greeley: His Life and Public Career. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Horace Greeley gave the strength of his life to education, to honest industry, to humanity, especially toward the poor and unbefriended. He was feet for the lame; he was an eye for the blind; was tongue for the dumb; and had a heart for those who had none to sympathize with them. He poured his life out for thirty years into the life of his time." — HENRY WARD BEECHER.

COWAN, REV. J. F.

Endeavor Doin's Down to the Corners. Square 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A delightfully realistic account by "Brother Jonathan Hayseeds" of the Christian Endeavor work in a country village. For homely common sense and dry humor, it has not been surpassed, while it is yet all aglow with the earnest spirit of this great working force of the modern church.

COX, MARIA McINTOSH.

Jack Brereton's Three Months' Service. Illustrated, $1.25.

A story of a boy's "home service" during the stirring days of the civil war. As delightful as it is dramatic. Just the book for every American boy and girl to read and enjoy. And they will enjoy it.

CRAIGIN, LOUISE T. (Ellis Gray.)

The Cedars. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The daily life of a big, old-fashioned household — half a dozen boys and girls — father, mother, grandma, uncle Will, aunt Margaret, Dinah, Chloe, and Dr. John, the family doctor. Such jolly times as those children had eating and dancing at aunt Margaret's wedding, drinking surreptitious chocolate in grandma's room, warming their cold toes at grandma's open fire, and listening to her stories!

Long Ago. 12mo, $1.25.

Uniform with "The Cedars" and "Sunshine." Illustrated by Susan Hale and Julia P. Dabney.

Sunshine. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

This author, so favorably known by her earlier books, "The Cedars" and "Long Ago," has completed in this volume the Sweet Home Series.

CROCKER, LUCRETIA.

Lessons on Color in Primary Schools. Paper, $.20.

This plan for Color Lessons was prepared for the use of teachers in the Boston Primary Schools, and was reported at the request of the Massachusetts State Board of Education. After revision and enlargement it was adopted by the Boston School Committee. Each year's work is mapped out in detail; valuable notes and suggestions are given for the guidance of the teacher, to which are added a number of designs in form and color. Every primary teacher should have a copy of this little manual.

CROWNINSHIELD, MARY BRADFORD.

All Among the Light-houses. 8vo, illustrated from photographs and original drawings, cloth, $1.50.

"'All Among the Light-houses' is brimful of information, brimful of stir and life on board ship and on shore, up and down lighthouses, over rocks, through fogs, with the jolliest captain and first mate, to say nothing of the all-knowing light-house inspector." — Golden Rule, Boston.

Light-house Children Abroad (The); or, The Ignoramuses in Europe. Cloth, $1.50.

The "Ignoramuses" are the same children who took the summer cruise described in "All Among the Light-houses." They take the name on shipboard where they find so many things they know nothing about. The party sails for Hamburg, and visits all the important cities of Germany, Switzerland, and the south of France. The story leaves them in Nice.

Plucky Smalls: His Story. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A New York street boy on board ship has many amusing adventures. He tells his own story, in his own homely way, but his shrewd observations of men and things would reflect credit upon a more experienced voyager.

CRUGER, MARY.

Brotherhood. 12mo, $1.25.

The trades-unions that bind men to act contrary, often, to their best judgment, the monopoly of capitalists, the ill-regulated zeal of partisan leaders, are all presented with dramatic power and eloquence.

CUMMINGS, ELIZABETH.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn. 12mo, $.75.

A little girl, overshadowed by the glory of her dead-and-gone ancestors, feels herself obliged to live up to the family record, in spite of her natural love of fun. An extremely bright, attractive, and bewitching story.

CUMMINGS, M. J. (Captain Carnes.)

Little Toss. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Uncle Anthony. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CYR, ELLEN M.

Interstate Primer and First Reader. 136 pages, cloth, $.40.

The few words that the child has learned are constantly repeated, until thoroughly learned, in sentences that mean something to the child, and thus the book is made enjoyable from the start.

DAILY COMFORT. A companion volume to DAILY MANNA. 24mo, cloth, $.50; white and gold, $.50.

DAILY MANNA. See STOW.

DAILY FOOD. First and second series. Each 48mo, plain, $.15; gilt edges, $.20.

DARLING, MARY GREENLEAF.

Gladys. A romance. (Round World Series.) 12mo, $1.25.

A story of "society people" of the best class, sketched with much power, yet with fine delicacy of touch. There is an element of reserved strength in the characters which makes itself felt even in "Gladys," with all the charm of her girlish grace and beauty. Life at Bar Harbor is skilfully drawn, and also at Memphis during the scourge of yellow fever in 1878, the description of which is remarkably vivid.

DAVIS, Mrs. C. E. K.

Miss Wealthy's Hope. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Miss Wealthy is one of those dear old maids whose lot in life is serving others. She works hard and endures much, her only reward being the happiness she gets from seeing others happy. She never complains of the grievous service, for she is strengthened and sustained by a hope — the hope of perfect rest.

That Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

Will be good to give a boy for his first long story. The hero is a real papa's boy.

DAVIS, M. E. M.

In War Times at La Rose Blanche. 12mo, illustrations by Kemble, $1.25.

"The really good book of Southern war stories for children waited until it appeared in the shape of 'In War-Times.' It is all there; it is all in the little book with its twelve stories, some gay and some sad, and its delightful tale of doll-keeping; and if there be any child, or indeed, any older reader, who will not cry over the 'Cunnel's Valley,' let North and South both reject him. ''Twas a long, long time on de way;' but 'La Rose Blanche' means that the good time for the children is here, and that the Southern side of the war story is going to be written for them." — Boston Herald.

DAWES, Mrs. S. E.

Ethel's Year at Ashton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A young girl comes into a farmer's family, provided only with the motto, 'Seek daily opportunities of doing good,' and a sweet affectionate nature to carry out the motto. Her influence upon a narrow household, in which darning and earning are the chief aims, is developed with much good taste and feeling." — Boston Journal.

DAY, Rev. G. T.

African Adventure and Adventurers. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

An epitome of the elaborate works of Bruce, Speke, Grant, Baker, and Livingstone.

DEANE, FANNIE A.

National Flowers. 8vo, gilt, $.75.

The interest in national flowers will be increased by reading this charming book, which tells the story of England's rose, Scotland's thistle, the lotus of Egypt, the lily of France, and many other representative flowers.

Wonders From Sea and Shore. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

DEANE, MARY BATHURST.

Three Little Maids. Illustrated by F. O. Small. 4to, $1.25.

A story of English girl life and character, unique in its development and delightful in its atmosphere. A book of three English children whom all American children will like.

DELANO, Mrs. ALINE. See Tolstoï.

DERVAL, JOHANNES VON.

Far From Home. Translated from the German by Katherine Hamilton. 12mo, $1.25.

"It is a lively picture of society life in a small German town. Among recent German novels, 'Far From Home' is the most acceptable for readers of unvitiated taste, since it deals with everyday people, instead of mystics, transcendentalists, and the like." — Chicago Tribune.

DIAZ, Mrs. A. M.

Bybury to Beacon Street. 12mo, $1.25.

"Sensible and humorous is Mrs. A. M. Diaz's 'Bybury to Beacon Street.' The villagers of Bybury are supposed to meet together, and to talk and write about their experiences, as well as to discuss various subjects. Sunlight in the house, simplicity in dress and diet, self-respect instead of the worship of wealth and fashion, education of women in skilled labor, are among the things Mrs. Diaz advocates by the mouths of her speakers. These and other topics are touched with the bright insight and penetrating common-sense which are the worst enemies of stupidity and folly. The social lump needs plenty of such leaven. We hope that both in city and country the book will be widely read." — New York Nation.

Cat's Arabian Nights (The). 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

The wonderful cat story of cat stories told by Pussyanita that saved the lives of all the cats, the funniest, wittiest, story that ever was (so says Pussyanita); and that is why it is so wonderful. King Grimalkum must have been a credulous fellow; but nobody blames him for losing his wits to such a teller of cat stories.

Chronicles of The Stimpcett Family. 8vo, boards, $1.25.

". . . The 'Chronicles' are fifteen in number; and two which contain descriptions of old-fashioned schools will interest older readers, and will seem incredible to children accustomed to receiving their education with modern improvements." — Boston Budget.

Domestic Problems. Work and culture in the household. Two volumes in one. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"It is not a series of theoretical essays, but a plain hand to hand discussion of the questions which come up every day in every home in the country, particularly in those homes where it is necessary to keep an eye upon the expenses of living; where much of the burden and brunt comes upon the 'woman folks;' where there are children to be fed, clothed, and educated, and where an ambition exists to live in respectable style." — Boston Transcript.

Jimmyjohns and Other Stories (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Every respectably brought-up girl and boy has read the 'Jimmyjohns,' and had heaps of enjoyment out of it. Mrs. Diaz seems to have an instinctive knowledge of what children like to read, and no one knows better than she how to prepare it." — Boston Transcript.

John Spicer Lectures (The). 16mo, $.60.

The lecturer, Mr. John Spicer, "aged eight and one month," delivers the amusing and practical discourses which the books contain to an assemblage of boys and girls in Barn Hall. These "talks" relate to Christmas-trees, knives, swapping, clothes, food, money, riding, Fourth of July, crying, sneaks, manners, boys.

Lucy Maria. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Only a Flock of Women. 12mo, $1.25.

This volume consists of forty-two distinct papers, most of them bearing upon the general themes of woman's sphere and woman's thought — the home, the club, and the shop, with their duties and opportunities.

Polly Cologne (The Story of). 12mo, more than 100 illustrations by Boz, $1.00.

"A quaint and laughable story of a small flaxen-haired doll, who was lost, and went through almost as many adventures as David Livingstone, before she was found again. . . . A special benediction is due to any one who enables us to indulge in a good laugh that has no sneer lurking in it; and the blessings of those whom she has blessed in that way will always follow Mrs. Diaz." — Woman's Journal, Boston.

Story Book for Children (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

William Henry Letters (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Perhaps as admirable as anything ever produced in this country in the way of Juvenile literature. They show an absolute knowledge of boy nature, and as for their bright, breezy fun they are unsurpassed." — Albany Argus.

William Henry and His Friends. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Her William Henry books hold the first place in juvenile literature for pure absolute knowledge of boy nature, and for breezy wholesomeness." — Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Diaz's books are recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States.

DINIZ, JULIO.

Fidalgos of Casa Mourisca (The). Translated from the Portuguese by Roxana L. Dabney. 12mo, $1.50.

Presents in most attractive form the best phases of Portuguese life, and shows the struggle between the old aristocratic ideas that formerly held sway and the progress of modern thought.

DORLAND, W. A NEWMAN.

Cluster of Pearls (A). For Christian Endeavor Workers. Compiled. 12mo, $.75.

A volume rich in valuable and appropriate selections such as will meet the needs of Christian workers in all lines, and prove helpful and inspiring.

DOTY, DUANE.

Rules and Hints on The Theory and Practice of Teaching. Pamphlet, $.15.

DOUGLAS, ROBERT K.

China. With revisions by Yan Phou Lee. 12mo, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"This volume comes at a time when there is a demand for something brief, exact, and authoritative in the way of Chinese history. The author of the volume before us had exceptional advantages for making such a book as the public demand and need. He was for several years a resident of China in an official capacity, and studied the people and their mode of life from actual observation. The various chapters of the work deal with the history of the empire in brief,—its government, religions, its educational system, the nurture of the young, superstitions, funeral and wedding rites, the language, food, and dress, honors, architecture, music, medicine, and other subjects." —Journal of Education, Boston.

DOWNING, MARLTON.

Young Cascarillero (The); and COLONEL THORNDIKE'S ADVENTURES, by Henry W. French. Illustrated by H. Martin Beal and Henry Sandham. 12mo, $1.00.

A double delight to those who love stories of adventure. "The Young Cascarilleros" is a capital story of research and adventure among the cascarilleros — the bark-hunters, or chincona-gatherers, of Ecuador. The surroundings afford a stirring story of adventure among Indians, pumas, and treacherous cascarilleros, which every boy of spirit will welcome and enjoy.

"Colonel Thorndike's Adventures" comprise the stories of a veritable "globe trotter" who has been everywhere, seen everything, and had a host of adventures.

DUNNING, Mrs. A. K.

Contradictions; or, HIGH LIFE AT EDGERTON. ($500 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Grace Avery's Influence. ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Story of Four Lives (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Trifles. ($500 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Showing the influence exerted upon character by what are often deemed little and unimportant things.

EASTMAN, JULIA A.

Miss Eastman, it will be remembered, took the prize of one thousand dollars offered some years ago by this house. She has a large circle of young admirers. She carries off the palm as a writer of school-life stories, and teachers are always glad to find their scholars reading Miss Eastman's books. Her style is characterized by quick movements, sparkling expression, and incisive knowledge of human nature.

Kitty Kent's Troubles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"The heroine of the present book is the daughter of a clergyman, 'a girl who was neither all good nor all bad, but partly the one and partly the other;' and the narrative of her trials and experiences is intended as a guide and help to other girls who have those of the same kind to contend with, and to impress upon them the lesson that 'the only road to happiness lies through the land of goodness.'" — New England Journal of Education.

Romneys of Ridgemont (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A story of the New England hills; of sugaring and haymow conferences and old-fashion picnics.

Schooldays of Beulah Romney. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

An aged Christian woman befriends a dozen careless schoolgirls, and helps them out of the many troubles that invade their lives.

Short Comings and Long Goings. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The ups and downs of wide-awake boy and girl life in a country home.

Striking For The Right. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A story illustrating the necessity of kindness to animals. The pupils of the Eastford High School form a humane society which does a noble work.

A premium of $1000 was awarded the author for this MS. by the examining committee.

Young Rick. 12mo, 12 full-page illustrations by Sol. Eytinge, Jr., $1.00.

Young Rick was a genuine boy, mischievous and motherless. Aunt Lesbia, with whom he lived, was not used to children, and found it no easy task to look after him. In the end, however, her kindness and good sense made a man of him.

EATON, FRANCES.

Dollikins and The Miser. Cloth, $1.25.

Quaint, original, impetuous, and full of noble impulses, Dollikins is one of the most charming creations of child fiction. Her generous nature not only changes the old miser, but influences all as well. The other characters are also strongly drawn.

A Queer Little Princess. 4to, illustrated, $1.25.

Henrietta Minerva Longstreet Nelson is her full name. She is not a royal-blood princess, but the "queerest, dearest, best little girl in the world," nicknamed "Little Princess," because — as the nurse expresses it — she is so "fine and pretty." A fair-haired, prattling, whimsical, self-sacrificing little peace-maker is her "Royal Highness," by her artless ways bending everybody to her own sweet will.

Pathetic and humorous by turns, filled with lessons of life, this story is destined to become a "child classic."

EDSON, N. I.

Barbara. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

An invalid father, penniless through misfortune, a much-enduring Christian mother, and three daughters — very different and yet alike as sisters are wont to be — make up the Bennett family. A will is found under very strange circumstances, bequeathing to them a large property, but before the necessary legal steps can be taken this will is stolen by interested parties. At this juncture a runaway son, supposed to be dead, returns with a fortune, and what is much better than a fortune — a loving, purified heart.

Silent Tom. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A violent infidel is brought to put his faith in Christianity through the influence of a devout wife.

ELY, E. H.

Latin In The Public Schools. An affirmative argument. Pamphlet, $.08; $.15.

EYSTER, NELLIE BLESSING.

Colonial Boy (A); or, The Old Link Closet. 12mo, $1.25

The story of a real colonial boy in days of peril and adventure, charmingly linking the beginnings of Maryland's picturesque story with the ways and things of to-day.

FAITH AND ACTION. Selections from the writings of F. D. Maurice. With preface by Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D. 12mo, $.75.

Few English clergymen are better known in this country than Frederic D. Maurice, whose untimely death, some years ago, deprived not only England, but the Christian world, of one of its ablest religious teachers. He devoted a great deal of his time to the social and religious needs of the common people.

FARMAN, ELLA. (Mrs. Charles Stuart Pratt.)

Ella Farman was, for years, the editor of WIDE AWAKE. Her books are full of sympathy with girl-life, always sunshiny and hopeful, always pointing out new ways to do things and unexpected causes for happiness and gladness.

Anna Maylie. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The story of faithful, resolute work in the Sunday-school and in the field of the Western religious pioneer. It shows that every truly earnest Christian soul will be busy in some service for Christ, however limited the sphere in which it is placed.

Cooking-Club of Tu-Whit Hollow (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The practical instructions in housewifery, which are abundant, are set in the midst of a bright wholesome story. Girls who read this book will not be able to keep house at once, but they will learn to do some things, and they will have an hour or two of genuine pleasure in discovering how there came to be a cooking-club and in tracing its history.

Girl's Money (A). 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

"Work is always a cure for morbidness" is the burden of this story. A young lady has a violent sickness and is paralyzed for life. Though surrounded with all the comforts that wealth can give, she is nervous, petulant, a burden and a sorrow to kind friends, until her sensible grandmother resolves to stop petting and pitying and try stirring. The morbid girl at once rouses from her lethargy and becomes a blessing to those about her.

Good-for-nothing Polly. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

"Polly" is not a girl at all, but a boy — a slangy, school-hating, fun-loving, wilful, big-hearted boy. "Nagged" continually at home, he wastes his time upon the streets and finally runs away. The book tells of his adventures. Mrs. Pratt has a keen insight into the joys and sorrows of the little-appreciated boy-life. Like Robert J. Burdette, she is a master of humor, and often touches a tender chord of pathos. Every boy will be delighted with this book, and every mother ought to read it who is, all unwittingly perhaps, "freezing" her own noisy boy out of the home.

Grandma Crosby's Household. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

The story of a little girl's endeavor to conquer her natural stubbornness.

Home Primer. Square 8vo, 100 Illustrations, $.35.

Just the book to place in the hands of children just learning to read.

How Two Girls Tried Farming. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A narrative of an actual experience. "The two girls who tried farming solved a problem by taking the bull by the horns, and that is often as effectual a means as can be resorted to. They had for capital one thousand dollars. With this they bought thirty-five acres of scraggy farm land. Then they hired out as lady help for the winter, and laid by enough money to buy clover-seed, and a horse, and a few other necessities. Dolly had learned to plough and harrow and make hay, and even to cut wood. Both girls worked hard, and it is pleasant to chronicle their success. Now they have a prosperous farm, and raise cows, sheep, pigs, and chickens; and as they do everything to the best of their ability, their products are in constant demand." — St. Louis Post-Despatch.

Little Woman (A). 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A fourteen-year old girl has the responsibilities of a household thrown upon her shoulders, and it seems at first more than she can bear. But she proves herself a "little woman," for she depends not on her own weakness, but upon Him who strengtheneth. The record of her trials and her triumphs is so captivating that any girl who begins the book is sure to finish it.

Mrs. Hurd's Niece. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"We can scarcely speak in too high praise of this story-book. It is a good tale, well told. The characters are interesting; the situations are natural and entertaining; the conversations are bright and often decidedly witty; while the moral of the story from beginning to end is pure and elevating. It is one of the books which bear fruit in better lives and better deeds." — Chicago Standard.

White Hand (A). 12mo, $.75.

A true picture of American society.

FARMER, LYDIA HOYT.

The Story Book of Science. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The book is a fairy tale, a model fairy tale in which truth is not sacrificed to fiction, but clothed in a fascinating garb. Among the subjects treated in the present volume are the discovery of glass, tea, coffee, pepper, and potatoes; sponges, oysters, and coral; stories of the wind and other important and fascinating topics." — Boston Commonwealth.

FARMING FOR BOYS. By the author of "Ten Acres Enough." 12mo, illustrated, $.75

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

A handy little old man in the story sets out to show the boys how to make farming interesting. He finds things rather dull at first; but he understands boy nature as well as farming; and under the guise of keeping them busy, he teaches them dozens of things that farmers ought to know, but generally don't.

FAVORITE STORY BOOK (THE). By the best authors. With colored frontispiece. 4to, boards, $1.50; cloth, $2.25.

FEUDGE, FANNY ROPER.

History of India. 12mo, cloth, 100 full-page illustrations, $1.50.

A succinct account of the leading events in the history of this remarkable country, its physical traits, customs, works of art, and other distinguishing features of the past and present.

FITCH-PIERCE, MARY R.

Child Classics of Poetry. Compiled. 8vo, extra cloth, $1.00.

This exquisite gift-book is designed to familiarize children with the poetry of such authors as Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Bryant, Dr. Holland, etc.

Child Classics of Prose. Compiled. 8vo, extra cloth, $1.00.

Each one of the selections in this dainty volume is a gem, and will be an enduring source of delight to young readers. The illustrations make them familiar with some of the finest presentations of child-life.

FOA, MADAME EUGÉNIE.

The Boy Life of Napoleon, afterwards Emperor of the French. Adapted and extended for American children from the French original. Illustrated by Elbridge S. Brooks. One vol. Square 8vo, $1.25.

A timely and altogether attractive volume, and the only life of the boy Napoleon extant. Madame Foa was one of the most popular of French writers for young people, and her delightful account of the great emperor's boy-life has been revised and enlarged by the American editor so as to include all the latest information touching upon the childhood of the most remarkable man and military leader of the nineteenth century.

FOLSOM, A. P. and M. T.

Young Folks' Poetry. A choice selection of poems for Sunday-school and day-school recitations, selected and arranged by A. P. and M. T. Folsom. 12mo, $1.00.

FOSTER, MRS. M. J. C.

Immortal Hopes. Compiled from classics; with introduction by J. M. Buckley, D.D. 24mo, lavender, gold and silver, $.50.

FRENCH, HENRY WILLARD.

Colonel Thorndike's Adventures. See Downing (Marlton).

Lance of Kanana (The). Illustrated by Garrett. 12mo, $1.00.

A brilliant story of Oriental adventure in the tents and deserts of Arabia. The heir is a noble boy with a noble purpose. It is a tale to bring young patriots to their feet.

Oscar Peterson: Ranchman and Ranger. Fully illustrated, 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

A thrilling story of peril, hardship, and adventure in the wild West, with Indians, cowboys, and pioneer settlers for familiar figures. The plot is healthily exciting, the characters strongly drawn, and the story gives vivid pictures of life on the plains.

Through Arctics and Tropics. Around the World by a New Path for a New Purpose. A perfect storehouse of incident and anecdote, covering life and things in all quarters of the globe. Profusely illustrated, with colored frontispiece, cloth, $1.25.

FRÉMONT, JESSIE BENTON.

Far West Sketches. 12mo, $1.00.

Mrs. Frémont, beyond any other woman, saw the picturesque, the tragical, the humorous, and the noble aspects of the pioneer movement.

Souvenirs of My Time. 12mo, $1.50.

Jessie Benton Frémont, as well as her husband, General Frémont, and her father, Senator Benton, are historical figures. At fourteen she was bridesmaid to the youthful bride of Mr. Bodisco, then the Russian minister at Washington. The account is a genuine bit of history. It is followed by chapters on "Washington in Past Days,"

"Family Life at the White House," dealing especially with the days of Van Buren and Jackson; "Mrs. Madison and Mrs. Hamilton;" life at St. Louis, New Orleans, and in California, in her youthful days; and her journeys and experiences abroad, where she was received at the courts of several countries.

Will and the Way Stories. 12mo, $1.00.

Mrs. Frémont is always a fascinating writer, but never more so than when she touches upon the scenes and incidents of her early life in the great West.

GAGE, WILLIAM LEONARD.

A Leisurely Journey. 16mo, $1.00.

"Mr. Gage has, it is evident, excellent powers of observation, and no less excellent powers of description. The most interesting pages of his volume are, perhaps, those describing his visit to the Lake Country, and recalling memories of the poets of the Lake School — Coleridge, Southey, and Wordsworth. The chapters devoted to Germany, describing household life, the condition of music, the life of American students in Berlin, the religious state of the country, and like topics are also exceedingly readable." — Christian Union, N.Y.

GILMAN, ARTHUR, A.M.

American People (History of the). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Working very much on the general lines and methods of Mr. Green, in his history of the English people, Mr. Gilman notes the progress of the arts, of life, of literature, education, and social life, and in discussing political affairs, brings them up to the high standard of independent liberalism." — Independent, N.Y.

Gilman's Historical Readers:

As first books in American history, nothing has been offered to the schools which gives so clear a view of the whole subject in a style to interest the youth.

The series is graded.

No. 1, from the romantic nature of its story, is appropriate for the use of the youngest pupils.

The subject of No. 2 is more difficult, and the style is naturally adapted to the slight progress that ought to be made in using No. 1.

No. 3 discusses the principles of government, and the great topics that have engaged the attention of the American people during the last century.

No. 1. Discovery and Exploration of America (The). 128 pages, $.60.

No. 2. Colonization of America (The). 160 pages, $.80.

No. 3. Making of the American Nation (The). 192 pages, $1.00.

Kings, Queens, and Barbarians; or, Seven Historic Ages. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Magna Charta Stories. Edited by Arthur Gilman, A.M. 12mo, $1.00.

"The purpose of the volume is to present to young readers accounts of notable instances in the world's history, of men who have made their lives heroic in their sacrifices and struggles for Freedom." — Chicago Advance.

Short Stories from The Dictionary. 12mo, $.60.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"A very good book, which should be placed in the hands of children who have used the dictionary somewhat and begin to ask questions about the meaning of words." — Boston Beacon.

Tales of The Pathfinders. 12mo, illustrated by Robert Lewis, $1.00.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

Sketches in chronological order the thrilling adventures of the early American explorers, from the discovery of the continent to the Revolutionary War.

GIRL'S ROOM (A). By Some Friends of the Girl. 12mo, $1.00.

"A series of bright and helpful sketches about the furnishing and decorating of girls' rooms, various kinds of feminine fancy-work, and entertainments, and games for girls' enjoyment. The book is full of practical hints, which quick-witted girls will be glad to act upon." — Boston Journal.

GOODWIN, CHRISTINA.

After Schooldays. 12mo, $1.00.

"A pretty story, inculcating the prime necessity that young people should fit themselves to be self-supporting. Two sisters take up, the one dressmaking, the other making of cakes, jellies, and later, serving dinners and lunches. All girls may not have these particular gifts; but every one can count for service in an emergency, if only she has learned to do one thing well." — Springfield Republican.

Grammar School Fridays. 182 pages, paper, $.50.

Selections in prose and verse for declamations and public readings by young people. Many found in no other collection.

GRANVILLE, J. MORTIMER, M.D.

Health at Home Library. 5 vols., 16mo, $.60 each; the set, $3.00.

Works on mental and physical hygiene.

The entire series will fill a niche in many a person's need." — Providence Dispatch.

V. HOW TO MAKE THE BEST OF LIFE; it pays to be healthy; the means of health.

GREENE, BELLE C.

Hobbledehoy (The). The story of one betwixt boy and man. With text and full page illustrations by C. Chase Emerson. 12mo, $1.25.

No other book occupies precisely this field of stimulating romance. It is the story of a boy just changing from boyhood to manhood — the awkward, ambitious, honest, manly "hobbledehoy." It depicts the feelings, the desires, the aspirations, the awkwardness, and the manliness of the young fellow who is neither boy nor man, as no other story has ever done successfully. A charming story, charmingly told — a help, an inspiration, and an ideal.

New England Idyl. 12mo, $1.00.

A typical Vermont farm furnishes the scene of this pretty idyl. Hester Ruggles, a girl of twenty-four, is the support and guardian of her seventeen-year old, ambitious, pretty sister, her steady, helpful brother of sixteen, and the pet of the family, a boy of eight.

GREENE, C. A., M.D.

Build Well. 12mo, $1.50.

In this volume is given the basis of individual, home, and national elevation. It is filled with plain truths relating to the obligations of marriage and parentage.

GRIFFIS, W. E., D.D.

Arabian Nights' Entertainments (The). Library edition. 4 vols., fifty full-page illustrations, $6.00;

A splendid four-volume library edition of this great classic of Oriental romance, carefully printed from new type, richly bound, and illustrated with over forty full-page pictures of exceptional excellence. The introduction was prepared for American readers by the editor, Rev. Dr. Griffis, an accomplished Orientalist.

GRIMM, JAKOB LUDWIG.

Fairy Tales. Translated by Lucy Crane. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

GRINNELL, JOSIAH B.

Men and Events of Forty Years. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50.

It was to Mr. Grinnell that Horace Greeley made the famous remark, "Go West, young man, go West." The "young man" obeyed the injunction, established a town, was the founder of several others, of Grinnell University, and in every way a power for good in that growing country. His book is biography and history blended, with graphic pictures of places and people.

GUERNSEY, ALICE M.

Skeleton Lessons in Physiology and Hygiene. Pamphlet, flexible cloth cover, $.25.

Lessons are given on the nervous system, circulation, digestion, respiration, and the effects of alcohol and narcotics on the system.

GUINEY, LOUISE IMOGEN.

Brownies and Bogles. 12mo, $1.00.

"This little volume might be fitly styled a fairy handbook, as in it the author describes every kind of the 'little people' that is found in traditions or literature in all the countries of the world. The author mingles her descriptions with anecdotes illustrative of the different qualities and dispositions of the various fairy folk described, and the narrative is made even more interesting by the fifty original drawings by Edmund H. Garrett which are scattered through its pages." — Boston Transcript.

HALE, ANNIE G.

Uncle Mark's Amaranths. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Not a love story, but a story of love in a broad and abiding sense." — Golden Rule, Boston.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT.

"For more than thirty years the name of Edward Everett Hale has been among the foremost in American literature, and it is no exaggeration to say that no one man has done more in his way to strengthen, encourage, and aid young people in right thinking and right living than he." — Literary World, Boston.

Boys' Heroes. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

A popular, gossipy account of Hector, Horatius, Alexander the Great, Hannibal, King Arthur, Richard the Lion-Hearted, Bayard, Robinson Crusoe, Israel Putnam, General Lafayette, Napoleon, and Ralph Allestree.

"An original conjunction of heroes certainly, and every boy who reads Mr. Hale's account of them will not be willing to omit any from the list." — Christian Register, Boston.

Massachusetts (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50; half leather, $2.00.

Dr. Hale's "story" is a unique and comprehensive association of nineteen historical epochs in the history of Massachusetts, presented in the terse, picturesque, practical and absorbing manner that has made him a master among American history writers.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT, and Miss SUSAN.

Family Flights. 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.50 each.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

Fresh, piquant, graphic, full of delicate humor, marked by grace in diction and thorough scholarship, these books are not only unsurpassed, but unequalled by any books of similar character. They comprise:

A Family Flight Around Home.

This "Flight" around home takes in the principal towns and localities in Northern New York, and in the Eastern States, to which belong historical reminiscences of the Revolutionary War.

A Family Flight Over Egypt and Syria.

The family — four in number this time — make their flight from New York, landing at Bordeaux, and pushing on without stop to Marseilles, which they reach just in time to catch the steamer for Alexandria. At Alexandria they remain for two days, and then hurry on to Cairo. Here the Nile journey begins, and an entertaining record of each day's experiences is given. After their return to Cairo and a few days' rest they start for Suez, where they traverse the one hundred miles of the famous canal to Port Saïd, on the Mediterranean. From there they take the steamer to Jaffa, the most ancient town in the world. From there they push on to Jerusalem, and after an exhaustive exploration of the sacred city extend their travels to other historical localities of the Holy Land.

A Family Flight Through France, Germany, Norway, and Switzerland.

A month is spent in Paris, affording opportunity not only for general sight-seeing, but for study of the French language, the historic monuments, and the famous works of art. A winter in the cities of Germany gives a like opportunity for studying the language and history of Germany, and for enjoying a German Christmas. In Norway, "the land of the midnight sun," they meet with much that is novel and quaint, and in Switzerland they roam over the mountains associated with the name of William Tell.

A Family Flight Through Mexico.

This time the scene chosen for the flight of Miss Lejeune and her fellow-travellers is Mexico, where they visit the principal cities, see the noteworthy features, and learn some of the history of that Republic.

A Family Flight Through Spain.

In no respect inferior in interest or attractiveness to its predecessors. The country it describes is one of the most romantic and picturesque of any in Europe, and there is hardly a locality in its whole territory that has not some historic association to engage the attention of the traveller.

HALL, Rev. J. A.

Glimpses of Great Fields. 12mo, $1.25.

"The first chapter is devoted to force. In the second chapter he deals with the phenomena of mind and with the materialistic theory, the weakness of which it exposes. In the three chapters which follow and which have for their special subjects, 'Life,' 'The Brain,' and the 'Spiritual Body,' the argument is carried clearly and logically to the end, leaving no point uncovered and no so-called scientific objection unanswered. The author's style is remarkably simple and direct, and the work is wholly free from dogmatism or assumption." — Boston Transcript.

HAMILTON, GEORGE W.

Finding Blodgett. The story of a boy and his dog. 12mo, $1.00.

A stirring story of effort and pluck, and how a boy labored for justice — and got it. An excellent bit of character-sketching of life among the drovers.

HANAFORD, PHEBE A.

Dickens, Charles (Life and Writings of). 12mo, $1.00.

"Without the details of the more pretentious biographies, it gives the salient facts of his life and career, while the extracts from his writings, made with rare discrimination, present to the reader some of the most lovable of his creations, and the choicest specimens of his literary skill." — Belfast Republican Journal, Maine.

HANKS, S. W.

Crystal River Turned into The Black Valley Railroad Country (The). A famous Temperance Allegory. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

HANSCOM, ELIZABETH DEERING.

Lamb's Essays. A Biographical Study. Selected and annotated. 12mo, gilt top, $1.25.

A volume for the home-library shelf, comprising the most notable and personal of the Essays of Charles Lamb, with annotations explanatory of all the special references, hitherto but little understood.

HARLAND, MARION.

Cookery For Beginners. 16mo, boards, $.50; 12mo, $.60; cloth,

It contains just such counsel and instruction as every young housewife requires when she finds herself obliged to depend upon her own resources amid the perplexities and embarrassments of early housekeeping." — New York Observer.

HARRIS, AMANDA B.

American Authors for Young Folks. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

She tells us about the earlier group of American writers, — Irving, Cooper, Prescott, Emerson, and Hawthorne, — all of whom are gone, and also of some of those who came later, among them the Cary sisters, Thoreau, Lowell, Helen Hunt, Donald G. Mitchell, and others.

Door-Yard Folks. 12mo, illustrated by E. H. Garrett, $1.00.

"Door-yard folks" are animals: moles to begin with, toads, then humming-birds, fishes, foxes, squirrels: zoölogy. The winter garden is winter — bare twigs put in water and in-door sunshine: practical botany.

Little Folks' Birthday Book. Arranged. 12 full-page illustrations and pictures for every day. Square 24mo, tinted edges, cloth, $1.00.

Old School-Days. 12mo, $.60.

Pleasant Authors for Young Folks. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A volume of short biographies for young people — Scott, Miss Mitford, Charles Lamb, Leigh Hunt, Kingsley, MacDonald, Ruskin, Charlotte Brontè, and others are described.

Poet's Birthday Book (The). Edited. 24mo, 24 full-page illustrations, cloth, $1.00; seal, $2.50.

Original poems for each month by Longfellow, Whittier, Mrs. Whitney, Will Carleton, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Edgar Fawcett, Mrs. L. C. Whiton, Celia Thaxter, Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, John James Piatt, J. T. Trowbridge, and T. B. Aldrich, also selected day verses from all the poets. Pleasant lines for birthdays, with not a word of sadness or discouragement in them.

Wild Flowers and Where They Grow. With 60 illustrations by Miss L. B. Humphrey; 8vo, cloth, gilt edges, $1.50.

It is a real pleasure to accompany Miss Harris in her rambles through fields and woods, where wild flowers grow, and the pleasure is heightened by the faithful illustrations contributed by Miss Humphrey." — Chicago Journal.

HARRISON, PROFESSOR JAMES A.

The History of Spain. 12mo, cloth, 100 illustrations, $1.50.

"It is more useful than many of the larger works which were consulted for the information given in this volume; for it is a continuous narrative, giving the facts after careful sifting, and putting them in a way to be remembered when read." — Cleveland Herald.

HAYNE, PAUL HAMILTON.

Poems. 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $3.00; gilt edges, $3.75; half calf, $5.00; Turkey morocco, gilt edges, $8.00.

"He has interpreted Nature, we think, with as clear an insight as the poet of Rydal Mount. He has made the melancholy moanings of his Georgia pines sob through his verses. He has given voices to the Midnight Thunder; to the Windless Rain; to the Muscadines of the Southern Forests; to their Woodland Phases; to the Aspects of the Pines, as has not been heretofore done."— MARGARET J. PRESTON, in Preface.

HAYNES, MARY STORRS.

Crown of Life (The). Selections from the words of Henry Ward Beecher. Edited. With introduction by Rossiter W. Raymond. 12mo, cloth, $.75.

New Streams in Old Channels. Selections from the writings of Dr. Lyman Abbott. Introduction by Theodore T. Munger. 16mo, $.75.

Right to the Point. Selections from the writings of Theodore L. Cuyler, with a sketch of Dr. Cuyler's Life, and an Introduction by Rev. Newman Hall, LL.D. 12mo, $.75.

HEATON, JOHN L.

Vermont (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50.

Pre-eminently a modern story of the Green Mountain State, this bright, vigorous, and practical volume admirably chronicles the rise and progress of a State that has built itself by its sons and daughters into the life of a mighty nation. (Story of the States Series.)

HEREAFTER (THE). 12mo, cloth, $.60; paper, $.25.

The Boston Herald on Christmas Day (1887) propounded the following question: "What are the strongest proofs and arguments in support of the belief in a life hereafter?" and afterwards printed short answers from twenty-three religious teachers, mostly Boston clergymen — including Unitarians, Catholics, and Jews. This material is republished in this little book.

HEROINES OF THE POETS. Édition de luxe. Twelve poems by the most famous poets from Chaucer to Browning; the heroines pictured by Lungren, on India paper. Folio, cloth, gilt top, rough edges, within set in color, and lettering in gold, $12.00. Popular Edition, 8vo, cloth, gilt edges, $3.00.

"In the attractive volume we have the grave, sensitive, and lovely Aurora Leigh of Mrs. Browning, the Enid of Tennyson, Robert Browning's Balaustion, Robert Burns's Highland Mary, John Keats's Madeline, Coleridge's Genevieve, Wordsworth's Lucy, Scott's Ellen, Herrick's Corinna, Shakespeare's Cordelia, Spenser's Una, and Chaucer's Griselda. The artist has entered happily into the poets' conceptions." — Zion's Herald, Boston.

HEYWOOD, PHILIP D.

An Ocean Tramp. 12mo, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman, $1.25.

"The adventures in the work before us are so startling, so real, and so graphically described, that one cannot help agreeing with the author that life ashore in jail is better in many respects than the average experience of a sailor on a merchantman." — Republic, St. Louis.

HILL, MRS. GRACE LIVINGSTON.

Chautauqua Idyl (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"I have read Miss Livingston's little idyl with much pleasure. I cannot but think that if the older and more sedate members of the Chautauquan circles will read it, they will find that there are grains of profit in it; hidden grains, perhaps, but none the worse for being hidden at the first, if they only discover them." — E. E. HALE.

Katharine's Yesterday: A Christian Endeavor Story Book. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, $1.25.

A collection of some of the most earnest and helpful stories in the interest of the Christian Endeavor movement, by one of the most popular of the Christian Endeavor workers and writers. The stories all have a purpose; but they all possess interest, life, and sympathy. The book is one that will merit the approval and meet the needs of all earnest workers in helpful ways, and especially all interested in the work and mission of the noble societies for Christian Endeavor.

Little Servant (A). 12mo, $.50.

A pretty story of the possibilities for good in child life.

Pansies for Thoughts. Selections for each day's reading, from the writings of Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy). 16mo, cloth, $.60.

Parkerstown Delegate (The). 12mo, $.50.

A touching and beautiful Christian Endeavor story, in which the young hero, though a helpless invalid, achieves a grand work, and embodies the living principles of the society.

HILLOCK, ELIZABETH A.

Ned Melbourne's Mission. 12mo, $1.00.

Ned Melbourne was the son of a clergyman in the far West, and the nephew of a wealthy New York merchant, who sends for him to come to the city to be a companion and friend to his young daughter, while he himself goes abroad for his health. He meets with some curious adventures on his way to the great metropolis, and makes acquaintances which exert a very strong influence upon his future life. He has no idea of the "mission" he is to perform, and does not realize it until it is performed.

HOLDER, C. F.

A Strange Company. Illustrations by Beard, 12mo, $1.25.

"Many of the facts he cites will be new to older readers, such, for instance, as that of birds that fly under water the same as in the air; of four-footed animals with bills, and of birds with teeth. In a chapter devoted to the speech of animals, we are told how some of the noises made by insects are produced for purposes of communication, and how birds, fishes, and animals convey intelligence one to another. In another chapter the sports and games of animals are dealt with." — Philadelphia Press.

HOLROYD, DOROTHY.

Within the Shadow. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Cecil Chester, the heroine, is brought up in wealth and comfort, but has very few friends besides her lover, a lieutenant in the navy. The lover is on the sea, and the shadows begin to fall over poor Cecil's life one after another until the climax of darkness is reached. By a strange coincidence her own engagement ring, the sign and pledge of her present and future happiness, is the cause of this very depth of misery into which this poor girl is cast." — Salem Gazette.

HOMESPUN, SOPHIA. (Mrs. Harper Monmouth.)

Blue-Eyed Jimmie; or, The Good Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Johnny Jones; or, The Bad Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Much Fruit. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

An earnest plea, in story form, to the young, for kind deeds and words for the Master's sake.

Nettie Nesmith; or, The Bad Girl. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Ruthie Shaw; or, The Good Girl. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

HOPKINS, SELDEN R.

A Young Prince of Commerce. 12mo, $1.25.

A penniless boy's fortune. Hard work and brains make a strong combination, and circumstances are propitious. Beginning as chore-boy on a farm, Albert Vangrift becomes successively store clerk, bank president, railroad director, and vice-president of a railroad syndicate representing $10,000,000. He wins the hand of a girl whose life he once saved, and recovers his parents, supposed to have been lost by shipwreck.

HORWITZ, CARRIE NORRIS.

Fairy Lure. Translated from the German. Illustrated by Bridgman. 12mo, $1.50.

A selection of some of the best and most fascinating Arabian and German fairy stories. Adapted for American readers by the translator of Swanhilde.

Swanhilde, and Other Fairy Tales. 12mo, $1.50.

Dainty fairy tales, from the German; daintily illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

HOVEY, RICHARD.

Seaward. An Elegy on the death of Thomas William Parsons. With Notes and Biography. Royal 8vo, gilt top, uncut edges, in box, $1.50.

The poem is issued in charming style, with full page photogravure portrait, and exquisite illuminated initial; is beautifully printed and bound.

HOW TO LEARN AND EARN; or, Half Hours in Some Helpful Schools.

By Jessie Benton Frémont, Mrs. John Lillie, and other American authors. 12mo, 100 illustrations, $1.25.

The titles of the different chapters show the character of the book — "Cadet Life at West Point," "Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind," "Some Indian Schools," "The Training School-Ship Minnesota," "About Some Sewing-Schools," and others.

HUMPHREY, Mrs. FRANCES A.

Adventures of the Early Discoverers. 4to, illustrated, cloth, $.75.

A highly entertaining and instructive combination of history, biography, travel, and adventure. The author tells of the "Hide and Seek Islands," the voyages made to the New World by the Northmen, the Spaniards, Portuguese, and English, sketching by the way the lives of Vespucci, Columbus, Raleigh, Drake, and others.

Dean Stanley with the Children. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Five of Dean Stanley's sermons to children; with an introduction by Canon Farrar.

"In this charming book the author makes us feel the presence of that character so dear to all who know him, — Arthur Stanley, Dean of Westminster. It is one that every Christian mother will delight to read with her boys." — Springfield Register, Illinois.

Favorite Authors for Little Folks. 128 pages, cloth, $.60.

Sketches, with portraits, of authors who have made themselves at once familiar and dear to young readers by their stories and poems, — Longfellow, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Aldrich, Trowbridge, Stowe, Holmes, Alcott, Hawthorne, the Carys, Bryant, and Margaret Sidney.

How New England was Made. Cloth, $1.25.

A graphic account of the making of New England, for younger readers, by one of the best of historical story tellers. It covers the ground from the days of Myles Standish to those of Israel Putnam and Ethan Allen.

Little Folks of Other Lands. Written in collaboration with Fannie A. Chaplin. 203 pages, cloth, $.60.

Similar to the preceding in type, short sentences, and illustrations. Furnishes excellent reading in connection with first lessons in geography.

Queen Victoria at Home. With twenty-four portraits and pictures of palaces. Square 8vo, boards, $.50.

When I was a Little Girl, and Other Stories. 203 pages, $.60.

Large type, short sentences, attractive pictures. For Second Reader grades.

HUNTINGTON, FAYE.

Couldn't be Bought. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

"A delightful collection of short stories for boys and girls, adapted to the Sunday-School library. The volume takes its name from the leading story. The author has a pleasant and attractive style, and her stories have a large amount of 'telling' force in them." — Lutheran Observer.

Echoing and Re-echoing. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Modern Exodus (A). 12mo, $1.25.

Shows what young men can do in the interests of religious and temperance work in a small, irreligious neighborhood. There are strong contrasts of character, and the incidents of the story are strongly told. The book should be a power for good.

Mrs. Deane's Way. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Stories of Great Men. 16mo, $.50.

"Stories of Great Men" contains twenty-six brief biographical sketches of eminent men, written in a style suitable for the entertainment and instruction of young people. They begin with Addison and Alexander the Great, and close with Daniel Webster and Xenophon.

Stories of Remarkable Women. 16mo, $.50.

In the twenty-two brief sketches which make up this little volume, the author has packed a good deal of pleasant information about well-known women, among them Alice and Phœbe Cary, Miss Mitford, Margaret Fuller, Harriet Newell, Mrs. Alden ("Pansy"), Dorothea Dix, Miss Frances E. Willard, and others. No attempt is made to be exhaustive; but enough is given to furnish an idea of what has been accomplished by each, and to arouse an interest which will lead to further investigation.

Those Boys. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

HUSSEY, MARTHA S.

Teacher of reading in Girls' Latin School, Boston.

Helps in Teaching Reading. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A series of lessons under the following heads: Physical Culture (as applied to chest development, erect carriage of body, and deep breathing), Key-words, Picture-making, Contrasts, Inflection, Articulation, Emphasis, Rate of Movement, Pitch, Quality of Voice, Force, and Transition.

Helps by the Way. Compiled in collaboration with Sara W. Wilson. With Introduction by Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D. 16mo, cloth, plain, $.75; gilt edges, $1.25; seal, $2.50.

A text of Scripture, a few words from some English prose writer, and a short piece of poetry are given for every day in the year.

Helps by the Way. Édition de luxe, prepared as a memorial to Bishop Brooks, and containing his portrait and autograph in a beautiful photogravure frontispiece. Printed on parchment paper, and bound with antique decorations in gold, $2.50.

INGERSOLL, ERNEST.

Habits of Animals. 12mo, $1.00.

Old Ocean. 12mo, fully illustrated, $1.00.

Describes the waves, tides, and currents of the ocean, and the different forms of vegetable and animal life found therein. It also tells the stories of famous voyages of discovery and adventure, and of great battles that have been fought upon the ocean, all in the most interesting way.

INTERMEDIATE FRIDAYS. 160 pages, paper, $.30 and $.50.

Choice selections for recitations by boys and girls from eight to twelve years of age, containing many fine dialogues in both prose and poetry.

JAMES, REV. T., M.A.

Æsop's Fables. Illustrated by J. Tennie. 12mo, cloth, $.50.

JENNESS, MRS. THEODORA R.

Piokee and Her People. A sequel to "Two Young Homesteaders." 12mo, cloth, $1.50. Illustrated by Maria L. Kirk.

This is a delightful and fascinating story of the never-settled Indian problem. Piokee, being an Indian girl brought up in civilization, returns to her people thoroughly enthused with the one idea, — which is their civilization. A thread of romance is woven through the story.

Two Young Homesteaders. 12mo, 36 illustrations by Robert Lewis, $1.25.

"It is a series of life pictures in the far West. The 'two young homesteaders' are a plucky young girl and her brother, who attempt to carry on a small farm in Western Kansas. It gives a capital idea of the difficulties with which pioneer settlers have to contend, and of the perils which they sometimes have to undergo. Every boy and girl ought to read it." — B. B. Bulletin.

JOHNSON, M. O.

Carrie Ellsworth; or, SEED SOWING. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

This is the story of one year in the life of a bright, active little girl, who kept her eyes and ears open, and tried to learn what she could. She met no wild adventures, had no hair-breadth escapes, no strange fortunes. In her home, however, by her daily conduct and quiet ways, she tried to sow good seed.

JOHNSTON, RICHARD MALCOLM.

Little Ike Templin. Author of "MR. BILLY DOWNS," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

A collection of stories for the young people, by one of the best of Southern story-tellers. They are all bright and fresh, unique, attractive, and original.

JOSEPHUS, FLAVIUS (THE WORKS OF). A new edition of William Whiston's famous translations. Household edition, 12mo, illustrated, $1.00; family edition, illustrated, 8vo, gilt edges, $2.50.

JOWETT, B., M.A.

Thucydides. Translated into English with marginal analysis and index. Edited, with Introduction to American edition, by Andrew P. Peabody, D.D., LL.D. 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

KALEIDOSCOPE (THE). By Margaret Sidney, C. M. Livingston, and others. 12mo, cloth, $.50.

Eleven stories by eleven writers, and all about one picture. It is astonishing how unlike they are, and yet how true to the picture, and how thoroughly entertaining.

KEMPIS, THOMAS, À.

The Imitation of Christ. 18mo, cloth, $.50; seal, $.75; 16mo, cloth, plain, $.75; gilt top, $1.00.

"It remains to all time a lasting record of human needs and human consolations; the voice of a brother, who, ages ago, felt, and suffered, and renounced, in the cloister perhaps, with serge gown and tonsured head, with much chanting and long fasts, and with a fashion of speech different from ours, but under the same silent far-off heavens, and with the same desires, strivings, failures, and weariness." — GEORGE ELIOT.

KENDALL, MRS. E. D.

3 vols., 12mo, illustrated, $1.00 each.

JUDGE'S SONS. MASTER AND PUPIL. STANIFORDS OF STANIFORD'S FOLLY, THE.

Excellent for boys.

KENNEDY, W. SLOANE.

Longfellow, Henry W. Anecdotes, Letters, and Criticisms. Portrait and illustrations, 12mo, $1.00.

Longfellow has sung himself into the love, we might better say into the lives, of the whole English-speaking world. He is almost as well known and almost as well loved in England as in America. Mr. Kennedy's life is full and appreciative, and makes us understand better than before the wonderful beauty of character infused into all Longfellow has written.

Whittier, John G. His Life, Genius, and Writings. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Whittier as a boy, man, editor, and reformer, with a discriminating and complete analysis of his genius and writings.

KER, DAVID.

From the Hudson to the Neva. 12mo, 36 illustrations, cloth, $1.25.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States, for their public school libraries.

Every boy worth raising loves danger, and, the next best thing to that, a story of danger. This is just the book to suit him. It is a story of travel and adventure in Spain, France, Italy, Northern Africa, the Greek Islands, Servia, Turkey, Russia, and Borneo. It is literally overflowing with hair-breadth escapes from peril on land, water, and at the hand of man, both savage and civilized.

KEYSER, LEANDER S.

Bird-dom. 12mo, $1.00.

A series of delightful papers upon the characteristics and habits of birds.

KINGSBURY, REV. O. A.

Success; or, HINTS FOR LIVING. 12mo, $1.00.

These hints are grouped under three sections, and refer to individual living, social living, and religious living. They are chiefly for young people, and are intended to show them how to make the best of life.

KINGSLEY, ROSE G.

The Children of Westminster Abbey. Illustrated from photographs and old prints. 12mo, $1.00.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States, for use in their public school libraries.

A series of studies in English history by a famous Englishwoman, centring around the royal children buried in the great Abbey, and giving much information in regard to the venerable building, its history, legends, and tombs.

KINGSTON, W. H. G.

"Mr. Kingston is a spirited writer, and, justly, a great favorite with the boys. While his books of adventure are exciting, they are not unwholesome, and may be safely commended." — Literary World.

Charley Laurel. A story of sea life. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Fisher Boy (The); or, MICHAEL PENGUYNE. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Glimpses of fisher life on the Cornish Coast.

Little Ben Hadden; or, DO RIGHT, WHATEVER COMES OF IT. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Log House (The). 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $.50.

Peter the Ship Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Ralph and Dick. A sea story. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Virginia. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A story of adventure in the early history of our country.

Voyage of the Steadfast. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Young Whaler (The). 12mo, $.75.

KNEELAND, SAMUEL, LL.D.

Volcanoes and Earthquakes. Illustrated with 16 full-page engravings from photographs and drawings of the places visited. 8vo, $2.50.

"It is an interesting account of the author's visits and experiences at the famous fire-spitting mountains all over the world, and a popular account of the various phenomena in the way of earthquakes that the world has known." — Home Journal, Boston.

Recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States for school libraries.

KNIGHT, CHARLES.

Knowledge is Power. 12mo, $1.00.

"The author discusses, in a clear and masterly way, the relation between capital and labor, the duties of employee and employed, and the great advantage to each that a thorough knowledge of their work gives, and urges a broader culture for all classes." — St. Joseph Gazette

KNIGHT, MRS. S. G.

Ned Harwood's Visit to Jerusalem. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.25. Library edition, 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

The travellers were in no hurry. They spent much time in the places associated with Christ's ministry, and in the former homes of the patriarchs and prophets. The book is of especial value to Sunday-school teachers and scholars, because of the light it throws upon many difficult Scriptural passages, by its vivid descriptions. The manuscript was approved by Rev. Selah Merrill, D.D., for many years U. S. Consul at Jerusalem. The strictest accuracy has thus been secured without impairing the interest of the story. Cover in colors from original design.

KOKHANOVSKY, MADAME.

Rusty Linchpin and Luboff Archipovna. RUSSIAN STORIES.

Translated from the Russian by M. M. S. and J. L. E. 12mo, $1.25.

"Here are two exquisite idyls of Russian rural life. Innocent and ingenuous, ignorant of the falsity and fever of fashionable life, they have the freshness and simplicity of a good child. The local coloring adds to their bright cheerfulness, and the honest, kindly characters move us to a devout thankfulness." — Christian Union, N. Y.

LADD, HORATIO O., A.M.

New Mexico (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50; half leather, $2.00.

From the first, New Mexico has been a land of romance and fascination, and Dr. Ladd's account is the only complete popular presentation of the story of the wonderful land of gold. The book is an important addition to American history. (Story of the States Series.)

LAMB, CHARLES.

A Dissertation upon Roast Pig. Small 4to, illustrated, $1.00.

A separate issue of the humorous masterpiece of Lamb, "the frolic and the gentle." Printed on heavy paper, in clear, large type, characteristically illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

Lamb's Essays. A biographical study. (See HANSCOM, ELIZABETH D.)

LANMAN, CHARLES.

Japan and its Leading Men. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The book is in two parts. The first consists of brief biographical sketches of the leading men who in recent times have been honorably identified with the marvellous career of the Island Empire of the Pacific. The second is a bird's-eye view of the history of Japan, several chapters bearing on the outlying possessions of the Empire or on those countries directly connected with its history.

LAURIE, REV. THOMAS.

Mountain Nestorians. With a map of the country and numerous illustrations. 12mo, $1.25.

LAWRENCE, W. R.

Life of Amos Lawrence. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

No young people who have in them the basis of excellence, can read this volume without feeling a noble ambition to imitate the goodness and the usefulness of its subject. It is made up of letters written to members of his family, and was prepared and published by his son at the special request of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. M. C. U. of Boston and the students of Williams College.

LEE, YAN PHOU.

When I was a Boy in China. 16mo, $.60.

"Yan Phou Lee was one of the young men sent to this country to be educated here, and finally matriculated at Yale, where he graduated with honor. 'When I Was a Boy in China' embodies his recollections of his native country. It is certainly attractive, with more room for nature to operate and play in freely than is generally attributed to Chinese life. The peculiar merit of the book is that it is the only publication of the kind in which the work is done by a native hand." — The Independent, New York.

Recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States for their public school libraries.

LEONOWENS, Mrs. A. H.

Our Asiatic Cousins. 12mo, fully illustrated, $1.50.

Hindoos, Egyptians, Coreans — over twenty different peoples, their history and customs.

LEROW, CAROLINE B.

A Fortunate Failure. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"The fortunate failure was a money collapse that broke up a marriage engagement, and in this way delivered a worthy young girl from a worthless husband. Her after fate in life, however, was to be allied to one who was worthy of her; and their married life was blessed with genuine happiness." — National Baptist, Phila.

LESLIE, MRS. MADELINE.

Governor's Pardon (The); or, THE BRIDGE OF SIGHS. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Walter and Frank; or, THE APTHORP FARM. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

LETHERBROW, T.

Warwick Brookes' Pencil-Pictures of Child-Life. With Biographical Reminiscences. 28 exquisite photogravures. Square 12mo, $1.25.

"Mr. Brookes is little known in this country; but in England his name is as familiar to the lover of art as that of Sir Joshua Reynolds. . . . The innocence of childhood and its unrestrained freedom and grace were never more faithfully or sympathetically depicted than here, and to the artistic eye they will be a continual delight." — Boston Transcript.

LEWIS, ELEANOR.

Famous Pets. Fully illustrated. 4to, cloth, $3.00.

A perfectly fascinating book for every lover of animals. Its stories embrace horses, dogs, cats, birds, and almost every conceivable creature that will attach itself to man.

LITCHFIELD, GRACE DENIO.

Little He and She 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

A charming story of two intensely natural children, who by their love for one another, and their unconsciousness of the meaning of the word "hate," bring together two older persons who have been long estranged. A thoroughly healthy, unconventional, amusing, and helpful story for both young and old.

LITTLE TURK (A), and Other Interesting Boys and Girls. 12mo, $.75.

LIVINGSTON, MRS. C. M.

Katy Hunter's Homes. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

Bible Stories. 4to, boards, $.35.

LOTHROP, MRS. HARRIETT MULFORD. (See MARGARET SIDNEY).

LOTHROP'S ANNUAL OF PROSE AND POETRY. Boards, $1.00 profusely illustrated.

An attractive collection of stories, poems, sketches, and pictures, prepared for boys and girls by the foremost authors and artists.

LUNT, HORACE.

Across Lots. 12mo, $1.25.

"The wording of his descriptions have the same fine feeling which is detected in Izaak Walton's 'Complete Angler.' Here are the earnestness of Thoreau without his asides, and the utter self-forgetfulness of Jeffries without his lack of human feeling." — Boston Herald.

Short Cuts and By-Paths. 12mo, $1.25.

A delightful and breezy volume descriptive of open-air sights and scenes. It is by the author of "Across Lots," and has all the charm that made that book so welcome to every lover of wood life and rural highways and byways.

LUSKA, SIDNEY. (HENRY HARLAND.)

My Uncle Florimond. 12mo, illustrated by S. W. Edwards, $1.00.

Uncle Florimond is not the hero, but the inspiration, of the hero, the moving force in his life. Little twelve-year old Gregory Brace, the real hero, is driven from the only home he ever knew by an uncle's cruelty, and finds a refuge with some German Jews in New York City. His one ambition is to earn money enough to get to Paris, there to join his Uncle Florimond, a French nobleman, about whom he has always dreamed and pondered. Very unexpectedly, however, Uncle Florimond comes to him, and the boy becomes the protector of the man. The story is exceptionally fine in its portrayal of character.

MACDONALD, GEORGE, D.D., LL.D.

"He clenches the heart and soul of his reader with an iron grasp. Yet the power thus exerted, though the story is its vehicle, is independent of the story. It is in the man himself, and in the medium through which he beholds the world and its Creator, — things seen and unseen. He is pre-eminently realistic; not in the material, but in the spiritual, sense of the word. He looks directly and always into the soul of things, and that soul is to him the immanent God." — DR. A. P. PEABODY.

Cambridge Sermons. Pulpit utterances in the Shepard Memorial Church, Cambridge. 12mo, $1.25.

Rev. George L. Prentiss, D.D., Professor of Sacred Rhetoric in Union Theological Seminary, New York City, says: "'The Cambridge Sermons' have both refreshed and edified me in a high degree. They are full of spiritual power and light and sweetness. I have read them with real delight."

Christ Himself. 12mo, $.75; full gilt, $1.25.

The beauty and power of these papers maintain Dr. McKenzie's reputation as a writer of marked breadth and depth of thought.

Some Things Abroad. 12mo, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for all the school libraries.

A chatty account of the events of each day in a tour through the British Isles, Northern Europe, Italy, and the Holy Land.

"The author understands both what to describe and how to describe it. He blends fact and poetry, picturesque narrative and philosophical reflection, drollery and piety, with a skill and success which instruct, entertain, and help the reader, but never weary him. The quiet humor which flavors it is a great charm. This pervades its pages, but is never overdone. It is uniformly delicate and graceful." — Congregationalist, Boston.

MACKENZIE, HARRIET SLIDELL.

History of Switzerland. 12mo, 100 full-page illustrations, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for use in their public school libraries.

"The spirited writing of Miss Mackenzie is a very comprehensive history of the little Republic, past and present, as well as a gossipy sketch of manners and customs of the people. Its description of scenery is graphic." — The Inter-Ocean, Chicago.

McLEOD, GRACE DEAN.

Stories of the Land of Evangeline. 12mo, $1.25.

A collection of charming stories founded upon historic happenings in the romantic section known to the French as Acadia and to us as Nova Scotia.

MAGIC PEAR (THE). $.25.

MAGRUDER, JULIA.

Child Amy (The). 4to, cloth, $1.25.

This book is charmingly written, being a story of a little child picked up in mid-ocean by a boy who took upon himself her adoption and education. It shows how the child by her winsome ways made friends with the boy's uncle who had cast him off, thereby effecting a reconciliation between them.

Child-Sketches from George Eliot. Selected from the works of the great novelist. Illustrated by R. B. Birch and Amy Brooks. One vol. Square 8vo, $1.25.

This is a unique and delightful book for children, and for older readers as well. It introduces them to the children who appear in "Romola," "Middlemarch," "Mill on the Floss," "Silas Marner," etc., and is the best possible introduction, by a skilled and popular story-teller, to the leading romance-writer of the century.

MANN, MARY.

MASON, A. C.

1000 Ways of 1000 Teachers. A compilation of methods of instruction and dicipline practised by prominent public school teachers of the country. 200 pages, cloth, $1.50.

One of the most popular books for teachers. "Let me advise you to make a variety in your modes of teaching. If you have been teaching in one way that you think best, take another way to-morrow. The new way will be a revelation to some of your dull pupils with whom you have been unable to do anything."

MEARS, DAVID O., D.D.

The Deathless Book. 12mo, $1.50.

"For what the Bible has done for the soul of man, for the upbuilding of the church, for the progress of liberty, and the civilization of the world, the author proclaims his 'Jubilate Deo.' He shows that it has also been the basis of true learning and the central pillar of all good civil government. This volume is written with great intelligence, and is all aglow with a Christian's love for the Book of Books, the 'Deathless Book.'" — The Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

MEYER, LUCY RIDER, A.M.

Fairy Land of Chemistry (The); or, Real Fairy Folks. 12mo, $1.50.

The most momentous facts come skipping in with an elfin impertinence that is thoroughly enjoyable.

MOODY, MARTHA LIVINGSTON.

Alan Thorn. 12mo, $1.25.

A religious novel of wonderful power, free from sentimentality or cant.

Little Millionaire (A). 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

A charming story of child life in New York, in which the contrasts between plenty and poverty are sharply drawn, but in which the gentle influence of the little millionaire makes sweet the waste places of life. A delightful character-study for old as well as young.

MORISON, HELENA V.

Class of Seventy (The). 12mo, $1.00.

MOULTON, SUSAN M.

Hill Rest. 12mo, $1.00.

Luck of Alden Farm (The). ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1 00.

"The Luck of Alden Farm" takes us back to the old "drinking days," and describes the efforts of a single family in pushing the "new-fangled temperance notion."

Shell Cove. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

MUSICK, JOHN R.

The Banker of Bedford. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The story of a boy and girl, outcasts, the mystery of whose lives it unfolds.

MUZZEY, REV. A. B.

Prime Movers of the Revolution. Cloth, $2.00.

Personal reminiscences of men of the Revolution and their families, by one whose grandfather was among the "embattled farmers" of Lexington. The volume contains many important facts not to be found elsewhere.

NASON, REV. ELIAS.

Henry Wilson. His Life and Public Services. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"I have striven ever to be true to my country in peace and war; to maintain the cause of equal, impartial liberty; to maintain a policy that tended to enlighten our countrymen, lift burdens from the toiling millions, and make our country what we wish it should be—a grand democratic republic, the admiration of all the world."—HENRY WILSON.

The record of a life of such real and patriotic service is timely and desirable reading for young men.

NASON, EMMA HUNTINGTON.

White Sails. 8vo, illustrated, $1.50.

The author's love for children is so evident, and her knowledge of their ways of thinking and acting is so true, that these poems cannot fail to prove attractive to them, and there is a certain underlying consciousness of a mother's feelings, a sort of pervasive quality of womanliness that will send them straight to every mother's heart. Cover in blue, with frost-work design; fine paper, soft-tinted edges, beautiful original illustrations.

NICHOLS, COL. JAMES M.

Perry's Saints; or, THE FIGHTING PARSON'S REGIMENT IN THE WAR OF THE REBELLION. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The history of the 48th N.Y. State Volunteers in the late war. The colonel of the regiment, the Rev. James M. Perry, had, before entering the ministry, graduated at West Point, and taken part in the Mexican War. When news was received of the bombardment of Fort Sumter, he resigned the position he was occupying as pastor of the Pacific Street M. E. Church in Brooklyn, N.Y., and set about raising a regiment. His men, both from their fighting qualities and their fondness for hymn-singing, were called "Perry's Saints."

NICHOLS, LAURA D.

Lotus Bay. 4to, cloth, $1.25.

Family life at the seashore, with hints of geology, life-saving service, lighthouses, etc.

Nelly Marlow in Washington. Square 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

A continuation of "Overhead," "Underfoot," and "Up Hill and Down Dale."

"This is a charming story for girls, of how sweet-tempered Nelly Marlow went first to Washington and then to the Adirondacks; how she kept eyes and ears open, and learned history at one, and natural science at the other place. Its moral influence is of the highest order, and the book instructs as well as entertains."—Palladium, New Haven.

Overhead. Written in collaboration with Annie Moore. Introduction by Leonard Waldo of Harvard College Observatory. Square 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

A trip to the moon, Saturn, the sun, and various other stations, with a bit of easy astronomy sprinkled in. Astronomy without tears.

Underfoot. Square 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

Peeps into the earth we live on, especially at its caves, volcanoes, fossils, and petrifactions.

Up Hill and Down Dale. A Story of Nature. Square 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

Juvenile readers will be very much pleased with this story of New England life, which tells many pleasing things of little Nelly Marlow and her life at Hickory Corners.

NOURSE, PROF. J. E., U.S.N.

American Explorations in the Ice Zones. 8vo, illustrated, boards, $1.75; cloth, $2.25.

"Prof. J. E. Nourse of the United States Navy, has done valuable service in gathering into one volume the salient facts in the history of American explorations in the Ice Zones. He has grouped together all in relation thereto that the ordinarily well informed reader will care to know." — Chicago Tribune.

Recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States for their public school libraries.

OBER, FRED A.

In the Wake of Columbus. By a special commissioner of the Columbian Exposition. One volume, crown 8vo, uncut edges, gilt top, 500 pages. Special cover, with Spanish and American decorations, $2.50.

Édition de Luxe. A special limited edition of 250 copies, signed by the author. Printed on the best English paper, and bound in extra half-calf, gilt top. One vol. large 8vo, in box, $10.00.

A notable book, abounding in unique information not otherwise obtainable. The marvellous story of discovery and adventure becomes vastly more real when one studies it in this fashion, and Mr. Ober's style is delightful. A valuable contribution to American history. Illustrated by nearly 250 photographs and pen sketches made expressly for this book.

John North in Mexico. A story of the Silver City. 4to, fully illustrated, $1.00.

Mexico, Young Folks' History of. 12mo, $1.50.

"He has the advantage of treating an unhackneyed subject, and the further advantage of a personal acquaintance with the country and people described. His book, which contains a number of illustrations, may be safely recommended to young people as an agreeable and well informed history." — Boston Journal.

Montezuma's Gold Mines. 12mo, illustrations by Sandham, $1.00.

The hero is a young naturalist, who visits Mexico as a bird collector, and seeks for Montezuma's legendary gold mines. He is regarded with suspicion by the Indians, and meets with harrowing adventures. Escaping from his captors, he lays a plan with a friendly native to go in search of the storied mines, and, after hair-breadth escapes innumerable, finds the treasure.

Silver City, The. 8vo, 100 illustrations from descriptions and photographs by W. P. Bodfish, cloth, $.75.

"John North, a New England boy, is filled with a desire to go to Mexico from reading an old volume on 'The True History of the Conquest of Mexico.' He is wrecked on the coast of Yucatan. Here he has many exciting adventures, and finally makes his way into Mexico, where, among the Indians, he discovers his lost father." — Literary News, N.Y.

OLIVER, MARIE.

But Half a Heart. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A story in which fate seems to coquette in a strange manner with the lives of all the characters, producing strange results and mismatched couples throughout.

Margie's Mission. 12mo, $1.50.

Margie's mission is by no means a pleasant or romantic one; but she bravely accepts it, and, although her trials are neither few nor light, its fruits are abundant and permanent.

Old and New Friends. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Ruby Hamilton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

OSWALD, FELIX L.

Days and Nights in the Tropics. 4to, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

An expedition through Brazil to collect specimens for the department of natural history in a national museum established by several rich Brazilian merchants in Rio Janeiro, is the reason for numerous strange and exciting adventures, in the search for minerals, plants, and animals. Two boys, who accompany the expedition, have an unusually good time, their pranks making the volume very interesting to young readers.

OTIS, JAMES.

Little Joe. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00

The haunts of the New York street gamin may not seem a likely spot to seek good in; but James Otis has sought and found it there, and reveals it to us in this story of the hardships and heroisms of newsboy life. Little Joe, this story's hero, is a delightful character. The pathos of the letter he wrote to his kind protectors when at the point of death is both true and tender. But our Joe did not die. His unselfish little life had touched a bereaved mother's heart, and she nursed him back to health.

OXLEY, J. MACDONALD.

Archie of Athabasca. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.25.

A genuine Canadian story of trapper life in the wild woods of British Columbia, with Indians and hunters. It is stirring, realistic, fascinating, and will just suit "live" boys who enjoy real adventure.

PALMER, MARY T.

The Doctor of Deane. 12mo, $1.25.

The heart-story of an eligible physician in a town with two young women in it, bright and beautiful and uncommonly good withal.

"It holds an uncommonly distinct and agreeable group of portraits. Uncommon, too, is the perceptive quality which has taken note of innumerable subtleties of thought and feeling under the conditions of daily life, and set them down with a faithfulness that is in touch with nature, yet that never becomes odious by over-analyzing." — The Nation, N. Y.

"PANSY," See MRS. G. R. ALDEN.

PARKER, FRANCIS W.

Pictures for Language Lessons. $.40.

Helpful thoughts for overcoming the world.

Thoughts of Beauty and Words of Wisdom. Selected from the writings of John Ruskin. 12mo, $.75.

In preparing this volume Miss Porter has confined herself to Ruskin's discourses on nature, morals, and religion, for the reason that they are less known to general readers than those that deal with art and kindred topics; yet they are full of revelations of the wonders of sky and cloud, mountain and rock, trees, mosses, grass, and flowers.

Treasure Thoughts from Canon Farrar. Compiled. 12mo, $.75.

"The writings of this thoughtful preacher are full of striking utterances, ideas that deserve to live. The gems here contained are well selected, and show admirably the genius and peculiar views of the author on the great topics that concern us all." — Philadelphia Inquirer.

PRATT, Rev. J. L., LL.D.

Bonnie Ærie. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A young minister away on his vacation is by chance detained over the Sabbath in a half-deserted Godless hill town. He preaches to the people, and is so touched by their needs that he decides to make his home among them. Intemperance and infidelity are his strongest foes; but after a hard struggle he gains a sure footing, and gradually the aspect of the whole village is changed.

Branches of Palm. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Broken Fetters. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"The soul may build about itself thick walls of error, may bolt the iron doors with half-truths, may get wonted to the dense twilight of its self-made prison, may judge the light sufficient for every need, may even believe itself happy; but what a wondrous surprise, what a glad experience, when the mighty spirit breaks the bolts and throws wide the door, and leads forth that soul unfettered into the pure sunlight of God's truth." — AUTHOR'S PREFACE. Such was the experience of George Clinton, the hero of the story.

Evening Rest. ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A Harvard student visits an uncle at Evening Rest, during the summer months, where religion, security, and peaceful quiet seem to pervade the very atmosphere." — San Francisco Post.

RAFFENSPERGER, Mrs. A. F.

Patience Preston, M.D. 12mo, $1.25.

"Away up in a little mountain city in Pennsylvania, where the idea of women as physicians had not had any practical illustration, and where public sentiment was quite opposed to such a thing, Miss Preston finds her lot cast, and sets about proving her ability to practise medicine and yet be a womanly woman. She succeeds in both respects, winning a good practice, the respect and love of the people, and a warm Christian faith for herself." — Christian Weekly, New York.

Those Raeburn Girls. 12mo, $1.25.

"The problem of women's self-support discussed sensibly and suggestively." — Congregationalist.

After the Freshet. 12mo, $1.25.

A manly young fellow, in ignorance of his parentage, struggles against great odds, and proves himself superior to the people who adopted him as well as worthy of his ancestry.

Bark Cabin on Kearsarge (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A sea captain makes his home for a summer among the wilds of Old Kearsarge. That there are incidents and excitements such as young readers, and old for that matter, like, will be evident from a glance at such captions as 'Lost on Moat Mountain,' 'Fire in the Forest, 'Jule and the Wild Beast,' etc." — Advance, Chicago.

Down East Master's First School (The). 12mo, $1.25.

A quaint, homely, and enlivening story of a young "Down Easter's" experience with his first school in a typical section of Yankeeland a generation ago. Full of fun and action, and yet with a purpose, pathos, and sentiment.

Little Brown-Top and the People Under It. 12mo, $1.25.

Pushing Ahead; or, BIG BROTHER DAVE. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"The story of this volume is that of a bright boy who has to work his own way along, and who succeeds by good and faithful behavior. It is told pleasantly, and will both interest and stimulate its young readers." — Congregationalist, Boston.

Roy's Dory at the Seashore. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Tent in the Notch (The). 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $1.00.

RAYMOND, ROSSITER W.

Brave Hearts. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Here are sketches of life in the extreme West, as it was in the earlier days of stage-coach travelling, when thrilling incidents, peril, and adventure gave a dramatic charm both to reality and romance.

Man in the Moon (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The stories that make up this charming volume are unique and fanciful, full of dainty imaginings, yet simple and wholesome in tone.

Two Ghosts and Other Christmas Tales. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A cheerful philosophy and wholesome good sense pervade this collection, in spite of the ghostly title. The stories are bright, rollicking, and entertaining, with an undercurrent of seriousness even in their fun, that gives them a helpful influence.

RHOADES, Lieut. H. E., U.S.N.

Around the World with the Blue-Jackets. Cloth, $1.50.

An entertaining and graphic description of service afloat on a Man-of-War, despatched to show the flag of the United States in out-of-the-way places and to out-of-the-way peoples.

RHYMES, CHIMES, AND JINGLES.

A new and beautiful book for the little folks, filled with all that is brightest and best. Fully illustrated with fifteen full-page colored plates and many pictures in black and white. 4to, boards, $1.00.

RICHARDS, Z.,

Natural Arithmetic (The). Specially prepared for elementary schools. 122 pages, boards, $.60.

It is simple, thorough, and practical, all the various methods usually taught being reduced to the simple forms of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, and their operation upon integers, fractions, and denominate numbers.

RICHARDSON, W. H.

Graded Language Lessons. Parts I., II., and III. 48 pages each, manilla covers, each $.15; in one volume, boards, $.35.

Part I. contains exercises suited for Second and Third Reader classes. Part II. is suited to Intermediate and Fourth Reader classes, and Part III. introduces Syntax.

The idea of all three Parts is to teach by models, instead of definitions and rules. Will be found very useful either alone or to furnish drill matter in connection with any language book.

RIMMER, CAROLINE HUNT.

Nothing could be more exquisite than these dainty figures by which, with the accompanying text, children are trained to use their pencils in beautiful and accurate delineations of the human figure. The book will be invaluable for the kindergarten or the home.

ROADS, CHARLES H.

Little Children in the Church of Christ. 12mo, illustrated with diagrams, etc., $1.00.

A unique yet practical series of illustrated talks and lessons for the use of teachers of infant classes, with blackboard exercises.

ROBERTS, JOHN S.

Life and Explorations of David Livingstone. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"This is one of the most interesting books treating of the labors of Dr. Livingstone, that we have ever perused." — Boston Transcript.

ROLLINS, FRANK WEST.

The Ring in the Cliff. 12mo, illustrations by L. J. Bridgman, $1.25.

A dark cave, an antique chest containing a mysterious parchment roll, a deserted island, another chest of pirate's gold, and, better still, bravery, fidelity, and self-sacrifice.

Time: Three quarters of a century ago.

Scene: The Isle of Shoals.

Now imagine the story.

ROMAULT, CHRISTOPHER.

The Island Home; or, THE YOUNG CASTAWAYS. 12mo, $1.25.

RYDER, ANNIE H.

Go Right On, Girls. 12mo, $1.00.

Twelve bright, cheery, much-needed talks to girls about the development of their bodies, minds, and characters.

"Your new book is very remarkable; sweet, fresh, bright, true, and strong all through. I am uplifted by its noble tone." — MARY A. LIVERMORE.

Hold up Your Heads, Girls! 12mo, $1.00.

"The author of 'Hold Up Your Heads, Girls!' has, in the treatment of a very important subject, invested it with an interest and brightness which will make it pleasant and even fascinating reading for the class of young people to whom it is addressed. It is a book for study, for companionship, and the girl who reads it thoughtfully and with an intent to profit by it will get more real help and good from it than from a term at the best boarding-school in the country." — Boston Transcript.

New Every Morning. A YEAR BOOK FOR GIRLS. Edited. Square 16mo, cloth, $.75; white and gold $1.25; limp, seal, $2.50.

Choice readings for girls for every day in the year.

"There is a happy blending of practical common sense, pure sentiment, and simple religious fervor." — Education, Boston.

Margaret Regis and Some Other Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"The college life of young women is described in this book in a very entertaining way, and in a spirit the most wholesome and cheerful. Margaret Regis is a splendid creation of the author's fancy, just such a young woman as all of us like to read about. She is emphatically a woman with a purpose. How the current of her life was turned from the intended course makes an interesting narrative which the reader will find full of profit."— Cleveland Leader.

RYDINGSVARD, VON, ANNA. (BARONESS VON PROSCHWITZ). See SEGERSTEDT.

RYLE, J. C.

Scripture Birthday Book. Edited. 24mo, illustrated, $1.00; morocco, $2.50.

SAFFORD, MARY J., M.D.

Health and Strength Papers for Girls. In collaboration with Mary E. Allen. 16mo, $.60.

"What a blessing to our girls if this book could only be distributed and read throughout the land! Many a mother is the unconscious cause of her daughter's ill health. Both the authors are authorities on these questions." — Sunday-school Journal.

ST. JOHN, CYNTHIA MORGAN.

Wordsworth for the Young. 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

A careful and happy compilation of the great English poet's most poetic thoughts, selected with special reference to young readers, and prefaced with an interesting essay on the study of Wordsworth by the young, designed for the guidance of elders.

SANBORN, ALVAN F.

Masterpieces of Prose. Compiled. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $3.00.

A volume containing selections from the best and deepest thinkers of the ages; embracing family life, orations, events of the times, history, biography, essays, fiction.

SARGENT, DUDLEY A., M.D.

In Case of Accident. 16mo, $.60.

"An exceedingly practical and suggestive little treatise by the Director of the Hemmenway Gymnasium at Harvard University. It deals with the simplest remedies and treatment to be employed in case of accident. If the contents were thoroughly understood and laid to heart, there would be less time wasted when sudden emergencies present themselves." — Boston Journal.

SAUNDERS, JOHN.

The Tempter Behind. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"Concannon starts on a high level, but, when the story begins, has all but exhausted the patience of a devoted uncle, whose heir he was to be. The history of his struggle to regain solid ground is treated in a strong and truthful way." — The Independent, New York.

SAWYER, HARRIET ADAMS.

Song of the Christ (A). Crown 8vo, uncut edges, gilt top, silver and gold illuminated cover, in box, $1.00.

The story of our Saviour's life told anew in sweet and musical verse. Illustrated with sixteen full-page cuts from original drawings.

SCHOOL SONGS, GRAMMAR SCHOOL, NO. 1. 32 pages. Three-part songs, $.15.

SCHOOL SONGS, HIGH SCHOOL, NO. 1. 32 pages. Four-part songs, $.15.

SCHOOL SONGS, INTERMEDIATE NO. 1. 32 pages. Mostly two-part songs, $.15.

SCHOOL SONGS, PRIMARY, NOS. 1, 2, 3, 32 pages each, manilla covers, $.15: or, the three combined, boards, $.35.

For primary grades only. One and two part songs, with some blackboard music and motion songs.

SEAWELL, MOLLY ELLIOT.

Through Thick and Thin. (Comprising a soldier story, "Through Thick and Thin," and a sailor story, "The Midshipmen's Mess.") Square 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

No more delightful delineator of life in the camp and of life afloat than Miss Seawell writes to-day for young people. Her stories are strong, breezy, helpful, and inspiring; and it is hard to tell whether her mischievous but manly middies, or her restless but chivalrous cadets, are her best creations. Both, in fact, are equally good and equally attractive.

SEGERSTEDT, DR. ALBREKT.

My Lady Legend. Translated by Anna von Rydingsvärd (Baroness von Proschwitz). 12mo, $1.25.

Mrs. Rydingsvärd has so thoroughly caught the spirit of these dainty "prose poems," that they seem to take on new beauty. Their quaint humor and genial moral happily represent the character of the author, who has been called the Hans Christian Andersen of Sweden.

SEWARD, OLIVE RISLEY.

Around the World Stories. 12mo, $1.25.

Vivid descriptions of remarkable places and people seen in a famous tour.

SEWELL, ANNA.

Black Beauty: His Grooms and Companions. 12mo, with twelve full-page illustrations, cloth, $1.00.

A choice edition of this delightful and famous classic of humanity which should be in the hand of every lover of the horse. Its influence upon young people in giving them distinct ideas of humanity and kindness in their treatment of animals will be invaluable.

SHAKESPEARE BIRTHDAY BOOK (THE). Illustrated. A quotation from Shakespeare and a blank for every day in the year. 24mo, cloth, tinted edges, $1.00; seal, $2.50.

SHAKSPEARE ORACLE (THE). A novel device to familiarize young people with Shakespearian poetry, while affording social entertainment. In pink and yellow covers, with beautiful wheel designs, and ornamentation. In box, $.50.

SHAKESPEARE'S TWILIGHTS. Small quarto, gilt edges, $1.00.

Some of the brightest, daintiest gems of Shakespeare's poetry find places in this attractive book. It has original and beautiful illustrations by W. L. Chaloner and H. P. Barnes.

SHERWIN, E. H.

In Time of Need. With an Introductory Poem by W. F. Sherwin. In cloth or in cream paper, embossed in gold, gilt edges, 24mo, cloth, $.50.

A volume of Bible texts to cheer and encourage.

SHERWOOD, MRS. M. E. W.

Royal Girls and Royal Courts. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.25.

"Perhaps the most graphic picturing of the home life of princesses that has ever been given. The training of the girl born to royal life, — the severe and exacting discipline in study, the knowledge she must acquire of languages, music, and etiquette, and also of state economies and finance, — is finely depicted." — Boston Traveller.

Sweet Brier. Illustrated by Taylor. 12mo, $1.25.

A study of social life and customs in the guise of a charming story. A wise and charming book to put into the hands of young girls.

SIDNEY, MARGARET.

"Among the writers of juvenile literature, Margaret Sidney has taken a place in the front rank. She is familiar alike with fun and pathos, the two avenues to young hearts; and while her pages sparkle with merriment, they always manage to put a high premium on manly and womanly qualities." — Congregationalist.

Adirondack Cabin (An). Cloth, $1.50;

A brilliant book of travel, in which a large party of old and young people have varied experiences in the wonderful Wilderness. There are seventy-five illustrations; more than thirty full-page.

Child's Day Book (The). Compiled and arranged. With five colored plates. 4to, boards, $.35.

Dilly and the Captain. 12mo, illustrations by F. Childe Hassam. $1.00.

Dilly was a little girl who became tired of hearing continually "children should be seen and not head." She induces the captain, a boy somewhat older than herself, to start with her and find a place where boys and girls can find out things without asking older people. He has a bicycle, and she a tricycle. Their adventures are told by one who understands children.

Five Little Peppers, and How They Grew. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of various States for use in their public school libraries.

It is a children's classic.

"A book of home life and love. It tells the story of a poor family, obliged to pinch and plan and scrimp from day to day, but the members of which are so imbued with the home-spirit as to make the little brown house in which they live a genuine paradise." — Chicago Interior.

Five Little Peppers Midway. Square 12mo, $1.50.

Five Little Peppers Grown Up. Square 12mo, $1.50.

"Sparkles with life and animation. A fine ideal, skilfully wrought, without moralizing, into practical living; and the young people are bright and jolly, and enjoy their lives as everybody ought." — Woman's Journal.

Golden West (The) as Seen by the Ridgway Club. 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"Description of a trip through Southern California. A delightful travel story — one of the best it has been our fortune to see for a long time." — New Haven Palladium.

Half Year at Bronckton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Bronckton is a small village, containing little except a school for boys; but this school is a little world in itself, and the battles that are fought and the victories that are won there differ only in degree from the battles and victories in the great world outside.

Hester, and Other New England Stories. 12mo, $1.25.

"The tales included in this little volume are well worth reading, both as stories and as pictures of the old New England farm and village life which is now so rapidly disappearing or changing in its character under the influence of a change of population." — Christian Union.

How They Went to Europe. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

"These lively pages tell of the doings of a club of bright boys and girls who go to Europe 'on paper,' as the only way of 'keeping up' with some wealthy cousins who were making the much-coveted journey in reality." — New Orleans Times Democrat.

How Tom and Dorothy Made and Kept A Christian Home. 12mo, $.75.

"Tom Foster is a clerk in a store in New York on ten dollars a week. Dorothy Barnes, whom he marries and takes to the city, is a girl of high aspirations and loving character, and with little experience in the ways of the world. Both were professed and earnest Christians. They accepted the fact at the outset that it would be a struggle to live as their desires would tempt them to live on ten dollars a week. Their experiences during the first year are interestingly told, their little trials and temptations, common to all, are touched upon, and the story can but be helpful to readers who are in a like position." — Morning Star, Boston.

Little Paul and the Frisbie School. 12mo, $1.00.

"Little Paul" is one of the most winsome of this favorite author's many charming boy characters, a brave little hero, who battles always for the right. The famous "Frisbie School" forms part of the story.

Little Red Shop (The). 12mo, $1.00.

"The Little Red Shop" was the establishment of Brimmer Brothers and Company, dealers in "apples, potatoes, family provisions, and — butter and doughnuts." At least that's the way it began. The "Brimmer Brothers" were Jack and Corny; Rosalie was "Company," and Parson Higginson was silent partner. The object of the "establishment" was to earn money for Mamsie and baby Roly Poly. A delightful story of racy New England life and child-life.

Lullabies and Jingles. Compiled and arranged. With five colored plates. 4to, boards, $.50.

New Departure for Girls (A). 12mo, paper, $.50; cloth, $.75.

The "young girls" are daughters of a merchant tailor who dies after being robbed by his partner. They are penniless, and without accomplishments to turn into money. Luck favors them, and they help others, and give much useful advice to young women looking for work.

Old Concord: Her Highways and Byways. Illustrations from photographs by A. W. Hosmer, of Concord, and L. J. Bridgman. 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

"One of the choicest souvenirs of the home and haunts of Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, and the Alcotts." — Boston Globe.

"It is written in a style as delightful and enticing as Stevenson's 'Edinburgh' or Hare's 'Florence.'" — American Bookseller.

Old Town Pump (The). A village story. Illustrated by H. P. Barnes. One vol., 12mo, $1.25.

An admirable story, descriptive of life in a New England village, with all its little woes and worries, its friendships and mysteries, its generosities and its selfishnesses. The tale has enough of the mysterious to interest, enough of the adventurous to attract, and enough of the dramatic to hold the boy and girl readers for whom it was written, and who always welcome with delight a new story by the author of the "Pepper" books.

Our Town. 12mo, $1.25.

A graphic story of town life, showing the work of a Christian Endeavor Society in a poplous muanufacturing town. It is full of stirring incident, of keen, realistic, dedescriptions of place and people, and the numerous characters are so strangely individualized that they seem to live and move before us.

Pettibone Name (The). 12mo, $1.25.

"A story of New England life. The plot of the tale is laid in a town named Barkhamstead. The characters include the parson, the deacon, the dressmaker, the doctor, and the various personages that go to make up a country town. The heroine is an old maid, whose love for her brother causes her to burn her father's will, and the property thereby reverts to him. None other knows of this piece of self-denial but the dressmaker, who keeps the secret until the wedding-day of the heroine." — School Journal, New York.

Rob. A story for boys. 12mo, $1.00.

"'Rob' has the crisp, strong, quaint, and tender character sketching that Margaret Sidney knows so well how to do. It tells how a boy with an opportunity can make the most of it." — Young Idea.

St. George and the Dragon, also Kensington, Jr. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Religious in its teaching, and yet not denominational, 'St. George and the Dragon' and 'Kensington, Junior' are excellent stories, bright, entirely free from cant, and inculcating their lessons of faithfulness and charity in a manner truly admirable." — Boston Herald.

So as By Fire. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"The title indicates the teaching of this entertaining story, how sanctified sorrow is oftentimes the greatest of blessings. Through trial and abject misery is the erring one brought into the path that leads to eternal life." — Presbyterian Journal, Philadelphia.

Two Modern Little Princes, and Other Stories. 12mo, illustrated, boards, $1.00.

"It is just the book for a gift to a boy or girl of nine or ten. Indeed, the stories are just such as a good mother would delight to tell her children, they, meanwhile, listening with closest attention, and learning many little lessons of life from the tales that are told." — Detroit Advertiser.

What the Seven Did; or, The Doings of the Wordsworth Club. Square 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

"Charming entertainment is in store for the young folks, in the experiences and adventures of the Wordsworth Club, so called because they said, 'We are Seven.' The growth of this little club in the good they accomplished, and the improvement to themselves, will interest grown people when they read it aloud to the younger ones." — Christian Observer, Louisville, Ky.

Whittier with the Children. Description of the child-side of the Quaker poet. Illustrated with full-page photogravure frontispiece and sixteen exquisite cuts from photographs and drawings, made at the poet's homes, of his pets and favorite retreats. Royal 8vo, uncut edges, gilt top, $1.50.

Who Told It to Me. Square 8vo, illustrated, cover design by F. Childe Hassam, cloth, $1.50.

Neighbor boys and girls growing up together, having their ins and outs, and ups and downs; while the old folks had their share in the young folks' doings, as they ought.

For Margaret Sidney's latest works (since 1895), see List of New Books, pages 54-58.

SIMMONS, Rev. J. R.

Sunday Album for Boys and Girls (A). Arranged, quarto, $1.25.

Pictures on every leaf. Each picture illustrates several passages in Scripture, to which reference is given.

SMITH, MINNA C.

Boys of Cary Farm. 12mo, $1.25.

The boys of Cary Farm were five in number; all brothers, healthy, fun-loving, and always ready for a good time.

SMITH, Rev. S. F., D.D.

Knights and Sea Kings; or, The Middle Ages. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Fascinating history out of the beaten track compiled by the author of "America." It describes the curious origin of the little known order of Knights Hospitallers, its marvellous growth, its temporary decline and subsequent revival, its meridian glory, and final downfall.

Mythology and Early Greek History. 12mo, $.75.

Noble Workers. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Poor Boys Who Became Great; or, Stories of Success. 12mo, $1.00.

SMITH, WILLIAM, LL.D.

Dictionary of the Bible. 8vo, abridged, $2.00.

SMITH, Rev. WM. F.

Who is Responsible? 12mo, $1.25.

"A young man of much promise, who has the ministry in his heart as his life-calling, is induced by his relatives to undertake a business career instead, falls into temptation, yields, and makes complete shipwreck of his life." — Morning Star.

SOLDAN, Prof. F. LOUIS.

Grube's Method of Teaching Arithmetic Explained. With a large number of practical hints and illustrations. 66 pages, flexible cloth covers, $.40.

The first and only complete exposition of this popular method of teaching elementary arithmetic published in America. The method is becoming every year more popular in the United States.

SONGS OF FAITH, HOPE, AND LOVE. 24mo, cloth, $.60.

A dainty collection of poems, drawing lessons of faith, hope, and love from the songs of birds, and applying and instilling them into human lives. Among the poets represented are Bunyan, George MacDonald, Wordsworth, Whittier, Keble, and Charles Kingsley.

SOUTHEY, ROBERT.

Nelson (Life of). With illustrations by Birket Foster. 12mo, $1.00.

SPARHAWK, FRANCES C.

Chronicle of Conquest (A). 12mo, $1.25.

A sprightly Vassar girl's vacation romance, introducing a complete, accurate, and fascinating account of life in the famous Indian school at Carlisle.

Little Polly Blatchley. 4to, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

"Judging from the many attempts and the very few real successes, it must be a difficult thing to write a book for children which shall be neither too silly nor too sensible, neither above nor below their comprehension and capacity for enjoyment. It seems to me that Miss Sparhawk's 'Little Polly Blatchley' keeps the happy medium, and that her little book will be a welcome addition to our juvenile literature." — JOHN G. WHITTIER.

SPRAGUE, HOMER B., A.M., Ph.D.

President University of North Dakota.

Masterpieces in English Literature, and Lessons in the English Language, with a Brief Statement of the Genealogy of the English Language, Biographical Sketches, Explanatory Notes, Suggestions for Expressive Reading, Methods of Analysis, etc. 445 pages, cloth, $2.50.

Contains Chaucer's "Clerke's Tale," Spenser's "Epithalamium," several of Bacon's Essays, Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Milton's "Comus," part of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." A complete book for students in high schools and colleges.

SPYRI, JOHANNA.

Swiss Stories. Translated from the German by Lucy Wheelock. 12mo, $1.00.

"Madame Johanna possesses a full and clear understanding of the juvenile nature, and a rare skill in reproducing the atmosphere of the Alpine heights and valleys." —Congregationalist, Boston.

Uncle Titus. A story for children and for those who love children. Translated from the German by Lucy Wheelock. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A little girl, Dora, is the heroine. Uncle Titus, a typical professor, immersed in papers and books; Aunt Ninette, his wife, a fussy, worrying creature; a whole family of boisterous but good-hearted children living next door — all are improved and made happier by the direct and indirect influence of Dora, the orphan.

STARR, PROF. FREDERICK.

On the Hills (Geological Talks). 12mo, $1.25.

A book that can be read with profit before taking up the geological text-books in schools, as it will create a delightful enthusiasm for that branch of study.

STARTING POINTS. A book of selections for boys, compiled by Annie H. Fairfield. 12mo, $.75; gilt edges, white and gold, uniform with "Helps by the Way," $1.25; full seal, $2.50.

The selections are so varied they will suit many tastes; and so bright, apt, and practical, that the boys will enjoy them while they get useful hints for manly living.

STODDARD, WILLIAM O.

Chuck Purdy: The Story of a New York Boy. 12mo, $1.25.

A capital story of boy life in New York City; strong, honest, breezy, practical, and absorbing. Told by one of the favorite writers for young people.

Gid Granger: The Story of a Country Boy. 12mo, $1.25.

A capital story of American country life; the sturdy, hard working, energetic boy, the stern but well-intentioned father, the bright, ambitious sister, together with the village folks, all strongly individualized and made delightfully real.

Guert Ten Eyck: A Hero Story. Square 8vo, illustrated by F. T. Merrill, $1.50.

A stirring story of real American boys and girls, and how they helped on the Revolution. The background is the dramatic story of Nathan Hale, the hero. Washington, Hamilton, and Aaron Burr also appear in the story.

Partners (The). A Girl's Story. Illustrated by Albert Scott Cox, 8vo, $1.50.

This is a capital story of a bright, go-ahead country girl, whom all the girl admirers of Stoddard's stories — and all the boys too — will vote as delightful. The book is as cheery and breezy and practical and strong and full of fun and good sense as any of its Stoddard predecessors.

STORIES OF AMERICAN WARS. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

STORY OF SOLDIER FRITZ, (THE). Translated from the German by J. C. Pickard; and Noemi, translated from the French, by Lucy Wheelock. $.50.

Adapted to Third Reader grade.

STORY WITHOUT AN END, (THE). Translated from the German by J. C. Pickard; and The Palace of Vanity, translated from the French, by Lucy Wheelock. 1 vol., 48 pages, manilla cover, $.15.

Adapted to Fourth Reader grades.

STOW, BARON, D.D. Edited.

Daily Manna. 32mo, plain cloth, $.25; full gilt, embossed white paper, gilt edges, $.35.

STREET, ANNIE M.

Mother Goose's Ball. With five colored plates. 4to, boards, $.50.

STRETTON, HESBA.

The Lord's Pursebearers. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"As might naturally be expected of a book from the pen of this writer, the story is written in a powerful vein, and the picture drawn is that of life among the vicious poor of London streets." — Buffalo News.

STUART, HESTER.

A Modern Jacob. 12mo, $1.00.

"In the drawing of rural characters the author is at her best. Both in speech and in action they are delightfully natural." — Boston Advertiser.

STWIN, ADAM.

Eyes Right. 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

A little fellow with an eager, exploring soul back of his eyes, to make them see, is the author's delight; and he loves, after a real good romp with the children, to have a good quiet talk with them when the fun is over. The book abounds with fun and wisdom, wit and merriment.

TALBOT, CHARLES REMINGTON.

Charles Remington Talbot is a master of that style of literature in which ingenuity of plot is backed by brightness of dialogue. His books are "perfectly jolly" from beginning to end.

Honor Bright. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

The hero, in his fifteenth year, got into a towering rage with his guardian, and literally "ran away to sea." He found things entirely changed on his return. What he did in this new state of affairs forms the bulk of the story, which is not meant to be sensational, and is not so. It is astonishing what a variety there is in boys with the seeds of manliness in them, and how many ways there are to success in this world.

Impostor (The). A college story. 12mo, illustrated by H. P. Barnes, $1.50.

No writer for young people has proved more attractive than Charles Remington Talbot, the author of the "Royal Lowrie" books, "A Midshipman at Large," etc. His latest volume, "The Impostor," is in his customary vein of humorous cross purposes and misunderstandings. It is a college and football story, full of life and animation, with much action and dramatic effect.

Midshipman at Large (A). 12mo, $1.50.

Flagler Hamlin, a young naval cadet, left Annapolis to spend his furlough with some cousins at Newport. On arriving at that place he boarded his uncle's yacht, and, acting upon impulse, concealed his identity and shipped as a sailor. This leads to much mystification and some fun.

Romance of The Revolution (A). 12mo, $1.25.

"Its dozen chapters cover the time from June, 1775, to March of the following year, when the British evacuated Boston, and the confusion caused by the confounding of a pair of cousins bearing the same names, and of whom one is in the American and one in the English army, is skilfully managed." — Boston Advertiser.

Romulus and Remus. A dog story. 12mo, illustrations by Merrill, $1.00.

A veritable Comedy of Errors with black-and-tan Dromios in the leading parts.

Royal Lowrie. 12mo, $1.25.

The story of the troubles and blunders of half a dozen people, young and old, the principal characters being two schoolfellows, Royal Lowrie and Archie Bishop." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Royal Lowrie's Last Year at St. Olaves. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"One of the best books about young people, and for them, which we have read in a long time. The lads described are genuine boys; the girls, too, are real girls, such as one meets. The book is thoroughly healthy and high-toned. It makes very plain the meanness of deceit. It also shows the noble influence of a true-hearted, high-minded girl." — The Congregationalist.

TALLMAN, MARIANA M.

Fairhaven Fourteen (The). 12mo, $1.25.

The successes and failures of a young people's church society. It did good and got good — both in full measure.

TARBOX, Rev. I. N.

Life of Israel Putnam, Major-General in the Continental Army. With maps and illustrations, 12mo, $1.00.

TENNYSON, ALFRED.

The Holy Grail. With fourteen photogravures in various tones from designs by W. L. Taylor. Édition de luxe, limited to one hundred numbered copies, folio, cloth, $12.00. Popular edition, 14 illustrations, 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

"In its harmonious and fulfilled design, in its fortunate and faultless scheme and arrangement it has no equal since 'Paradise Lost.'" — London Times. 1870.

"Mr. Taylor's drawings show how thoroughly in the work of illustration he entered into the spirit of the poem. They are in admirable harmony with the text, and the passages selected are the salient ones of the narrative." — Boston Transcript.

Tennyson Remembrance Book (The). See ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS.

THAXTER, CELIA.

Idyls and Pastorals. A Home Gallery of Poetry and Art. Édition de luxe. Folio, bound in vellum cloth, with designs in two metals, gilt top, rough edges, $12.00. Popular Edition, 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

This magnificent folio comprises twenty-four poems by Celia Thaxter, written expressly for this work, accompanied by twenty-four superb fac-simile photogravures from paintings, water colors, and line drawings by eminent American and foreign artists. These photogravures are printed by hand, in colors, on the finest imported Indian paper.

Verses. Large 4to, illustrated cover, finely illustrated, $1.50.

A collection of the best poems of this eminent author, illustrated with twenty-four full-page pictures by such well-known artists as W. L. Taylor, Edmund H. Garrett, Hy Sandham, and others, making a volume of fascinating and delightful reading.

THOMAS, REUEN, D.D.

Divine Sovereignty. A volume of sermons by the pastor of Harvard Church, Brookline. 12mo, $1.25.

The twenty sermons discuss man's sinfulness and inability; atonement and expiation; retribution; the child and his dues; the pre-eminence of Christ; the limitations of evil; predestination; self-improvement; weariness in well-doing; and other subjects.

Grafenburg People. Fiction but fact. 12mo, $1.25.

A thoughtful but entertaining story of life in an English village and of a quarrel between a minister and his congregation because the former was liberal beyond the comprehension of the latter.

Leaders of Thought in The Modern Church. 12mo, $1.00.

Eight character studies of such bright and shining lights as Jonathan Edwards, William Ellery Channing, Thomas Chalmers, and Frederick D. Maurice.

THOMPSON, Rev. LEWIS O.

How to Conduct Prayer-Meetings. 12mo, $1.25.

Prayer-Meeting and its Improvement (The). 12mo, $1.25.

THOMPSON, MAURICE.

Ocala Boy (The). A Florida Story. Illustrated by E. W. Kemble. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This is a story of mystery, merriment, and observation in one of the most attractive "winter towns" of Florida. The local color and characteristics are presented in Mr. Thompson's most attractive style, and the story is one that the boys and girls will enjoy with enthusiasm. Every Florida tourist or winter resident will also find pleasure in this unique story.

Story of Louisiana (The). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50.

Presents, with all the charm and fascination that guide the pen of this most graceful of America's prose poets, the romantic story of Louisiana's beginnings, and links the days of DeSoto and Iberville to those of Jackson and Farragut by a chain of recorded events that are instinct with life and replete with interest. It is an absorbing and stirring, but at the same time practical and instructive book. (Story of the States Series.)

THROUGH A MICROSCOPE. By Samuel Wells, Mary Treat, and F. L. Sargent. 12mo, $.60.

THWAITES, REUBEN G.

Wisconsin (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50; half leather, $2.00.

Mr. Thwaites's position as secretary of the Wisconsin Historical Society affords him unequalled facilities for a correct and interesting narrative. The "Story of Wisconsin" is a remarkable presentation of one of the leading steps in the development of the great West. (Story of the State Series.)

TOLMAN, M. D.

Fabrics. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Finished or Not. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Absorbing stories which carry impressive lessons for every-day life.

TOLSTOÏ, LEO.

"That marvellous Russian, Count Leo Tolstoï, who has given to the world sundry vast works of realistic fiction, has quietly placed himself in the sight of mankind as a new moral teacher." — GEORGE PARSONS LATHROP.

In Pursuit of Happiness. Translated by Mrs. Aline Delano. 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $.75.

In these simple stories Tolstoï displays a very different phase of his genius from that which his admirers expect in him. He may be a realist in general, but here he is an idealist of the most pronounced type. Even Maurice Thompson, who depreciates Tolstoï's realism, would gladly admit the spirituality that informs this little book.

What People Live By. Translated from the Russian by Mrs. Aline Delano. 8vo, illustrated, $.75.

"The story, though placed in a Russian village, is universal in its application, and, though written by a Russian, has the beauty of Christianity, a lesson for all nations. It is uplifting and thoroughly inspiring to generous living." — Boston Journal.

Where There is Love There is God. 16mo, ribbon-tied, $.25.

Points a moral, showing that happiness is most surely found in doing good to others.

TOWNE, BELLE KELLOGG.

Around the Ranch. 12mo, $1.25.

"The main interest of the story lies in following out the career of its two principal characters, Dan Deering and Deb Gibbs. The narrative of the heroine's experiences is intensely interesting, and is full of suggestions for girls of like age who rebel against certain conditions of their lives. Just as interesting, too, is the story of the brief career of brave Dan." — Utica Observer.

TOWNSEND, MALCOLM.

U. S. (Curious things in United States History.) 12mo, $1.50.

A unique and useful reference book of United States history and statistics. It presents a tabulated collection of all the curious facts in United States history that every one wants to find and never knows just where to find. Endorsed by teachers, students, school officers, and librarians.

TREAT, MARY.

My Garden Pets. 12mo, $.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"Every girl who is afraid of a spider, every boy who wishes to stamp on a beetle, should read this book, and learn to look upon these creatures with respect and interest." — Boston Post.

TROTTER, ADA M.

Miners' Hero, The. A Story of the Forest of Dean. 12mo, $1.25.

"The book takes its name from that of the estate of a wealthy English gentleman, a mine-owner, whose son is the principal character of the story. It is a picture of life in England forty years ago, when there were no free schools for the poor, and when the Established Church exercised such sway and tyranny as can scarcely be understood now." — The Morning Star, Boston.

TROWBRIDGE, J. T.

Adventures of David Vane and David Crane (The). 12mo, $1.00.

A strong, homely, humorous story of the every-day life of American country-bred boys, by one who is acknowledged to be the best living story-teller in his peculiar vein. As good as anything Trowbridge has written.

Lost Earl (The); With Other Poems and Tales in Verse. 8vo, illustrated, $2.00.

This volume will be warmly welcomed by the admirers of Mr. Trowbridge — and they are legion. Although he is better known as a successful novelist and writer of juvenile stories, he is one of the truest of our American poets. His themes, though not ambitious, are always high, and his poems are marked by feeling, naturalness, and exquisite finish.

TRUE, JOHN PRESTON.

Their Club and Ours. Square 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

A jolly story received with great enthusiasm when it first appeared. Sure to remain a favorite.

TURNBULL, MRS. LAWRENCE.

Catholic Man (The). 12mo, $1.25.

A deep and thoughtful character study of a man and a poet presented in romance-form and full of strength, beauty, and vigor.

UPTON, MRS. HARRIET TAYLOR.

Our Early Presidents, Their Wives and Children. From Washington to Jackson. With one hundred and fifty portraits, pictures, and autograph letters. Quarto, gold cloth, $3.00.

The only work of the kind in which any attempt has been made to trace the history of the descendants of the American Presidents, or to give any picture of the fireside life in the White House. The six Presidents in the present volume are known as the "historic Presidents," and were those concerned in the early making of our Republic; the book, therefore, covers a most exciting and interesting period of our existence as a nation. It has been made thus full and complete and enriched from every possible source, that families may feel that they have an authentic volume, corrected from all errors and misstatements that have from time to time appeared in print — a book which they and their children and children's children may possess and regard as a valuable historical work.

UPTON, J. K.

Money in Politics. New edition, revised, enlarged, and brought up to date. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"A concise, clear, and suggestive history of American coinage and money issues. The author was at one time Assistant-Secretary of the Treasury, and he writes out of an abundant knowledge of the subjects of which he treats." — Boston Journal.

"The plain people of the country cannot find a safer guide and instructor." — Boston Beacon.

VANCE, CLARA.

Andy Luttrell. ($500 Prize Stories.) Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

Andy Luttrell, a confirmed infidel, Alice Walsingham, a self-sufficient young authoress, and Mrs. Burton, a proud and seemingly soulless New York society woman, all find peace in the Saviour through the efforts of a devoted country minister. A striking example of what one consecrated life can do.

Grandmother Normandy. 12mo, $.75.

Hidden Treasure. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Strawberry Hill. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The Talbury Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

VAUGHN, MRS. MARION.

Mother's Record (The), of the Physical, Mental, and Moral growth of her child for the first fifteen years. Square 8vo, cloth, $1.00; seal, $2.50.

VOLTAIRE, de, F. M. A.

Charles XII. (Life of), King of Sweden. With portrait. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

WARD, HERBERT D.

New Senior at Andover (The). 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A brilliant story of Andover school life: the American "Tom Brown."

One of the noblest conceptions of schoolboy life that has yet been created in American literature. — Independent.

WARNER, LUCY HAMILTON.

Five Little Finger Stories. A book for children. 4to, $1.25.

"Cute" and simple little illustrated stories of the sort that every small child enjoys, and demands to have told again.

WARTH, JULIAN.

Dorothy Thorn. (Round World Series.) 12mo, $1.25.

The northern shore of Long Island is the scene. The characters are an unsuccessful, optimistic experimenter in chemistry; his young, beautiful, enthusiastic daughter; the rich young man of the place, who builds a factory for the sake of practising his theories of the peaceful union of labor and capital; the clergyman, the woman he loves, who has a secret in her life, and her devoted attendant, the woman-preacher, Hannah.

John Greenleaf, Minister. A Life Story. 12mo, $1.25.

A powerfully drawn social picture of the present day, the scene being laid at a farm some twenty miles from New York City and in the metropolis itself. Interwoven in the story are some of the deep problems of extremes of wealth and poverty, church attendance, and the evils of city tenement-houses.

WATTS, ISAAC.

Principles to Start With. A word to young men. 48mo, cloth, $.25; embossed white paper, $.25.

Practical talks showing just how to prepare and cook ordinary dishes.

WHITMAN, SARAH W.

Making of Pictures (The). 12mo, $.75.

WILKINS, MARY E.

Pot of Gold (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Sixteen delightful stories by this famous and favorite author, written for young people, but interesting to older readers. "The Bound Girl," "Deacon Thomas Wales's Will," early New England life; the others are full of delicious fun and quaint imaginings.

WILKINSON, J. A.

Real Robinsoe Crusoe (A). 12mo, $1.25.

Edited at the narrator's dictation.

A remarkable book, detailing the adventures and strange experiences of a company of castaways on a Pacific island. It outrivals the famous experiences of the fictitious Robinson Crusoe, and is strictly true from beginning to end.

WILLARD, FRANCES E.

Woman in the Pulpit. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"An unanswerable argument for woman in all the broad field as a moral and religious teacher, impressed by the most persuasive and pleasing methods." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

WILLING, MRS. JENNIE FOWLER.

The Only Way Out. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A temperance story dwelling upon the hereditary phase. The author shows that there is only one sure way out of the darkness into which we are plunged by earthly trials and crosses, and that is an abiding faith in and reliance upon Christ.

WINCHELL, S. R.

Interstate Primer Supplement. 136 pages, cloth, $.40.

May be used to supplement the Interstate Primer or any First Reader. A large number of admirable sentences; natural, easily read and understood by the child, and adapted to corresponding lessons in the Primer.

WITH THE BIRDS. Selected poems from best English and American authors. 50 full-page illustrations. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

WONDER STORIES OF HISTORY. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"The writers of the sketches are well-known contributors to children's periodical literature, and the book will be a welcome addition to any child's library, and might be used with advantage as a reading-book in schools. The volume is well illustrated." — Boston Gazette.

WONDER STORIES OF SCIENCE. By Rev. D. N. Beach, Amanda B. Harris, Mary W. Fisher, and others. 12mo, fully illustrated, $1.25.

Twenty-one charming sketches are included in this little volume. The boys can make an excursion in a balloon, the girls can spend an afternoon in a Christmas-card factory, or they can go to another factory and see how numberless women earn their living by making dolls' shoes. One chapter tells how newspapers are made; another, where and how umbrellas are made, etc.

WONDER STORIES OF TRAVEL. 12mo, fully illustrated, $1.25.

Tales written by several writers in which peculiarities of people and things abroad are brought out.

"It is in a line of books peculiar to this house, in being intended to agreeably teach the young how to see and enjoy the earth and life about them." — Boston Globe.

WOODS, KATE TANNATT.

Doctor Dick (A Sequel to "Six Little Rebels"). 12mo, illustrated by Boz, $1.50.

A delightfully quaint and entertaining story in which familiar faces reappear.

Out and About; or, The Hudsons' Trip to the Pacific. Square 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

Cape Cod to the Golden Gate with a lot of young folks along and plenty of yarns by the way. Pictures of now and then a sight, but a great deal more in the types.

Six Little Rebels. 12mo, illustrated by Boz, $1.50.

"This is a story of boys and girls during the first years of our Civil War. The 'little rebels' were five boys, brothers, and cousins, and a colored servant, a veritable male Topsy, who were sent from Richmond to Washington, and placed under the guardianship of a good doctor there, an old friend of their parents. . . . Glimpses are caught here and there of President Lincoln, General McClellan, and other famous persons." — Worcester Spy.

For Mrs. Woods's latest works (since 1895), see List of New Books, pages 54-58.

WOODS, WILLIAM S.

How Benny Did It. 12mo, $1.00.

The writer of this story is a business man of long experience, and he was moved to its preparation by a fact which experience had shown him that there is much in currently received business principles. He places the hero of the story, Bennie Stout, in positions to exemplify this fact, and to show how a boy of good principle and a strong will can not only resist temptation himself, but can even exert an influence over his elders.

WOOLSEY, THEODORE D., D.D., LL.D.

Helpful Thoughts for Young Men. 12mo, $.60.

These chapters are full of wise and wholesome counsel for young men by one who has been used to dealing with them.

NEW BOOKS—SEASON OF 1896.

THE ADMIRAL'S AID: A Story of the New Navy. By H. H. CLARK, Chaplain U. S. N. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Boys and girls all over the land will welcome this new volume in the "Joe Bently" series. In it, Chaplain Clark tells the story of life on one of the great cruisers of the White Navy, and continues the delightful sea experiences already so delightfully told in "Boy Life in the United States Navy" and "Naval Cadet Bently."

BIBLE BOYS AND GIRLS: How They Looked, Where They Lived, What They Did. By CALVIN DILL WILSON and JAMES KNAPP REEVE. Illustrated by George Foster Barnes. 8vo, cloth, $1.00.

This unique and original study of the boys and girls who occupy leading positions in the Bible story has been prepared by its writers after years of research. The young people whom it describes are studied from modern standpoints and in the light of modern information; but all this is made subservient to the Bible record, and the book, besides being intensely interesting, is one of the best aids to Bible study ever prepared for young people.

THE BOYS OF CLOVERNOOK: The Story of Five Boys on a Farm. By MARY B. BEAL. Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. 4to, cloth, $1.50.

A charming home story of five little boys who came, by one odd way or another, to the care of Aunt Rachel and Uncle John at Clovernook. Their doings and experiences, funny, serious, pathetic and exciting, make up the story, which is as fresh and breezy as it is strong and sympathetic. It is a book that young readers will return to with pleasure, again and again.

MOPSY: A Girl's Story. By KATE TANNATT WOODS, author of "Six Little Rebels," "Dr. Dick," etc. Illustrated by Schumacher. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A delightful story of a brave-hearted little city girl who took upon herself the care of her invalid mother, and, from keeping a boarding-house for working people, finally came to her own again. It is a charming story, full of all sorts of people, drawn in Mrs. Woods's delightful style, and certain to be as popular as her other stories.

THE GINGHAM BAG: A New England Story. By MARGARET SIDNEY. Illustrated by Amy Brooks. 12mo, $1.25.

This is Margaret Sidney's latest story, and is told in the quaint and realistic way characteristic of all her New England tales. No writer to-day more closely touches this element than does the entertaining author of "Five Little Peppers." The ups and downs of her country children in "The Gingham Bag" will be found enlivening and helpful.

GRACE HOLBROOK. By PANSY. Cloth, 50 cents.

A volume of charming short stories by this ever-popular author.

MAKING FATE. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

A new story by Pansy, in her earnest, direct and forceful style, in which the truths inculcated and the moral to be gathered are alike so skillfully treated in the telling that the reader is carried along irresistibly to the end, moved by the sentiment and held by the interest. "Making Fate" is the story of the spiritual development of certain young people who are acted upon by influences for good and by religious environments, against which they attempt to struggle, but in vain, for good must triumph.

THE CHILDREN'S HISTORY BOOK. Tales of the history of our native land, by the best writers of historical stories. 4to, illustrated, $1.50.

This artistic volume is devoted especially to the romance of American history. The stories are all bright, attractive, dramatic, absorbing, instructive and inspiring; and this beautiful book should make the boys and girls who read it better Americans and real patriots.

WORLD'S LITERATURE SERIES—Greek, Roman, English and American Literature Papers. By ELIZABETH ABBOTT. 4 vols., in box. Each volume, cloth, 50 cents.

An entertaining and instructive series of talks on the great writers of the world and their works.

THE PONKATY BRANCH ROAD. By SOPHIE SWETT. Illustrated by Bodfish. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

No story-teller of the present day is more popular with boys and girls than Sophie Swett, who has been for years one of the "star" contributors to St. Nicholas, Wide Awake, Harper's Round Table and the Youth's Companion. The three stories included in this new book are tales of country life and adventure, told by Miss Swett in her brisk, charming and attractive manner. This book will be a great favorite with all boys and girls.

RHYMES AND SONGS FOR MY LITTLE ONES. By ADOLPHINE HINGST and ESTHER RUSKAY. Profusely illustrated by G. W. Picknell. Small 4to, $1.50.

One of the most delightful and artistic books of rhymes and pictures for the nursery and the kindergarten. Certain to be a favorite with mothers and children.

THEIR VACATION. By PANSY. Cloth, 50 cents.

Stories of thinking, striving and doing told in Pansy's practical and convincing way.

THROUGH THE FARMYARD GATE. Verses by EMILIE POULSSON. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. 4to, cloth, $1.25.

This is a new compilation of delightful verses by the author of the vastly popular "Nursery Finger Plays." It is a book that will be used in every kindergarten and nursery in the land, to the delight alike of parents and children.

THE TRUE STORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN, The American. By ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS. Fully illustrated. 4to, cloth, $1.50.

This is the third volume in the "Children's Lives of Great Men," written by the author of "Historic Boys," "The Century Book for Young Americans," "The Story of the United States," etc. The book does not talk of war or politics, but tells for young Americans the real, true, sympathetic, wonderful story of one of the greatest men that ever lived,—Abraham Lincoln, the American.

WHAT THE DRAGON FLY TOLD THE CHILDREN. By FRANCES B. COURSEN. Illustrated by Amy Brooks. 4to, cloth, $1.50.

Something entirely new and original in children's books. It is designed to introduce young readers to the work of famous poets; but it is told in delightful story form, and deftly mingles love of nature with love of literature. It is profusely illustrated by charming designs and by portraits of the great writers to whom the dragon fly introduces the children of Edgehurst.

THE BOOKS OF 1897.

CAMP AND TRAIL. A Story of the Maine Woods. By ISABEL HORNIBROOK. Illustrated by George Foster Barnes. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A story for boys and girls who delight in adventure. But it is a peculiar book of adventure. Two English boys with their friend, an American collegian, go into the woods of Maine to hunt deer and moose. But they never kill wantonly or for mere sport, — only for food, or in self-defence. They study the ways of the great game of the woods, and breathe in health, inspiration, and noble thoughts with the odor of the pines and the air of lake and mountain. A famous guide and hunter is their factotum; and they make delightful acquaintances of boys, trappers, guides, and sportsmen, taking only the best results from their outing, and, with many exciting adventures, gaining health and experience.

THE READY RANGERS. A Story of Bicycles, Boats, and Boys. By KIRK MUNROE. Illustrated by W. A. Rogers. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A story of land and sea, — bicycling, canoeing, and all healthy athletic sports. A "set" of wide-awake village boys form a sort of club, designed at first for mischief, but drifting unconsciously, and of the members' own accord, into a company of helpers. But they have lots of fun and learn much. They are a fire brigade, a bicycle corps, a helping-hand society, an amateur dramatic association, a crew of practical sailors; in fact, as they call themselves, "Ready Rangers." The book bubbles over with action, fun, adventure, and plot, mingled with much practical information on things all boys should know.

MODERN FAIRYLAND. By ELCY BURNHAM. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. Small 4to, cloth, $1.25.

The amusing and charming story of an up-to-date fairy princess who, having been educated among end-of-the-century mortals, returns to Fairyland to reform, modernize, and improve it. This novel fairy-tale is a quaint conceit, delightfully told, and daintily illustrated, while it is full of incident, humor, and entertainment.

PHRONSIE PEPPER. The last of the Five Little Peppers. By MARGARET SIDNEY. Illustrated by Jessie McDermott. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This closing book of the now world-famous series of the "Five Little Pepper Books" will be enthusiastically welcomed by all the boys and girls of America to whom the Five Little Peppers have been dear ever since they first appeared in the "Little Brown House." This new book is the story of Phronsie, the youngest and dearest of all the Peppers. But Polly and Joel and Ben and Jasper and Mamsie, too, are all in the story.

THE TRUE STORY OF U. S. GRANT, the American Soldier. Told for young people by ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS. 4to, cloth, profusely illustrated, $1.50.

This fourth volume in the series of this author's Children's Lives of Great Men is a clear, concise, truthful, and inspiring account of the life of the greatest American soldier. But it is not alone a story of war and battle. It traces the development of this sturdy character from boy to man, from scholar to hero, from the tan-yard to the White House, — one of the most unique figures in the history of the world. A great book for every American boy and girl.

HIS FIRST CHARGE. By FAYE HUNTINGTON. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

This is a curious study of right and wrong as they face the young minister in "his first charge." He builds on right as well as righteousness; and though the evil he confronts is the corner-stone of the prosperity of the section in which he rules, and is the pet pride of some of his chief parishioners, he never flinches, and is helped into success by the best and bravest of his parish. Incidentally, it is a temperance story of the strongest and most practical kind.

ONCE UPON A TIME, and other Child Verses. By MARY E. WILKINS. Square 12mo, cloth. Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. $1.00.

A volume of poetry for children by one of the foremost American story-tellers. Here are fairy stories, ballads, nursery rhymes, jingles, everything, in fact, that a verse-loving child will enjoy. They are delicious in fancy, musical in rhythm, perfect in literary skill, deftly and charmingly illustrated by one in sympathy with the singer. A beautiful book, beautifully executed.

OVERRULED. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

This entertaining story, while complete in itself, is still, in its way, a sequel to, or a continuation of Pansy's searching romance "Making Fate." The study of Ralph Bramlett, — the man who conquers destiny, — of the pure-souled Marjorie and the Maxwell brothers, and of the other leading characters, is worthy of all praise, and will be deeply enjoyed by Pansy's host of readers.

THE GREAT ISLAND; or, CAST AWAY ON NEW GUINEA. Third volume in "Camp and Tramp" series." By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth, 75cts.

A story of adventure in New Guinea, the greatest island in the world. Some of the boys, already familiar to readers of Mr. Allen's "Camp and Tramp" series, start for a trip around the world, but are shipwrecked in the China Sea, and drift upon the great island of New Guinea. They endeavor to tramp across the island; they have many exciting adventures and hair-breadth escapes by the way. They are captured by "head-hunters," discover gold-mines, engage in battle, and finally escape, and reach the settlement and their friends. Full of information about an almost unknown land, and intensely entertaining and absorbing.

TOM PICKERING OF 'SCUTNEY: His experiences and Perplexities. By SOPHIE SWETT. Illustrated by H. D. Young. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A story of a boy and his mates — boys and girls alike — in a country village and by the seashore. Tom is a bright, active, go-ahead fellow; who gains wisdom only by experience, and through sundry mishaps and perplexities, most of which are occasioned by his own heedlessness, or by differences of opinion between himself and his conscience. He is a pleasant fellow to know, however, and young readers will like him immensely before they sever acquaintanceship. His sister Luella, his partner in the printing enterprise, Macurdy Green, with Minty and Delilah and Pheny Jecks, and Milt, and all the other girls and boys in this bright and healthful story, will all be attractive and entertaining acquaintances. Sophie Swett always tells a good story, and this is one of her best.

THE BOOKS OF 1898.

THE TRUE STORY OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, the American Statesman. Told for boys and girls. By ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS. One vol., 4to, illustrated by Victor A. Searles, $1.50.

This volume is the fifth in the very popular series, "Children's Lives of Great Men," by the same author, and will find instant acceptance. It is the only popular life of the great Franklin written from a human standpoint for the boys and girls of America. It will take its place with the entertaining life-stories of Columbus, Washington, Lincoln, and Grant, already written for young Americans by Mr. Brooks, all of whose work in American history has been in the interest and for the entertainment of young people.

CIAN OF THE CHARIOTS: A Romance of the Days of Arthur and His Knights. By WILLIAM H. BABCOCK. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by George Foster Barnes, $1.50.

This is a stirring story of adventure, daring, love, and fighting in that most romantic time and place, the days of King Arthur of Britain and his Knights of the Round Table and the Holy Grail. It tells of the days when London was still half Roman, and the great king of song and story was fighting on towards victory. Mr. Babcock has devoted years of study and research to give a real historical setting to a stirring tale of adventure, and he has succeeded admirably. It is a story that will set the blood astir, and hold to the end the attention of every lover of historical fiction.

A LITTLE MAID OF CONCORD TOWN: A Story of the American Revolution. By MARGARET SIDNEY. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by Frank T. Merrill, $1.50.

Margaret Sidney lives in old Concord in Massachusetts and knows all the stories and legends that cluster about the famous North Bridge and the days of the Minute Men. As the author of the "Five Little Peppers," she knows how to tell just such a story as young people like; as the founder of the flourishing society of the Children of the American Revolution, she has the knowledge and inspiration fitting her to tell this charming story of the boys and girls of the famous village where was fired the shot heard around the world. She has written a delightful historical story, and the illustrations by Merrill are fine.

THE DESERTER AND OTHER STORIES. By HAROLD FREDERIC. One vol., 8vo, illustrated by Sandham, Merrill, Gilbert Gaul, and George Foster Barnes, $1.25.

Four splendid historical stories for young people, by one of the leading and most popular of American writers. Two of the stories are of the Civil War in America, and no one can tell a better story of those stirring war days than Harold Frederic. The other two are boy stories of the most picturesque of England's civil wars — the War of the Roses. The volume is one that young people will find deeply and delightfully interesting.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE: or, THE BEAUTIFUL LIFE OF JESUS. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). Illustrated by designs from the famous drawings by Hofmann. One vol., 8vo, 561 pp., $1.50.

For years Mrs. Alden has had in her thoughts this great work — a Life of Christ, by "Pansy." All her research, thought, observation, and experience have been steadily turned towards the preparation of this volume. The result is a graphic and thoughtful narrative of the perfect life of the Saviour, told concisely, reverently, and powerfully. It is Pansy's masterpiece, and all Christian readers, young and old, will find it at once absorbing and inspiring. The illustrations, after Hofmann's great pictures, illuminate and glorify the story.

MARJORIE AND HER NEIGHBORS: A Story for Boys and Girls. By LOUISE E. CATLIN. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry, $1.50.

A charming story about three little girls and a boy who lived in the country and had no end of good times, with just enough crosses and disappointments to make the story interesting. A book that all small boys and girls will like. It is delightfully told and daintily illustrated.

BILBERRY BOYS AND GIRLS: Their Adventures and Misadventures, Their Trials and Triumphs. By SOPHIE SWETT. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry, $1.25.

A book of exceptional interest and charm, by a masterly delineator of New England village and rural life. In this line Sophie Swett has no superior. The boys and girls of Bilberry will delight all the other boys and girls of city, town, and country who read of their scrapes and experiences, the fun they had, the troubles they experienced, and the good they accomplished in their little world.

AN ISLAND HEROINE: The Story of a Daughter of the Revolution. By MARY B. SLEIGHT. One vol., 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

This is a revolutionary romance of great merit and absorbing interest. It has for its background the pleasant country of eastern Long Island, and for its motive the perils, the sufferings, the sacrifices, and the successes of the Long Island patriots in the trying days of the American Revolution. Historic characters, dear to American hearts, move across its pages, and the figure of Margaret, the island heroine, is one that will attract by its charm and inspire by its courage the sons and daughters of the Revolution — indeed, all Americans — all over the land.

A LITTLE NEW ENGLAND MAID. By KATE TANNATT WOODS. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by Josephine Bruce, $1.00.

In this charming tale the talented author of "Mopsy," "Doctor Dick," and other popular stories for the young, treats her favorite theme of a little girl who was a minister for good with deftness and grace. It is a good story every way — not a girls' story, but for boys and girls.

THE "LADY GAY" SERIES.

A set of four delightful little story-books for youngest readers, sold separately or together. Binding, illustrations, and make-up most attractive. Cloth, square 16mo, special cover. Each volume, 50 cts.

I. LADY GAY. By MRS. GEORGE ARCHIBALD.

The story of a dear little girl who was "Wednesday's child" and therefore had "far to go." A charming story, delightfully told, and plentifully illustrated.

II. A DOZEN GOOD TIMES. By MRS. GEORGE ARCHIBALD.

A sequel to Lady Gay, and just as charming.

III. ME AND MY DOLLS. By LAURA T. MEADE.

Just the "cutest" doll story ever written; to which are added the amusing and surprising adventures of Mopsy and Hans.

IV. LAURA'S HOLIDAYS. By HENRIETTA R. ELIOT.

A delightful story about little Laura, and what she and her friends did to enjoy the twelve best holidays of the year.

A POPULAR EDITION OF SOME WORLD-FAMOUS JUVENILES.

Profusely illustrated and embellished with colored plates.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND AND THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS. By LEWIS CARROLL. With four colored plates. 4to, cloth, $1.25. Boards, 75 cts.

Here is the complete story of the immortal Alice and her surprising and absorbing adventures in Wonderland, and after that, in the Looking Glass country.

AESOP'S FABLES. Fully illustrated, and containing four colored plates. 4to, cloth, $1.25. Boards, 75 cts.

A new edition of this old and wise book of which the world will never tire.

ADVENTURES OF ROBINSON CRUSOE. Fully illustrated and containing four colored plates. 4to, cloth, $1.25. Boards, 75 cts.

A splendid edition of the world's greatest desert-island story. Edited for young readers by that famous story-teller, W. T. Adams, and illustrated with many pictures. The very best Robinson Crusoe for the money.

CALENDARS.

A Special Line of New Calendars for 1899.

Designed by PAUL KING; fac-simile water-colors. Four kinds, six-leaved, ribbon-tied, and boxed. Fifty-cent and one-dollar editions. Sold at net prices.

This is a beautiful, attractive, and absolutely fresh line of six-part calendars, two months to a leaf, with artistic illustrations brilliantly printed in gold and color. No finer line on the market.

A NEW COLOR LINE.

Four charming collections of stories, verses, and pictures specially prepared for this new series, by well-known writers for children, with brilliant covers and color plates, especially designed by Paul King. Each book has six colored plates, and many text illustrations. This set includes:

A DOZEN DARLINGS AND THEIR DOINGS. By ELLA FARMAN PRATT, editor of Little Folks, formerly editor of Wide Awake, Little Men and Women, and Babyland. Twelve delightful stories in prose and verse for our darlings. Beautifully illustrated. 4to, illuminated cover, $1.25.

CHILDREN ALL. A book of stories and verses for little people, compiled by ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS, author of "Children's Lives of Great Men," "The Century Book for Young Americans," "In No Man's Land," etc. A book of selected rhymes and stories from favorite authors. Profusely illustrated. 4to, illuminated cover, $1.25.

LITTLE LADS AND LASSES. In story and picture. By FLORENCE HOWE HALL, author of many delightful things for children, and a daughter of Julia Ward Howe. 4to, illuminated cover, profusely and beautifully illustrated, $1.25.

HAPPY LITTLE PEOPLE. A delightful collection of prose and verse. By MARY D. BRINE, author of "Grandma's Attic Treasures," and other charming books for young and old. Twelve lovely stories. Profusely and daintily illustrated, 4to, illuminated covers, $1.25.

AS IN A MIRROR: A Story of Experiences. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). One vol., 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

This is a strong and searching story in Pansy's well-known vein, as a teacher of practical righteousness. The characacters, under the stress of experience, see themselves "As in in a Mirror," and shape their lives in new and better ways.

CHILD STORIES AND RHYMES. By EMILIE POULSSON. One vol., 4to, with design and illustrations by Bridgman, $1.25.

A new book by the author of the delightful "Nursery Finger Plays" will be hailed with delight by nursery and kindergarten alike. "Miss Poulsson's books are the only ones that keep baby still," one mother says. "Child Stories" will be "read to tatters" for the little ones.

REUBEN'S HINDRANCES: A Story for Boys. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). One vol., 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

This is a book for boys, that all boys — and girls, too, — will read with interest, and rise from its perusal profited and helped. "Reuben's Hindrances" turn out to be helps in the end, and steps towards mental, moral, and spiritual growth.

BUZZ-BUZZ AND HIS TWELVE ADVENTURES. By CHARLES STUART PRATT, editor of Little Folks. One vol., 12mo, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman, 75 cts.

This is the restless story of and by a house-fly — "a buzzy fly, a very lively fly, too, in spite of my great age," he says. A capital story for the little ones.

THE OLDER BROTHER: A Story of Self-denials. By MRS. G. R. ALDEN (Pansy). One vol., 12mo, illustrated, 75 cts.

The story of Lawrence Hammond, "the older brother" of the family, and how, denying himself for others, he won success and happiness for all.

LITTLE BOOKS BY BIG AUTHORS.

A series of six entertaining stories for boys and girls, by famous authors. Neat 12mo, artistic covers, well illustrated. Per volume, 50 cts.

H. RIDER HAGGARD.

ALLAN THE HUNTER: A Tale of Three Lions.

An exciting tale of adventure as told through the mouth of the famous hunter, "Allan Quatermain," by that prince of story-tellers, H. Rider Haggard.

GRANT ALLEN.

THE CRUISE OF THE ALBATROSS; or, When was Wednesday the Tenth?

A stirring story of adventure in the South Pacific and how two boys saved their parents from cannibals.

JAMES OTIS.

A DISTRICT MESSENGER BOY, AND A NECKTIE PARTY.

Two characteristic stories by the best delineator of life among the newsboys and street boys of New York.

"H. H." (HELEN HUNT JACKSON.)

PANSY BILLINGS AND POPSY.

Two delightful stories of girl life by the famous author of "Ramona."

MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD.

BONY AND BAN: The Story of a Printing Venture.

A most entertaining story of boy and girl life, by the author of the "Romance of Dollard" and other popular books.

JULIA MAGRUDER.

LABOR OF LOVE: A Story for Boys.

A fresh, strong, interesting, and helpful story of a boy's experiences, temptations, deliverance, and success, by one of the most entertaining of American story-tellers.

THE WINDSOR 12MOS.

This famous series is printed on good paper, from large type, and consists of 325 titles of the very best and most rapid selling books published. They are bound in a new style of Linen Cloth, of several attractive and striking colors, especially made for this series, and stamped in Genuine Gold and Two Colored Inks. The design for the cover is an original drawing, made for this line by a well-known artist, and makes, beyond a doubt, the most unique and attractive book cover on the market.

We have added several books by G. A. Henty, Mary Jane Holmes, Anthony Hope, Stanley J. Weyman and others, not heretofore published at a low price.

The publication of this series is a radical and welcome departure in the production of low-priced books.

Read list of titles carefully. Retail price, 30 cents each.

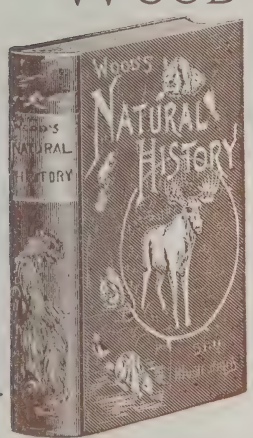
WOOD'S NATURAL HISTORY.



Size, 8¼ x 6 inches.

A STANDARD WORK FOR ALL HOMES.

Charming Descriptions!
Delightful Anecdotes of all Animals,
Both Domestic and Wild.

It is the greatest authority in the land. It gives minutely and in the simplest language the habits, haunts, diseases and peculiarities of the entire Animal Kingdom. This great work is by the world-famous naturalist, J. G. Wood, M.A., F.L.S., author of several other celebrated works on Animal Life, but none with so great a fund of information as this great work. The clear and descriptive text of the writer is

Embellished with 500 Engravings

by such eminent European artists as Wolff, Weis, Zwecker, Coleman, Harvey and others.

This Mammoth Cyclopedia of the Animal World is carefully printed on a fine machine-finished paper, especially made for it, and is substantially bound in cloth, stamped in colored inks from a typical and original design.

A New Edition in English

of Luthers famous House Postil has been issued from the press of the Lutheran Augustana Book Concern, and will be hailed with delight by the Lutheran Church in particular and by the Christian public at large. The plates of the English edition, copyrighted and given out by Rev. J. A. Schulze, have been purchased by the Lutheran Augustana Book Concern of Rock Island, Ill., who are now the sole owners and publishers.

Important Change in Form

The original English translation was issued in three volumes at $3.75 per set and was sold only in sets. In the new edition the Sermons on the Gospels for the Sundays and Principal Festivals of the Church Year are bound complete in 2 vols., while the remainder of the original work, viz. a series of thirteen sermons on the Passion History together with a chapter of Introductory Meditations,is bound separately in a neat little volume of 227 pages. The two volumes on the Gospels are sold only in sets, while the third volume of Passion Sermons may be had separately, thus affording a great advantage to the reader both in respect to convenience and cost.

Indispensable to Preachers and Pastors

The value of this work can not be overestimated. It is a treasure house of the richest and most profound meditations on the Gospel lessons for the Church Year, by the universally acknowledged prince of Bible expositors and preachers. Another such a thesaurus of deep theology, practical piety, and homiletical suggestiveness can scarcely be found in the whole field of Biblical literature.

A Work for the Home and the Pew

It is not alone for the preacher and pastor and the theological student, but it is an equally valuable handbook for the family and the pew. It should be in every home and in the hands of every lay member of the congregation, being a great help to the practical understanding of the Gospel for the day and to intelligent participation in the services of the sanctuary, as well as a powerful stimulus to the pious study of the Word in the home. For three centuries these incomparable sermons, in their original German, have yielded nourishment, edification, strength and comfort to millions of souls, and they are as fresh and attractive to-day as when they first came from the pen of their author.

An Excellent Translation

Those who are acquainted with Luther's peculiar style know very well that it is impossible to make a perfect rendering in any other language, of anything Luther wrote in his native tongue. Still the translation of the work under consideration is a very faithful rendering of the original into plain, idiomatic, and vigorous English. The translation was made by Rev. A. Schmid, professor at Capitol University, excepting the first six sermons, which had previously been translated by Rev. D. M. Martens, A. M., the whole work being under the supervision of Prof. M. Loy of Capitol University.

A Work of Great Value

The entire work in three volumes as above described, making nearly thirteen hundred 12mo pages, printed in long primer type on an excellent quality of paper and substantially bound in cloth and in half morocco, presents a very neat and attractive appearance.

Special attention is called to the fact that the price has been reduced, thus bringing this valuable work within the reach of all.

Copies will be sent postpaid at the price above named. The usual discount to clergymen, theological students, and the trade.

Fatherland Books. Translated from the German, and among the best Sunday-school Library Books published.

The genuine religious sentiment, the touching pathos, the heartsomeness, as well as the dramatic interest of these stories of Hoffman, of Horn, and of kindred writers, are well known to the German reader; and we trust by our translation to make German thought better known to the youthful English reader, whom we hope to familiarize with scenes and incidents of the Fatherland.

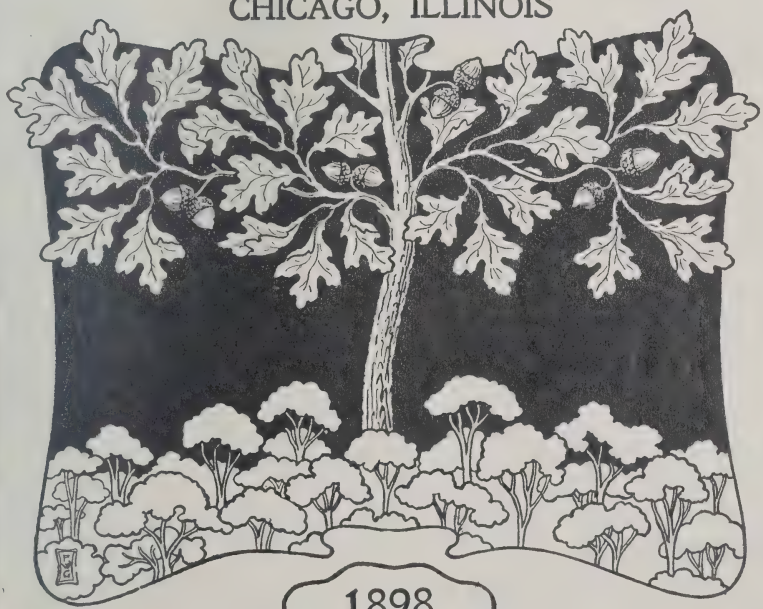
A DESCRIPTIVE LIST

OF THE PUBLICATIONS OF

A. C. McClurg & Co.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS



1898

OF

A. C. McCLURG AND COMPANY,

CHICAGO.

A Fearless Investigator. 12mo, 353 pages, $1.00.

In this fascinating novel the author has cleverly introduced the mysterious and the occult amidst the everyday affairs of a jolly company. The occultism is only a detail; and while adding zest to the story, it is not to be taken seriously, as the quite unexpected but thoroughly satisfactory dénouement shows. The development of the story is skilful and the language and style charming.

A. In Maiden Meditation. By E. V. A. 16mo, 217 pages, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

Here is a pleasant little volume of essays, of the "Ik Marvel" school and style, although up to date in thought, quotations, and references. It is something of a revelation and a privilege for the "gentle reader" to be thus led by a gentle maiden hand into many of the confidences of her thoughts, both in society and in her boudoir. These thoughts are always chaste as well as bright. — Evening Telegram, New York.

ABBOTT. Alexia. By Mary Abbott. 12mo, 177 pages, 50 cents.

As a piece of exquisite literary art, this little book deserves the attention of those who can appreciate what is unsophisticated in fiction. — The Beacon, Boston.

ABBOTT. The Beverleys. A Story of Calcutta. By Mary Abbott. 12mo, 264 pages, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

This story introduces a more interesting set of characters than usually are found in the Anglo-Indian novel. . . . That pet and despair of novelists, the harum-scarum girl, is handled with remarkable success by the author, who writes throughout with good taste and with a quick eye for the picturesque. — The New York Herald.

ACKERMAN. The Price of Peace. A Story of the Times of Ahab, King of Israel. By A. W. Ackerman. 12mo, 390 pages, $1.00.

The hero is Michaiah, son of Imlah, a contemporary of Elijah. The period is the most picturesque in the history of the ancient Jewish people, and the author has written a religious narrative of more than ordinary interest. — The Sun, Baltimore.

ARNOLD. The Life of Benedict Arnold: His Patriotism and his Treason. By the Hon. Isaac N. Arnold. With steel portrait. 8vo, 444 pages, gilt top, $2.50.

Mr. Arnold has accomplished his task wonderfully well. There is a striking absence of personal bias; and if he has succeeded in removing some of the blots upon the character of Benedict Arnold, the impartial reader cannot but think that he is justified, and respect him for his denunciation of treason, while he maintains that the traitor was a man, and possessed at one time of a noble character. The book is notable for the range of historical information displayed. — The Traveller, Boston.

ARNOLD. The Life of Abraham Lincoln. By the Hon. Isaac N. Arnold. With an Introduction by the Hon. E. B. Washburne. Steel portrait. Seventh edition. 8vo, 471 pages, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $3.50.

It is the only Life of Lincoln thus far published that is likely to live, — the only one that has any serious pretensions to depict him with adequate veracity, completeness, and dignity. — The Sun, New York.

B. A Book of the Heavenly Birthdays. By E. V. B. Illustrated. 16mo, 218 pages, gilt top, Flexible White Parchment, in box, $1.50 net.

In this little work are brought together some of the choicest utterances of the best writers of all ages on the subject of the life hereafter. Among the quotations will be found many exquisite pieces from the greatest writers of all countries, a number being from living authors.

B. Ros Rosarum. Dew of the Ever-Living Rose, Gathered from the Poets' Garden, in many Lands. By E. V. B. Illustrated. 16mo, gilt top, Flexible White Parchment, in box, $1.50 net.

A collection of short verses on the rose taken from the literature of various nations. Many of the foreign verses are given in the original language, together with their English translation, the whole making a delightful anthology of this queen of flowers.

BACON. The Essays or Counsels, Civil and Moral, of Francis Bacon, Viscount St. Albans, Baron Verulam. Fourth thousand. Edited, with an Introduction and Notes, by Prof. Melville B. Anderson. 16mo, 275 pages, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

This is the only edition of Bacon I have ever seen which looks as though one would take pleasure in reading it through at a single sitting. No other would be likely to appeal so strongly to the person of literary proclivities and refined taste who reads merely for the pleasure it yields, or to acquire certain general notions of an author, his style, and times. — Prof. Albert S. Cook, of Yale University, in The Dial.

BACON. "Thoughts that Breathe and Words that Burn," from the Writings of Francis Bacon. See Elizabethan Library, page 10.

BALCH. The Bridge of the Gods. A Romance of Indian Oregon. By F. H. Balch. 12mo, 280 pages, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

The author is undoubtedly a literary artist of a high order. In the construction of the plot, in the description of scenery and character, in the analysis of motives, in the handling of the dramatic scenes, and in the use of historical material, he evinces great ability. . . . The story is not only pure in tone, but instructive, and teaches a noble lesson of self-sacrifice. — The School Journal, New York.

BALDWIN. The Book-Lover: A Guide to the Best Reading. By James Baldwin, Ph.D. Twelfth edition. 16mo, gilt top, 222 pages, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

This is a delightful little book, and amply justifies both of its titles. The author writes in an entertaining and chatty style, not undignified by any means, and shows a thorough familiarity with the treasures of literature. His pages are adorned with choice bits of prose and verse culled with excellent taste from the best writers. — The Examiner, New York.

BARINE. Bernardin de St. Pierre. By Arvède Barine. With a Preface by Augustin Birrell. See The Great French Writers, page 12.

BAZAN. Russia: Its People and its Literature. From the Spanish of Emilia Pardo Bazan, by Fanny H. Gardiner. 12mo, 293 pages, $1.25.

It is acute in analysis, broad and sagacious in reasoning, appreciative of the peculiar qualities of Russian character, and remarkable for a penetration and aptness of expression in literary criticism which are rare in the case of critics of a nationality different from that of the author considered. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

BARROWS. A World-Pilgrimage. By John Henry Barrows, D.D. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, $2.00.

A most fascinating new book of travel, describing Dr. Barrows' impressions and experiences while travelling round the world in connection with his mission to India to deliver his lectures on Christianity. Dr. Barrows enjoyed every facility for seeing the most interesting sights in every country he visited, and the record of his keen, sympathetic, and humorous observations will be of almost universal interest.

BARROWS. Christianity: the World-Religion. Lectures Delivered in India and Japan. By John Henry Barrows, D.D. Large 12mo, $1.50.

A book for every thinking man, of every nationality and creed. A broad, liberal, tolerant, earnest exposition of the claims of Christianity as the one great universal religion in every place and for all time, being a course of lectures delivered by Dr. Barrows in India to the people represented by their delegates to the World's Parliament of Religions at Chicago in 1893.

BIART. The Aztecs: Their History, Manners, and Customs. By Lucien Biart. Authorized translation from the French by J. L. Garner. Third Thousand. Illustrated, 8vo, 343 pages, $2.00.

M. Biart is the most competent authority living on the subject of the Aztecs. He spent many years in Mexico, studied his subject carefully through all means of information, and wrote his book from the view-point of a scientist. The style is very attractive, and it has been very successfully translated. — The Pittsburg Chronicle.

BIGOT. A Foreign Match. By Madame Bigot (Mary Healy). 16mo, 246 pages, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Few stories of the experience of vulgar American families abroad have been better managed in fiction than this. — The New York Herald.

BIKÉLAS. Tales from the Ægean. By Demetrios Bikélas. Translated by Leonard Eckstein Opdycke. With an Introduction by Henry Alonzo Huntington. 16mo, 258 pages, $1.00.

The stories are delightfully told; humor and pathos in turn call forth our admiration, and we owe our thanks to the publishers for having introduced this new author to the English reading public. — The Boston Times.

BLADES. The Enemies of Books. By William Blades, author of "The Life and Typography of William Caxton," "The Pentateuch of Printing," etc. Fully illustrated. 8vo. $3.50 net.

When we recently re-read this book we put it down with a vivid sense of the injury wrought by the enemies of books, but we almost forgave our enemies for the pleasure the story of their naughty deeds has given us. — The Antiquary.

BLAKELY. Fairy Starlight and the Dolls. By Elizabeth S. Blakely. Illustrated by Lucy F. Perkins. Small 4to, $1.00.

The cheerful history of a little girl's excursions into doll-land and her various experiences there, so vividly and pleasantly told that it will be sure to entertain all the small mothers of dolls who make the acquaintance of the adventurous Bianca and her family. — Atlantic Monthly.

BOISSIER. Madame de Sévigné. A Biography. By Gaston Boissier. See The Great French Writers, page 12.

BROWNE. Golden Poems. By British and American Authors. Edited by Francis F. Browne. Crown 8vo, 464 pages, full gilt, in box, $1.50.

I have taken pains to examine with some care your "Golden Poems." I am charmed to see how well you have proved that there was room for still another volume of poetical selections. I shall keep your book hereafter within reach; for it is pleasant to see, easy to hold, and refreshing to read. — Prof. Moses Coit Tyler, in letter to Editor.

BOUTELL. The Life of Roger Sherman. By Lewis H. Boutell. Crown 8vo, gilt top, 361 pages, $2.00.

It is a timely and valuable contribution to the biographical literature of the country, not only for the record it gives of a distinguished statesman of the eighteenth century, but for the contrasts it offers to some of the features of the present time. — The Nation, New York.

BOUVET. A Little House in Pimlico. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Helen Maitland Armstrong. Small 4to, $1.25.

This is another admirable example of Miss Bouvet's skill in drawing vivid pen-pictures of child-life. One of the leading characters is a wealthy old man of low origin, whose great ambition is to ally himself with the nobility, but whose chief scheme for this end is frustrated by the impulsive action of his nephew and heir, who hastily marries a lovely girl of comparatively humble station, and suddenly leaves her a widow with a little son. This boy is the hero of the tale, — a child whose affectionate, gentle, and manly character gradually work such a salutary change in the old man that he ceases to bear a grudge against the young widow, and makes the boy his heir.

BOUVET. Pierrette. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Will Phillip Hooper. Small 4to, 203 pages, $1.25.

Miss Bouvet presents another of her dainty stories, which will, we think, confirm the hold she already has upon the story-readers and story-lovers of the day. Miss Bouvet in "Pierrette" has drawn a child-portrait which is almost ideal. True, she is a French child, which brings her into the realm of real flesh and blood. . . . The book is very fascinating, and Miss Bouvet certainly excels in this sort of writing. — The Churchman, New York.

BOUVET. A Child of Tuscany. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Will Phillip Hooper. Small 4to, 207 pages, $1.25.

One of the prettiest stories of the year is "A Child of Tuscany." It tells of a little Italian boy, stolen in babyhood by a woman of the people, who brought him up and loved him. It begins when he is six years old and trying to sell flowers in the city. Miss Bouvet weaves a graceful tale about his adventures and his strange restoration to his own family, — one that keeps the interest throughout. — The Dial.

BOUVET. My Lady: A Story of Long Ago. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Helen Maitland Armstrong. 16mo, 284 pages, $1.25.

The author of "Sweet William" has but to write, and she is read. There is no more universally beloved volume in the children's library, and none with more reason. "My Lady," a tender love story, is as charming as anything she has ever written. . . . It is exquisite. — The Chicago Herald.

BOUVET. Sweet William. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Helen and Margaret Armstrong. Fourteenth thousand. Small 4to, $1.25.

It is told with a grace of style that has not been surpassed in any of the juvenile fiction of the year. "Sweet William" is a charming little figure. The author has given her story a marked individuality that must ensure its wide popularity. — The Boston Advertiser.

BOUVET. Little Marjorie's Love Story. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Helen M. Armstrong. Seventh thousand. Small 4to, $1.00.

The story is charmingly told. . . . The opening description of Little Marjorie gives evidence of the writer's style, — the crisp, telling manner which fixes the person or thing described as no other way can. It is enough to read just those few words to see the strong character whose love gives title to the story, and the grace of words with which the author is certainly gifted. — The Boston Times.

BOUVET. Prince Tip Top. A Fairy Tale. By Marguerite Bouvet. Illustrated by Helen M. Armstrong. Fifth thousand. Small 4to, $1.00.

It is a charming little fairy story. . . . Little folk will enjoy the tale hugely, and it will do them no harm. The style is simple and engaging, and the illustrations are all conceived in the spirit of the text, and daintily executed. — The Commercial Advertiser, New York.

BRETON. A Bower of Delights; Being interwoven Verse and Prose from the Works of Nicholas Breton. See The Elizabethan Library, page 10.

BROOKE. The Friend of Sir Philip Sidney. See The Elizabethan Library, page 10.

BURT. A History of Modern Philosophy (From the Renaissance to the Present). By B. C. Burt, Ph.D. 2 vols., crown 8vo, 689 pp., $3.00.

Admirable in form for the order, clearness, and compactness of presentation. For the rapid reader who cannot study philosophy at first hand, there is no book in the English language which would put him so quickly at the right point of view in order to see the meaning of systems and their relation to one another. The plan is so clear, and the right information is so succinctly given, that one gets a bird's-eye view with little effort. — The Christian Register, Boston.

BYRON. Childe Harold's Pilgrimage: A Romaunt. By Lord Byron. See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

CARGILL. The Big Horn Treasure. A Tale of Rocky Mountain Adventure. By John F. Cargill. Fully illustrated. 12mo, $1.25.

Young fellows in their teens may look far before finding better holiday reading than this book affords. There are four heroes, — all honest, guileless, hearty lads, — who form themselves into a company to undertake gold-mining in Colorado. One has some practical knowledge of mining, another has book-learning, and the remaining two have money; and, as they club these resources, avoid the society of "tough" characters, shun all kinds of vice, and work with a will, they enjoy life among the mountains, and in a few years return home with gold galore. The story is clean, healthy, and full of interest, and evidently written by one who is thoroughly familiar with the events and scenes of which he writes.

CARLYLE. On Heroes and Hero-Worship and the Heroic in History. By Thomas Carlyle. Finely printed and bound. 16mo, 286 pages, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

This marvellous piece of analysis, of satire, of portraiture and eloquence, is so vitally characteristic, so intensely Carlylean, that this one work would alone enable a reader to form a very just idea of its author's literary quality and of his intellectual standpoint. It is here offered in a single elegant and inexpensive volume.

CARLYLE. Sartor Resartus: The Life and Opinions of Herr Teufelsdröckh. By Thomas Carlyle. Finely printed and bound. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

This volume is issued in the same attractive style — good paper, clear type, handy size, and tasteful binding — in which "Heroes and Hero-Worship" is published, and is uniform with it.

"Sartor Resartus" contains under a quaint and singular form a great deal of deep thought, sound principle, and fine writing. — The North American Review.

CARO. George Sand. A Biography. By E. Caro. See The Great French Writers, page 12.

CATHERWOOD. The Story of Tonty: An Historical Romance. By Mary Hartwell Catherwood, author of "The Romance of Dollard." With 23 original illustrations by Enoch Ward. 12mo, 227 pages, $1.25.

A distinctively American novel, written with dramatic force and elegance of style. "The Story of Tonty" deserves a place on every library shelf. — The Home Journal.

One comes from the reading of the romance with a quickened interest in our early national history, and a profound admiration for the art that can so transport us to the dreamful realms where fancy is monarch of fact. — The Philadelphia Press.

CHENEY. No. 49 Tinkham Street. By C. Emma Cheney, author of "Young Folks' History of the Civil War," etc. 12mo, 267 pages, 75 cents.

"No. 49 Tinkham Street" is the house in which was domiciled a boys' club, founded by a charming boy and his older friends after he had been crippled for life by a baseball accident. It is far and away the nicest book for young people we have seen. — New England Magazine.

CHENEY. That Dome in Air. By John Vance Cheney, Librarian of Newberry Library. 12mo, 236 pages, gilt top, $1.25.

"That Dome in Air" is the happy title of a volume of essays — "thoughts on poetry and the poets" — by Mr. John Vance Cheney. In the introductory chapter Mr. Cheney says some good and true things about the relation of poetry to life. He then proceeds to a series of special studies, their subjects being Emerson, Lowell, Whittier, Longfellow, Bryant, Whitman, Blake, Cowper, and Wordsworth. These papers are pleasant, discursive, almost familiar in tone, the reflection of a cultivated mind that loves literature and likes to talk over with friends the books it has been engaged upon. — The Dial, Chicago.

CHESTERFIELD. The Best Letters of Lord Chesterfield. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 19.

CLARK. Savonarola: His Life and Times. By William Clark, M.A., LL.D., Trinity College, Toronto. 12mo, 352 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

This is one of the best pieces of biographical work that have fallen under our eye during the present year. The author exhibits a thorough acquaintance with the history of the age in which the great Italian reformer's life was spent. — Public Opinion, Washington.

CLARK. Witnesses to Christ: A Contribution to Christian Apologetics. By William Clark, M.A., LL.D. 12mo, 300 pages, $1.50.

Professor Clark sets forth clearly and learnedly the belief and grounds of belief of the modern Christian, showing the various phases of contemporaneous thought in their relation to the truth of the Gospel. — The Mail, Toronto.

COOK. The Standard Monitor; or, Freemason's Vade Mecum. Compiled by Edward Cook, Grand Examiner, Illinois. 32mo, leather, 40 cents; leather, tuck, gilt edges, 60 cents.

It supplies a want long felt in our jurisdiction; namely, a text-book that conforms to the standard work and Ritual as authorized by the Grand Lodge of Illinois. I cheerfully commend the useful and convenient little volume to the Craft throughout the State. — De Witt C. Cregier, Past Grand Master.

COWPER. The Best Letters of William Cowper. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 20.

COX. Tales of Ancient Greece. By the Rev. Sir G. W. Cox, Bart., M.A., Trinity College, Oxford. 12mo, xliii and 372 pages, $1.25.

Admirable in style, and level with a child's comprehension. These versions might well find a place in every family. — The Nation, New York.

CRAMER. The Method of Darwin. A Study in Scientific Method. By Frank Cramer. 12mo, 232 pages, $1.00.

The work is a real contribution to the science of logical method and applied logic. We cordially recommend it to all students of logic as of great scientific and practical value. We do not know of any work that will prove more helpful to a student who has some knowledge of the subject than this little book from the pen of Mr. Cramer on the Method of Darwin. — The Universalist, Chicago.

CREE. Direct Legislation by the People. By Nathan Cree. 16mo, 194 pages, 60 cents.

This book is a thoughtful and well-put plea for the adoption by the States and by the Federal Government of this country of Switzerland's referendum and popular initiative. . . . It is at once an historic review of pure democratic legislation and a thoughtful argument in favor of applying the system in this country. — The Standard, New York.

CUMNOCK. Choice Readings for Public and Private Entertainments, and for the Use of Schools, Colleges, and Public Readers, with Elocutionary Advice. Edited by Robert McLean Cumnock, A.M. Revised and enlarged edition. Large 12mo, 602 pages, $1.50.

Of the many previous editions of this very popular work, over thirty-two thousand copies have been sold. The work has now been thoroughly revised and re-made; about one-half of the old selections have been supplanted by new ones, and the editor has introduced much new and original matter, consisting chiefly of practical rules and exercises fitted to guide the student to accurate pronunciation and effective delivery. Emphasis, inflection, and the other topics that demand the attention of the elocutionist are carefully explained with the help of illustrative examples.

CUMNOCK. School Speaker: Rhetorical Recitations for Boys and Girls. Edited by Prof. Robert McLean Cumnock. Sixth Edition. 12mo, 303 pages, 75 cents.

The selections made in this volume are from the best modern authors. They have been compiled with special reference to their adaptation as pieces for speaking, and also as at the same time illustrating the best juvenile literature of the day. — The Methodist, Baltimore.

DE RÉMUSAT. A. Thiers. A Biography. By Paul de Rémusat, Senator. See The Great French Writers, page 12.

DE SÉVIGNÉ. The Best Letters of Madame De Sévigné. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 19.

LARGE-PAPER EDITION, limited to 150 copies. $7.50 net.

This work is embellished with eight full-page photogravure portraits on Japan paper, from steel engravings by Delannoye, Levy, and Weber, after superb originals by Petitot, Bourdon, and other artists, together with woodcut illustrations of castles and villas owned or occupied by Madame de Sévigné and Madame de Grignan, and which are frequently alluded to in the letters.

DIMOND. A Handbook for Pilgrims. Thoughts by the Way for Those who Journey through this Fair World on their Way to One still Fairer. Compiled by Mary B. Dimond. Square 16mo, paper, 50 cents.

The plan of arrangement is novel and pleasing. . . . Cover and all, it is like "apples of gold in baskets of silver." — The Advance, Chicago.

DU BOIS. Columbus and Beatriz. A Novel. By Constance Goddard Du Bois. 12mo, 297 pages, $1.00.

The story recalls the past with accuracy, and reproduces the historical and social atmosphere of the time of Ferdinand and Isabella with a picturesqueness that is decidedly effective. — The Gazette, Boston.

DU BOIS. Martha Corey: A Tale of the Salem Witchcraft. By Constance Goddard Du Bois. 12mo, 314 pages, $1.00.

Miss Du Bois has given a striking picture of a time when bigotry and fanaticism prevailed in New England, and her characters are well drawn and artistically contrasted. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

DUNN. General Nelson's Scout. By Byron A. Dunn. Illustrated. 12mo. (In press.)

This is a historical romance, recording the exploits of Fred Shackleford, a Kentucky boy of sixteen, during the first year of the Rebellion. The divided condition of political opinion in that State is brought into prominence, — the young hero being an ardent Unionist, his cousin, a boy of the same age being as ardent a Secessionist, and a large part of the population being determined that the State shall remain neutral. As a scout, Fred manifests in a remarkable degree coolness, courage, and craftiness; and the reader cannot fail to be deeply interested in his exploits, disguises, and hairbreadth escapes. The story contains graphic descriptions of the saving of Louisville from Buckner's invading army, the battle of Shiloh, the taking of Fort Donelson, and other important events; for the author, who served throughout the War, writes from personal knowledge.

ELIZABETHAN LIBRARY (The).

24mo, gilt top, per volume, 75 cts. Twenty-five copies only printed on large paper, half Roxburghe, gilt top, per volume, $3.00.

A series of handy and tastefully printed little volumes, designed to bring the writings of some of the noble but little known authors of the sixteenth century before readers of the present day. The volumes are all printed in old-face type, on antique paper, in the 24mo size so characteristic of the sixteenth century, and are appropriately bound in the style of the Tudor period.

A Cabinet of Gems, Cut and Polished by Sir Philip Sidney; now, for the more Radiance, presented without their Setting, by George MacDonald. With portrait.

Here indeed is "a box where sweets compacted lie," a real pocket-companion, a vinaigrette for the soul. — The Daily Chronicle, London.

Choice Passages from the Writings of Sir Walter Raleigh: Being a small Sheaf of Gleanings from a Golden Harvest. By Alexander B. Grosart. With portrait.

This volume is an endeavor to bring together representative quotations from Raleigh, whereby to illustrate his distinction of style, the stately march of his sentences, and the lights and shadows of his many-sided and splendid career.

A Bower of Delights: Being Interwoven Verse and Prose from the Works of Nicholas Breton. The Weaver: Alexander B. Grosart. With an Introduction on his Life and the Characteristics of his Writings.

Breton has many a thought well expressed in melodious metre, and many a pretty image and delicate verse to make him amply worth the reading; and his prose is delightful in its freshness and pointed neatness. — St. James's Gazette, London.

"Thoughts that Breathe and Words that Burn," from the Writings of Francis Bacon. Selected by Alexander B. Grosart.

The selections are what Bacon hoped his Essays might be, — "grains of salt that will rather give an appetite than offend with satiety."

Green Pastures. Being Choice Extracts from the Works of Robert Greene, A.M., of both Universities, 1560(?)–1592. Made by Alexander B. Grosart.

Among the extracts will be found some exquisite word-pictures of old English scenes, gems from his plays, much quaint humor, and many pithy proverbs and choice sayings that may have originated some of the proverbs we are using to-day.

"The Poet of Poets." The Love-Verse from the Minor Poems of Edmund Spenser. Alexander B. Grosart, Editor. With portrait.

As a collection of Spenser's choicest verse the volume will be welcomed as a pocket-companion for a summer day, or a passing recreation by the winter fireside.

"Brave Translunary Things." From the Works in Prose and Verse of Ben Jonson. Selected by Alexander B. Grosart.

Ben Jonson was not only among the foremost of his age for genius and intellectual and scholarly resource and fineness of poetic art, but his voluminous writings lend themselves exceptionally well to selections such as this.

The Friend of Sir Philip Sidney. Being Selections from the Works of Fulke Greville, Lord Brooke. Edited, with an Introduction, by Alexander B. Grosart.

The high esteem in which Lord Brooke's writings have been held by the capable back to his own time, may be summed up in the words of Mr. George Saintsbury: "Perhaps it is not easy to find in all that generation of high-thinking and brilliantly-writing men any one who combines vivid expression with weighty thought more notably than Brooke does."

ELIZABETHAN SONNET CYCLES. Edited by Martha Foote Crow. Vol. I.: PHILLIS, by Thomas Lodge; LICIA, by Giles Fletcher. Vol. II.: DELIA, by Samuel Daniel; DIANA, by Henry Constable; Vol. III.: IDEA, by Michael Drayton; FIDESSA, by Bartholomew Griffin; CHLORIS, by William Smith. 12mo, gilt top, per volume, $1.50 net.

The form in which the works of these authors is presented is convenient, and the delightful introductions of Martha Foote Crow are brief and to the point. She gives all the information necessary, but avoids the mistake of over-explaining her subject.

ENGLISH EPITHALAMIES. Edited by R. H. Case, 12mo, deckle edges, 198 pages, $1.75 net.

. . . The term Epithalamium, originally used to denote the song at the bridal chamber as distinguished from those sung during the wedding procession or at the feast, has long been attached to every kind of nuptial poem, provided it be supposed to precede or even immediately succeed the nuptial night, and concludes with a few good wishes more or less allusive to the occasion. The present collection is meant to include nearly all English poems so styled by their authors, or that may plausibly be classed as such. — From the Introduction to the book.

FILON. Garrick's Pupil. By Augustin Filon. Translated by J. V. Prichard. Illustrated. 12mo, 217 pages, 75 cents.

People who are weary of introversion and analysis, and who would like to stop taking the lids off human souls in order to examine their works, will welcome a novelette so old-schooled as "Garrick's Pupil." It has all the old-fashioned flavor of incident and intrigue and plot which we so generally miss nowadays, and it is pleasant to be brought into contact with so many historic characters whose very names seem a part of life. — The Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

FISHER. A Group of French Critics. By Mary Fisher. 12mo, 300 pages, $1.25.

Miss Fisher has earned the thanks of every lover of literature by her charming and scholarly presentation of the lives, characters, and work of the great modern French literary critics. Five masters are introduced: Edmond Scherer, Ernest Bersot, Saint-Marc Girardin, Ximenes Doudan, and Gustave Planche, and the reader who has not already made their acquaintance will find his intellectual horizon broadened and deepened in a marvellous way. The perusal of this book will elevate and stimulate literary perception and taste in the highest degree, for there are no greater critics than the French, and a more able, appreciative, and delightful account of them than Miss Fisher's cannot be found.

FISHER. Out of the Woods. By George P. Fisher, Jr. 12mo, 270 pages, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Mr. George P. Fisher, Jr., has written a lively and entertaining story of camp life, with the title — appropriate, literally and symbolically — of "Out of the Woods." . . . It is not so much the plot and construction of the narrative that are interesting, as the fresh piney atmosphere and gay incidents of the out-of-door life, of which the author writes with such evident zest. — Chicago Journal.

FLETCHER. Mistress Spitfire. By J. S. Fletcher. 12mo, $1.50.

A crisp and charming story of the times of Cromwell, fully equalling if not surpassing in interest the former stories by this fascinating writer.

A bit of romance that recalls some of the old English high comedies, so full is it of action, spirit, and repartee. — Evening Transcript, Boston.

FOUQUÉ. Undine. A Tale. By Friedrich, Baron de la Motte Fouqué. Translated by Edmund Gosse. With twenty full-page illustrations and ten head and tail pieces by F. M. Rudland. 287 pages, gilt top, uncut edges, $1.50.

The publishers feel that the present edition of this little classic, with its new letterpress and charming illustrations, is presented in a form thoroughly in keeping with the exceptional merit of the book itself.

FRENCH WRITERS (The Great).
12mo, cloth, per vol., 75 cents; half morocco, gilt top, per vol., $2.50.

Surely these brilliant books, by setting forth such admirable examples of critical work, must have a potent effect on American criticism. —The Critic, New York.

Madame de Sévigné. By Gaston Boissier, of the French Academy. Translated by Prof. M. B. Anderson.

There has been heretofore no such charming account of this charming and celebrated woman. —The Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

George Sand. By E. Caro, of the French Academy. Translated by Prof. M. B. Anderson.

It is an extremely brilliant performance, full of French acumen, thoroughly intelligible; and the original is a model of pure French. — The Beacon, Boston.

Montesquieu. By Albert Sorel, of the Institute. Translated by Professors M. B. Anderson and E. P. Anderson.

Those who wish to study Montesquieu, his work, and his period in a small compass, will be repaid by reading this clever little volume. — The New York Tribune.

Victor Cousin. By Jules Simon, of the French Academy. Translated by Professors M. B. Anderson and E. P. Anderson.

Jules Simon has accomplished his work as biographer with fidelity and success, and the little volume that comes from his hand will probably be the standard memoir of the eminent French philosopher.—The Home Journal, New York.

Turgot. By Léon Say, of the French Academy. Translated by Prof. M. B. Anderson.

This is one of the best volumes in a notable series. A skilful biographer could not ask for a better subject; and in this instance the subject is handled with extraordinary grace of sympathy and touch. —The Press, Philadelphia.

Thiers. By Paul de Rémusat, Senator. Translated by Prof. M. B. Anderson.

This sketch of his life and personality is brilliant; and the little bourgeois, the representative of all that is best and most solid in France, stands before the reader clearly, succinctly, as if cut in marble. — Book-Chat, New York.

Madame de Staël. By Albert Sorel, of the Institute. Translated by Fanny Hale Gardiner.

It is an appreciative, temperate, discriminating, and highly interesting account of the eminent subject, her career, and her writings. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

Bernardin de St. Pierre. By Arvède Barine. With a Preface by Augustin Birrell, author of "Obiter Dicta," etc.

This "life" is just, appreciative, generous in tone, and charmingly written, and is worth much more than a casual reading. — The Commercial Advertiser, New York.

GALDOS. Marianela: A Story of Spanish Love. By B. Perez Galdos. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 35.

GASKELL. Cousin Phillis: A Story of English Love. By Mrs. Gaskell. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 35.

GASKIN. A, B, C: An Alphabet. Written and pictured by Mrs. Arthur Gaskin. 12mo, 65 pages, $1.00.

A delightful piece of artistic book-making, with two pages of illustrations for each letter.

GERMAN (The). How to Give it; How to Lead it; How to Dance it. By two Amateur Leaders. 12mo, 132 pages, $1.00.

This pretty little volume is gracefully written, and gives much common-sense advice and such apt suggestions that even the most experienced dancer will find its pages instructive and entertaining. — The Record, Philadelphia.

GODKIN. Stories from Italy. By G. S. Godkin. 12mo, 354 pages, gilt top, $1.25.

Whether these stories be viewed with regard to the excellence of their literary quality, the wholesomeness of their moral atmosphere, or the novelty and variety of their incidents, they can with perfect confidence be recommended to all classes of readers. They present to us human nature under environments altogether different from our own, yet touched with those feelings that make the whole world kin; they sustain the attention by means of swift, continuous action; and, unlike many short stories, they are written in a style that is both vigorous and chaste.

GOETHE. Wilhelm Meister's Apprenticeship and Travels. See Masterpieces of Foreign Authors, page 23.

GOLDONI. The Comedies of Carlo Goldoni. See Masterpieces of Foreign Authors, page 24.

GOLDSMITH. The Vicar of Wakefield. By Oliver Goldsmith. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 20.

GREENE. Green Pastures: Being Choice Extracts from the Works of Robert Greene, M.A. See The Elizabethan Library, page 10.

GRISWOLD. Personal Sketches of Recent Authors. By Hattie Tyng Griswold. With Portraits. 12mo. $1.50.

These sketches embrace the names of twenty eminent writers, of whom some are yet alive. In most cases they present to us the whole man, — physique, manner, home, and social life, religious belief, etc. The volume is intended to furnish busy people with interesting information regarding the most popular writers of our own day, and it forms an admirable supplement to the author's "Home Life of Great Authors," already favorably known. It contains a recent portrait of each author.

GRISWOLD. Home-Life of Great Authors. By Hattie Tyng Griswold. 12mo, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $3.50.

This is a very charming book. . . . Mrs. Griswold has a very happy faculty of weaving literary illustrations from the different authors into her descriptions of their domestic lives. She has made a book about the home life of great authors that will be sure to make the home life of many who are not authors somewhat more sweet and glad. — The Christian Register, Boston.

GUNSAULUS. Songs of Night and Day. By Frank W. Gunsaulus, D.D. Small 4to, 144 pages, deckle edges, $1.50.

Eloquence of a very musical sort, picturesque thought, decorated with phrasing which sometimes fairly shoots forth rays of rainbow colors, and a pure, high aspiration informing every line, are the chief features of these poems. Dr. Gunsaulus is a man of power. He is not a great poet, but he is a "delightful doer of rhymes and rhythms," that go to the good parts of the understanding and sweetly linger there. — New York Independent.

GUNSAULUS. Monk and Knight: An Historical Study in Fiction. By Frank W. Gunsaulus, D.D. 2 vols., crown 8vo, $2.00.

Let no one attempt to read "Monk and Knight" at a sitting. That way madness lies. Take time. Pick it up at leisure moments, keeping the thread in the memory. Treat it as the author apparently means it, — less as a novel than as a vehicle for a mind full of the times and the ideas of the times. . . . It is more stirring than any history. There is no novel dealing with the dawn of the Reformation which gives us a succession of such splendid pictures. — The Sun, Baltimore.

GUNSAULUS. Phidias, and Other Poems. By Frank W. Gunsaulus, D.D. Large 12mo, 89 pages, gilt top, white and gold, in box, $1.25; 16mo, cloth, 75 cents.

A new poet enters the lists in the person of Frank W. Gunsaulus. His "Phidias" is a majestic poem, founded upon an incident of Athenian history about 430 B. C. It is followed by a group of sonnets, among which the "Statue of Gordon in Trafalgar Square" is pre eminent for nobility of thought and the calm beauty of expression. — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HALL. The Power of an Endless Life. By the Rev. Thomas C. Hall. 16mo, 190 pages, $1.00.

Having carefully read the book, our verdict is that it is able, timely, and eminently adapted to do good. The discussion of the various types of Christianity is very finely wrought out, and is suited to instructing and broadening those who read it. — Free Methodist, Chicago.

HARRIS. The Dignity of Man: Select Sermons by Samuel Smith Harris, D.D., LL.D., Late Bishop of Michigan. With a Memorial Address by Bishop Potter. Portrait. 12mo, 266 pages, $1.50.

For the two brief memorial papers alone the volume would be a very valuable treasure; but as followed by this noble series of sermons it is indeed a possession for all well-endowed libraries. — The Churchman, New York.

HEALY. Reminiscences of a Portrait Painter. By George P. A. Healy. With 21 half-tone illustrations after original paintings by Mr. Healy. 12mo, gilt top, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, $4.00.

A capital autobiography, and a real multum in parvo in point of anecdotal good things. Mr. Healy, as the world knows, was a master of the brush, and his book shows that he could wield the pen with a fluent neatness that might put many a professed writer to the blush. — The Dial.

HOLDEN. Audiences. A Few Suggestions to those who Look and Listen. By Florence P. Holden. Illustrated. 12mo, 222 pages, $1.00.

A book which will prove a boon to many readers who, not having time for extended investigation, yet desire assistance in the formation of judgment on things literary, musical, and artistic. Those who look at works of sculpture or architecture, at the works of the master painters or engravers, and those who listen to poetry, music, or literary work of any sort, will find much to assist them to a just estimate, much to help in laying a good foundation store of critical knowledge in this book. — The Post, Hartford, Conn.

HOLMES AND STEVENSON. Pictures from Nature and Life. Poems, by Kate Raworth Holmes. Illustrated by Helen E. Stevenson. Small quarto, $2.00.

One of the finest books of poetry that have appeared during the holiday season is "Pictures from Nature and Life." The verses are well written, and are filled with bright thoughts and fancies, while no less admiration will be bestowed on the artistic work. — The School Journal, New York.

HOY. Eating and Drinking. By Dr. Albert H. Hoy. 12mo, $1.50.

The book is written with such freedom from technicalities of medical science, and in a style so clear and direct, as to prove interesting and attractive reading. The directions are plain and practical. — Boston Evening Transcript.

HUDSON. The Law of Psychic Phenomena. A Working Hypothesis for the Systematic Study of Hypnotism, Spiritism, Mental Therapeutics, etc. By Thomson Jay Hudson, LL.D. Fourteenth Edition. 12mo, 409 pages, $1.50.

Throughout Mr. Hudson is discreet, candid, and reverent. His pages impress the fact that there is a wide realm of truth bearing upon his subject in which but the most incipient discoveries have been made as yet, and into which earnest thinkers may well endeavor to penetrate further. — Congregationalist, Boston.

HUDSON. A Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life. By Thomson Jay Hudson, LL.D. 12mo, $1.50.

One of the most interesting works of the season is "A Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life," by Thomson Jay Hudson, whose previous book, "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," caused such a stir, and was so eagerly read. . . . The entire subject is treated in a firmly scientific manner; nothing of theory or vague arguing is admitted; and there is no doubt that the book will be as widely read and discussed as was its predecessor. — Chicago Daily News.

HUGO. William Shakespeare. Translated from the French of Victor Hugo, by Prof. Melville B. Anderson, M.A. 8vo, 424 pages, gilt top, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $4.00.

This volume is much more than a study of Shakespeare. All history, all theology, and all philosophy are grasped and handled with Titanic force, the Bard of Avon furnishing the text, or as we should say, the pretext, for magnificent speculation. — The Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

HUTSON. The Story of Language. By Charles Woodward Hutson, author of the "Beginnings of Civilization." 12mo, 392 pages, $1.50.

The general reader who has not hitherto given his attention to the study of language need have no fear of finding this "Story" dry. He will soon find that his attention is absorbed in the contemplation of language, not as a multitude of arbitrarily formed words, but as a living organism subject to the laws of evolution. The book gives abundant evidence that the author is acquainted with the best works on ethnology and philology; and, while well suited to the wants of the general reader, it would be an admirable text-book for schools and colleges.

JÆGER. Henrik Ibsen, 1828–1888: A Critical Biography. By Henrik Jæger. Translated from the Norwegian by William Morton Payne. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, 275 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

It is the only full biography of the author which we have in English, and makes any other unnecessary. It conveys every bit of needed information in acceptable form. — Public Opinion, Washington.

JENSEN. Karine: A Story of Swedish Love. From the German of Wilhelm Jensen. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 35.

JOHNSON. Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia. By Samuel Johnson. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 20.

JONES. Beatrice of Bayou Têche. By Alice Ilgenfritz Jones. 12mo, 386 pages, $1.00.

A capital story, full of vigor and subtle knowledge of human nature, and it is as vivid and picturesque as the Bayou. — OCTAVE THANET.

JONES. The Lovers' Shakspere. Compiled by Chloe Blakeman Jones. 12mo, gilt top, 194 pages, $1.25.

A very pretty little book of Shaksperian extracts on sweethearts and lovers, their symptoms, fates, and all that concerns them. To facilitate reference, the matter is arranged in sections, each bearing a distinctive title, — "The course of true love," "I will live a bachelor," etc. All who are bachelors, maids, wives, or widows, will find here much to interest them; and there could scarcely be a more universally appropriate gift-book.

JONSON. Brave Translunary Things. From the Works in Prose and Verse of Ben Jonson. See The Elizabethan Library, page 10.

JORDAN. Science Sketches. By David Starr Jordan. New and Enlarged Edition. 12mo, 287 pages, $1.50.

Of Dr. Jordan's ability and his attractive manner of putting things, every one who has read any of these sketches is ready to testify. We have read some of them aloud to a party of young people on several occasions, and always found them to be listened to with great interest. Among essays on so-called popular science we know of none more charming. — Living Church, Chicago.

JORDAN. A Manual of the Vertebrate Animals of the Northern United States. By David Starr Jordan, President of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University. Large 12mo, 375 pages, $2.50. Seventh edition. The trade discount on this book is limited.

We are satisfied that it has taken a permanent place in the educational literature of zoölogy in America, as the standard text-book of vertebrates. — DR. ELLIOTT COUES, in The Dial.

JULIAN. The Life of Joshua R. Giddings. By George W. Julian. Two portraits, and a complete index. 8vo, 473 pages, gilt top, $2.50.

Joshua R. Giddings was one of those giants in formulating opinion that have made the country the foremost upon the earth. . . . The book is one for all young Americans to read, for it will teach them what a boy, no matter how poor, who is determined to do right, can accomplish in a country like ours. — The Evening Telegram, New York.

JULIAN. Political Recollections, from 1840 to 1872. By the Hon. George W. Julian. 12mo, 384 pages, $1.50.

Like Wraxall's "Historical Memoirs," this book infuses dry details with a personal interest, a biographical charm, which makes it by far the most attractive account of the anti-slavery reform that we have yet seen. — The Boston Transcript.

KEBLE-LIDDON. The Christian Year. By the Rev. John Keble. The St. Paul's Edition. With the Collects and a Series of Meditations and Exhortations selected from the works of the Rev. H. P. Liddon, D.D., D.C.L. Large 12mo, 453 pages, $1.50.

This is the best edition yet issued in this country, and the conjunction of Keble and Liddon must commend itself to every churchly reader as exceptionally felicitous. The Churchman, New York.

KEYSER. In Bird Land. By Leander S. Keyser. 16mo, 269 pp., $1.25.

Mr. Keyser's poetic interpretation, as well as scientific insight, of bird-life, is not only highly attractive, but keen and original. . . . These descriptions are full of thought and tenderness, and are not smothered in artistic phraseology. . . . It is very evident that the author is a man of unusual observant powers, and possesses a true feeling of sympathy for all feathered creatures. The book is a poet's as well as a naturalist's. — The Journal of Education, Boston.

KINKEAD. Florida Alexander; A Kentucky Girl. By Eleanor Talbot Kinkead. 12mo. $1.00.

The readers of "Young Greer of Kentucky" and "'Gainst Wind and Tide" will welcome another story of Kentucky life and character from the same author's graceful pen. Miss Kinkead is a Kentucky woman and writes charmingly of the men and women whom she loves so well. The love affair of a Northern professor and a modern, well-educated Southern belle is told in most fascinating style, while the reader is introduced into the most exclusive and agreeable circles of Southern society.

KIRKLAND. A Short History of Italy. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 475 pages, $1.25.

The author, who has written before short histories of England and France and of English literature, has a masterly method of grasping her subject, selecting the great characters and leading themes, and condensing the whole into an entertaining and instructive history. . . . Like Green, in his "Short History of the English People," she writes of the people. It is not a successive series of battles and descriptions of rulers, or dates of events, but an epitome of the spirit of the nation, with leaders in the front, the people as a background, and the whole a beautiful picture. — Inter Ocean, Chicago.

KIRKLAND. A Short History of English Literature for Young People. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. With eleven portraits. 12mo, 398 pages, $1.50.

The story of English literature has rarely been more delightfully told than in these pages. Miss Kirkland goes boldly back to the dawn when English was first written, and not only tells about Caedmon, and Alfred, Chaucer and their contemporaries and followers, but gives a few short examples of their language, such as can most easily be interpreted. From this time down to Tennyson, Miss Kirkland has picked out the important writers and schools, and treats them in a way that should interest every young student, not only in the men, but in their writings even more. — The Journal of Education, Boston.

KIRKLAND. A Short History of England for Young People. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 415 pages, $1.25.

"A Short History of England" is never trite, never dull; while its brief explanations of intricate systems — as, for example, the feudal system — and of great movements — such as the developments which led to the Restoration — are almost flawlessly clear. — The Evangelist, New York.

KIRKLAND. A Short History of France for Young People. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 398 pages, $1.25.

Miss Kirkland has admirably succeeded in her "Short History of France," in making a book both instructive and entertaining. It is not a dry compendium of dates and facts, but a charmingly written history. Children can hardly fail to be interested in it; and if used as a text-book, it will be found by all competent teachers an important addition to the school library. — The Christian Union, New York.

KIRKLAND. Six Little Cooks; or, Aunt Jane's Cooking Class. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 236 pages, 75 cents.

A lucky stroke of genius, because it is a good thing well done. It has the charm of a bright story of real life, and is a useful essay on cooking. — The Times, N. Y.

KIRKLAND. Dora's Housekeeping. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 275 pages, 75 cents.

We cordially recommend these two books ("Dora's Housekeeping" and "Six Little Cooks") as containing almost the whole gospel of domestic economy. — The Nation, New York.

KIRKLAND. Speech and Manners for Home and School. By Elizabeth S. Kirkland. 12mo, 263 pages, 75 cents.

The author's theory of manners and of speech is good. Her modest manual might be read, re-read, and read again with great advantage in most American families. — The Independent, New York.

KIRKLAND. Six Little Cooks Series. Comprising: Six Little Cooks, Dora's Housekeeping, and Speech and Manners. In new styles of binding. The three volumes in neat box, $2.25.

KNOWLES. To England and Back: A Winter Vacation. By Canon Knowles. Portrait. 16mo, 231 pages, $1.00.

Canon Knowles writes as he talks, and he is an entertaining conversationalist. These letters lose none of their freshness in book form. They are full of keen observations, graphically recorded. — The Churchman, New York.

KRASINSKA. The Journal of Countess Françoise Krasinska in the Eighteenth Century. Translated by Kasimir Dziekonska. With portrait and other illustrations. 16mo, gilt top, deckle edges, $1.25.

Not for a long time have we seen so entertaining a book as this. It gives with charming naïveté a picturesque account of high life in Poland at the middle of the last century, — a life still pervaded by feudal traditions and customs. . . . The countess writes with all the vivacity of a girl who does not suspect that the glamour will pass; but withal she has very keen eyes that see just those details which posterity is most interested in and rarely finds in formal histories. — The Nation.

LABOULAYE. Abdallah; or, The Four-Leaved Shamrock. By Edouard Laboulaye. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 20.

LAMARTINE. Graziella: A Story of Italian Love. From the French of A. de Lamartine. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 34.

LAMARTINE. Raphael; or, Pages of the Book of Life at Twenty. From the French of Alphonse de Lamartine. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 20.

LAMB. The Best Letters of Charles Lamb. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 20.

LAMON. Recollections of Abraham Lincoln, 1847–1865. By Ward Hill Lamon. Edited by Dorothy Lamon. With two portraits and fac-simile letters. 12mo, 286 pages, $1.50.

Few men knew Lincoln more intimately than did Mr. Lamon. His "Recollections," edited by his daughter, form a fresh contribution to the feast of biographical and anecdotal materials grouped about the personality of that one among our Presidents of whose life the American people can never learn enough. — Review of Reviews.

LATIMER. My Scrap-Book of the French Revolution. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated. 8vo. $2.50.

Mrs. Latimer has collected, arranged, and woven together much interesting information that throws a clear light on the condition of the French people during the Revolution. She has drawn much of her matter from recent French sources, some from the great historians, some from magazines and reviews, some from private journals and letters hitherto unpublished. The complete book as compiled, and treated in her familiar epistolary style, throws much new light upon the French Revolution, and makes a book of absorbing interest.

LATIMER. Spain in the Nineteenth Century. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated. With twenty-three full-page half-tone portraits. 8vo, 441 pages, $2.50.

This volume is the last of the author's Nineteenth-Century historical series, and, like the previous volumes on France, Russia, England, Africa, and Italy, gives the busy reader, in a compact and interesting narrative, a survey of the recent political history of the country of which it treats. — The Outlook, New York.

The style is attractive and the matter well brought up to date. In view of the Cuban situation, the book has a peculiar timeliness. — Review of Reviews.

LATIMER. Italy in the Nineteenth Century. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated with twenty-four full-page half-tone portraits. 8vo, 436 pages, $2.50.

"Italy in the Nineteenth Century" is as fascinating as a romantic novel. Indeed every chapter is a romance from history made almost in our own day. It is hard to imagine a more difficult task than to compress into a single volume the richly varied stories of States and men and women that went to the making of the United Italy of to-day. The author says truly that "there is nothing more bewildering in the varied history of the nineteenth century than the story of Italy, and nothing at the same time more picturesque, soul-stirring, and affecting. — The Press, Philadelphia.

LATIMER. Europe in Africa in the Nineteenth Century. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated with twenty-three full-page half-tone portraits. 8vo, 456 pages, $2.50.

Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer has made a valuable condensation of the history of European exploration and conquest. She calls her book a volume of "short yarns," but this modest characterization does not do justice to the skilful summing up of achievement in the Dark Continent. The classification is by the great names of this history. Livingston, Stanley, Gordon, Arabi Pasha, Mehemet Ali, Emin Pasha, Cecil Rhodes, and others are the figures around which are grouped the stories of exploration, conquest, and development. — The Advance.

LATIMER. England in the Nineteenth Century. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated with twenty-five full-page half-tone portraits. 8vo, 452 pages, $2.50.

What a lot she knows! And how brightly she tells it all! We seem to be reading contemporaneous confidential letters to an intimate friend, written "not for publication" by any means, — the style is too good for that, — but simply because the writer is interested, and never imagines the reader to be otherwise. . . . Two things are certain, — that Mrs. Latimer enjoyed writing this book, and that every one who reads it will share her enjoyment. — The Mail and Express, New York.

LATIMER. Russia and Turkey in the Nineteenth Century. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Handsomely illustrated with twenty-three full-page half-tone portraits. 8vo, 413 pages, $2.50.

The work is an excellent one, its references and quotations being judiciously selected from reliable sources, and it is an interesting and readable story in its every part. Poland, Servia, Roumania, and other collateral governments are presented in their proper sequence, forming in the story a well-balanced and harmonious whole. The volume is praiseworthy in that it presents to us in concise and interesting form much information of value to us, the political opposite of the Muscovite form of government. The work is admirably printed, and is embellished with many full-page portraits which add much to the value of the text. — The Boston Times.

LATIMER. France in the Nineteenth Century, 1830–1890. By Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer. Beautifully illustrated with twenty-two full-page, half-tone portraits. 8vo, 450 pages, $2.50.

The story of "France in the Nineteenth Century" as told by Mrs. Latimer is as absorbing as a work of fiction. Indeed, for rapid changes of front, for picturesque situations, remarkable vacillation of public opinion, no period of European history is more remarkable than this. . . . For telling situations and for startling effects she certainly does not lack. . . . She is always picturesque. In her analysis of character she displays a thorough mastery of her subject. . . . Mrs. Latimer has written an extremely interesting book, which will be read with eagerness. — The Daily Advertiser, Boston.

LAUREL-CROWNED LETTERS.

16mo, cloth, gilt tops, per volume, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, per volume, $2.50. The seven volumes, in neat box, per set, $7.00; in half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $17.50.

Amid the great flood of ephemeral literature that pours from the press, it is well to be recalled by such publications as the "Laurel-Crowned Letters" to books that have won an abiding place in the classical literature of the world. — The Independent, New York.

The Best Letters of Lord Chesterfield. Edited, with an Introduction, by Edward Gilpin Johnson.

The diction, wit, and wealth of worldly wisdom displayed in these pages is indeed remarkable, and for variety of argument and illustration they can scarcely be surpassed. — The Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

The Best Letters of Madame de Sévigné. Edited, with an Introduction, by Edward Playfair Anderson.

Accomplished, witty, pure, Madame de Sévigné's noble character is reflected in her writings, which will always hold a foremost place in the estimation of those who can appreciate high moral and intellectual qualities. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

The Best Letters of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu. Edited, with a Dedicatory Letter, by Octave Thanet.

To read the letters she wrote is to get vivid glimpses of a by-gone era, and to understand more clearly than from any other source — save, perhaps, the epistles of Walpole — the manners and ideals of English society in the first half of the eighteenth century. — The Beacon, Boston.

The Best Letters of Horace Walpole. Edited, with an Introduction, by Anna Benneson McMahan.

Nowhere else can one get so readily, and almost with the pleasure of reading fiction, so good an interior view of English life at the most interesting period to American readers. — The Atlantic Monthly.

The Best Letters of Charles Lamb. Edited, with an Introduction, by Edward Gilpin Johnson.

The editor has aimed to include those letters which exhibit most fully Lamb's distinctive charm and quality; and the result is a volume of convenient size, containing ample material for the reader to spell out the power and lovableness of Lamb's nature, even if all other helps toward such understanding were wanting. — The Christian Register, Boston.

The Best Letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley. Edited, with an Introduction, by Shirley Carter Hughson.

There is a grace of expression, a beauty of sentiment, a touch of quick, deep feeling that mark them with the warmth and exquisite charm of the poet's soul, and make us wonder whether he excels in prose or poem. — Public Opinion, Washington.

The Best Letters of William Cowper. Edited, with an Introduction, by Anna Benneson McMahan.

Cowper might be called, with little exaggeration, the prince of letter-writers, so elegant and classic are his epistles. Apart from their literary charm, these letters give a more satisfactory picture of the man than any "Life" of him that has yet been written. — The Daily Advertiser, Boston.

LAUREL-CROWNED TALES.

16mo, cloth, gilt tops, per volume, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, per volume, $2.50. The eight volumes, in neat box, per set, $8.00; in half calf or half morocco, $20.00.

The publishers have shown excellent discrimination in their choice of material for their projected library of choice fiction, and they have certainly given these initial volumes a form that bespeaks the warmest praise. — The Beacon, Boston.

Abdallah; or, The Four-Leaved Shamrock. By Edouard René Lefebvre-Laboulaye. Translated by Mary L. Booth.

The story is one of perennial charm for both young and old, and is delightful in its lofty morality, and in its grace of style, its wit, and its imaginative delicacy. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia. By Samuel Johnson.

For a model of grave and majestic language, "Rasselas" will claim, perhaps, the first place in English composition. — The School Journal, New York.

Raphael; or, Pages of the Book of Life at Twenty. From the French of Alphonse de Lamartine.

A capital translation of one of Lamartine's fiery, impassioned, yet pure love stories. Already read by scores of thousands, it will have full as many readers in the future as it has had in the past. — The Republic, St. Louis.

The Vicar of Wakefield. By Oliver Goldsmith.

The principal characters in this tale are as immortal as any in Shakespeare, while its pictures of old-time persons and incidents in the rural life of England are delightful in a way that entices one to the reading of the story again and again. — The Standard, Chicago.

The Epicurean. A Tale. By Thomas Moore.

This curious romance is one of Moore's most interesting works. It has the characteristic brilliant power, finish, and style of the unrivalled song writer. — The Journal of Education, Boston.

Picciola. From the French of X. B. Saintine.

Nobody ever read this charming tale without surrendering quietly and entirely to its charm. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

LAUREL-CROWNED TALES (continued).

An Iceland Fisherman. By Pierre Loti. Translated from the French by Anna Farwell de Koven.

It is a gem of the purest ray, a lovely idyl, whose strength is drawn from what is best in human life. — The Philadelphia Inquirer.

Paul and Virginia. By Bernardin de Saint-Pierre. Translated from the French by Professor Melville B. Anderson.

A new translation, very faithful and conscientious, yet lively, and presented in good idiomatic English. The translator has been careful to catch the author's spirit and meaning, and the reader will find the charm of this classic prose idyl wonderfully preserved.

LAUREL-CROWNED VERSE.

Edited by FRANCIS F. BROWNE. 16mo, cloth, gilt top, per volume, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, per volume, $2.50. The seven volumes, in neat box, per set, $7.00; in half calf or half morocco, $15.00.

All the volumes of this series are from a specially prepared and corrected text, based upon a careful collation of all the more authentic editions.

The special merit of these editions, aside from the graceful form of the books, lies in the editor's reserve. Whenever the author has provided a preface or notes, this apparatus is given, and thus some interesting matter is revived; but the editor himself refrains from loading the books with his own writing.—The Atlantic Monthly.

The Lady of the Lake. By Sir Walter Scott.

"The Lady of the Lake" appeared in 1809. . . . It took the world by storm. The public was unanimous in its favor; the reviews vied with each other in celebrating this greatest poem of the age. — MRS. OLIPHANT, in The Literary History of England.

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. A Romaunt. By Lord Byron.

"Childe Harold" derives its wonderful power over our sympathies from the admirable variety, splendor, and beauty of its descriptions of scenery, spots of eternal and historical interest, and the great triumphs of human art and genius. — THOMAS B. SHAW, in Outlines of English Literature.

Lalla Rookh. An Oriental Romance. By Thomas Moore.

Moore has shown, in the poetry selected for the "Irish Melodies," and more so in his celebrated "Lalla Rookh," how beautifully the feelings of a delicate passion can be conveyed in language of the most brilliant and powerful description. — Dibdin's Library Companion.

Idylls of the King. By Alfred, Lord Tennyson.

It is the epic of chivalry, the Christian ideal of chivalry which we have deduced from a barbaric source, — our conception of what knighthood should be, rather than what it really was; but so skilfully wrought of high imaginings, fairy spells, fantastic legends, and mediæval splendors, that the whole work, suffused with the Tennysonian glamour of golden mist, seems like a chronicle illuminated by saintly hands. EDMUND CLARENCE STEDMAN.

Paradise Lost. By John Milton.

The physical universe of Dante's great poem would go into a nutshell as compared with that to which the imagination must stretch itself out in "Paradise Lost." Vastness of scene and power of story together, little wonder that the poem should have so impressed the world. — DAVID MASSON.

The Iliad of Homer. Translated by Alexander Pope. 2 vols.

Pope's translation of the Iliad occupies a position in literature which no other has ever approached. It is the one poem of the kind that has obtained a reputation beyond the limits of the country in the language of which it is written, and the only one that has fascinated the imagination of the unlearned. — W. I. COMTHOPE.

LILJENCRANTZ. The Scrape that Jack Built. By Ottilie A. Liljencrantz. Illustrated. 12mo, 248 pages, $1.25.

The boys and girls of this book are just as natural as the boys and girls we know, just as interesting as the heroes and heroines of our best story-writers; and it is a pleasure to come across a book which can be so heartily recommended from several different points of view. — Christian Register, Boston.

LINN. Golden Thoughts. From the Words of Leading Orators, Divines, Philosophers, Statesmen, and Poets. By the Rev. S. P. Linn. Crown 8vo, 448 pages, full gilt, in box, $1.50.

The selections are made with rare taste and judgment. They show a wide range of reading, and a wonderful knack of selecting the few pregnant words which convey the thought of an essay or a speech. . . . It is a book which readers should peruse and writers should study. — The Philadelphia Inquirer.

LORD. Blue and Gold. By William S. Lord. 16mo, gilt top, 104 pages, $1.00.

The poems deserve a most cordial welcome for their sweetness, simplicity, and delicate art. — The Independent, New York.

LOTI. An Iceland Fisherman. From the French of Pierre Loti. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 21.

LUMMIS. The Spanish Pioneers. By Charles F. Lummis. With nine full-page half-tone illustrations. 12mo, 292 pages, $1.50.

From Mr. Lummis there is learned more of the true personality and environment of these men than is generally known. Numerous autographs are interspersed throughout the book, as well as pictures of Nature's wonderful formations, fortresses, and churches in the many Spanish colonies. The conquest of Peru is admirably described, giving the reader a keener insight than the average history furnishes. Altogether the book is an instructive, well-written history of comparatively unexplored fields. — The Boston Journal.

MAC KIE. With the Admiral of the Ocean Sea: A Narrative of the First Voyage to the Western World. Drawn mainly from the Diary of Christopher Columbus. By Charles P. Mac Kie. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

This book is by far the best and most interesting account of the discovery of the Western world which has yet appeared. The author has not followed in the beaten track of his predecessors in this field of work, but has preferred to deal only with the accounts left by Columbus himself and those directly associated with him in his unique enterprise. . . . The book bids fair to rank as the standard popular account of the great Western voyage. — The Churchman, New York.

MAC KIE. The Last Voyages of the Admiral of the Ocean Sea. As related by Himself and his Companions. By Charles Paul Mac Kie. Crown 8vo, 518 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

This is altogether an interesting book and a valuable contribution to Columbian literature. . . . Mr. Mac Kie has devoted himself in this volume to the declining years of Columbus, and we are not overpraising his work when we say that it must be found in every well-selected library. The book which Mr. Mac Kie has written is one of the most welcome which has been sent to our table in a long while. — New York Herald.

MERRIMAN. Sir Jefferson Nobody. By Effie W. Merriman. Illustrated. 12mo. (In press.)

The hero of this entertaining book for boys and girls is a sort of young Mark Tapley, — a boy who chronically looks on the bright side of things. Left to shift for himself at an early age in a large western city, he exhibits an innate honesty, generosity, and rough chivalry that would shame many a boy brought up in a refined and wealthy home. Minnie Staples, the chief girl character, has some of these same characteristics, and displays qualities that will endear her to every girl reader.

MARSH. Opening the Oyster. By Charles L. Marsh. Profusely illustrated. Large 12mo, 361 pages, $1.50.

The author enlists the reader's interest from the very first. . . . Besides being able to write an exceedingly fascinating and entertaining story, Mr. Marsh has command of a great fund of fine humor, and an expression that is graphic, bright, and genial. It is one of the brightest books of the year. — Public Opinion, Washington.

MASOCH. Jewish Tales. Translated from the French of Leopold von Sacher Masoch. By Harriet Lieber Cohen. 16mo, 317 pages, $1.00.

It is a very entertaining book, in which the old-time Israelite is painted with a truthfulness that invariably commands and retains attention. The author's style is charming. He is realistic without being prosy; and his characters truly live, and express themselves with a naturalness that imparts to each one of them a distinct individuality. Those who are in search of original and unhackneyed fiction will find it in this volume. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

MASON AND LALOR. The Primer of Political Economy. In Sixteen Definitions and Forty Propositions. Eighth Thousand. By A. B. Mason and J. J. Lalor. 12mo, 67 pages, 60 cents.

I sincerely hope that Primers of this sort are the beginning of an era in which the knowledge which is most valuable to humankind shall be brought within the leisure time of those who now never look at anything more than a partisan presentation of any subject. — President White, Cornell University.

MATSON. References for Literary Workers. With Introductions to Topics and Questions for Debate. By Henry Maston. Crown 8vo, 582 pages, $2.50.

A more complete reference book it would be hard to find. . . . With such a volume at hand, preparatory reading loses half its terrors. The comprehensiveness of the scope of such a work is vast and its value tremendous. — The Boston Times.

A handy book for members of literary societies, debating clubs, etc., is "References for Literary Workers," in which over six hundred subjects are briefly outlined, — short bibliographies being supplied in a majority of instances as guides to private study. It is so planned as to stimulate and aid effort on the part of the student, and little or no advantage of any consequence can be gained from it except by honest work, which is a very important consideration. It is a unique sort of a book, and we like it. — Congregationalist, Boston.

MATSON. Knowledge and Culture. 12mo, 170 pages, 75 cents.

The author is the librarian of a great university library, and, from necessity, knows a good book. His volume, "Knowledge and Culture," is among the best works extant for practical use for literary workers. The little volume before us has but one hundred and seventy pages, yet is replete in facts of value, tersely stated. It is boundlessly suggestive to the thoughtful student along all the lines of thought presented. — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

In "Knowledge and Culture," Mr. Matson treats old subjects very acceptably. The chapters on Education, Books, Reading, and Science, are especially suggestive and interesting. The treatment is philosophical; the style, in some places, Baconian. — Critic, New York.

MASTERPIECES OF FOREIGN AUTHORS.

This series comprises translations of single masterpieces by some of the best-known European writers, some of which have never before been presented in an English dress. The volumes are well printed on good paper, and very prettily bound.

Goethe's Wilhelm Meister's Apprenticeship and Travels. Translated by Thomas Carlyle. With Critical Introduction by Edward Dowden, LL.D. Edited, with notes by C. K. Shorter. Portrait. 2 volumes. 16mo, cloth, $1.50; half vellum, gilt tops, $2.00.

"To this day," says Matthew Arnold, "such is the force of youthful associations, I read the 'Wilhelm Meister' with more pleasure in Carlyle's translation than in the original."

Portraits of Men, by C. A. Sainte-Beuve. Translated by Forsyth Edeveain. Portrait. 16mo, half vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

Mr. William Sharp says: "It is conceivable that the future historian of our age will allot to Sainte-Beuve a place higher even than that claimed for him by one or two of our ablest critics, Matthew Arnold in particular, and Mr. John Morley."

Portraits of Women, by C. A. Sainte-Beuve. Translated by Helen Stott. Portrait. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents; half vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

The essays on Mesdames de Maintenon, de Sévigné, de Staël, and de la Fayette, with those on Marie Antoinette and Joan of Arc, can never be read in any form without delight and profit. — The Athenæum, London.

Novalis (Friedrich von Hardenberg), His Life, Thoughts, and Works. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents; half vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

"Novalis," says Carlyle, "is a figure of such importance in German literature that no student can pass him by. . . . A man of the most indisputable talent, poetical and philosophical."

The Comedies of Carlo Goldoni. Edited, with Introduction, by Helen Zimmern. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents; half vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

"It is Goldoni's supreme merit, and one of his chief titles to fame and glory, that he released the Italian theatre from the bondage of the artificial and pantomime performances that had passed for plays, and that, together with Molière, he laid the foundations of the drama as it is understood in our days."

McCLELLAND. A Daughter of Two Nations. By Ella Gale McClelland. Illustrated. 12mo, 308 pages, $1.25.

This is a tender and beautiful story of a little girl, kidnapped from France by a wicked uncle and brought up among the Pennsylvania Quakers during the time of the War of the Revolution. Washington, LaFayette, and the English generals are naturally introduced, and in a manner interesting to children.

The character of the little girl is most charmingly drawn, and a most interesting account given of the home life of the Quakers. A more delightful story for little girls, or boys either, has not appeared this year.

McMAHAN. The Study Class. A Guide for the Student of English Literature. By Anna Benneson McMahan. 16mo, 278 pages, $1.00.

The volume is the fruit of practical experience, and proceeds upon a proper method and in a right direction, to the end that students may make themselves acquainted with literature, and not with either language or criticism except in an auxiliary way. — The Nation, New York.

METCALF AND DE GARMO. Drill Book in Dictionary Work. Compiled by Thomas Metcalf, A.M., and Charles De Garmo, Ph.D. Twenty-second edition, revised. 16mo, 35 cents. The trade discount on this book is limited.

By means of a concise presentation of the forty-four elementary sounds, of a few of the leading principles of pronunciation, and a thorough drill on several hundred words, most of which are frequently mispronounced, the student is put in possession of a fund of condensed information that enables him to get at once at the exact pronunciation of any word in either Webster's or Worcester's dictionary.

MILLER. From Avalon, and Other Poems. By Emily Huntington Miller. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00.

A dainty volume of some fifty short and simple poems, mostly on themes suggested by outdoor life, — the fields, the flowers, and the sea. The work is characterized by delicacy of treatment, a deep sympathy, and an appreciation of the subjects, and there is much melody in the rhyming. — Evening Transcript, Boston.

MILLER. The Evolution of Love. By Emory Miller, D.D., LL.D. Crown 8vo, 346 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

This is a strong book, which handles in masterly fashion and untechnical language the great facts of reason, revelation, and religion. It is an undogmatic and suggestive expression of the theology of our age and of the ages. . . . It is a book in harmony with the deepest thinking of the prophets and apostles. — The Critic.

MILITARY ESSAYS AND RECOLLECTIONS. Selected from Papers read before the Commandery of the State of Illinois, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States. Vol. I. 8vo, gilt top, $2.50 net.

THE SAME. Vol. II. 8vo, gilt top, $2.50 net.

MILTON. Paradise Lost. See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

MONROE. Valeria and Other Poems. By Harriet Monroe. 12mo, 301 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

The tragedy (Valeria) itself is one of rare conception and grasp, full of surprises. . . . Nothing in the play is weak or imitative. . . . Her cantata is undeniably strong, varied, dignified, and in good taste. . . . This lady has certainly taken at one bound a high position among American poets. — The Evening Post, New York.

MONTAGU. The Best Letters of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 19.

MOORE. The Epicurean. A Tale. By Thomas Moore. See Laurel-Crowned Tales, page 20.

MOORE. Lalla Rookh: An Oriental Romance. By Thomas Moore. See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

MORLEY. A Song of Life. By Margaret W. Morley. With illustrations of flowers, fishes, frogs, birds, etc., set in the text. 12mo, $1.25.

It describes with artistic delicacy the transmission of that wonderful thing called life in both the plant and animal existence. The difficult subject is treated with such intelligence and charm of manner that children may read it with interest, and parents need have no fear of its influence. — The Chicago Times.

MORLEY. Life and Love. By Margaret W. Morley. Illustrated. 12mo. 214 pages, $1.25.

The metamorphosis and reproduction of insects, the part that insects play in the fertilization of flowers, and the provisions for the continuance of bird and animal life are described in a manner that admirably combines tact and prudence with truth. The story is simply, candidly, and impressively told. — Public Opinion, New York.

MORTON. Men in Epigram. Views of Maids, Wives, Widows, and Amateurs and Professionals. Compiled by Frederick W. Morton. 16mo, 228 pages, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

This is a companion volume to the same compiler's successful little book, "Woman in Epigram"; it follows the same plan, and is similarly spiced with wit, wisdom, and humor. Very many of the epigrams being from the pens of women, "the lords of the creation" may now have the pleasure of learning what is thought of them by the ladies.

MORTON. Woman in Epigram. Flashes of Wit, Wisdom, and Satire from the World's Literature. Compiled by Frederick W. Morton. 16mo, 212 pages, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

Be the reader an enthusiastic worshipper of the sex or a woman-hater of the most pronounced type, he will here find some literary oracle who has aptly expressed his view. Epigrammatic, crisp, and highly amusing, with occasional crumbs of real wisdom, the little book will doubtless find many friends. — Public Opinion, Washington.

MÜLLER. Memories: A Story of German Love. From the German of Max Müller. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 34.

MUSICAL MOMENTS: Short Selections (Poetry and Prose) in Praise of Music. Collected and arranged by J. E. P. 16mo, 173 pages, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

There is not in the book a single passage that fails to convey some noble thought or lovely emotion. — The Beacon, Boston.

MUSA PISCATRIX. Sixty Poems on the Renowned Art of Angling. Selected and prefaced by John Buchan. With six full-page etchings. 12mo, deckle edges, 134 pages, $1.50 net.

The editor claims for this work, not that it is a serious collection of all the fishing songs of merit in the English language, but only a small sheaf of some sixty shorter and choicer verses gleaned from a narrow field. Some of the poems are isolated stanzas, some have a touch of the humorous, others an admixture of the pathetic, — all, however, having "the fragrance and piquancy of poetry which busies itself with things not far removed from the tastes of human kind." The work is illustrated with six full-page etchings of characteristic angling scenes and places.

NEMEC. The Grandmother. A Story of Country Life in Bohemia. By Bozena Nemec. Translated from the Bohemian, with a Biographical Sketch of the author, by Frances Gregor, B. L. 12mo, 352 pages, $1.00.

A simple sketch of the daily life of a family of Bohemia, for whom the dear, pleasant grandmother is a fountain of cheer and good-will, and an ark of the quaint and pious traditions of the people. It is charming in its narrative, and full of local color and folk-lore. — The Literary World.

NESBIT: A Pomander of Verse. By E. Nesbit. With ornamental title-page and cover designed by Laurence Housman. 12mo, $1.00.

At the first opening of E. Nesbit's book of poems, the title and the division of the volume into sections, distinguished by such headlines as ambergris, lavender, rose, myrrh, bergamot, and so on, occur to one as perhaps a somewhat far-fetched poetic conceit; but when the book is laid aside, it is with the thought that, after all, it is not inappropriately named. It does not need the nose of a poet to detect and enjoy the delicate and varied aromas that arise from this delightful pot-pourri. Their charm is all-pervading; it is sweet and soothing, like the odor of flowers; or similar in its effects, we might suppose, to a stroll in the old Kentish garden of which the author sings. — The Edinburgh Scotsman.

NICHOLAS. The Biddy Club: And how its Members grappled with the Troublous Servant Question. 12mo, 308 pages. Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

It is one of the sprightliest, cunningest, wittiest, and wisest books of the season. — The Mid-Continent, St. Louis.

NINDE. We Two Alone in Europe. By Mary L. Ninde. With Illustrations from Original Designs. 12mo, 348 pages, $1.50.

A very fresh and bright and readable little book it is. There are multitudes of books of European travel of far greater pretension and not half the worth and interest of this. . . . It is a thoroughly delightful book. — The Traveller, Boston.

NIXON. With a Pessimist in Spain. By Mary F. Nixon. Illustrated. 12mo, 360 pages, $1.50.

Since Washington Irving "discovered" Spain that country has ever been a source of delight to the American tourist; and this by no means pessimistic book will enhance the pleasure of every traveller or non-traveller who reads it. Legends and tales are here abundantly and prettily combined with descriptions of cities, castles, and natural scenery; in short, the story brings in by the way all the history, myths, poetry, romance, and art that the traveller needs. The vast fund of information combined with the beautiful illustrations makes the book a most desirable acquisition either for the tourist or for the "tarry-at-home traveller."

NOHL. Biographies of Musicians. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl by George P. Upton and John J. Lalor. With portraits. 12mo, 75 cents a volume. The five volumes in neat box, per set, $3.75; in half calf, gilt top, $12.00; half morocco, gilt top, $13.00.

Life of Mozart.

It is a model of short biography, containing all that the student need know to understand fully the works of the great composer. — The Traveller, Boston.

Life of Beethoven.

Beethoven's artistic creations were in harmony with his great nature. The story of his life outlined in this volume is of the deepest interest. — The Musical Bulletin.

Life of Haydn.

A highly interesting picture of the genial, sensitive, and lovable man, and a critically appreciative account of his career as a composer. — Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

Life of Wagner.

Any one who wishes to get a clear idea of the "Music of the Future" and Wagner's life-work, will do well to read this biography. — The Philadelphia Press.

Life of Liszt.

Independently of its interest from a musical point of view, it is fascinating as a romance from the peculiarly interesting character of the subject. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

NOLL. A Short History of Mexico. By Arthur Howard Noll. 16mo, 294 pages, $1.00.

In this work of Mr. Noll's we have an admirable example of what a history should be, — an example that is sure to have an appreciable effect upon future historians. Much of his material is entirely new, and was collected by him during an extended residence in Mexico. — The Transcript, Boston.

NORTON. Addresses and Fragments in Prose and Verse. By James Sager Norton, with an Introduction by Edward G. Mason, and Photogravure Portrait. Limited to 1080 copies. Half cloth, $3.50 net; three-quarters crushed Levant morocco, $6.50 net.

This collection of addresses and fragments shows Mr. Norton as he was seen by his friends and the public in his hours of relaxation. It is carefully edited and beautifully printed, and must prove a precious reminder of this brilliant man. — Chicago Evening Post.

NORTON. In and Around Berlin. By Minerva Brace Norton. 12mo, 268 pages, $1.00.

It is an engaging little volume, packed full of information, readable and reliable; there is a little spice of humor, and just enough personality to give the sober matter the needed piquancy and zest. — The Literary World, Boston.

NOTES FOR BOYS (and their Fathers). On Morals, Mind, and Manners. By an Old Boy (W. T. S. Hewett). 12mo, 208 pages, 75 cents.

A most attractive little book, outwardly and inwardly. . . . It is hard to make general advice practical; but this little essay, with anecdote and illustration, is not in the least prosy or visionary, and is entertaining as well as suggestive. — The Critic, New York.

NOVALIS (Friedrich von Hardenberg). His Life, Thoughts, and Works. See Masterpieces of Foreign Authors, page 24.

OGDEN. Christmas Stories from French and Spanish Writers. By Antoinette Ogden. 16mo, 265 pages, vellum cloth, gilt top, $1.25.

It is an admirable collection, every story being a little masterpiece in its way. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

PARKER. Familiar Talks on Astronomy, with Chapters on Geography and Navigation. By William H. Parker. 12mo, $1.00.

"Familiar Talks on Astronomy" are so easy and pleasant that they may well attract readers who would be repelled by a volume of greater pretensions and more formal style. Even the little mathematical explanations on which he now and then enters become quite readable under his facile pen. — The Nation, New York.

PEARCE. Tales of the Masque. 16mo, 198 pages, 75 cents.

These "Tales of the Masque," by J. H. Pearce, are sketches rather subtle in spite of their serene simplicity. There is a kind of delicate poetry running through them; they are condensed, vivid, suggestive. Marked by a certain calmness, they yet startle one now and then with a deep tragic note. A keen knowledge of the influences uniting nature and humanity is in such sketches as "Joanna," "The Calling of the Sea," "The Valley of Vanished Sunsets," "The Sorcery of the Forest." Such witchery is hard to convey in words, and these will not easily detach themselves from the memory. — The Critic, New York.

PEEL. Polar Gleams. An Account of a Voyage on the Yacht "Blencathra." By Helen Peel. Illustrated. 8vo, 211 pages, $1.00.

A number of considerations lent romance and picturesqueness to this voyage. The destination was remote, the route novel, the object practical, the company pleasant, the experience untried, and the result successful. Miss Peel has the distinction of being the first European woman to make this trip, and her account of it is entertaining and instructive reading. — The Literary World, Boston.

POETRY OF THE GATHERED YEARS. Compiled by M. H. 16mo, 169 pages, white vellum cloth, $1.00.

It is a lovely, charming, dear, delightful book. . . . The poems selected are, almost without exception, admirable and worthy of their place. . . . It should be said that this book has been made as beautiful as its contents deserve; and we are sure that if those who are seeking a lovely gift for an aged friend, or one beginning to grow old, would look at this, they would be satisfied that nothing better could be found. — The Christian Register, Boston.

POLLARD. Odes from the Greek Dramatists. Translated into Lyric Metres by English Poets and Scholars. Edited by Alfred W. Pollard. 16mo, 208 pages, vellum, gilt top, $1.75 net.

This is the third volume in the choice and beautiful series of which Wharton's "Sappho" and Pollard's edition of Sir Philip Sidney's "Astrophel and Stella" were the first two. The editing is of the same careful and scholarly character as that of the former volumes. In every case the original Greek text is given, together with the best translation which existed or could be procured.

POPE. The Iliad of Homer. See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

PORTER. Thaddeus of Warsaw. By Jane Porter. Finely printed and bound. 12mo, 451 pages, gilt top, $1.00.

Rich in all the charms of the novel, its great value is that in the most delightful manner it tells its historic story, so that the book becomes at once an education and a charm. This edition is one of the most beautiful on the market. — The Saturday Evening Herald, Chicago.

PORTER. The Scottish Chiefs. By Jane Porter. Finely printed and bound. 2 volumes, 12mo, gilt tops, $2.00.

"The Scottish Chiefs" is one of the permanent books in literature; and the publishers are to be heartily complimented for issuing a beautifully bound, faultlessly printed, and thoroughly admirable edition. — The Boston Times.

This wonderfully intense and complete picture of Wallace, the hero of his and all following ages and of the deeds in arms that began after Edward's invasion of Scotland and ended with Bannockburn, will live as long as love of country and loyalty move human hearts. — Herald, Rochester.

PRENTICE. The Eye in its Relation to Health. By Chalmer Prentice, M.D. 12mo, 214 pages, $1.50.

The author ably treats this interesting subject. In fact, much of this work is out of the ordinary, and is richly suggestive along lines of thought seldom touched by the average writer. —The Massachusetts Medical Journal.

PUSHKIN. Marie: A Story of Russian Love. See Tales from Foreign Lands, page 35.

PUTNAM. The Children's Life of Abraham Lincoln. By M. Louise Putnam. Illustrated by Helen M. Armstrong. 12mo, $1.25.

Among the more pretentious biographies of Lincoln, this simple story stands forth by the strength of its merits as the best yet written for children and young people. It bears marks of much care, and is written in clear, scholarly English. . . . It was a good work to write this book; it will be one to which children will turn again and again. — The Evening Transcript, Boston.

Miss Putnam's "Children's Life of Abraham Lincoln" hits the points required in a book for young people; it makes a long story short; it tells the story in a simple, dramatic manner, which moves swiftly, and moves with a kind of rhythm in it; it is attractive to the eye and easy to read. — Independent, New York.

RABB. National Epics. By Kate Milner Rabb. 12mo, 398 pages, $1.50.

Mrs. Rabb's treatment of each epic consists of (1) A descriptive sketch of the poem; (2) An outline of the historical narrative embraced in it; (3) Selections, each of which narrates a complete incident; (4) A short bibliography of each poem; (5) A list of standard English translations of the foreign epics. The last two of these items make the book valuable as a work of reference. The author has performed her heavy task with such diligence and literary ability as will certainly win much credit to herself, and be the means of edifying and entertaining many a grateful reader.

This is an excellent guide to a knowledge and appreciation of the world's great epic poems. The Hindu, Greek, Roman, Finnish, Saxon, German, French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, English, and Persian epics of distinctively national importance are all represented. . . . The compiler has performed a useful service in making accessible in the compass of a single volume so much material for the study of these noble poems. — The Review of Reviews, New York.

RALEIGH. Choice Passages from the Writings and Letters of Sir Walter Raleigh. See Elizabethan Library, page 10.

REDDALL. Fact, Fancy, and Fable. A new Handbook for Ready Reference on Subjects commonly Omitted from Cyclopædias. Compiled by Henry Frederic Reddall. 8vo, 536 pages, $2.50.

The volume, a large one, is a collection of out-of-the-way odds and ends, relating to subjects that are constantly spoken of, but of which very many people do not understand the meaning. In gathering these floating items and giving them a permanent form, Mr. Reddall has performed a genuine service, and his book is one that can be read with profit and amusement at any odd moment, and is of permanent value as a handbook of reference.— The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

REYNOLDS. Sir Joshua Reynolds's Discourses on Art. Edited, with Notes and a Biographical and Historical Introduction, by Edward Gilpin Johnson. Beautifully illustrated with 20 full-page plates after portraits by Sir Joshua. Large 12mo, 373 pages, gilt top, $2.50.

The "Discourses" have taken their place firmly in the literature of the language, and the central moral of their teaching "aim at the highest" is as potent to-day as when it was urged in the most elegantly eloquent discourses that have ever been delivered before the students of the Royal Academy. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

RICHARDSON. Familiar Talks on English Literature: A Manual Embracing the Great Epochs of English Literature, from the English Conquest of Britain, 449, to the Death of Walter Scott, 1832. By Abby Sage Richardson. A new and thoroughly revised edition. 12mo, $1.50.

The work is without question one of the best of the kind with which we are acquainted; if for no other reason, because it has in greater measure than usual the capacity to interest the young readers for whom it is intended. — The Evening Post, New York.

Mrs. Richardson handles the early English writings very judiciously. . . . Her estimates of the great writers are in the main just, and her selections from their works well chosen. — Commercial Advertiser, New York.

RICHARDSON. A Girdle Round the Earth. Home Letters from Foreign Lands. By the Hon. D. N. Richardson. 8vo, 449 pages, $2.00; half calf, gilt top, $4.00; half morocco, gilt top, $4.25.

This spicy narrative of a journey round the world does not contain a dull page. . . . To reluctant stay-at-homes the volume before us will be a delightful diversion. The Chronicle-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

ROBERTS. Down the O-hi-o. By Charles Humphrey Roberts. 12mo, 313 pages, $1.00.

Though a story in form, its real value is in a series of scenes, often felicitous and sometimes extremely spirited, of rural life, chiefly among Quakers, on the north bank of the Ohio in the period shortly before the war for the Union. — Atlantic Monthly.

ROBERTS. The Book-Hunter in London: Historical and Personal Studies of Book Collectors and Book Collecting. By William Roberts, author of "The Earlier History of English Bookselling," etc. Copiously illustrated. Large 8vo, $5.00 net.

Indeed, one does not need to be a bibliomaniac to appreciate much of the work, anecdotes, historical incidents, and odd happenings relating to book-making, bookselling, and book-hunting. The collection of literary curiosities is large and entertaining in a high degree. What might by another writer have been made a mere dry-as-dust compilation is by Mr. Roberts infused with spirit and life. In form the book is really delightfully choice. The process cut of an ideal book-hunter on the cover is a particularly delicate and well-executed piece of illustrative work. Reproductions of rare prints, portraits of famous bookish men, and charming bits of English architecture are scattered throughout. — The Outlook, New York.

ROCHE. The Children of the Abbey. By Regina Maria Roche. Finely printed and bound. 2 volumes, 12mo, gilt tops, $2.00.

This fine old story is forever new. . . . No such beautiful edition of this old favorite has ever before been offered. — The Journal of Education, Boston.

RUSKIN. Sesame and Lilies. Three Lectures by John Ruskin. Finely printed and bound. 16mo, 237 pages, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

Other editions of this notable and popular book have been printed, but none so tastefully as this. . . . Of the book itself it may not be inopportune to say that it shows the author at his best. — The New York Herald.

It would be hard to find a better book to put into the hands of a youth — boy or girl — at that critical epoch of life when the spiritual and intellectual faculties seem to leap out with a bound from the chrysalis of the animal nature and determine their direction for life. — The Home Journal, New York.

SARGENT. The Campaign of Marengo. With Comments by Herbert H. Sargent, author of "Napoleon Bonaparte's First Campaign." Crown 8vo, 240 pages, with maps, $1.50.

After the very high encomiums passed by the press and by the highest military authorities both in this country and in Great Britain on "Napoleon Bonaparte's First Campaign," it is hardly necessary to say more about this new work by the same author than that it is marked by the same conspicuous merits which distinguished the former. It is compact, direct, acute, and singularly lucid. It awards no praise which it does not amply justify, and ventures no criticism which it does not even more amply support. Its narrative is admirably clear and understandable, and its commentary is conclusive as well as logical.

SARGENT. Napoleon Bonaparte's First Campaign. With comments by Herbert H. Sargent, First Lieutenant Second Cavalry, United States Army. Crown 8vo, 231 pages, with maps, $1.50.

I have been reading Lieut. Sargent's book on Napoleon's first Italian campaign all the morning, and was much interested. I hope it may be studied closely by all our young officers, for it is easily understood and tells its own story. May I ask you kindly to thank Mr. Sargent for his kindness in sending me a copy. — LORD WOLSELEY, Commander-in-Chief of the British Army, in a letter to the publishers.

So carefully and accurately written is this volume, that the London Times pays our compatriot the compliment of begging him to continue his history through the other campaigns of Napoleon. — The Outlook, New York.

SAY. Turgot. By Léon Say, of the French Academy. See The Great French Writers, page 12.

SCHMID. The Theories of Darwin, and their Relation to Philosophy, Religion, and Morality. From the German of Rudolf Schmid, by G. A. Zimmermann, Ph.D. 12mo, 410 pages, $1.50.

We pronounce it the best and strongest discussion of the relations between science and religion now existing in an English dress. — The Christian Advocate, New York.

SCOTT. The Lady of the Lake. By Sir Walter Scott. See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

SEVEN DAYS AFTER THE HONEYMOON. By S. A. B. Small quarto, 52 pages, gilt edges, tied with cord, in a box, 50 cents.

SEELEY. The Spanish Galleon. Being an Account of a Search for Sunken Treasure in the Caribbean Sea. By Charles Sumner Seeley. 12mo, 290 pages, $1.00.

This story is one of the best of its kind ever printed. Its moral tone is excellent, the love episode is handled discreetly, and the reader will see the value of self-possession and energy. We commend it heartily to the boys. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

SEELEY. The Lost Canyon of the Toltecs: An Account of Strange Adventures in Central America. By Charles Sumner Seeley. 12mo, 275 pages, $1.00.

This Crusoe-like tale is told in so straightforward a fashion that one is half convinced of its truth, and follows the Northerners through their hairbreadth escapes with active interest. It is a book which will make any boy breathless with excitement. — The Critic, New York.

SHELLEY. The Best Letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 20.

SHELDON. Notes on the Nicaragua Canal. By Henry I. Sheldon. With maps and illustrations. 8vo, 214 pages, $1.25.

This is a practical business man's view of what may soon become the battlefield of one of the most important problems of modern times. . . . A reading of Mr. Sheldon's graphic and fact-bristling pages, embellished handsomely with the specimens of his industrious camera, and bearing so many evidences of sincerity, is certainly very convincing. Good maps down to date, and a clear, detailed consideration to the main objections likely to be brought against the stupendous project, make this a timely and very readable volume. — Daily Globe, Boston.

The book is undoubtedly one of the most interesting ever written upon this subject. It is not filled with technicalities, but is a straightforward story of what one may expect to see if one goes to Nicaragua, the condition of the country, of the canal in its present form, and what one may expect if money enough is raised to complete it. — The Cincinnati Tribune.

If people did but know it, there is more interest in one such book as this than in a score of ordinary novels. — Literary World, Boston.

SHEPPARD. Charles Auchester. By Elizabeth Sheppard. With an Introduction and Notes by George P. Upton, author of Upton's Handbooks on Music. Two portraits of Mendelssohn. 2 vols., gilt tops, $2.50.

We need hardly remind any one that the story was written as a memorial to Mendelssohn, the composer, and is a remarkable story merely as such, while it also is a classic among students and interpreters of music. Mr. Upton, the editor, is an eminent musical expert. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

SHEPPARD. Counterparts. By Elizabeth Sheppard. With an Introduction and Notes by George P. Upton. With portraits. 2 vols., 12mo, gilt tops, $2.50.

The story, on its first appearance, nearly forty years ago, made a great sensation and achieved a remarkable popularity. Its merits are marked and brilliant, and the story, despite its age, and the great change that fiction has undergone since it was written, remains a work that can still be read with interest and pleasure. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

SHEPPARD. Rumour. By Elizabeth Sheppard. With an Introduction by Harriet Prescott Spofford. With portraits. 2 vols., gilt tops, $2.50.

Harriet Prescott Spofford prefaces and annotates this edition, and thereby offers to a friend a beautiful tribute of affection, and to a genius, exalted in comprehension and unique in expression, a tribute of appreciation and worthy interpretation. Miss Sheppard's theme is always music, — music seeking expression in creative power, as in Mendelssohn, the hero of "Charles Auchester," and in Beethoven, the hero of "Rumour;" and music as a power of deep and spiritual influence over persons peculiarly susceptible. . . . One of the greatest charms of Miss Sheppard's book is their spontaneity. — Journal of Education.

SPALDING. Thoughts and Theories of Life and Education. By the Rt. Rev. J. L. Spalding, Bishop of Peoria. 12mo, 235 pages, $1.00.

Bishop Spalding's writings are emphatically "good for the soul"; and this latest book of his will be found valuable and helpful by every reader. The bishop writes out of the fulness of his heart and with abundant love and charity. His works make the world wiser, happier, and better.

These "Thoughts and Theories" are couched in polished English, in sentences terse and full of meaning; few living writers command a more charming style.

SPALDING. Education and the Higher Life. By the Rt. Rev. J. L. Spalding, Bishop of Peoria. 12mo, 210 pages, $1.00.

Bishop Spalding has struck a note which must vibrate in every heart which loves the glory of Christianity and the progress of humanity. . . . "Education and the Higher Life" is a stimulant, a tonic, a trumpet-call to higher things, a beacon light for better days. — The Catholic Union and Times.

SPALDING. Things of the Mind. By the Rt. Rev. J. L. Spalding, Bishop of Peoria. 12mo, 237 pages, $1.00.

Bishop Spalding is already known to our literature as a poet with a genuine gift of song. . . . He stands first in the Roman Catholic hierarchy of America as the representative of literary culture. . . . Out of a disciplined and fertile mind he pours forth epigrammatic sentences and suggestions in a fashion which recalls Emerson. . . . He is always and everywhere American, and the last chapter is at once wisely critical and soundly laudatory of our country. — The Sunday School Times.

SPALDING. Means and Ends of Education. By the Rt. Rev. J. L. Spalding, Bishop of Peoria. 12mo, 232 pages, $1.00.

Bishop Spalding comes nearer being an essayist in education than any other American. He has that rarest of educational gifts, — the ability to throw light brilliantly, and yet softly, making his paragraphs both bright and mellow, all without "preaching," without pedantry, and without being cranky . . . When we agree with him, it is delightful, and when we differ, we respect his convictions, honor his courage, and enjoy his spirit. — Journal of Education, Boston.

SPALDING. Songs, chiefly from the German. Translated by Bishop Spalding. 16mo, gilt top, $1.25.

It is seldom that one finds translations of poetry so well done as these contained in this volume presented by Bishop Spalding. There is sympathy in his labor. He has gathered the flowers from the German garden of song and translated them, giving a literal rendering, but still preserving the melody, — an art which was thought to have been lost with Longfellow. — The Chicago Record.

SPENSER. The Poet of Poets. The Love-Verse from the Minor Poems of Edmund Spenser. See The Elizabethan Library, page 10.

STARRETT. Letters to a Daughter. By Helen Ekin Starrett. New and enlarged edition, with portrait. 16mo, 148 pages, 75 cents.

They are written with charming simplicity of style, and form an excellent guide, to be studied earnestly by every young girl who would be dignified in manner and refined in her bearing toward others. — The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

STARRETT. Letters to Elder Daughters, Married and Unmarried. By Helen Ekin Starrett. 16mo, 165 pages, 75 cents.

The author has brought thoughtfulness, practical discernment, and wide knowledge to the consideration of problems that relate to the home and to the home-keeper. . . . There is a large amount of experience, and a still larger amount of common-sense and wholesome suggestion, in these healthful pages. — The Christian Register, Boston.

STARRETT–ALLISON. The Future of Educated Women, by Mrs. Helen Ekin Starrett; and Men, Women, and Money, by Mrs. Frances Ekin Allison. 16mo, 75 pages, 50 cents.

The two essays deal intelligently and practically with the great question of employment for women, the care of property, etc. They are eminently sensible and helpful in their general suggestions, and will do real good. — The Congregationalist, Boston.

STEVENS. How Men Propose: The Fateful Question and its Answer. Love-Scenes from the Popular and the Classic Works of Fiction. Collected by Agnes Stevens. 12mo, 343 pages, $1.00.

Since "all the world loves a lover," this book ought to find many interested readers. The range of its choice is wide, and includes nearly every modern writer of fiction. — The New York Evangelist.

SWIFT. Love's Way, and Other Poems. By Martin Swift. 12mo, 155 pages, gilt top, deckle edges, $1.25.

"Love's Way" is a touchingly pathetic story of the course of true love, which, though it does not run smooth, ends in this case happily. The form into which the tale is cast is that of a series of songs, or short poems, composed in accord with the ever-varying moods and hopes and fears of the lover. It evinces remarkable facility of versification, sympathy with Nature and human nature, and power to awaken responsive chords in the heart of the reader. Both the leading poem and the others afford evidence that they come from the hand of one who is not a mere verse-maker, but a man of original thought.

SWING. Club Essays. By Prof. David Swing. New and Enlarged Edition. 16mo, 266 pages, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $3.00.

This little volume is welcome. . . . Its smooth-flowing sentences carry you along from page to page without fatigue or weariness. — The Chicago Tribune.

SWING. Motives of Life. By Prof. David Swing. New and Enlarged Edition. 16mo, 239 pages, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $3.00.

There are passages that linger in the memory and come to mind amid every-day cares and needs, bringing help and encouragement. . . . The value of this little book is inestimable. — The Home Journal, New York.

SWING. Sermons. By Prof. David Swing. 12mo, 307 pages, $1.50.

Stretching over a wide range of topics, they treat of the several vital qualities of human life with the earnestness of thought and genuine humanity which we always find in Professor Swing's works. — The Pittsburg Chronicle.

SWING. Truths for To-Day. Second Series. By Prof. David Swing. 12mo, 294 pages, $1.00.

The preacher presents a broad and generous view of human duty, appealing to the highest instincts and the purest motives of a lofty manhood. — The New York Tribune.

SWISSHELM. Half a Century. By Jane Gray Swisshelm. $1.50.

The most amusing, provoking, inspiring production of many a long day. . . . What a wonderful life! What a wonderful woman! — The Christian Register, Boston.

TALES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

16mo, gilt tops, per volume, $1.00. The seven volumes in neat box, per set, $7.00; in half calf or half morocco, gilt tops, $15.75; in half calf or half morocco, gilt edges, $17.50.

Memories. A Story of German Love. Translated from the German of Max Müller by George P. Upton. Twenty-sixth thousand.

The touching story of "German Love," whose tender pathos lacks only the harmonies of verse to make it one of the most exquisite poems in the German language, is here reproduced in an English costume of chaste and delicate beauty. — The New York Tribune.

Graziella. A Story of Italian Love. Translated from the French of Alphonse De Lamartine, by James B. Runnion. Twelfth thousand.

The purity, the sadness, and the gentleness of the tale leave an impression upon the mind of having listened to a strain of sweet music. The literary style is faultless in its grace. — The Christian-at-Work, New York.

TALES FROM FOREIGN LANDS (continued).

Marie. A Story of Russian Love. From the Russian of Alexander Pushkin, by Marie H. De Zielinska. Ninth thousand.

The whole spirit and atmosphere of the story is fresh and bracing; and we promise the readers of the book a new treat. — The Independent, New York.

Madeleine. A Story of French Love (crowned by the French Academy). Translated from the French of Jules Sandeau by Francis Charlot.

Jules Sandeau's "Madeleine" is a love story that approximates very closely to perfection. It is a theme of exceeding purity and beauty, treated by an artist whose style is as finished and delicate as it is firm, and whose French is a model of elegant simplicity.—The Philadelphia Times.

Marianela. A Story of Spanish Love. Translated from the Spanish of B. Perez Galdos by Helen W. Lester.

The story is attractive for its purity, sweetness, and pathos. It is worthy of its place in this rare collection of representative national classics. — The Evening Telegram, New York.

Cousin Phillis. A Story of English Love. By Mrs. Gaskell.

It is as pure and noble a love story as ever was written. It is a good one to put into the hands of young girls, for it refines and elevates their youthful ideals. — Public Opinion, Washington.

Karine. A Story of Swedish Love. Translated from the German of Wilhelm Jensen, by Emma A. Endlich.

This latest addition to "The Tales from Foreign Lands" Series is a thrilling tale of the time of Gustave Vasa, and mingles delightfully the sweet love story of Karine of Sweden with the warlike deeds of that eventful time.

TAYLOR. With Edge Tools. By Hobart Chatfield-Taylor. 12mo, 315 pages, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

It is the cleverest society novel which has come out of the West. . . . Taken as a whole it is a far abler story than several of its kind that have been written in the East by more practised pens. — The New York Herald.

TAYLOR. An American Peeress. By Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor. 12mo, 293 pages, $1.00.

In it is portrayed an American woman in all the brilliancy of her truest colors and with a character whose strength and honesty, together with a natural grace, make her worthy to adorn any title to which she might aspire. . . . It is in every respect a charming story. — The Baltimore American.

TAYLOR. An Imperial Lover. By M. Imlay Taylor. 12mo, $1.25.

This new story by the author of "On the Red Staircase" is, like that popular work, enlivened with brave exploits and thrilling situations; it gives admirable pen-portraits of Peter the Great and the Empress Catherine; and all its characters are so presented in this writer's vigorous dramatic style that they appear instinct with life. The picture of the great Czar is limned very truthfully, not concealing his coarseness, yet enabling the reader to see that he possessed many attributes of the true hero.

TAYLOR. On the Red Staircase. By M. Imlay Taylor. 12mo, $1.25.

"On the Red Staircase" is a well-planned and well-written story of seventeenth century Russia. The scene is Russia, and the time is the exciting period of the childhood of Peter the Great. One gets an extremely vivid picture of the anarchy into which Russia was plunged by the contending factions that sought for power after the death of the Tsar Alexis, and is at the same time privileged to follow the course of a romantic love-story, quite absorbing in its interest. — The Dial, Chicago.

A strong, bracing story it is, and one which gives us a clear view of an exceptionally interesting epoch in Russian history. — Herald, New York.

TENNYSON. Idylls of the King. By Alfred, Lord Tennyson.

See Laurel-Crowned Verse, page 21.

THACKERAY. The English Humorists. By William Makepeace Thackeray. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

These celebrated lectures, delivered by their author in England, Scotland, and America, and first published in 1853, have ever held a place in the front rank of English literature, and have won the admiration of all who have read them. This they do, not only because of their unaffected simplicity and naturalness, but also because they give an idea of the great English writers and humorists, such as Swift, Pope, Fielding, and Goldsmith, that can nowhere else be obtained.

THOMPSON. The Humbler Poets: A Collection of Newspaper and Periodical Verse. 1870 to 1885. By Slason Thompson. Crown 8vo, 459 pages, gilt top, $2.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $4.00.

The high poetic character of these poems as a whole is surprising. As a unit, the collection makes an impression which even a genius of the highest order would not be adequate to produce. . . . Measured by poetic richness, variety, and merit of the selections contained, the collection is a rarely good one, flavored with the freshness and aroma of the present time. — The Independent, New York.

The publishers have done well in issuing this volume in a style of literary and artistic excellence such as is given to the works of the poets of name and fame, because the contents richly entitle it to such distinction. — The Home Journal, New York.

THWAITES. Historic Waterways: Six Hundred Miles of Canoeing down the Rock, Fox, and Wisconsin Rivers. By Reuben Gold Thwaites, Secretary State Historical Society of Wisconsin. With two maps of the routes, and a table of distances. 12mo, 298 pages, $1.25.

Mr. Thwaites is an enthusiastic canoeist, combining in "Historic Waterways" historic lore and vacation pleasuring in a very agreeable manner. The "historic waterways" are the Rock, Fox, and Wisconsin Rivers. He has traversed them all from fountain-head to mouth in his canoe, and what he does n't know about them, present and past, is hardly worth knowing. — The Epoch, New York.

THWAITES. Our Cycling Tour in England. From Canterbury to Dartmoor Forest, and back by way of Bath, Oxford, and the Thames Valley. By Reuben G. Thwaites. Illustrated. 12mo, 315 pages, $1.50.

It is a volume of travel that will take the reader out of the beaten path, and carry him amid rural scenes and surroundings that have the freshness and variety of Nature, untouched by the smoke and noise of the snorting steam-engine. . . . The descriptions are graphic, and show the close and loving observer of Nature and man in every page; and they are worthy of the pen that gave us "Historic Waterways." The Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

TOMLINS. The Child's Garden of Song. Selected and arranged by William L. Tomlins, Musical Director of the Apollo Club, of Chicago, and of the Children's Choruses of the World's Fair. With beautiful colored designs by Ella Ricketts. Quarto, $2.00.

LIMITED EDITION. Extra gilt and gilt edges, each copy signed by Mr. Tomlins. $3.00 net.

The songs are all such as jingle with the innocent fancy of childhood; and one can picture the little ones crowding around their mother or elder sister as she sits at the piano and plays the accompaniment for their fresh young voices. — New York Evening Advertiser.

The songs have been selected and arranged by Mr. William L. Tomlins, whose remarkable success with children's classes is well known. It is not unsafe to assert that it is by far the most beautifully illustrated book of its class ever published in the United States. Musically it takes the same high rank. No more exquisite gift for the young people could be selected. — MR. GEORGE P. UPTON, Chicago Tribune.

TOPELIUS. THE SURGEON'S STORIES.

Translated from the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 75 cents a volume. The six volumes in neat box, $4.50.

As many of Scott's novels give vivid and truthful pictures of English history, so these stories present a galaxy of historical portraits more life-like than any drawn by the historian. — The San Francisco Chronicle.

The author has a genuine enthusiasm for his subject, and stirs up his readers' hearts in a lively manner. The old times live again for us; and, besides the interest of great events, there is the interest of humble souls immersed in their confusions. "Scott, the delight of glorious boys," will find a rival in these "Surgeon's Stories." The Christian Register.

Times of Gustaf Adolf: An Historical Romance of the Times of the Thirty Years' War.

Its vivid descriptions and thrilling episodes commend it to the lovers of romance, while its historical truthfulness and charming style make it attractive to literary readers of all classes. "The Story of the Thirty Years' War" is a fascinating chapter in history, and Topelius writes of it with great imaginative power and charm of style. — The Journal of Education, Boston.

Times of Battle and of Rest: An Historical Romance of the Times of Charles X. and Charles XI.

It gives a stirring and graphic account of the conquests of Charles X. in Poland and Denmark, . . . and the more peaceful but important events of the reign of Charles XI. . . . Topelius deals with the rich material before him like a true master of historical romance. — Good Literature, New York.

Times of Charles XII.: An Historical Romance of the Times of Charles XII.

Under an enthusiasm caught from the study of the times of which he writes, with a rare tact for an artistic grouping of characters, and with an equally rare talent for powerful delineation and description, Professor Topelius has given us a work which will both delight and instruct the reader. — The Interior, Chicago.

Times of Frederick I.: An Historical Romance of the Period succeeding the Reign of Charles XII.

It is simply wonderful, the way in which the attention is arrested and held, and the varied and apparently inexhaustible resources which the writer has at his command. He tells us of the actions and sayings of kings and peasants with the same unsurpassed ease and naturalness, with an air of vraisemblance, as the French would say, which is very enchanting. — The National Baptist, Philadelphia.

Times of Linnæus: An Historical Romance of the Times of the Great Naturalist Linnæus.

The author has proved himself a master of the art of combination, or of putting old things into new forms, and exhibiting them in new relations and associations. His stories are so full of stir and movement, and events are described with such spirit and minute circumstantiality, as to practically disarm the critic and convert him into an absorbed reader. — The Chicago Times.

Times of Alchemy: An Historical Romance of the Dawn of the Gustavian Period of Swedish History.

"The Surgeon's Stories" are at an end. . . . The story of the nation closes with the beginning of the present era of peace and stability, while the careers of the heroes and heroines who have helped to tell it, terminate where all well-ordered fictitious careers should, — at the marriage altar. The completion of "The Surgeon's Stories" forms an event in modern literature. — The Buffalo Express.

UPTON. HANDBOOKS ON MUSIC.

By George P. Upton. 12mo, flexible cloth, extra, $1.50 a volume. The four volumes in neat box, $6.00 a set; extra gilt, gilt edges, $8.00; half calf, gilt tops, $13.00; half morocco, gilt tops, $14.00; half morocco, gilt edges, $15.00.

The Standard Operas: Their Plots, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook.

Among the multitude of handbooks which are published every year, and described by easy-going writers of book-notices as supplying a long-felt want, we know of none which so completely carries out the intention of the writer as "The Standard Operas," whose object is to present to its readers a comprehensive sketch of each of the operas contained in the modern repertory. — R. H. Stoddard, in The Mail and Express, New York.

The summaries of the plots are so clear, logical, and well-written that one can read them with real pleasure, which cannot be said of the ordinary operatic synopses. The Nation, New York.

The Standard Oratorios: Their Stories, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook.

Like the valuable art handbooks of Mrs. Jameson, these volumes contain a world of interesting information, indispensable to critics and art amateurs. The volume under review is elegantly and succinctly written, and the subjects are handled in a thoroughly comprehensive manner. — Public Opinion, Washington.

Its criticisms are judicious and able; and the care that has been taken to make the work reliable is manifest on every page. — Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

The Standard Cantatas: Their Stories, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook.

There is a study of the cantata in its various forms, from its early simple recitative or aria style down to its present elaborate construction. The selections include quite all of the cantatas that rank high in merit. It is the only handbook and guide for musicians and their friends, and is as valuable as either of the two admirable works preceding it. — The Boston Globe.

Mr. Upton describes these cantatas very clearly. The book, like its predecessors, may be warmly commended to those who are fond of music, as containing information which can be found in no other single work. — The San Francisco Chronicle.

The Standard Symphonies: Their Stories, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook.

The usefulness of this handbook cannot be doubted. Its pages are packed full of these fascinating renderings. The accounts of each composer are succinct and yet sufficient. The author has done a genuine service to the world of music-lovers. The comprehension of orchestral work of the highest character is aided efficiently by this volume. — Public Opinion, Washington.

It is written in a style that cannot fail to stimulate the reader, if also a student of music, to strive to find for himself the underlying meanings of the compositions of the great composers. . . . It meets a recognized want of all concert-goers. — The Chautauquan.

UPTON. Woman in Music. By George P. Upton. 16mo, $1.00; half morocco, gilt top, $2.75.

Mr. Upton, in a series of comparatively brief chapters, has given us a kind of interior history of the domestic and heart relations of such composers as Bach, Handel, Beethoven, Mozart, Schumann, Chopin, and Wagner, filling in the larger sketches of these masters by lightly drawn but very interesting pictures of their relations with various gifted and unselfish women, who helped on their individual development, and laid the world under obligation by materially assisting in the production of some of their great compositions. — The Book-Buyer, New York.

UZANNE. The Book-Hunter in Paris: Being Studies among the Bookstalls of the Quays. By Octave Uzanne. With an Introduction by Augustine Birrell and 144 characteristic Illustrations interspersed in the text. Large 8vo, $5.00 net.

M. Uzanne has utilized the stores of a long experience, and has imbued the whole with his characteristic vivacity. The pages are sprinkled with anecdote, with observation of the casual and altogether entertaining sort. He is erudite, sympathetic, enthusiastic, — everything but sentimental or dull. — New York Tribune.

VON SUTTNER. "Ground Arms!" The Story of a Life. By Bertha Von Suttner. Translated from the German by Alice Asbury Abbot. 12mo, 286 pages, $1.00.

Entire absence of self-consciousness lends to her fiction so illusive a semblance of fact that, regarded simply as a story, the work must rank high. The imagination of the authoress has been kindled at the fire of intensest feeling, guided by a virile faculty of reasoning closely and logically. She pierces to the marrow of the thing that has taken hold of her. — International Journal of Ethics.

WALPOLE. The Best Letters of Horace Walpole. See Laurel-Crowned Letters, page 19.

WALTON. The Complete Angler; or, the Contemplative Man's Recreation, of Izaak Walton. Edited, with an Introduction, by Edward Gilpin Johnson. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00; half calf or morocco, gilt top, $2.50.

LARGE-PAPER EDITION. With Original Border Illustrations, printed in colors. Limited to 500 numbered copies, $2.50.

"The Complete Angler" has been printed in many different forms since its first appearance in 1653, but has never received a prettier or more attractive dress than that furnished by Messrs. McClurg & Co. — Journal of Education, Boston.

WATT. The Law's Lumber Room. By Francis Watt. 16mo. deckle edges, $1.00.

To use his own metaphor, the author brushes the dust from a number of antiquated customs and legal fictions, and shows, not without a pleasant humor, how they arose, what uses they served, and how they came to be discarded. — The Nation, New York.

WHARTON. Sappho: Memoir, Text, Select Renderings, and a Literal Translation. By Henry Thornton Wharton, A.M., Oxon. With three illustrations in photogravure, and a cover designed by Aubrey Beardsley. Third Edition. 16mo, 217 pages, $2.25 net.

The book is a tribute, an exposition, a monument. To thousands who know not a letter of the Greek alphabet, it is a revelation; and for those thousands Sappho ceases henceforth to be a mere name, and becomes a splendid reality. — The Academy.

WHEELER. Our Industrial Utopia and Its Unhappy Citizens. By D. H. Wheeler, Ex-President of Allegheny College. 12mo, 344 pages, $1.25.

Prof. David H. Wheeler has had varied editorial and educational experience, besides long residence abroad; and in his mature years he has written a book embodying his views of society and life. It is pleasant to note that he remains an optimist of the truest type. The discussions are by no means confined to barren idealities; for our author takes up the well-worn themes, competition, capital, money, labor, government, and ethics, and he treats them in anything but a well-worn way. The book is wholesome reading, and its attractive style makes dull themes attractive and difficult themes plain to the unskilled intelligence. — St. Paul Globe.

WOLF. The Joy of Life. A Novel. By Emma Wolf, author of "Other Things Being Equal." 12mo, 253 pages, $1.00.

One of the best stories presented this winter is "The Joy of Life," by Emma Wolf. The book is a strong contrast of life from two points of view. One brother sees that everything is to be gained through money; therefore he shuts himself off from everything but money and the influence of money. Another brother views life from the humanitarian standpoint, and totally abstains from money and money influences. The two extremes are so subtly worked out that the book is well worth the reading. — The Sentinel, Indianapolis.

It is an interesting novel. It has a story to tell, and the manner of the telling is pleasing. The strength lies in the individuality of the characters, in the realism of their different qualities, different ambitions, different deeds. It is a story worth reading, and one which will make an impression. — The Times, Boston.

WOLF. Other Things being Equal. A Novel. By Emma Wolf. 12mo, 275 pages, $1.00.

It is a romance, pure and simple, and has the rare merit of artistic unity. . . . It is a relief to find an unspoiled story of pure sentiment, without sensationalism, mawkish sentimentality, affected eccentricity, or the least sign of pandering to the too popular compromise with immorality. — The Boston Post.

ZAHM. Sound and Music. By the Rev. J. A. Zahm, C. S. C., Ph.D., Professor of Physics in the University of Notre Dame. With 195 Illustrations, Royal 8vo, 452 pages, $2.50.

I was much pleased, as you know, with the work when I read it in manuscript; but its worth has impressed me more in its present garb. To my mind, it is by far the most accurate and complete of books on modern acoustics and on the acoustic bases of harmony. — PROF. ALFRED M. MAYER, of Stevens Institute of Technology.

——— Myths of the New World. A Treatise on the Symbolism and Mythology of the Red Race of America. Third Edition, Revised. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, ... 2 00

"The present volume, almost rewritten and carefully brought to date, is the chief contribution to the study of comparative religions as regards the American race. . . . A true picture of pre-Columbian religions unadulterated with European ingredients. . . . The book is written by one who knows thoroughly, and one who has a profound interest in, and respect for, his theme."—Public Opinion.

"Certainly the best book ever written by its author is the 'Myths of the New World,' by Dr. Daniel G. Brinton. For nearly thirty years it has profoundly influenced ethnological thought, and has done much to kindle interest in the psychology, mythology, and religion of the native Americans. The earlier editions have for some time been difficult to secure. The third edition, just from the press of Mr. David McKay, Philadelphia, is revised, and contains some fifty pages of new matter."—The Dial.

"The views originally expressed in the earlier editions of this scholarly treatise by the world's leading authority upon the lore of the red man are now generally accepted. New proof is advanced to support th se views which are still disputed. . . . The book can be read with as much interest as a romance."—The Inquirer, Philadelphia.

BULFINCH'S AGE OF FABLE OR BEAUTIES OF MYTHOLOGY. New Revised Edition by Rev. J. Loughran Scott. This new edition while retaining all the features of previous revisions, has a number of new features which make it superior to those, or any other works on Mythology yet published. 524 pages. Nearly 200 illustrations.

Crown octavo, ... 1 25

PRONUNCIATION OF PROPER NAMES.—All proper names are printed in black type, syllabalized, and accentuated. The editor in his preface says: "To know one you must know his name, especially in Mythology, where names constitute being."

POETICAL QUOTATIONS.—To Mythology are we indebted for the most beautiful of our own English poetry. The greatest care has been exercised to select nothing save the best. Over one hundred authors have contributed and four hundred and forty-four quotations have been made. In this we have covered not only the entire field of English poetry, but also made generous selections from the best translations of the ancient classics.

ILLUSTRATIONS.—Art also owes its finest productions to Mythology, and here again this edition presents the best collection that has yet been made. Of the nearly 200 illustrations, the largest part are reproductions from the best specimens of ancient and modern art. Care has been taken to procure only those recognized by critics as the best productions of the masters. The artist and present location of the work is given wherever possible, so that the result is a Handbook of Mythological Art.

INDEX AND DICTIONARY.—The index has been extended so as to meet all ordinary demands for a dictionary of Mythology. Many of the less important divinities who are simply mentioned in the text are here given detailed notice. The scope of the work could not possibly include all of these in the text. This addition thus becomes of special value to the student, either for study or reference.

LATER DISCOVERIES.—The discovery of the Rosetta Stone opened up the whole field of Egyptian Mythology, and here, for the first time, the result is given in connection with the Greek and Roman Myths.

MANUFACTURE.—The publisher feels very safe in saying that no Mythology previously offered can be compared with this in points of mechanical execution, choice illustrations, quality of paper, binding, etc., coupled with reasonableness of price.

With nearly 100 beautiful Half-Tone Illustrations. Two volumes, octavo, cloth, set in box, ... 4 00
Or may be had separately, each, ... 2 00

"It easily ranks among the most notable American publications."—Rt. Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone.

"I am very much pleased with your work. It has an immense amount of useful knowledge packed into its pages. Your plan of separating the questions and answers is ingenious, for a glance at the question without the appended answer sets one on the search through his own brain for the facts called for. The evidence of personal ignorance makes one covet the information. With the coveting comes the excitement of curiosity, and when, after the process of awakening and stimulating the mind, comes the turning to the page where the answer is found, the student is more likely to read that answer with avidity, and retain it permanently."—Right Rev. John H. Vincent, D.D., Bishop of the M. E. Church, and Chancellor of Chautauqua University.

"It is indeed full of curious and interesting information, and merits the success I sincerely wish it."—Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D., Boston.

KILLIKELLY, SARAH H.—Continued.

"I have received and examined the 'Curious Questions,' and find it full of interesting and instructive matter. In its plan and contents I was reminded a little of D'Israeli's 'Curiosities of Literature,' and it may do much the same kind of work for certain people that that famous book has done for others. It affords an excellent model for 'Clubs' of young people who wish to improve themselves by reading and study during the winter at home, or during the summer at many of the quieter resorts where books may be had."—Rev. George Williamson Smith, D.D., President of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

"'Curious Questions' is an entertaining and instructive work. It is quite a treasure house of information, alike rare, interesting, and valuable. It finely blends qualities which are seldom combined; namely, erudition and diversion. I hope that 'Curious Questions' may find many ready purchasers."—Rev. George Dana Boardman, D.D., Philadelphia.

"I commenced examining the 'Curious Questions' without any idea that it would be of service to a man of my age, opportunities, and experience. I find, however, that some of the questions are such as I could not have answered or have known where to look for their answers. Nor are there any questions in the book which it is undesirable to have answered. Such a work will be of inestimable value to any intelligent person, old or young. The plan of the book is original, its purpose that of supplying an actual need, its execution indicative of broad and generous culture, pure taste, and delicate discernment."—Rev. Andrew Preston Peabody, D.D., LL.D., of Harvard University.

PART SIXTH.—The Engine.—Knock in Engines, lead, setting a valve, how to find the dead centre, lubricating oil, a hot box, etc.

PART SEVENTH.—Handling a Traction Engine.—Things not to do—a series of valuable "Don'ts." Things to do and remember, bad bridges, sand. Some things to know, being a series of questions and answers covering the care and management of the Traction Engine.

"The book is full of practical points and suggestions, put in very simple language and a very effective manner. It should be in the hands of every man who runs a traction engine."—National Stockman and Farmer, Pittsburg, Buffalo, and Chicago.

"Judging the number of casualties reported from this class of engines, and the notorious abuse which they receive at the hands of their owners and operators, the desirability of such a book of instructions need not be argued. . . . The author has performed his task well."—The American Miller, Chicago.

"We believe that it is just such a book as ought to be in the hands of every farmer and creamery operator in the Northwest."—P. V. Collins, Manager of The Northwest Agriculturist, Minneapolis.

"It is fully illustrated and written in plain language, such as may be easily comprehended by the unscientific reader."—The New York Farmer.

"It is a book that every up-to-date farmer should have."—The Southern Farmer, Athens, Ga.

"An exceedingly practical little book."—Colman's Rural World, St. Louis.

MAGIC. Illustrated and Explained. A Book for Young and Old. By Arthur Good. A Series of 200 Amusing, Popular, Scientific Experiments Meant for the Recreation of Old and Young. 165 Fine Illustrations.

Square 12mo, gilt back and side, ... 1 25

Many of these are simple pastimes, others possess a really scientific character, while the whole of these experiments may be performed without any special apparatus whatever. To give an idea of the endless variety of the work, we quote a few problems: A Rolling Body Goes Uphill, Foucault's Pendulum, The Egg in Salt Water, How to Make a Banana Peel Itself, Wine Changed to Water, The Plate on the Point of a Needle, How to Pierce a Nickel with a Needle, The Revolving Siphon, The Miniature Steamship, The Bottle Cannon, The Waltzing Egg, The Water Pendulum, In Water but not Wet, The Magic Ball, etc., etc. This entertaining book, written in language that every one can understand, gives the best answer to the so often repeated question, "What shall we do to-night?"

"The Robertsonian Method of learning the German, French, Spanish, Latin, and Italian languages, without the aid of a teacher, has for the last twenty years been successfully tested throughout the whole European continent; and is, without a single exception, used in teaching these languages in all the educational institutions of England, France, and Germany. In London, Mr. A. H. Monteith, the most celebrated teacher of languages in the world, has arranged and perfected this system; and his works on the Study of the French, German, Spanish, Latin, and Italian Languages Without a Master, immediately obtained a sudden and extraordinary popularity.

"Any person unacquainted with the above languages can, with the aid of the above books, be enabled to read, write, and speak the language of either, without the aid of a teacher, provided they pay strict attention to the instructions laid down in either of these works, and that nothing shall be passed over without a thorough investigation of the subject it involves; by doing which they will find themselves to be able to speak, read, or write either language at their will and pleasure. The above works will be found to be invaluable to any person wishing to learn either language, and are worth, to any one, one hundred times their cost. They run through several large editions in Europe every year, and all persons wishing to learn either language should get or send for a copy of the one they wish at once."

MORTON, JAMES. Mathematical Rules and Tables. Including Interest, Equation of Payments, Mensuration, Geometry, and Trigonometry, Rules for Calculating Diameter, Circumference, Area, and Squaring the Circle. MURRAY, ALEXANDER S. (Keeper of the Greek and Roman Antiquities, British Museum.) Manual of Mythology. A new revised edition, with 100 Illustrations in the text, and ten fine, full-page plates. Beautifully printed on fine paper. Crown octavo, cloth extra, gold and bronze, ... 1 25

The English edition of Murray, based on the works of Preller, Welcker, and Petiscus, has been a most popular book. In this new edition (based on the latest revised edition of Petiscus) the old illustrations, many of which were imaginary, have been discarded, and fine copies from the latest discovered and best antique works of art have been added. The text has been thoroughly revised and illustrative passages from the poets inserted, making it the best manual for the use of schools, art students, and general readers.

A FEW OPINIONS.

"The fine paper, clear type, and excellent illustrations render it an attractive book. The comprehensive treatment of the subject encourages the average student to complete the book, and must whet his appetite for further research."—Bishop John H. Vincent.

"A revised well-illustrated edition. . . . It is satisfactory in all respects and contains all that the general reader is likely to want to know."—Public Opinion, New York.

"Students will find this Revised Edition far superior to earlier editions and necessary for reference and study."—The Teacher's World, New York.

"It is invaluable for the library of all thoughtful persons, owing to its concise and authoritative character. . . . It is difficult to understand how so elaborate and admirable a volume can be published at the extremely low price. It merits large sales."—The Arena, Boston.

"No classical student, reader, or library can afford to be without it."—Journal of Education, Boston.

"This New Revised Edition will be gladly received."—Public Ledger, Phila.

"So excellent an edition of this useful and popular work, published in such form, can not fail to be appreciated by the many who have felt the need for such a book of reference."—The Inquirer, Philadelphia.

"It is on the basis and in the spirit of modern philology, and the plates and cuts are really valuable as illustrations."—American Journal of Education, St. Louis.

"No better manual could be placed in the hands of students of the literature and life of the past."—Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

"This revised edition shows the most careful scholarship and conscientious editing."—Cleveland World.

"A new and improved edition of the best comprehensive guide to this far-reaching subject."—The Golden Rule, Boston.

"Clear, compact, and handsome. It has abundant and well executed illustrations."—The Congregationalist, Boston.

"A knowledge of classical mythology is essential to an appreciative understanding of many of the masterpieces of English literature, from Chaucer's time to our own."—Preface.

NAPHEYS, GEORGE H., A.M., M.D. Physical Life of Woman. Advice to the Maiden, Wife, and Mother. A New Edition Revised to the Latest Date, with a Life of the Author.

This is the only work on the delicate topic of Woman recommended for popular reading by the most distinguished physicians, eminent divines, prominent educators, leading medical journals, and the press generally. Its extraordinary value and popularity is shown by the fact that of this work and its companion volume, "The Transmission of Life," 280,000 copies have been sold.

12mo, cloth, gilt back and side, ... $2 00

"Dr. Napheys we do not know personally. But this book is at once brave and pure. It is written in such a spirit that she who really desires to learn the truths of which she can not with justice to herself and others be ignorant, may do so without being shocked, while he who hopes to stimulate a vicious imagination by its perusal will turn away from its pages disappointed."—The Independent, New York.

"I have read with much interest and satisfaction 'The Physical Life of Woman.' I am glad that the subject has been taken up by one who shows himself so thoroughly qualified for the task, and I trust the instruction and advice contained in the volume will reach every woman in the land."—William A. Hammond, M.D., Professor in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, etc.

"This book is written in a style well calculated both to please and instruct. There is nothing of the sensational or imaginative character in it. On the contrary, its teachings are in strict accordance with scientific facts and good sense."—Chicago Medical Examiner.

——— Das phyſiſche Leben des Weibes. Physical Life of Woman, in German. 12mo, cloth, gilt back and side, ... $2 00

——— Transmission of Life. Counsels on the Nature and Hygiene of the Masculine Functions. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged. 12mo, cloth, gilt back and side, ... 2 00

"Your new work, on 'The Transmission of Life,' is one that every boy and every man, every bachelor, parent, or teacher, should have and read and be grateful for. I have given sufficient study to the ways and needs of boys and young men to appreciate, perhaps more fully than most, the importance of your theme. I have been much instructed by your writings, and I desire others to be benefited thereby."—Rev. H. Clay Trumbull, late Missionary-Secretary of the American Sunday-School Union, Editor of the "Sunday School Times," Philadelphia, etc.

"The topics, of greatest delicacy, are treated with all possible refinement, while the much-needed warnings concerning the offenses against nature, which are practiced in ignorance by many, and with shamelessness by others, are faithfully administered."—Prof. Noah Porter, D.D., President of Yale College.

——— Handbook of Popular Medicine, embracing the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body; Illustrations of Home Gymnastics; Instructions for Nursing the Sick; the Domestic Treatment of the Ordinary Diseases and Accidents of Children and Adults. 12mo, cloth, gilt back and side, ... 2 00

"Physicians would, we believe, confer a benefit on the community by placing this work in the hands of every household. There is not a word or an engraving in it at which the most sensitive can take offense, and it is composed in the highest tone of regular medical science."—Medical and Surgical Reporter (Philadelphia).

STAUFFER, FRANK H. The Queer, The Quaint, and The Quizzical. A Cabinet for the Curious.
Crown octavo, cloth, gilt top, with full index, . 1 25

"Never did a title to a book express its contents with more fidelity than the above, for the book itself contains a little of everything that is odd, queer, quaint, and curious. As a work of reference or a volume to be picked up at leisure moments, nothing could be better. How and where the author ever found these items and short bits of information is a puzzle to the uninitiated. A good index facilitates the finding of what one wants to know."—Chicago Evening Journal.

"Such a book as Mr. Stauffer's will infallibly move its reader to take up some subject which had not previously attracted him for wider reading and closer study, as well as furnishing interesting and amusing reading for many a half hour. There is an available index and the publisher leaves ample scope and verge enough on the page for additions and annotations."—The American, Philadelphia.

"It contains a good deal of curious and out-of-the-way information regarding old and rare books, manuscripts, literary curiosities, comical blunders, queer laws and quaint characters, singular customs rare relics, exploded notions, odd theories, strange prophecies, charms, amulets, superstitions, remarkable discoveries, interesting facts connected with inventions, together with a large collection of singular facts relating to animal and vegetable life. The volume is an octavo and is well indexed."—Boston Transcript.

"A most valuable acquisition to quaint literature. It contains 367 pages of curious information from 'many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore.'"—Notes, Queries, and Answers.

"It is as instructive as it is curious, and just the book for odd moments. Authority is given in every instance possible; the subjects cover a wide range, are concisely handled, and are kept closely within the title. An important feature is a copious cross-index."—Norristown Daily Times.

"It is one of those volumes which, when one wishes to while away a half hour without too great mental strain, can be taken up with the certainty that it will afford entertainment In some respects it resembles those note-books which Disraeli the elder gave to the world at the beginning of the century, only that it is not limited to literary matters."—Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

SARGENT'S SERIES OF STANDARD SPEAKERS.

THE STANDARD SPEAKER. Containing Exercises in Prose and Poetry, Gathered from Among the Most Celebrated Orators, Authors, and Popular Debaters, Ancient and Modern; A Treatise on Oratory and Elocution; With Notes Explanatory and Biographical. Designed for Use in Declamation in Schools, Academies, Lyceums, and Colleges. By EPES SARGENT.

In one demi-octavo volume, 538 pages, half roan, ... $1 60*

A higher reputation throughout the United States has been acquired by this Speaker than any other similar work. In its production there has been a great expenditure of original labor, and it contains all the great master-pieces of eloquence, while it abounds in original translations from the Greek, Latin, and French.

THE INTERMEDIATE STANDARD SPEAKER. Containing Pieces for Declamation, Dialogues, etc., in Schools and Colleges; Introductory or Supplementary to the Standard Speaker.

In one volume, 12mo, 432 pages, half Turkey, ... 1 10*

This Speaker contains a capital collection of Dialogues, and short, spirited pieces for declamation; and the original Debates have acquired for it a well-merited and wide-spread reputation. The pieces are quite distinct from those contained in the larger Standard Speaker.

THE PRIMARY STANDARD SPEAKER. Containing Original and Selected Pieces, Especially Adapted to Declamation for the Youngest Pupils. Elegantly Illustrated.

In one 16mo volume, 160 pages, half roan, ... 28*

For beginners in Declamation, this is the most attractive and serviceable work in the language; the selections being admirable, the original pieces skilfully adapted to their purpose.

*Special short discount.

FROST'S AMERICAN SPEAKER. Comprising a Comprehensive Treatise on Elocution, and an Extensive Selection of Specimens of American and Foreign Eloquence. By JOHN FROST, LL.D., Author of "The History of the United States," etc., etc.
In one volume, 12mo, 448 pages, half roan, ... $0 90*

SUMMARY OF HISTORY. Designed to Accompany Lord's Modern History. By IDA P. WHITCOMB, of Packer Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn, New York. One volume, 12mo, bound in cloth, gilt, ... 45*

GOLDSMITH'S HISTORY OF ROME. Pinnock's Revised Edition. To which is Prefixed an Introduction to the Study of Roman History, the Manners, Institutions, and Antiquities of the Romans, with Questions for Examination at the End of each Section. By W. C. TAYLOR, LL.D. Illustrated with Numerous Engravings by Atherton and other Artists. A New and Revised Edition.
One volume, 12mo, 399 pages, half roan, ... 1 00*

GOLDSMITH'S HISTORY OF GREECE. Pinnock's Revised Edition. Revised, Corrected, and Greatly Enlarged by the Addition of Several New Chapters, Numerous Useful Notes, and Questions for Examination at the End of each Section. By W. C. TAYLOR, LL.D. Illustrated with Numerous Engravings by Atherton and other equally distinguished Artists. One volume, 12mo, 365 pages, half roan, ... 1 00*

GOLDSMITH'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND. Pinnock's Improved Edition. From the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to the Present Time. With Questions for Examination, Tables of Contemporary Sovereigns and Eminent Persons, Copious Notes, Remarks on the Politics, Manners, and Literature of the Age, an Outline of the British Constitution, and Numerous Engravings. By W. C. TAYLOR, LL.D., of Trinity College, Dublin; Author of a "Manual of Ancient and Modern History," etc. A New, Revised, and Enlarged Edition.
In one volume, 12mo, 542 pages, half roan, ... 1 00*

THE HISTORY OF FRANCE AND NORMANDY. Pinnock's Revised Edition. From the Earliest Times to the Present Period. With Questions for Examination, and Numerous Engravings. By W. C. TAYLOR, LL.D. A New and Revised Edition.
In one volume, 12mo, 500 pages, half roan, ... 1 00*

Among the many Histories of England and of France that have been written, none have been so long and so deservedly popular as these two admirable books, combining, as they both do, to an attractive, vivid, and perfectly intelligible style, a simple and clear narrative of historical facts. Their established classical character was sufficient to justify the publishers in selecting the most improved editions of these works to be revised and adapted to the use of schools in the United States.
